Montreal has Something to say Respecting the Well Known Richmond Physician.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond Que., whose remarkable cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been set forth in his letter, recently published, is a graduate of McGill College, this city. He is well known, not only to the medical profession in Montreal, but throughout the entire province, as a careful and reputable physician, and his testimony to the worth of Dodd's Kidney Pills is accepted by physicians generally as a guarantee of the efficacy of the remedy. Such a communication, coming from so eminent a graduate of McGill, will have the effect of making Dodd's Kidney Pills universally popular in Quebec.

Indigestion Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—I can safely say that B. B. B. is a successful cure for Indigestion. I had this trouble bad last summer and two bottles of B.B.B. built me up again. It's a good reliable medicine, both for Indigestion and as a blood purifier.

J. G. ALMOND, Hopetown, Que

Coughs, colds, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, and all lung troubles are quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

The Protest Entered.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—Secretary Gresham, upon receipt of the protest from the Secretary of Agriculture on Saturday regarding the prohibition of American cattle by Germany, promptly directed Mr. Theodore Runyon, the United States ambassador at Berlin, to make representations to the German government stating that Texas fever could not be communicated by diseased cattle, so that even if the reported discovery of this disease were current there would be no danger to German cattle; also that the meat of cattle affected by this disease had never been shown to be dangerous to the consumer. The ambassador was therefore instructed to protest against the action of the German government.

Manitoba School Question.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 30.—The Privy Council of Canada recently submitted to the Manitoba Government a report upon a petition received from the Roman Catholics of Manitoba on school matters. The report expressed the hope that the grievances complained of would be speedily redressed.

In its reply the council of the legislatures of Manitoba and the Territories says: The school law is enacted by the Legislature, and the duty of the executive is to carry out its provisions. Educational legislation however, is of such importance as to be a matter of Government policy, and it is, therefore, to be presumed that the above report has been forwarded in order that the executive may declare its position on the subject matter of the report. The report concludes as follows: Disallowance of the act of 1894, as suggested by the memorialists, would be a most unjustifiable attempt to prevent the Legislature from performing that duty which has been judicially declared to appertain to it, and it may be assumed that such disallowance would call for an emphatic protest. The Government and Legislative Assembly would unitedly resist by every constitutional means any such attempt to interfere with their provincial autonomy.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Oct. 30, 1894.

On the Buffalo barley market maltsters are looking for something below quotations and quite a quantity could be sold at 1 to 2c under prices asked for western. Canada is also wanted at 60c.

All the wheat that was offered on the street was one load of goose; it brought 50 1-2c. White was quoted nominally at 53c and red at 52c. Some bushels of barley sold at 41 to 44 1-2c, 300 of peas at 59c, and 300 of oats at 30 1-2 to 31 1-2c.

The London stock markets were idle. Foreign stocks and mining shares alone were active. The tone was good. Consols are rising again. Americans were dull and neglected. Grand Trunks were firm on vague hopes concerning the meeting to-day. The China silver loan is expected this week. Gold is going largely to France. The new Canada loan of £2,250,000 is an immense success and has been applied for nearly five times over. It was allotted at about 2 1-2 per cent. premium.

Business at the New York stock exchange was more active, but the activity was at the expense of values. The anthracite coalers were the features of speculation. Liquidations were quite pronounced in the cases of the coalers, grangers and other issues. For a long time past the bulls have been boasting that the efforts of the bears to dislodge long stock were unavailing and that each attack only served to increase the short interest. They can say so no longer, for there was enough stock and to spare so far as the bears were concerned.

Rheumatism is primarily caused by acidity of the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood, and thus cures the disease.

Attention

In time to any irregularity of the Stomach, Liver, or Bowels may prevent serious consequences. Indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, biliousness, and vertigo indicate certain functional derangements, the best remedy for which is Ayer's Pills. Purely vegetable, sugar-coated, easy to take and quick to assimilate, this is the ideal family medicine—the most popular, safe, and useful aperient in pharmacy. Mrs. M. A. BROCKWELL, Harris, Tenn., says:

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills cured me of sick headache and my husband of neuralgia. We think there is

No Better Medicine,

and have induced many to use it.

"Thirty-five years ago this Spring, I was run down by hard work and a succession of colds, which made me so feeble that it was an effort for me to walk. I consulted the doctors, but kept sinking lower until I had given up all hope of ever being better. Happening to be in a store, one day, where medicines were sold, the proprietor noticed my weak and sickly appearance, and, after a few questions as to my health, recommended me to try Ayer's Pills. I had little faith in these or any other medicine, but concluded, at last, to take his advice and try a box. Before I had used them all, I was very much better, and two boxes cured me. I am now 80 years old; but I believe that if it had not been for Ayer's Pills, I should have been in my grave long ago. I buy 6 boxes every year, which make 210 boxes up to this time, and I would no more be without them than without bread."—H. H. Ingraham, Rockland, Me.

LONGEVITY IS ON THE INCREASE.

Men Attain to Greater Age Than Formerly, Especially in America.

The number of deceased persons who had attained an exceptional old age was probably greater in the year 1893 than in any recent period. During the last three or four months of the year the general public became familiar, through a perusal of the daily papers, with the remarkable obituaries of those who had departed having lived to a great old age. A month or so since we read of a life that had reached the extraordinary limit of 135 years. We have since read of the death of a woman at Hartford, Conn., who was old enough to give warning of the approach of the British fleet in 1812, and so saved the New Elgland coast from threatened devastation. And still later we have been apprised of the death at Terre Haute, Ind., of a man 104 years old who attended the funeral of Washington, cast his first vote for Madison, and was a soldier in the war of 1812. From other data it is apparent that great longevity has been on the increase for many years, particularly in America. But it may be remarked that the constitutions that carried these persons up to the centennial mark or beyond were formed very many years before people began living at the present rate, and that the best part of most of these old lives was passed before the modern suicidal rush of the society and business worlds.

To have a good chance for longevity it is almost unnecessary to say that an originally good constitution is of the first importance, though to this primary excellence carefulness in the art of living must be added. The secret of long life is one of which nature alone holds possession. A remarkable fact is that intellectual activity and success have been no barriers to long life. Even deep philosophical studies have proved a help rather than a hindrance to men of literary pursuits. Voltaire, who at birth was put into a quart pot, could never have obtained his eighty-fourth year had he not followed the strict, sober, active life which he chose. Gladstone exercises the highest powers of successful statetmanship at an age of eighty-four years, after undergoing the constant turmoil of political contest for considerably more than half a century. Bismarck is practically an octogenarian. Von Moltke was nearly ninety when he died. It seems that the review of these and numerous other instances would sufficiently establish the theory that continuous intellectual activity is conducive to the perpetuation of good health and the prolongation of life.—Washington Post.

A Little Story of Editor Dana.

Mr. Dana was managing editor and I a correspondent of a metropolitan journal. Abraham Lincoln had signed a proclamation, the first call for troops during the civil war. I think it was in April, 1861. Then I was in Washington at the time, and, being impressed in my little journalistic heart with the importance of the occasion, I ventured, as an introduction to the literal proclamation phrase, upon a quotation from a favorite hymn in our family circle, worded thus:

"We are living, we are dwelling, in a grand and awful time,
In an age on ages telling, to be living is sublime."

"What, then, must it be to be a factor in the affairs of nations, such as Abraham Lincoln, president of the United States, who to-night has affixed his signature to the proclamation?" And then followed the Lincolnian document. Two days afterward I received from Brother Dana by mail, not by wire, a cautionary suggestion to the following effect:

"Dear Mr. Howard—After this, if, in your dispatches you really must drop into poetry, telegraphy being four cents a word, won't you kindly wire us the number of the hymn, as we have the book in the office?"—Joe Howard's Reminiscences.

He Got It.

A prisoner before the police judge secured the services of a young sprig of an attorney who not only was a very consequential young man, but he thought he knew about ten times as much as the judge knew he knew. When the case was called the attorney arose.

"May it please your honor," he said, with great formality, "my client wants more time——"

"Very well, very well," interrupted the judge in the kindliest way, "I'll be glad to accommodate him. He was arrested for abusing his wife, wasn't he?"

"That's the charge of the arresting officer, your honor."

"Very good," said his honor. "I had intended giving him only three months, but since he wants more I'll make it six. I always strive to please. Call the next case, Mr. Clerk."

An Experiment.

One of the experiments made by those whose business it is to test the strength of dynamite, gun cotton and other explosives is to place fresh plucked leaves between two plates of panel steel and explode cartridges on the upper plate. The recoil in such cases is so great and sudden that the upper plate is driven downward with such force and rapidity as to catch exact impressions of the leaves before their delicate ribs have time to give way to the force of the blow. This novel method of engraving is one of the wonders of the century.

A Pretty Legend.

It is the pretty Christian legend that the aspen quivers with shame because from its wood the cross was made. Observers of nature have discovered, however, that the quivering of the aspen's leaves is due to the fact that the leaf stalk is flat on the sides and so thin about the middle that the slightest breath of wind sets all the leaves a-wagging horizontally. A single leaf plucked off and taken by the end of the leaf stalk between the thumb and the forefinger admirably illustrates the peculiarity of the aspen.

The wisest course in politics is to vote for the best man, and you cannot be mistaken. So, in the use of blood-purifiers, you can't be mistaken if you take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, because all parties agree that it is the best—the Superior Medicine. Try it this month.

Like a New Person.

GENTLEMEN,—I find your B. B. B. an excellent remedy for Headache and Dizziness. I had tried several remedies, but to no effect. I have taken three bottles of B.B.B. and feel entirely cured. In fact I feel like a different person.

A Mother's Beautiful Child

Dragged Nearly to Death's Door by Severe Nervous Disease—Suffered Extreme Pain in the Head—Doctors Could Do Nothing—South American Nervine Called in at the Eleventh Hour and Restores to Health Little Annie Joy, of West Toronto Junction—The Great Remedy is Reducing the Death Rate of All Canadian Cities.

MISS ANNIE JOY, WEST TORONTO JUNCTION.

A bright little lad, or golden-haired girl, is the delight of your home. Whether you revel in riches, or know something of the privations of poverty, that child is all the world to you. It is no wonder that mother and father become anxious when sickness overtakes the little one.

The remedy, fathers and mothers, is near by. South American Nervine has been the means of giving back the bloom of youth to thousands of suffering little ones. It is not a medicine that buoys up the parents' hopes, only to have them in a short time dashed down again lower than ever. Whether with child or adult, it promptly gets at the seat of all disease, which is the nerve centres. From this fact it is peculiarly efficacious in the treatment of nervous diseases of man, woman or child.

A recent case is that as told by Mrs. M. A. Joy, of West Toronto Junction, whose little daughter Annie, aged 15 years, had been a sufferer from severe nervous depression for about two years. As with all mothers, no trouble and expense was spared in the effort to bring relief to the child. The little one suffered extreme pains in the head, so distressing at times as to render her completely helpless, sapping all her strength. The best skill of the most skilled physicians was called into request, but little Annie steadily grew worse. Becoming more hopeless and discouraged as the weeks went by, Mrs. Joy decided on trying South American Nervine as almost a last resort. Employing her own words she said: "I determined to give it a trial, although I felt it was useless."

To-day it is all happiness around that home, for before one bottle of the medicine had been taken, the mother tells us Annie commenced to show decided signs of improvement. The child has taken three bottles and has practically regained her natural health and vigor. There is nothing surprising in the fact that Mrs. Joy cannot speak too highly of South American Nervine.

Much was at stake, but this wonderful discovery proved equal to the emergency, and so it does in every case. Thousands of letters on file from well-known citizens prove this. For nervous diseases of young or old, from whatever cause, it is an absolutely infallible cure.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

HE WAS PRETTY TOUGH.

A BOLD OUTLAW WHO WAS NEVER CAPTURED.

One of Our Neighbors' Bad Children and His Life of Crime—His Mother Taught Him the First Lessons—He Was an Apt Pupil—Some of His Deeds.

Never in the history of outlawry was there a more notorious bandit than John A. Murrell, who operated during the decade preceding 1842 along the Georgia and Florida boundary line and in portions of Alabama and Mississippi. For years his crimes formed the darkest unwritten page in the history of the country.

Murrell was taught by maternal example to be a thief and robber.

Young Murrell asked a notorious set of gamblers to join his band. They laughed at him. He left the room and in the darkness of the night secured a dozen horses belonging to the gamblers and fled.

Murrel made a successful raid one night in Alabama at a country church where he had just preached a sermon. He rode off in the darkness, leading a drove of the finest horses in the community. He crossed the Chatahoochee river and never halted until he reached Georgia.

He was walking along the road near Thomasville shortly afterward and saw a young man coming toward him.

"Where are you going, my friend?" asked Murrell.

"I am not going your way," was the reply.

"Well," said Murrell, "if I can't have the pleasure of your company, won't you turn over your money to me?"

The youngster was covered with a pistol and came to a halt.

His hands went up, but by some means he made a brave reach for his pistol.

Murrell saw the movement and sent a bullet through the young man's heart. The dead body was buried in a lime sink. Murrell organized a band of highwaymen and he was chief. His word was law, and perfect obedience was required or death was the penalty.

So perfect was the organization and system of operations under Murrell that not until near the end of the Murrellites' existence was it known that there was a lawless band of whites in that section. The Murrellites used secret signs and held their meetings in caves and swamps.

A few Indians of the Seminole tribe were scattered here and there throughout southern Georgia, and the crimes committed by the Murrellites were charged to them.

Companies of whites were formed to war against the Indians. Finally the Seminoles were driven into Florida, where they sought refuge in the Everglades.

After the Indians left the country horrible crimes were perpetrated throughout that section.

Whole families were brutally butchered. Men were shot down at work and helpless women and children were beaten to death with clubs. Houses and barns were plundered and then burned. Lives and property were hourly in danger of destruction. Victims cried for mercy in vain—there was none shown. The crimes were committed at the door of John A. Murrell or his band.

The assassins wore moccasins, feathers on their heads, and red paint on their faces and hands, and indulged in great war whoops.

Tremendous excitement filled the whole section. Doors were barred at night, and in the day men stood guard at their homes.

Work on the farms and in the shops and stores was abandoned. Many residents fled to the North and left their homes to the mercy of the bandits. It was at this time, early in 1842, that Gen. William Bailey, a wealthy citizen of Monticello, Fla., began the organization of a band for the suppression of crime in that section.

He had studied the situation carefully and came to the conclusion that, as since the Indians had fled to the Everglades the crimes in his section had not decreased, but instead had increased to an alarming extent, the red man was not the guilty one. He organized a band of spies known as the "regulators."

James Ellenwood of that place was a regulator. He is now in his eightieth year and is thoroughly familiar with the times in which the Murrellites operated.

In speaking of the regulators and the final history of the Murrellites, Mr. Ellenwood says:

"After the 'regulators' were thoroughly organized there was a horrible murder near St. Marks, Fla. A well-known young man left Monticello, Fla., for St. Marks. He had on his person a large sum of gold and bills. Before reaching St. Marks the Murrellites fell upon him and murdered him. A man named Youmans, who was a notorious character, was suspected of the murder.

"He was captured by the regulators and finally confessed that he knew all about the murder.

"He said John A. Murrell and a large band of robbers had committed the murder. Youmans was made to stand on the rear end of a wagon and a rope was fastened to an oak limb over his head and then adjusted to his neck.

"He confessed that the Murrellites were guilty of many crimes charged to the Indians. He said Jack Jewell was a Murrellite and was the meanest man under Murrell.

"When he was told to make his peace with God, Youmans asked for a Bible. One was handed him.

"With a bible in his hand and a song in his mouth, Youmans met his death.

"Jack Jewell was next caught and hanged near the place of Youmans' death. No confession could be obtained from him.

"He was taken to a place near where Youmans was hanged and there swung to a limb until death came.

"John A. Murrell, the chief of the Murrellites, was never captured, but died a natural death among strangers. He made no confessions and never made any disposition of his property. It was supposed that Murrell was immensely rich, and several attempts have been made to discover the whereabouts of the hidden wealth."

THE SIDES ARE BEING WASHED AWAY AND THE SUPPORTS ARE GIVING OUT.

A New Phase of the Outfall Sewer Question Calls for Immediate Action—South Monaghan Was Impersonated at the Conference Last Night—Otonabee and North Monaghan Will not Act Without Consulting the Other Townships.

A special meeting of the town council last night brought together the Mayor and Councillors Cahill, White, Hall, Hughes, Dawson, Roger and Sutton. The meeting was called in connection with the sewerage question, and Messrs. Johnston and Forster, of North Monaghan, and Messrs. Deyell, Anderson and Johnston of Otonabee, were present. Most unfortunately South Monaghan was unrepresented, and as the three townships are bound to stand or fall together no action could be taken without the consent of the unrepresented township.

Three hours were spent in discussing the question of the construction of a sewer emptying into the Otonabee, and at present the townships and the town are of as when the discussion began. Each municipality holds firmly to its first belief. The town is sure the sewage would not polute the river water and the townships are sure that it would.

A new phase of this vexed question was generated during the conference, when the foreman of the contractor came forward to make the statement that unless the brickwork was completed immediately in the excavations already made, that the sides of the trench would fall in bearing with it a considerable portion of the roadway and completely blocking all traffic. The statement brought forth a opposition from the town to the effect that if the township would allow this much of the brickwork to be completed and the sewer filled up, that Peterborough would agree that this would not prejudice or affect the standing of the council in any lawsuit or arbitration which might ensue. Those of the representatives of the townships present, expressed themselves willing to give the required permission in order that the

and all danger of accidents averted, but they acknowledged that no steps could be taken unless all three townships agreed to such action. An agreement, too, they declared, would have to be drawn up by their council, which would have to be signed by all parties. The town pressed hard to have the matter settled so that the contractor could start in at work in the morning, but the townships would not bind themselves to anything until the other representatives could be seen and consulted. It was finally agreed that at a meeting of the council, this evening, a great effort would be made to definitely settle this portion of the difficulty anyway and the township representatives pledged themselves to obtain the views of the absentees by that time.

During the evening, the position of the town and townships on the question of the emptying of the sewer into the river became so clearly defined that, although much time was lost in useless discussion, still it is satisfactory to announce that the representatives that the settlement of the question, it is plainly apparent, will either be decided by an arbitration, consisting of entirely disinterested parties, or else the sewer will be built and the townships be persuaded to ascertain by experience whether it will work them harm or not.

When the meeting was first called to order by the Mayor, both sides evinced a disinclination to broach the subject. The town was anxious to hear what proposition the townships had to submit, and vice versa.

Mr. Deyell finally started the ball rolling by rising and stating, that, as far as Otonabee was concerned, he and his associates were determined to keep the sewer from emptying into the river at all. The farmers considered that the sewage would be a pollution to the water and an injury. He queried as to why the town did not build the sewer where it would empty into the river opposite the town? Was the town council afraid that harm would result?

Mr. Dawson, in answer, said that a fall of over six feet greater was gained by running the sewer on into Monaghan.

Mr. Roger also pointed out that the sewage at present was discharged into the lake where there was little or no current. If the sewer emptied into running water it would naturally soon purify itself, as was the case in other instances where the circumstances were almost identical with the present state of affairs

The Mayor broached the ten year scheme and asked the representatives from the county to advance some opinion, as to whether the townships in order to avoid litigation, which was distasteful to both parties, would allow the sewer to empty into the river for ten years provided the town agreed to remove it at the expiration of that term,

IF IT WAS PROVED to be doing damage.

Councillor Johnston, of North Monaghan was against such an idea; he stated that he placed great value upon the fact that the river was pure from pollution and that he could use the water for his cattle and even for domestic use if it became necessary.

He couldn't understand, for the life of him, how the sewerage could empty into the river and not pollute it. If it could be proved to his satisfaction that such was not the case, then he would offer no further objection. The township had no objection to the sewer being run along its roads at all. The only difficulty was that all the county representatives were sure the water would be polluted by the sewerage. The question of the privilege regarding the use of the road need not be considered at all.

If evidence could be produced which could convince an unprejudiced arbitration that the waters

WOULD NOT BE POLLUTED,

the privilege of the use of the river would be most cheerfully accorded. The county was only seeking to place a safeguard on the health of its residents in objecting to have the sewerage run into the Otonabee.

He advocated laying the evidence before an uninterested arbitration. Evidence could be produced on both sides, and if outside parties whose property would be unaffected by any decision should give an award, surely it would be satisfactory to all.

The municipalities would appoint an arbitrator from outside the county, the town could do likewise and these two representatives could appoint a third. Such an arbitration, he thought, would decide the matter, and this course, to him, seemed the only solution of the difficulty. He thought an arrangement should be made whereby the town and townships should bind themselves of the arbitrators, no matter which way the decision went. Unless such an agreement was made, endless litigation would inevitably result, as one side was bound to have a verdict given against it.

Mr. Hughes, of the town, was sure that if the town was once convinced that the river would be injured by the sewerage, that not a ratepayer would care to have the sewer empty into the Otonabee. Dr. Bryce, one of the best sanitary experts in Canada, had stated that an analysis of water taken from the river half a mile below the point where such a sewer emptied, would not be able to show that any corrupt matter had ever been introduced into it.

Mr. Johnston here interrupted Mr. Hughes to state that Dr. Bryce had also stated that the water under these circumstances would not be fit for domestic use. Mr. Hughes was unaware of this statement having been made, and went on to point out that a sewerage farm, if established, would be than ever the river could be to the inhabitants of North Monaghan.

The Mayor was pleased by Mr. Johnston's remarks, as they showed that the townships were not set on lawsuit, but were willing to come to an amicable agreement. The only objection he had to another arbitration, such as asked for by Mr. Johnston, was the large bill of costs which would be incurred.

Mr. Edwards, town solicitor, rose to express his surprise at the non-commital attitude assumed by the county representatives. He had understood from Mr. Edmison, the counsel for North Monaghan, that the townships' representatives were willing to allow the sewer to empty into the river for ten years, and at the end of that time if it was found that the water was being polluted, then an arbitration would ensue, if the town did not agree with the townships in thinking that such was the case.

He wished that a decided statement would be made by the township's men present regarding this impression which had been conveyed to him by Mr. Edmison.

Reeve Foster rose and stated that this idea was one which

and had only been advanced as a suggestion. He had not consulted with his colleagues on the subject and the advance had been made by the counsel without authority. He stated further that the suggestion differed materially from the manner in which he had framed it. His idea was to allow the sewer to be finished, when, if in the opinion of the townships, damage was being done, at the expiration of ten years, it could be closed up after twelve months' notice without further litigation or expense to the townships.

Mr. Hall laughed at the idea of the town ever consenting to leave the matter in such a shape that a township council could close the sewer by a resolution, without the matter being submitted to an arbitration. He was anxious to get the townships to agree to let the sewer operate for ten years and at the end of that time to let arbitrators deal with the question, if the waters were thought by the townships to be polluted.

Mr. Edwards wanted to know if it was true that the townships of North and South Monaghan and Otonabee had agreed to take no step unless all agreed to it. If such was the case, there was the question further at present, as South Monaghan was not represented. He also asked for a statement from Otonabee representatives as to how that township viewed the question.

Mr. Anderson spoke out plainly in answer, and stated that if the sewer emptied into the river it would not be with the consent of Otonabee township, as the residents were thoroughly convinced, as well as their representatives, that harm could not help but ensue.

The Mayor wanted to know if this speech meant that if the sewer was laid that it would only be put in after a fight with Otonabee,

Mr. Anderson stated that this was just what he meant to convey by his words. Otonabee would fight tooth and nail for what was considered to be her interests.

Mr. Hall wanted to know, now that Otonabee had taken this stand, if Monaghan was prepared to take any steps against the wishes of that township, or would

ALL NEGOTIATIONS HAVE TO CEASE?

Councillor Johnston wanted to hear his proposition discussed concerning an uninterested arbitration, but Mr. Hall pointed out that it would be better to try and strike a bargain than go to the expense of an arbitration.

The Mayor spent a good deal of time in drawing the attention of the country authorities to the systems of sewerage in many other towns, in which the discharge of the sewers was received into far smaller bodies of water than the Otonabee. Toronto, he stated, actually drew its water supply from the same body of water into which the sewage was discharged.

Mr. Hall didn't think that anything which was said by the town councillors would convince the townships that the river would not be polluted, and was anxious to see the matter either settled by the ten year scheme or else by arbitration.

Mr. Roger asked if Otonabee had formed these opinions on its own surmise or on the evidence of scientific experts? He pointed out that the townships were not the only ones who had a claim on the river, and that Peterborough could use it to any extent she pleased, provided the rights of others were not infringed upon.

Mr. Deyell stated that when the river overflowed its banks in the spring a deposit of foul sewage was always left when the water receded. This he considered most unsanitary.

Reeve Forster wanted to know how it was that the

was not allowed to drain into the river above the town, but all the information which he could get on this point was that the town council had nothing to do with it. The Board of Health had settled the question.

Mr. Roger stated that water charged with sewage would purify itself. If Lakefield had a sewage system which discharged into the river the water would be perfectly pure long before it reached Peterborough.

Deputy Reeve Johnston, of Otonabee, thought that the difference in the banks should be taken into account by Mr. Roger before he made such a statement. The formation was altogether different. The banks between Lakefield and Peterborough were high and firm, while below Peterborough marshes which caught and held the sewage abounded.

Reeve Forster wanted to be informed as to how the solids discharged from the sewer would be dissipated?

No one could enlighten him, although many of the members pointed out instances of where water was known to have purified itself.

Mr. Dawson stated that proof of this fact could be easily seen by simply standing at the point where the present sewer emptied into the water. The solids in the discharge were disintegrated into fragments not larger than the grain of cornmeal.

Councillor Johnston plainly saw that the town was as firmly convinced that no injury would be inflicted, as the county was sure that it would. Speaking for the county he was sure that if this arbitration would be consented to on the part of the town, that the award made would be perfectly satisfactory to the townships.

The Mayor was so sure that no arbitration would object to the sewer emptying into the river that he asked the county representatives to allow the town to and if the arbitrators decided against the town, the town alone would be the party to suffer any loss. He was most anxious to get the townships to consent to the building of the sewer on the condition that if the award went against the town that it would be immediately filled up.

The townships, however, would not agree to this proposition.

Mr. Hall clearly outlined the position assumed by the county representatives and was convinced that the arbitration was the only way to solve the difficulty. He wanted to know if the townships would be willing to have the brickwork of the sewer finished as far as the excavation was already made if the arbitration was consented to.

The townships were afraid their case would be prejudiced by such action, but the town was willing to allow the township solicitor to draw up an agreement guarding the township against such a contingency.

The Mayor then wanted to see the matter referred to a small committee, composed of a representative from each of the three townships and three from the town. The town councillors demurred to the postponement of a decision and a long discussion ensued.

Mr. Hall finally pressed his question and asked for an answer, but Reeve Forster stated that the townships had been advised against such a course.

Councillor Johnston, though, was anxious to see the road fixed up before winter set in and advocated that the town be accorded the privilege of in the excavation already made, provided that if this permission was accorded, the case of the townships would not be affected thereby.

Deputy-Reeve Johnston agreed with the previous speaker, but Reeve Foster still held that the advice of the township's counsel was against such action.

An adjournment for about half an hour then took place to give the Otonabee and North Monaghan representatives an opportunity to discuss the question as it now stood.

Just at this juncture the foreman of the contractor informed the Mayor that the sides of the trench had already given way so much that the trench was one-third filled with sand, and unless the work was at once proceeded with, the sides would give way to such an extent as to cut off all communication along this road.

The representatives of the townships were strongly urged to make some suggestion whereby this additional difficulty might be grappled with successfully.

On re-assembling, Reeve Foster stated that the representatives were of the opinion that the sewer difficulty had simmered down so fine that the townships were quite sure that either of two courses would be adopted, and if the town would consent to allow the townships to discuss the question thoroughly amongst themselves, he was confident that at the end of three days he would bring an answer to the effect that the work on the brickwork could be finished in the trench already made, provided the townships were allowed to make a choice between allowing the sewer to be put in for a period of ten years, at the end of which time it should be taken up on twelve months notice, if the townships to that effect, or the townships be allowed the alternative of referring the matter at once to an arbitration. The townships sympathised with the town regarding the condition of affairs at the sewer, but this was the best that could be done.

Mr. Forster and the other representatives finally consented to appear at a meeting of the council to night, vested with full power to conclude the bargain, and the matter had to be let stand at that, but there is now hardly a doubt that a conclusion of the difficulty will be reached this evening, so far as the completion of this portion of the brick work is concerned.

Superior Quality Carpets.

With all the rage for cheapness the demand is growing for the better article. "It's Fair's Way." Time is a certain tester of fads and fallacies. In the production of Carpets we've something that'll stand the test of time. A taking feature, too, is the rich, deep colouring of these carpets—a colouring that wears, whether the carpet be in drawing-room, parlour or dining room. We may give you the hint that these rich, deep colourings are rapidly becoming the fashionable vogue.

Ask to see a line of these Carpets with handsome Borders to match.

UMBRELLAS RECOVERED.

Old 'Wayback, when he was "seein' the sights," discovered that sign in Fair's window. He hesitated a moment and then went in. Said he:
"Say, I want yew to recover my umbrella."
"All right," replied the clerk; "where is it?
Old 'Wayback looked at him in astonishment and drawled out:
"If I knew that I'd recover her myself."

MURDERED IN HER BED

Fiendish Attempt to Kill a Whole Family While They Slept.

ONE OF THE VICTIMS WILL DIE

The Smallpox Epidemic in Washington—Two More Deaths—Massey Manufacturing Co. May Remove to Tonawanda—Interviewed Business People.

LAPEER, Mich., Oct. 31.—At three o'clock yesterday morning an unknown man entered the residence of Fred Skinner, at Columbiaville, and attempted to murder the occupants. The murderer used a blacksmith's hammer. Mrs. Skinner was mutilated almost beyond recognition and will die. Mrs. Lucetta Standley, Mrs. Skinner's mother, was struck twice on the head and is perhaps fatally injured. Mr. Skinner warded off the attack on himself with a pillow and the assailant escaped.

The Smallpox Epidemic in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Another death and an additional case have resulted from the smallpox epidemic which began in the law division of the interior department, and the marine hospital service is investigating still another death, traceable to the same source. William Owens, a young man employed in the census office as a messenger, died yesterday from the disease.

TONAWANDA, N. Y., Oct. 31.—H. A. Massey and L. M. Jones of Toronto and other members of the Massey Manufacturing Co. met the North Tonawanda Business Men's Association yesterday and heard proposals for the establishment of the Massey works in Tonawanda. The question is still undecided.

TARIFF REFORM IN ARGENTINE.

The Republic to Reduce the Duty on American Importations.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—The protectionists in the congress of the Argentine Republic have suffered a defeat in their efforts to increase the duties on imports and to lessen the internal revenue tax on spirits, sugar, coffee and other domestic products. The majority of the congress are favorable to the new tariff bill, which decreases the duty on American importations, particularly of lumber, petroleum, rice and agricultural implements from 15 to 20 per cent. The loss of revenue resulting to the government from a general tariff reduction will be off-set by continuing the present internal tax.

De Barry at Work.

BUFFALO, Oct. 31.—Immigration Inspector De Barry has been very busy of late over an alien contract labor case. Advertisements were inserted in the Toronto papers during the lattor part of last year by the King Spring Company of 1400-1410 Niagara street for a number of first class carriage body makers. A number of the desired workmen came to Buffalo in response to the advertisement. Three men, Wm. Holman, Samuel Heaps and Harry J. Mummery wrote to the company regarding their prospective wages and received letters of contract. Advertising for labor in a foreign country with the printing and publishing of such advertisements is a violation of section 3 of the Alien Contract Labor Act of 1892. And the penalty as specified in section 3 of the act of 1894 is a fine of $1,000 for every such infraction. Inspector Debarry placed the case in the hands of Assistant District Attorney MacKey yesterday, and papers will be issued at once.

Fatal Railway Wreck.

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 31.—A frightful coal train wreck in which three unknown men were killed and Lewis E. Trump, of Williamsport, was badly injured occured about three-quarters of a mile east of Niaduct, a station near Peale on the line of the Beech Creek Railway at an early hour yesterday morning. A coal train was moving past Viaduct, when one of the brake beams dropped down and the result was a bad wreck, 17 cars being piled up in a confused mass.

The Fire Trap Tenement.

Two Killed and One Fatally Injured.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Lord Rosebery was the recipient yesterday of the freedom of the city of Bristol, where he afterwards unveiled a statue of Edmund Burke.

CZAR IS MUCH WORSE

His Cough is Bad and He Spits More Blood Than Before.

The Doctors Say the Emperor's Condition is Dangerous—Prince and Princess of Wales and King Christian of Denmark Start for Livadia.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The report is current here that the Czar is dying. The decorating firm of Marshall & Snelgrove are engaged upon an order which will occupy them until midnight preparing mourning paraphernalia for Marlborough House, the residence of the Prince of Wales. The Prince and Princess of Wales will start for Livadia by special train at 8.45 o'clock in the morning in consequence of the receipt of an urgent telegram from the Czarina.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 30.—The Czar's left lung has been attacked. His condition is very serious. It was announced here yesterday morning that the condition of the Czar has sensibly changed for the worse. It is added that there is a marked increase in his coughing and spitting of blood.

The following official bulletin was issued at 10 o'clock yesterday morning by the physicians who are in attendance on the Czar:

"The general condition of the Czar has become considerably worse. Last night the spitting of blood, which began yesterday with severe coughing, increased. Symptoms of congestion of the left lobe of the lungs have manifested themselves. His Majesty's condition is one of danger."

The Czar received Holy Communion yesterday. It was administered by Father Ivan, Holy John of Cronstadt.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 31.—The following bulletin was issued from Livadia at 10 o'clock last evening: During the day the spitting of blood continued, and the Emperor was seized at times with shivering fits. His temperature was 100 degrees Fahrenheit and his pulse was 90 and weak. His breathing was difficult. He can take only a little nourishment and has become very weak. The oedma has increased materially.

VIENNA, Oct. 31.—The evening edition of the Neue Freie Presse has this despatch from St. Petersburg: "The Czar was delirious last night and did not recognize his family. He grew calmer in the morning. Upon learning that death was near he asked that several friends who had not been summoned be called at once to his bedside."

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—A despatch from Valta says that the congestion of the Czar's lungs is spreading rapidly, as the patient has too little strength to resist it.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Central News correspondent in Denmark says that in consequence of an urgent telegram received yesterday King Christian and his wife will start to-day for Livadia.

MARCHING AGAINST PORT ARTHUR.

It is Garrisoned by 13,000 Chinese Soldiers—One Station Taken.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—The Westminster Gazette has a despatch from Yokohama which says that the second Japanese army has landed at Talien-Wan bay, and is now marching upon Port Arthur. The total number of Chinese troops at Port Arthur and Kin-Chow is 13,000, of which 4,000 are raw recruits.

A special from Valparaiso says: "The reason the Chilian warships were not sold to China was the difficulty of securing a neutral flag under which to sail them over to a Chinese port, and the fear of a protest from the Japanese legations in Washington, London and Paris.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—Secretary Gresham yesterday received the following cablegram from Minister Denbey at Pekin: "Chinese forces have been defeated at Chihlien Cheng. They have retreated to Moukden. Japanese have taken one fort at Port Arthur."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31.—It is still asserted at the Chinese legation that the fall of Pekin will not end the war. They are not prepared to believe that Pekin can be captured by the Japanese, but should such an event occur the Emperor, it is said, will betake himself and his household to a more remote point in the interior, and hostilities will continue as before.

The Exclusion of American Cattle.

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—The officials of the foreign office, interior department and other branches of the government say the prohibition is the result of the action of the different German states. they clearly having that right. The foreign office authorities say they have nothing to do with the matter, the states having adopted the measure as a purely sanitary precaution. The empire, as such, has taken no steps to prohibit the landing of American cattle or American meat. The interior department officials say that the measures are of a purely preventive nature, it having been proved that cattle suffering from Texas fever have been imported into the country, and declares that each German state has the right to take such measures within its own territory.

W. C. T. U. Annual Convention.

CORNWALL, Oct. 31.—The 17th annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of the province of Ontario opened here yesterday. Between 75 and 100 delegates are in attendance. MERCIER'S LIFE ENDED

Quebec's Erstwhile Foremost Statesman Passes Away.

DEATH CAME WITHOUT PAIN

Hope of His Recovery Was Given Up Weeks Ago, and for the Last Twenty-four Hours the End Was Expected at any Moment.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—Honore Mercier died yesterday morning at 8.45. The end had been expected any time during the preceding twenty-four hours, and hope of recovery had been given up weeks ago. From the moment that he first fell seriously ill on the 14th day of August last it had been felt that he lay on his death bed.

Mr. Mercier has been suffering from a complication of diseases for years past, diabetes predominating. After his defeat at the general elections of March, 1892, his friends expressed the opinion that he had only six months to live, but by dint of adopting abstemious habits of living he managed to prolong existence longer than had been expected. Drs. E. P. Lachapelle and Rattot were his medical attendants, and the last rites of the church were administered by the Rev. Father Garceau, S. J.

It is a remarkable fact that a spiritualist here had foretold about ten days ago that the end would come on the thirtieth of October.

Monday Mr. Mercier was unconscious most of the time. For ten hours of the day he lay in a comatose condition, reviving at intervals for a few seconds and then relapsing into a state that was almost akin to death. Mr. Mercier at late hour Tuesday evening was very weak. Morphine was administered at 10.30, and the patient became much agitated. It was then feared by the physicians that a reaction would take place, and the end might come any minute. Throughout the night the vital spark flickered, growing lower and lower until the end came.

Mr. Mercier, in his prime, would have weighed close on to 185 pounds. His dead body is now a mere skeleton, so much had it wasted away.

Notwithstanding that Mr. Mercier's death was expected at any time, the news has created great interest here, and the bulletin boards containing the information were soon surrounded by crowds eager to learn the particulars of the once great French Canadian leader's last hours.

Mr. Mercier was unconscious when he died, and had been so for many hours. He was surrounded by Madame Mercier and his children, Madame DeCahe, her sister, and her brother Edward. The funeral will take place on Friday.

Many messages of sympathy have already been received by Mr. Mercier's family. They are from all parts of the United States and Canada. The funeral, which will take place on Friday, promises to be very large and imposing. Many people visited the house yesterday and arrangements have been made to have the remains in view until the day of the funeral. Word has been received that delegations will come from many parts of the province to take part in the funeral.

Honore Mercier was born at St. Athanase, Quebec, on October 15, 1840. He was educated at the college of the Jesuit Fathers in Montreal; studied for the bar and began to practice at St. Hyacinthe in 1865.

He took an active part in the politics of that day and edited the Courier of St. Hyacinthe. He was a strong opponent of confederation, which caused him to sever his connection with the Courier.

His first attempt to form a national party was in 1871, when the question of separate schools in New Brunswick was under discussion. He then advocated the formation of a national party which would enable the French Canadians to exercise a greater influence in federal affairs.

He entered Parliament in 1872 as the representative of Rouville, and during his first session made a deep impression upon the House in the debate on the New Brunswick school question.

In 1879 Mr. Mercier was persuaded to relinquish the retired life he had withdrawn to and enter the cabinet of Hon. Mr. Joly as solicitor-general.

When the Government was defeated in 1879 over Lieut.-Governor Letellier's dismissal of his ministers, Mr. Mercier took up his abode in Montreal and determined to give himself up to his profession. He was not permitted to carry out this intention, however, for his political allies again sought him out and persuaded him to enter the Government.

In 1886 he was selected as leader of the provincial party, then in opposition. In 1890, after the contest in September of that year, his party was returned to power and he was made Premier.

During his term of office he was a dramatic figure in Canadian politics. His undoubted ability was turned in the direction of ultramontane principles, and while he was supported by the clergy of that complexion he cut a wide swath. The charges of corruption made against him, his subsequent condemnation at the polls, and final retirement from politics are all fresh in the public mind.

Mr. Mercier was a patriot as far as French Canada is concerned, and indulged hopes of building up a French nation on the banks of the St. Lawrence.

DISUNITED UNIONISTS.

It would seem that an Irishman is never happy except when he is enjoying a bit of a ruction. The Irish home rule party is divided into two hostile camps, and the Ulster "Unionists" have split into two parties representing, respectively, landlords and tenants, Mr. T. W. Russell, M.P., for South Tyrone, and one of the ablest of the Ulster men, leads the latter. It is explained that "the source of the split is that the Belfast conference organized by the Ulster Land Committee has distinctly declared for the Liberals against the Tories on the reform of the Irish Land Acts. Resolutions were passed expressing appreciation of the action of the government in appointing a committee to consider the subject, approving generally of the recommendations of the committee, and adding the opinion that the abolition of dual ownership will be the only complete and permanent remedy. The latter means the compulsory sale of all the farms to the occupiers, and it appals the great landlords—the Devonshires, Londonderrys, Lansdownes, Clanricardes, De Freynes, and others—who have not had a share of the forty millions of British money which the Salisbury Government made over to the Irish landowners for the purchase of their estates at their own valuation."

If Canada had to "put up" a hundred million or so to construct a railway to permit British troops to be carried quickly to the East, isn't it about time that we got into some sort of international row so that we could get the benefit of the military protection of England, which is about the only value we get in return for this use of the C.P.R. Seriously, it is true that the C.P.R. is a great factor in opening up and developing the Northwest; though it comes rather high it is something we must have. As regards the Imperial use of our line, the mother country is welcome to it, but it does seem that the wealthy old dame, who has got more money than she can use, might do a little better than sentiment.

The reconstruction or abolition of the House of Lords will most probably be an issue in the coming general elections in the old country. Lord Roseberry's speech at Bradford would indicate that the responsibility of mending, ending or leaving alive the House of Lords will be left to the people. Between two stools the Lords stand a chance of coming to the ground. Lord Salisbury, the Tory leader, is after their scalps in some sort of way, and Roseberry is for turning the distinguished do-nothings over to the people. The Lords have never been able to resist a strong expression of the popular will, and if at the coming elections the people tell the Lords to go, go they must.

Our Yankee cousins are in the midst of their annual election broil. Representatives in Congress will be elected in all the States of the Union, except Maine, Oregon and Vermont, on Tuesday next. These three states have already chosen their representatives at bye-elections. Most of the States will also elect State officers, from governor to poundkeeper. The legislature appoints the United States senators though the State senators are elective. November 6th will be a red hot day in the United States.

Mr. Judge Burbidge, in the Exchequer Court at Ottawa, gave judgment against the Toronto Street Railway, which had sued the Customs Department to recover $56,000, the amount of duty collected on steel rails imported by the Company. The Judge held that the Act of 1887, exempting steel rails, applied only to the rails used by railway lines opening new country. The case will probably be made a test case and be appealed to the Supreme Court and the Privy Council in succession.

If Newfoundland decides to enter the Canadian Confederation we shall have a decided addition to our "codfish aristocracy."

that many women owe their beauty to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The reason—beauty of form and face, as well as grace, radiate from the common center—health. The best bodily condition results from good, fresh, air, and exercise, coupled with the judicious use of the "Prescription." In maidenhood, womanhood and motherhood, it's a supporting tonic that's peculiarly adapted to her needs, regulating strengthening and curing, the derangements of the sex.

If there be headache, pain in the back, bearing-down sensations, or general debility, or if there be nervous disturbances, nervous prostration and sleeplessness, the "Prescription" reaches the origin of the trouble and corrects it. It dispels aches and pains, corrects displacements and cures catarrhal inflammation of the lining membranes. It's guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money paid for it is refunded.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation, indigestion, biliousness, headaches and kindred ailments.

A Baby Saved.

Dear Sirs,—My baby had a terrible cough. The doctor said it was Whooping Cough, but it got worse all the time until baby was just like a skeleton. When he was four months old I tried Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion, and after using one and a half bottles my baby is entirely cured. No other remedy but the Emulsion was used, and baby is now strong and healthy.

G. T. R. HALF-YEARLY MEETING.

Shareholders Refused to Adopt the Report Until After the Investigation.

London, Oct. 31.—On the meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway yesterday afternoon being opened, Sir Henry Tyler, president of the company moved to adopt the report and accounts.

Mr. Searl, a shareholder, moved an amendment that the report and accounts be received, but that their adoption be postponed until the result of the investigation of the accounts to be made in Canada by an expert shall be announced.

The amendment was voted upon, and carried by a vote of 161 to 160. Sir Henry Tyler challenged the vote, and it was decided to have a re-ballot.

The directors upon entering the meeting were greeted with hisses and cheers in about even proportion.

Sir Henry Tyler said he had always hitherto spent two months in Canada in the autumn of each year, but everything had become so disastrous and wages had been so greatly reduced during 1894 that he had not gone this year because his presence there would have caused applications for increase of wages as well as applications for employment, which could not be granted.

He felt that his duty was in London during the time of the crisis, and he consequently had remained. He was, he asserted, in daily attendance at his office, and devoted himself to discovering and making use of the best means of mitigating the results of these disasters. All knew, he said, that the business depression in the United States during the past two years was owing to the difficulties encountered in the solution of the silver questions, followed by the great coal strike and the Pullman strike, which had had a strong tendency to cause a decrease in the Grand Trunk's traffic.

Sir Henry said that the low rates had caused a decrease in the freight earnings of one one-hundredths of one per cent., making a difference in the total revenue from the transportation of freight of 20,000 pounds. He believed that now that the fiscal policy of the United States and Canada were settled trade would revive, but the cheapness of wheat was still a great trouble. During the coal strike, he said, the New York Central Railroad had seized for their own use coal which they were carrying over their line for the Grand Trunk.

The Financial News says to-day: "The Grand Trunk meeting began and continued to the end in the same way as most other Grand Trunk meetings. It is doubtful if the shareholders' interests were furthered in the slightest. It was a display of clumsy comedy rather than a serious effort to produce a remedy. The crisis is of the greatest importance. The whole difficulty is due to the fearful burdens resulting from ambitious extensions."

SPAIN'S CABINET RESIGNS.

They Disagree Over the Question of Tariff Reform and Dissolve.

Madrid, Oct. 31.—The Cabinet resigned yesterday because the Ministers could not agree as to several measures to be introduced in the coming session of the Cortes, most notably the proposal to reform the tariff. Queen Regent Christina accepted the resignations, but is understood to have requested Senor Sagasta to form a new Cabinet. Should he consent several of his late colleagues will join him.

Sagasta succeeded Canovas del Castillo as Premier in December, 1892. The retiring Ministers are: President of the Council, Senor Sagasta; Foreign Affairs, S. Moret; Justice, R. Capdepon; Finance, Senor Samazo; Interior, Lopez Puicerver; War, Gen. Dozlegpez; Public Works, Senor Woret; Colonies, Senor Raura; Marine, Admiral Pasquin.

For the cure of headache, constipation, stomach and liver troubles, and all derangements of the digestive and assimilative organs, Ayer's Pills are invaluable. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take, always reliable, and retain their virtues in any climate.

BRIDGENORTH.

A union meeting of the Smith societies was held on Friday evening in the Methodist church, Bridgenorth. Mr. Roberts, president of the Union, occupied the chair. A very good choir led the musical part of the programme.

Mr. A. J. Johnston spoke for a short time on "Christian Stewardship and Systematic Giving," pointing out the responsibilities of Christians in their office of agent or stewards for God. He also spoke on the question of systematic giving, showing its advantages over the usual style of collecting missionary money. He closed by appealing to all Christians to be faithful in their lives and in their stewardship. The choir then sang an anthem.

Rev. W. R. Young then gave a splendid address on "Good Citizenship." We do not attempt to report his speech. The following are some of the points brought out by him: After referring to the happy combination in our name "Christian Endeavour," and what these words mean, he showed the importance of every detail in our lives being right, as every relation in life touches our citizenship. If such men as Sir John Macdonald, Geo. Brown or Mackenzie were asked what they as citizens had done, their answer would be, we have built upon a broad foundation, and now the edifice is completed in our Dominion of Canada.

What was the old settlers' work, whose lives were spent in toil and hardship? Their answer is, we leave churches, schools and cultivated farms.

What are you young people doing for the advancement of our country. The great work begun by our forefathers must be completed by you. The best contribution on the altar of our country is a good and holy life. In your humble circle show forth pure Christian lives. What are we doing for our homes? We should all be proud of our Christian homes. They are the source of supply for the Christian ministry. Of all the institutions that are building up our national life in its purity, the Christian home is in the lead. The tendency of to-day is to neglect the home. We all have to be careful of this priceless gem. No society can take the place of a Christian home. The true test of a man's religion is the home life. If a man's religion is in church or prayer meeting and forgets it at home, his religion is not much. Endeavorers should strive and develop the good in their homes. A good citizen is a pure man. Young man, young woman, make your record pure and clean. Let no sinful thought, word or action stain your character. Do not dream away your life, but act. Effort is the central point in success.

He closed his eloquent remarks by appealing to all to live closer to Christ. He is the best citizen, who is joined to Christ, living in him and with Him.

A solo by Rev. Mr. Clare, of Bridgenorth, was finely rendered. Mr. Clare then led the open parliament on "How to make a success of a C. E. Society and its meetings." This was a very interesting part of the meeting and must have proved helpful to all C. E. workers, who were present. Messrs. Milburn, Tapscott, Warren, Johnston, Rev. Messrs. Young, Clare, Green, Miss McEwan and others took part. Many good points were emphasized. The conditions of success were prayer, earnestness, zeal, abiding in Christ, the Holy Spirit, co-operation, patience, forbearance, the pledge; each speaker taking up some phase of the work. The meeting was brought to a close by prayer and the Mizpah benediction.

On October 12th, Gilmour Baptist Y.P.S.C.E. held their semi-annual business meeting. The attendance was unusually good, and one very encouraging feature of the meeting was a good report from every committee.

The following are the officers elected for next term:

Hon. President—Rev. Mr. McLeod.
President—Miss E. Darling.
1st Vice-President—Jas. Young.
2nd Vice-President—Miss Ella Mann.
Cor. Sec.—Alex. McGregor.
Rec. Sec.—James Mann.
Treas.—Fred Scott.
Organist—Miss L. Tindle.
Asst. Organist—Miss L. Darling.
Collection Boys—Jas. Jopling and Willie Taylor.
Ushers—G. H. Graham and R. Scott.
Convenors of Committees—Prayer Meeting, E. Darling; Lookout, N. McEwen; Missionary, L. Mann; Temperance, Geo. Scott; Sunday School, C. F. Kerill; Flower, Jamie Taylor; Social, H. Brown; Visiting, H. Tapscott; Music, M. Mann.

Peterborough, Oct. 27th, 1894.

DEAR MR. EDITOR,—The following question has been asked me by a young Endeavourer:—"Could not such games and amusements utilized by his Satanic Majesty to allure young people from the path of rectitude, be safely made use of in cultivating the social nature of the young in leading them to Christ?"

Will you or some of your Endeavour readers kindly give this their earnest consideration, and place their answer in the Endeavour column of next week, and oblige.

Yours in C. E.,
INQUIRER.

A LUCKY MAN.

Laid up for Months by a Severe Form of Kidney Disease—The Simple Cure he used—He's Well Now.

THEDFORD, Oct, 22.—Some men don't know when they are in luck and some do. Albert Maithers, of this place, is one of the lucky ones who knows of his good fortune and tells about it. He says he was laid up and could do no work for months because of kidney disease. When kidney disease has such a hold on a man as that, he is in a serious condition. Mr. Maithers recognized this and used every remedy he could think of, but without getting any help until he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Three boxes cured him and he is attending to his affairs once more and is as hearty and happy as ever.

SPRINGVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. Mr. Fraser occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Mr. Fraser is a young man and equal to those on the ordinary list of trial preachers who have occupied the pulpit during the summer. The congregation is growing impatient owing to the dilatory action of the Presbytery who are endeavouring to re-arrange the charges held by Rev. Messrs. Bennett and Ewing. It is to be hoped that the Presbytery will bring their proposal to a focus so that the respective congregations can give applications for trial ministers their serious consideration with a view of having the present undesirable state of affairs set aside.

Miss Minnie Clarke presided at the organ in her usual efficient manner on Sunday. The Springville Royal Templars paid a visit to a sister court in the village of Mount Pleasant, Thursday of last week. Miss Lottie Cook, Fairmount's popular school teacher recited one of her best selections which was well received, also Miss Emma McBain captivated the audience with the singing of a few well selected temperance songs. Mr. Peate's comic songs literally brought down the house, and brought forth numerous encores. Near the close of the programme Select Councillor, Mr. T. E. Wilson, gave a twenty minutes address, the subject being "Why the company of ladies is preferable to men." Mr. Wilson handled the subject cleverly showing that the men were more addicted to drinking and over indulgence in the common evils than women, consequently the latter were more elevating company than the former. Mr. Wilson's speech met with the hearty approval of all the young ladies present, although the young men could hardly agree with his strong views on the subject. Yet Mr. Wilson must have given the subject deep thought as his reasons were backed by logical proof. The visitors were royally entertained at lunch by the young ladies of Mount Pleasant. At a late hour our people arrived home all highly pleased with the evening's entertainment.

Mr. Andrew Hogg has leased a farm in the township of Asphodel and will remove there soon. Mr. Hogg states that where he is about to remove to the residents are mostly all Presbyterians, many of the old Puritan stock, still thinks he will have some difficulty in conforming to their ways, but is of the opinion that when it has become generally known that he has removed from a Methodist settlement and has personally passed through Purgatory, "and been in Hell," that he will be sufficiently qualified to make his entree into the social circles of the sedate Asphodelites. Mr. Hogg will be much missed in his neighborhood, as he, together with his family, were obliging and excellent neighbors.

Miss L. Wilson and Miss M. Forster, delegates to the C. E convention, Kingston, gave a detailed account of the proceedings when there, on Tuesday evening last to a well attended meeting. Miss Wilson's paper was well written, containing some practical hints that this society might profit by. Miss Forster's paper also was very instructive. Both young ladies speak in high terms of the hospitality of the Kingston people.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an-have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Seasonable and Opportune.

Always forearmed for all the shopping demands of our customers—this store is never behind—the right goods at the right time and at the right prices. October suggest the need of such things as Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to chose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last years' hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

Our Days are Numbered.

The Peterborough Bookstore has introduced a new scheme. Not one day a week, but on three numbered days of the week. Special bargain sales have been inaugurated to continue during the winter season, each day having a number of attractive and different lines to be slaughtered at low prices. New books, stationery, wall papers, window blinds, cornice poles, pictures, fancy goods, etc., will be sold at about one half their former prices. These three bargain day sales during each week will sweep everything before them, and put dollars down into the pockets of prudent, cautious and thoughtful buyers. See the advertisement in another column for this week's special "plums," and if you want any of them just sit down and make out you list, then come to the Peterborough Bookstore and get an estimate of how much you will save by taking advantage of these bargain days.

Mrs. John Finlay.

About 9 o'clock on Monday morning, Mrs. John Finlay, wife of ex-Reeve Finlay, departed from this world for the great unknown. Deceased has been a sufferer from dropsy for some time, and her death was not altogether unexpected, but is felt none the less for that. She was born in Western Ontario in 1838, her father being Mr. John Wilson. While she was still young her parents removed to Dummer township. In 1857 she was married to Mr. John Finlay, and they took up their residence in Norwood. Her husband and six children survive her—two sons, Alfred, a member of the firm of Finlay & Son, and Thomas; and four daughters—Mrs. M. R. Callender, Mrs. S. Girvin, Mrs. J. N. Ackerman and Mrs. A. J. Fitzgerald, all residents of Norwood. The deceased was a highly respected member of the Presbyterian church and in fact enjoyed the highest esteem and respect of the entire community who deeply sympathize with the bereaved husband and family.

The Profits of the Baker on His Bread.

In view of the fact that the bakers in a number of towns, in this district, are cutting prices and waging a war among themselves, a few remarks concerning the probable cost of a loaf of bread may not be considered inappropriate. Bakers' flour of the best quality is worth about $3.00 per bbl. here. In practice, 100 pounds of flour will make 133 to 137 pounds of bread or an average of about 136 pounds. This then would make the cost of flour in a pound of bread about one and one eighth cents. Allowing one-half cent for the shortening and salt, which is certainly very liberal, the materials for a pound of bread would cost not more than one and three-quarter cents. Of course, there should be added to this the cost of labour, rent, interest on investment, expense of selling, etc., to make the actual cost to the baker. In large cities, competition has made bread much cheaper, but even there the difference between the cost of bread to the well-to-do family, who bake it themselves, and the family of the poor man, who buys it from the baker, is unfortunately large.

FOOTBALL.

The indefatigable secretary of the town Rugby club, Mr. Poussette, has at last succeeded in offering inducements sufficient to win the consent of the Osgoode Hall fifteen to give the Peterboroughs a match, on Saturday next. Everyone knows what the Osgoode Hall team is like and how often it has held the championship honours of Canada, therefore the town should turn out in numbers to witness such a match and to encourage the football club in their efforts to bring a club of such worth to play in Peterborough. The town team will be even a little stronger than when it played such a fast game in Port Hope, a week ago Saturday and the match will, without a doubt, be the best which the Peterborough public has had an opportunity of witnessing in the town for years. The football club is put to no inconsiderable expense in bringing the Osgoodes here, but the town is not asked to help the club out by subscription or anything of that sort. The boys simply wish the public to evidence an appreciation of their efforts to give them a good match to witness, by turning out to encourage them by their presence. Other towns and city's rally royally to the support of their football, lacrosse and other clubs, and make little heroes out of the members of the teams. When the Cornwall lacrosse club journeys abroad, its friends go with it. So it is with Hamilton, when its football men take a trip a train-load of its well wishers accompany it. The Orillia lacrosse club was recently banqueted by the citizens of that town, and why cannot Peterborough rally around its crack teams in a like manner? Saturday will be an opportunity for the citizens to evince a little of the enthusiasm which hitherto they have been so lack in displaying.

HE STOLE A WATCH AND TRADED IT OFF.

Young in Years but Old in Vice—He Recently Served a Term in the Reformatory.

A young lad of about sixteen years of age named Joseph Raynor, is now confined in the cells with a very serious charge hanging over his head.

He was discharged about a year ago from the Reformatory, after putting in a five years' term there, and drifted down to the Indian River settlement, where he obtained work, he states, with a farmer. A few days ago he came to Peterborough, and obtained work with the Dickson Company. That night he went to the company's boarding house, and was assigned an apartment along with some of the other men.

Tuesday morning the lad remained in the room after the others had left it, and did not appear at work all day. Nothing was thought of this until one of the men who had occupied the same apartment as Rayor the previous night, found that his watch was missing. He at once attributed its disappearance to the strange lad and communicated with the police.

To-day at noon Officer McGinty picked the boy up at one of the livery stables in town, and found a watch in his possession. It was not the stolen watch, however, but a little inquiry revealed the fact that the one the boy carried had been obtained together with some money in exchange for the one which had been stolen.

The lad fully realizes his position and spent the afternoon in crying and expressing useless regrets. He stated to an EXAMINER reporter that he took the watch in order to realize something on it and not be obliged to sleep out all night, as he had no money. This statement, however, is nullified by the fact that he had a job offered him by the Dickson Company and could have earned enough to keep him from want.

"TAKE MY LIFE AND LET IT BE."

A Peterborough Young Lady who Will Devote Her Life to Missionary Work.

A large number of the friends of Miss Bila Hawkins assembled at the station this morning to say farewell and bid her God speed on her way to the mission fields of Central China.

Miss Hawkins is a daughter of Mrs. M. E. Hawkins, and for the past two years has been fitting herself for mission service at the training school of the International Christian Alliance in New York. She has recently completed her course and is appointed to the Central China Mission. The local branch of the Alliance will assume the support of the young missionary in her distant field of labour.

Four other young ladies have also been detailed for work in China by the International Alliance, and Miss Hawkins joins this party in New York, when all will proceed to the mission station at Wobo, Central China, where they will be drafted off to different portions of the Celestial Empire.

A MOST ENTERPRISING BOARD OF MANAGERS.

The Lakefield Cheese Factory to be Converted Into a Creamery.

Following the good example set by North Smith, it has been resolved to convert the Lakefield cheese factory into a butter factory for the winter months.

The Board of Managers of the Lakefield Dairy Company, which operates the cheese factory is composed of Messrs. G. J. Galvin, H. C. Garbutt, J. Sanderson, W. Preston and Andrew Fairbairn, and these gentlemen will also probably all act on the Board of the new company formed in connection with the butter making enterprise as each of them is taking a great interest in the conversion of the factory and the promotion of the butter industry.

Patrons of other cheese factories in the neighbourhood which will be closed for the winter have already signified their interest and expressed their willingness to take shares in the creamery.

The quality of butter turned out from butter factories nearly always obtains a preference in sale over that manufactured in the homes, as it naturally is more uniform in colouring and in taste by reason of being manufactured in such large quantities at the same time. An entire crock or firkin is thus enabled to be filled by the product of one churning. The EXAMINER wishes the new enterprise all success in its undertaking, and prophesies that there will be no lack of patrons and that the product of the Lakefield factory, as in the case of North Smith, will make a name for itself in the market.

The new machinery which is being placed in position necessitated an outlay of over $500, without taking into account the expense incurred by making the change. A Sharpless Separator and a Mason butter worker and churn have been purchased from Mr J. W. Moore, town, and has already been shipped to Lakefield. The new butter factory will begin operations on Monday next, having a capacity to handle 1300 pounds of milk per hour.

Mr. Moore has also just completed the sale of a No. 2 Baby Separator to Mr. Jno. L. Reid, of Bobcaygeon. Mr. Reid is the owner of a herd of about twenty cows and thinks that there's more money for him in investing in the new invention for separating the cream from the milk, than waiting for the former to rise as of yore and be skimmed off the pans.

A number of other sales of machinery are pending, and the Peterborough section bids fair to become as noted for its butter as its cheese.

SOME OF THE COUNCILLORS AND TOWN OFFICIALS STARTLED.

An Unwelcome Visitor Calls on Them With an Oaken Cudgel and Emphasizes His Remarks.

A very angry man interviewed a number of the councillors yesterday and some of the town officials. He suddenly appeared in the doorway of Mr. Thos. Brady's store on George and Brock streets, with a huge oaken cudgel in his hand. With two strides he was over to the counter, and Mr. Brady thinking he was "in for it," sidled over to a three pound weight, which he drew towards him. His visitor, however, beyond raising his voice to a high pitch, did not grow violent. He demanded protection from Chief Reazel and Policemen McGinty, Stewart, Adams and Johnston and also from Mr. Parrington.

"But," said Mr. Brady, "Johnston is dead."

"Doesn't make the least bit of difference," was the rejoinder, "he was as bad as any of them when he was alive."

Mr. Brady could not ascertain of just what offence the police had been guilty, but his visitor solemnly assured him that Mr. Parrington had threatened to murder him and had struck at him. The councillor finally persuaded the man to go to Councillor Hall with his grievances, and so Mr. Hall was treated in turn to a flourish of the cudgel. Mr. Hall passed his caller on to Councillor Cahill, where the scene was repeated. Mr. Cahill gave the man a note to the town clerk. Once closeted with Mr. Armstrong, he forgot about the police and threatened to clean out the office, as he stated that his last year's taxes had been 79 cents in excess of what they should be.

Miss Cummings was next interviewed, and was frightened half to death by her strange visitor. Several times during the day he dropped into the collector's office, and each time grew more violent in his denunciations of those who had overcharged him in his taxes. The Chief finally got wind of the affair and posted himself at the collector's door. This was sufficient to keep the man from entering there again, but he haunted the town clerk until evening. To-day Mr. Armstrong has his inside door locked, and is answering all enquiries over the patition.

A FIERCE FIGHT FOR LIFE.

How a Noble Buck Withstood a Brace of Hunters in an Aquatic Battle.

The Winch-Morrow hunting party's expedition ended in a vestige of blaze—an exciting aquatic battle. On Monday afternoon, the entire party, which was camped on big Jack's Lake, went over to little Jack's to get a couple of does that been shot previously. Just as the party landed, a fine buck was discovered swimming across the lake, about a quarter of a mile distant. As often happens, the party had no guns with them. It was, however, decided that Harry Winch and Guide Simpson should make the effort to capture the buck. Accordingly the two set out in a canoe and soon over-took the swimming deer. Harry, who was in the bow, valiantly seized the animal by his abbreviated tail in hope of a chance to drive his hunting knife into the loins, so as to sever an important artery. But he was too much occupied in keeping his grip to get the desired chance. Thus the deer towed the canoe across the lake and the hunters saw the necessity of preventing a landing. Harry loosed his tail hold, Simpson brought the canoe in front of the deer and a terrible struggle ensued, the animal brought to bay, endeavouring to strike the canoe, but a skilful sweep of the paddle and at length the deer's course was turned across the lake again, and again Harry got his grip of the tail, and as the two neared the opposite shore the necessity of again turning the deer into deep water arose. The canoeists again headed off their expected prey, and another desperate struggle, and a really dangerous one, took place. The maddened animal made determined attempts to get under the canoe, and at times it looked as though the hunters' buck would be dough, but by a game struggle the antlered monarch was headed into deep water once more. All this time Harry had been too busily engaged in keeping his grip and saving his own bacon to be able to deal the death blow, but on this trip the deer being pretty well exhausted, he was able to drive his hunting knife to the hilt in the loins of the noble game. For a few rods the animal swam shoreward, leaving a blood-tinged wake. Soon, however, he succumbed to loss of blood and his capture was effected. He proved to be a splendid specimen and weighed 200 lbs. The struggle which occupied about three quarters of an hour was breathlessly watched by the party on shore, and loud cheers greeted the triumphant termination of the aquatic battle royal. The party is expected to return home this evening, laden with spoil and—fish stories.

SWUNG THE CRAFT OUT OF DANGER,

THE WORK TO BE PARTIALLY COMPLETED.

THE EMBARGO REMOVED.

At a Special Session of the Town Council, Last Evening, the Township Agrees to a Partial Completion of the Work—The Matter Again Goes to the Arbitrators.

Another special meeting of the town council was held, last evening, for the purpose of once more endeavouring to unravel the Gordian knot, in which the affairs pertaining to the outfall sewer have become entangled.

The members present were the Mayor and. Messrs. Cahill, White, Kelly, Hall, Dawson, Roger, Sutton and Brady. Town Solicitor Edwards was also in attendance, as were Mr. Edmison, solicitor for North Monaghan, and Councillor Johnston, of same municipality. Three hours were again spent in discussion, as was the case the previous evening, but no further advance was made regarding the obtaining of the permission of the county to discharge into the river. One step of considerable importance however was taken and that was gained when the townships agreed to let the brickwork be completed in the excavation already made. Opinions are divided regarding the advisability of the adoption of this course, as by some it is held that the expending of more money on the ditch is only throwing good money after bad, as matters concerning the entire work of completing the sewer are still almost at a standstill.

The following letter was handed the Mayor last night by Mr. Edmison :

PETERBOROUGH, Oct. 30th, 1894.

To the Mayor and Council of the Town of Peterborough :

GENTLEMEN,—On behalf of and as the solicitor of North Monaghan, with a view to having the highway along which is proposed to lay the sewer, put in proper repair before the winter sets it and thereby avoid the risk of accident, we are willing to consent, without prejudice to the rights and interests of our clients, that the town may put in the brickwork and fill in the excavations already made as faras the excavations already made extend, but no further, and on the express understanding and condition that such consent shall never be used in any way against our clients in any future arbitration nor in any action or proceeding in which they shall be interested or to which they shall be parties. And on the further condition that the arbitrators already appointed shall not nor shall any of them be continued or act as arbitrators in this matter, and that new arbitrators shall be appointed in the usual way unless the parties should agree upon one arbitrator to act alone, and on the further condition that such new arbitrators or arbitrator, as the case may be, shall be disinterested men who reside out of the town of Peterborough and out of the township of South Monaghan and having no property or pecuniary interests therein.

Yours etc.,

GEO. EDMISON,

Solicitor for the Township of North Monaghan.

This letter was the spark which touched off the flame of dissension, and discussion waxed hot and cold by turns, as every phase of the question was once more thrashed out. Time and again would some of those present become so disgusted with the turn affairs were apparently taking, that overcoats and hats were snatched up and the meeting almost brought to a close in a manner none too pleasant. Persuasion, however, always succeeded in keeping the quorum together, and securing the further stay of Mr. Edmison and Councillor Johnston.

The following resolution was introduced by Mr. Cahill, and appeared to meet the views of all to such an extent as to secure its almost immediate passage. It was seconded by Mr. Brady :—"That the proposition of the township's solicitor be accepted, provided that the names of three county judges be submitted by each party (that is, the town and townships), from which one or three arbitrators shall be selected by the town and township's solicitors, and in case they cannot agree, then the selection to be made by Judge McMahon from three names submitted, such selection to be made not later than Saturday, November 3rd, and to be inserted in the order of Mr. Justice McMahon."

By request Mr. Edmison changed his letter so that it would read in such a manner as to permit of the appointment of the arbitrator or arbitrators without delay, instead of taking 28 days, as is usual in making such appointments. Mr. Edmison also wrote across the back of his letter that the resolution of the town council was a satisfactory acceptance of the proposition of the township.

The embargo on the completion of the brickwork in that portion of the trench already excavated was thus removed, and Foreman Smith, who was patiently waiting around outside, was notified to this effect by Town Solicitor Edwards.

Mr. Smith left for Toronto on the 4.48 train this morning to explain the position of affairs to the contractor. He expects to return and to have men engaged on the work by to-morrow morning.

OBITUARY.

Clayton Bateman.

The late Clayton Bateman, who died on Tuesday at the age of 76 years, had been a resident of Peterborough for about 28 years. A HOUSE ON STEWART STREET CATCHES FIRE.

Last Night a Good Deal of Damage was Done but the House was Saved.

For the second time within the last few days the house occupied by Mr. Charles Holland, and owned by Mr. Christopher Moffatt, on Stewart street, caught fire just before six o'clock last night.

On the first occasion, it will be remembered, the house was unoccupied, though Mr. Holland was moving his furniture in at the time. A sofa mysteriously broke out into a blaze, but the fire was put out before much damage was done.

Last night the fire originated in the shed and spread to the barn, which latter building was entirely enveloped in flames when the fire brigade arrived. The water was turned on the house, which was preserved, although the shed was destroyed together with a quantity of furniture which was stored therein.

CHILDREN WHO SUFFER

from scrofulous, skin or scalp diseases, ought to be given Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for purifying the blood. For children who are puny, pale or weak, the "Discovery" is a tonic which builds up both flesh and strength. What is said of it for children applies equally to adults. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength. In recovering from "grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, and other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system.

For all diseases caused by a torpid liver or impure blood, as Dyspepsia and Biliousness, if it doesn't benefit or cure in every case, the money is returned.

NEWS FROM THE CAPITAL.

Government Contracts Awarded—John Taylor Not a Medical "Quack."

OTTAWA, Oct. 31.—The Department of Railways has awarded a contract for 4,300 tons of steel rails to C. J. DeSola of Montreal, representing the Cockerill works in Belgium, spoken of as the Belgian syndicate. The price which the Government will pay is about £4 sterling per ton. The rails must be delivered in June, 1895. The rails will be used on the main line of the Intercolonial, the Prince Edward Island line and the Windsor branch. The Department of Railways and Canals has also awarded the contract for re-building the docks at Port Dalhousie, Ont., to Messrs. Battle & Co., of Thorold.

Judge Musgrove has dismissed the suit brought by the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Toronto, against Mr. John Taylor, manager of the Murphy Gold Cure Institute of this city, charged with illegally practising medicine in connection with the institute.

The election of president for the Medical Council of No. 17 division, which comprises the counties of Carleton, Russell, Prescott, Glengarry and Stormont, took place here yesterday, the candidates being Dr. A. F. Rogers of Ottawa, and Dr. Bergin of Cornwall. The result was that Dr. Rogers was elected by 47 of a majority.

THE ARCHBISHOP WINS.

The Canada Revue's Action Against His Grace of Montreal Dismissed.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—In the Superior Court yesterday Judge Doherty dismissed with costs the action of the proprietors of the Canada Revue against his Grace Archbishop Fabre in connection with the Archbishop's mandament which had the effect of suppressing that paper's publication.

This case, it will be recalled, arose out of the criticisms of the Canada Revue newspaper upon alleged irregularities claimed to exist among the clergymen of the diocese, the misdeeds of Abbe Guyhot, of St. James' church, having given rise to a bitter tirade in the paper in this connection. The paper, refusing to be silenced by a clerical warning, continued to carry on the crusade upon which it had entered with renewed bitterness.

Then Archbishop Fabre promulgated his famous mandement, which at a blow cut down the circulation of the once-paying paper to a few hundred, and practically swept it out of existence.

Following this ecclesiastical action Mr. Filiatrault, the editor of the Canada Revue, took an action for $50,000 against the Archbishop. The trial took place during the past summer, and the judgment rendered yesterday has been looked forward to as of vast importance.

The New Orleans Trouble.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 31.—The situation was quiet on the river front yesterday and there was no rioting. Very little work, however, is being done and commerce is suffering severely. The ships are having considerable difficulty in getting white men to finish work started by negroes, and of the latter there are few on the river front. The colored laborers remain away owing to the high feeling that prevails against them.

Is He An Alien Laborer?

WASHINGTON, Oct. 31—Attorney-General Olney has been asked for an opinion in the case of Howard, the under coachman of Vice-President Morton. Secretary Carlisle will be guided to a great extent by the opinion of the law officers of the government, though the law constitutes him the sole final judge of who is an alien contract laborer, regardless of judicial determination.

WHO DR. McCORMICK IS.

Montreal has Something to say Respecting the Well Known Richmond Physician.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Que., whose remarkable cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been set forth in his letter, recently published, is a graduate of McGill College, this city. He is well known, not only to the medical profession in Montreal, but throughout the entire province, as a careful and reputable physician, and his testimony to the worth of Dodd's Kidney Pills is accepted by physicians generally as a guarantee of the efficacy of the remedy. Such a communication, coming from so eminent a graduate of McGill, will have the effect of making Dodd's Kidney Pills universally popular in Quebec.

Indigestion Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—I can safely say that B. B. B. is a successful cure for Indigestion. I had this trouble bad last summer and two bottles of B.B.B. built me up again. It's a good reliable medicine, both for Indigestion and as a blood purifier.

REFUSED TO ANSWER.

Montreal's Chief Detective Declined to Say Whether He Had Been Bribed.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—Chief Detective Cullin of the Montreal detective force was again on the rack before the police investigation committee last night, and there was a little fun to relieve the otherwise monotonous proceedings. Chief Cullin described the custom of receiving complaints in the department. The complaints were entered in a large book, which was kept private. Witness was asked regarding a number of the complaints and went into details. He was asked if he had received money in connection with certain cases, but he flatly declined to answer. The counsel for the prosecution demanded that he be compelled, but on a vote being taken the majority of the committee sustained Cullin in his refusal. The prosecution protested against the enquiry being burked and were loudly applauded by the large crowd of citizens present.

New Submarine Torpedo Boat.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 31.—Mr. Allan, a resident of Melbourne, has invented an electric submarine torpedo boat which he claims can be sunk to any depth and can be run as fast as a surface boat. It can be kept submerged, he says, for three days. A successful experiment with Allan's model was made last week in the presence of the Earl of Hopetoun and many naval and military officers. After seeing the experiments, Rear Admiral Bowden-Smith gave the opinion that the boat was all that Mr. Allan claimed and was destined to revolutionize naval warfare.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Oct. 31, 1894.

The Oswego barley market is steady, Canada selling at 61 1-2c.

On the street market 300 bushels of wheat sold at 53c for white, 51c for red and 50 1-2c for goose; 2,000 of barley at 42 to 44c; 200 of peas at 54 to 55 1-2c, and 1,000 of oats at 30 to 31c.

Despite the warning of last week there was a big run of Canada lambs at East Buffalo. Nearly 25 cars; in consequence prices went off fully 25c per cwt., with 18 cars not sold at close.

On the New York stock market there was a pause in the professional campaign against the coal stocks. From this standpoint of market tactics this movement has been extremely stupid. Its organizers delayed until Wall street was well aware that the inside interests in these properties were not selling their stock. The attack on a large scale had even been postponed until everybody learned and reflected on the real facts of the coal trade situation, for the situation certainly has two sides. No one will easily mistake the condition in which such a performance leaves the market. Outside of the anthracite properties, moreover, stocks have sustained a very thorough test, and thus far have met the shock with encouraging response.

The London stock markets were idle in part owing to the miserable weather. The Grand Trunk railway meeting was the only feature of interest. The main result of the meeting is a decision to appoint a special auditor to go to Canada to look into the accounts. The stock was flat, more on traffic returns than the meeting. Americans were flat until after hours, when there came a distinct rally in Louisville, St. Paul, Atchison and others. South American stocks were firm. The withdrawal of gold is for Paris and more is going. The new Canadian loan has risen to 4 1-2 premium.

Thousands of cases of rheumatism have been cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This is abundant reason for belief that it will cure you.

Attention

In time to any irregularity of the Stomach, Liver, or Bowels may prevent serious consequences. Indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, biliousness, and vertigo indicate certain functional derangements, the best remedy for which is Ayer's Pills. Purely vegetable, sugar-coated, easy to take and quick to assimilate, this is the ideal family medicine—the most popular, safe, and useful aperient in pharmacy. Mrs. M. A. BROCKWELL, Harris, Tenn., says:

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills cured me of sick headache and my husband of neuralgia. We think there is

No Better Medicine,

and have induced many to use it.

"Thirty-five years ago this Spring, I was run down by hard work and a succession of colds, which made me so feeble that it was an effort for me to walk. I consulted the doctors, but kept sinking lower until I had given up all hope of ever being better. Happening to be in a store, one day, where medicines were sold, the proprietor noticed my weak and sickly appearance, and, after a few questions as to my health, recommended me to try Ayer's Pills. I had little faith in these or any other medicine, but concluded, at last, to take his advice and try a box. Before I had used them all, I was very much better, and two boxes cured me. I am now 80 years old; but I believe that if it had not been for Ayer's Pills, I should have been in my grave long ago. I use 4 boxes every year, which make 210 boxes up to this time, and I would no more be without them than without bread."—H. H. Ingraham, Rockland, Me.

MOLLY, MYSELF AND THE BABY!

Buy all our shoes at McNaughton's.

MOLLY is a sweet, sensible little woman—economical, too—always buys what she can get the best value for her money.

FOR MYSELF, I used to buy my shoes down town, but I dropped into McNAUGHTON'S to see if he was selling as cheap as the big George Street stores. Bought three pair quicker than soap.

THE BABY, well, the kid wouldn't wear a shoe that didn't come from McNAUGHTON'S. Is never troubled with croup.

DAIRY PITH.

Byre Wisdom in a Nutshell for Knowing Cattlemen.

Take good care of the young cows, that they may continue profitable when they are old.

Lead a cow rather than drive her. Gentleness should be the watchword to the dairy stable.

The whey following a good cheese-maker's work is poor feed for pigs, as it contains but little casein or butter fat.

The dairyman with a good well and a windmill can feel about as independent as the one who has running water on his farm.

When you strip a cow's teats to the last drop in milking, do it not so much for the immediate gain as to keep the udder of prolific habit in the future.

The merciful dairyman when he draws calves to market puts them in a comfortable crate instead of tying their legs and doubling them under the waggon seat.

To make the cow truly profitable, you must maintain her milk yield along natural lines of feeding. Indulgence in freaks of food stimulation does cows more harm than good.

The cow that must graze industriously half of the summer to recover physically what she has lost by indifferent keeping through the winter is not apt to earn a dollar in real profit for her owner.—American Agriculturist.

How He Raises Eight Hundred Chicks.

I am somewhat interested in raising chickens artificially, and have been bothered more or less with first one thing and then another until I have got where I think it would be hard to find any business that required more patience and perseverance. As I only raise from 400 to 800 chicks in a year, and those in broods of 100 to 150, my chief bother has been to get a brooder that is economical and safe. I am now using something that I think is out of the ordinary for a brooder. It is simple, cheap, durable, and, with care, successful. It is on the principle of a kerosene stove.

I make a box three feet long by two feet six inches wide and about ten inches deep. I cut off six inches of the width with a partition six inches high and wire over this with common screening. In this partition I place a five-inch elbow of common stovepipe, and under that a lamp of the diamond pattern, and on the front I cut a hole nine inches wide by six inches high for the chicks to go in and out.

I have a walk through my brooder house, ten inches below the brooders, in notches of which I place my lamps, two together. The heat of the lamp draws fresh air along with the fumes of the light through the five-inch elbow, and the space around the elbow is not covered, so the fresh air from the walk is drawn in that way also.

It was a long time before I would send the fumes through the brooder, but I came to it, and my chicks will. I raise more now than I ever did. The fumes do not kill them when mixed with fresh air.—A. Johnson, Jr., in Poultry Keeper.

A Surprising Improvement.

The Edinburg Farming World quotes a good judge of sheep as noticing a surprising improvement in Cheviots within a few years:

"The wool is immensely superior, both in cut and quality, to what it was a few years ago. He expressed surprise at finding sheep so well wooled below, where hitherto a considerable deficiency had existed. Not just so very long ago the craze was for big sheep, but with one of those freaks peculiar to fashion, the ideas have completely somersaulted, and now we are assailed with the difficulty of too small sheep. Cheviot breeders are just experiencing what breeders have gone through. If they are wise they will see that the small craze, like the craze for Duchess cattle[!], is merely evanescent. The man who kicks against the pricks in present day fashion will be the winner in the long run."

Dogs and Insomnia.

On the occasion of a dog show in Paris a French statistician has published an estimate of the number of dogs at present to be found in that city. Evidently it is with no good feelings towards the poor animals, for after informing the world that there are no fewer than 80,000 of them in the French capital alone the calculator proceeds to speculate upon the number of persons who are kept awake by their barkings. On an average, he thinks, one dog in ten would be restless and inclined to bark during the night, and in each case the barking would cause at least one person to lose his night's rest. On this basis he arrives at the dreadful conclusion that there are in Paris at all times 8,000 persons who cannot sleep from this cause alone. And yet, he complains, the barking of dogs is not even mentioned in medical works as one of the causes of insomnia.—London Daily News.

A Curious Custom.

A custom that has existed for several centuries is still maintained in some towns on the lower Rhine. On Easter Monday—auction day—the town crier or clerk calls all the young people together and to the highest bidder sells the privilege of dancing with the chosen girl, and her only, during the entire year. The fees flow into the public poor box.

The wisest course in politics is to vote for the best man, and you cannot be mistaken. So, in the use of blood-purifiers, you can't be mistaken if you take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, because all parties agree that it is the best—the Superior Medicine. Try it this month.

Rheumatism can be Cured.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil has cured Chronic Rheumatism, Stiff Joints and Swellings of years' duration after all other means had failed. In all forms of inflammatory and muscular pain it is a specific cure.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Those that live closer to his manufacturing place, like all the Ontario cities and towns, are more fortunate than people of United States, Australia or England, and it is because he visits this place once a year, they are able to see his goods before ordering, and having then tried they see the effect his Hair Goods Coverings give to their general appearance, but his business has so rapidly grown in the last few years that he is unable to visit these places so often, for this reason. All who require these Goods should not miss the opportunity given by this visit.

NICKNAMES.

Joseph Hume, the politician, was called Adversity Hume, because of his frequent predictions of ruin to the English people.

Jubal A. Early was called the Bad Old Man by the troops of the confederate army, on account of his fighting qualities.

Aldiconronti Phoscophornio was a nickname given by Sir Walter Scott to his pompous friend, John Ballantyne, the publisher.

Attila was called the Scourge of God, from an expression of his own: "Where my horse has trodden no grass will ever grow."

William Pitt was called the Bottomless Pitt, because of the skill with which he concealed his plans until ready to reveal them.

Rabelais was called the Father of Ridicule, the Phœnix of Witand the Lucian of France, from the pungent character of his satire.

ETIQUETTE FOR GIRLS.

Always rise for an older person.

In entering a room the gentleman always follows the young lady.

The young lady always seats herself first before any gentleman will do so.

In making introductions the young man is always presented to the girl, never the other way around.

It is a lady's place to recognize a gentleman first, as it depends on her whether the acquaintance continues or not.

Never introduce any young man to your girl friends without first asking their permission, and then say: "Miss D., I want to present (or introduce) Mr. A. to you."

It is sufficient to acknowledge an introduction by a simple bow, unless there is some special reason for more cordial forms. Handshaking is not good form in an introduction in a ballroom.

SNAP SHOTS.

The imperial library at Paris has 72,000 works treating of the French revolution.

The power of steam was discovered by a Florentine officer, who was idly experimenting with a glass bottle and a few drops of water.

Baron Nathaniel Rothschild, of Vienna, has conceived the generous idea of giving his famous castle, Reichenau, near Vienna, to the war ministry for transformation into an asylum for invalid officers.

Lieut. Col. A. R. Saville, of the English service, claims that the cycle possesses numerous qualifications as a mount which are not fulfilled in the body of any living animal, and argues that cyclists should be included among armed forces.

HINTS TO HOUSEKEEPERS.

To remove odors from a sick room, it is a good plan to sprinkle coarse ground coffee on a shovelful of burning coals, and thrust it into all the corners of the room.

Hard putty may be easily softened by passing a red-hot flat piece of iron over it, so that it can then be removed with the fingers or the edge of a knife, without any difficulty.

Cake needs to rise to its full height before browning, especially sponge cake. The lightness of this cake depends, first on thorough beating, second on baking just right.

A General Purpose Breed.

An English breeder is greatly pleased with the "East Anglian Red Poll" as a general-purpose breed. He writes:

"I use a bull of this strain in a herd of 24 cows, most of the calves from which are reared, and find I get good milkers and good beef animals as well. Of course there are Red and Red Polls. Some are small, under-sized animals, but a bull of the right sort will grow as well as an average Short-Horn. I sold my bull in May, two and a half years old, and he turned the scale at 15 cwt. in store condition. The calves generally come polled, even from Short-Horn or Dutch cows, and almost invariably prove good doers, that will look well on plain keep, and they make real good quality beef."

Preparations for Winter.

See to it then, before winter sets in, that the cracks in the stable walls and floor are battoned; that a part of the barn is filled with straw for bedding; that convenient arrangements are made for watering the stock; and then notice the difference in the appearance and condition of your stock and that of your neighbors who think it makes animals tough to expose them to the cold. The first stormy day that you cannot work out of doors, spend in your barn, studying to see what improvements can be made that will add to the comfort of the stock or make it more convenient to feed and care for them.

I know farmers who spend a quarter of an hour each day pulling straw from a stack and carrying it from fifty to a hundred feet to bed their horses, when there is an empty mow right over the horse stable, and in two hours they could make a chute through which the straw could be dropped directly behind the horses in the stable, and require but one minute's time to bed them. Study to save time and steps in all these little jobs that must be attended to daily, or perhaps three times a day, and you will save your vitality and grow old gracefully.—Ohio Farmer.

If you are suffering the agonies of neuralgia, and have failed to get a remedy that will afford relief, we want you to try Polson's Nerviline. Salisbury Replies to Rosebery.

LONDON, Oct. 31.—Lord Salisbury speaking Edinburgh last evening replied to Lord Rosebery speech against the House of Lords. The Prime Minister, he said, had drawn a big herring in the way of Home Rule, but it was evident that during his Bradford address he mentally, if not actually held his tongue in his cheek. Lord Rosebery had no more power than had anybody else to determine the subject which would be referred to the voters at the next election. To submit a detailed measure for the decision of the electors was certainly an honest proceeding and in the form in which it existed in the states was decidedly advantageous.

M. Favette is Removed.

PARIS, Oct. 31.—In the cabinet council at the Elysee yesterday the ministers considered the case of M. Favette, the high official who almost wrecked the cabinet by charging up 640 dinners and six cab fares against the government. At the instance of M. Lourties, minister of commerce, President Casimir-Perier signed a decree removing Favette from office. M. Guerin, minister of justice, says that the papers bearing upon M. Favette's misconduct will be submitted to the attorney-general.

An Anarchist on Trial.

ROME, Oct. 31.—The trial of the notorious anarchist Merlino began in Florence yesterday. The charge is that he published articles inciting the people to revolution. Merlino was condemned some years ago in Contumacian with Cipriani.

A Midget but No Less.

ASHALDN, Ky., Oct. 31.—Abner Astrop, a midget, is dead in his mountain home in Johnson county, at the age of 52 years. Astrop never in his life weighed more than 45 pounds, and at the time of his death his weight was but 30 pounds. He was two inches less than three feet tall. He died worth $10,000, and refused to become a museum freak.

Official Appointments.

BERLIN, Oct. 31.—The appointment of the Prince of Hohenlohe-Langenburg to be Stadtholfer of Lorraine, has been announced officially. The Koelnische-Zeitung says that Freiher-Marschall von Biebartein has been appointed Prussian Minister of State while still retaining the Imperial Secretaryship of Foreign Affairs.

Plundered by Pirates.

ALMERIA, Spain, Oct. 31.—The Italian barque Scutolo, Captain Statia, which sailed from Philadelphia September 21st for Naples with a cargo of petroleum in boxes, has arrived here. She was boarded by pirates off Norro Nuevo, Africa, and plundered of 1,000 boxes of her cargo.

A Centenarian Dead.

SALEM, Oct. 31.—Thos. Harris, aged 104, a native of Ireland, died here yesterday. He has resided in this village for the past 40 years and has acted as constable at the elections for a number of years.

A Brakeman Fatally Hurt.

HAMILTON, Oct. 31.—William McMillan, of Allandale, a brakeman employed on the G. T. R., fell from a freight train when about a mile from Burlington yesterday morning. He was brought to the city hospital here and has been unconscious ever since. He may recover.

Victoria Parliament Opened.

MELBOURNE, Oct. 31.—The Earl of Hopetown, governor of Victoria, opened parliament yesterday. He said that the session would be devoted to the work of placing the colony's finances on a sound basis.

Mr. Bowell in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Mr. Tarte, Canadian Commissioner to Australia, had a conference yesterday afternoon with a number of Montreal merchants interested in Australian trade. The minister heard their views and promised to give them attention. He expressed himself as strongly in favor of the establishment of a line between the port of Montreal and the Cape of Good Hope.

Gang of Burglars Caught.

MONTREAL, Oct. 30.—For two years systematic burglaries have taken place at Point St. Charles, south end of city, puzzled the detectives and police. Grand Trunk freight cars, private houses and stores were robbed, the losses amounting in all to thousands of dollars. At three o'clock yesterday morning detectives came upon the rendezvous of the gang in Island street and succeeded in getting four men. The place was full of booty.

Geo. Francis Goes Back.

WINDSOR, Oct. 31.—Detective Mason, of the Montreal Surety Co., arrived in Windsor yesterday morning from Quincy, Ills., and took away with him George Francis who was arrested in Windsor on Saturday night and admitted that he was guilty of embezzlement while manager of a meat company in that city. Although the information only charged him with embezzlement of the sum of $500 it is now learned that the sums missing well foot up to the thousands.

To Protect Wild Animals.

A committee of English sportsmen and naturalists has been formed for the purpose of devising some scheme for the protection of South African mammals, chiefly giraffe, zebra, gland, gnu, koodoo and other antelopes, several of which, owing to indiscriminate slaughter, are on the verge of extinction. To attain this desirable end it is proposed to inclose a suitable tract of country of about 100,000 acres by a wire fencing, strengthened by a strong live fence of thorn on the outside.

A New Incubator.

The latest thing in the chicken business is the electric incubator, which is now very neatly perfected. The capacity of such a machine is practically unlimited, and the experiments have shown that electricity is very much better adapted to hatching purposes than steam or hot air. The percentage claimed for it is far greater than has ever been accomplished before, and the chicks come into the world in much healthier condition. The electric incubator has evidently come to stay.

Valuable Oil.

Cottonseed oil, now so important commercially, has been known to commerce for a long time. New Orleans once attempted to use it for street lighting. It was an old charge of abolition days that slaves were fed on cottonseed, a charge indignantly denied by the slaveholders, though cottonseed was then used as food by the peasants of southern Europe.

One of the Latest.

At a late meeting of the Royal Society of England an appliance called a thermogen was exhibited. It was a quilted cushion, with fine wires arranged inside by which it could be heated to any desired temperature by electricity. It seems to have been used with success in the hospitals, where it makes it possible to keep up the temperature of patients during prolonged operations with hemorrhage without such cumbersome appliances as blankets and vessels of hot water.

TAMING WILD ANIMALS

A PROFESSIONAL TAMER RELATES SOME OF HIS EXPERIENCES

With Lions, Tigers, Elephants and Bears —Many Thrilling Adventures and Narrow Escapes—Bitten by a Lion—Travelling With a Circus.

I cannot remember when I have not been surrounded, so to speak, by wild animals, writes a veteran tamer, For the past thirty years I have been on the most intimate terms with lions and tigers and panthers and leopards and bears and hyenas and elephants, and all sorts of other animals. I have trained them, eaten with them, slept with them, petted them and fought them by the hundreds in that time.

In all of my experience with animals I have only been bitten once, and that was owing to my own carelessness. A lioness bit me in the thigh one day when I was in her cage. I had my back to her and was teasing a lion at the time. She fastened her teeth in my thigh from behind, and the wound laid me up for three weeks. When she grabbed me I hit her on the nose, and she let go. Yes, she had tasted my blood, but that made no difference.

The talk about a lion or a tiger becoming unmanageable after it tastes blood is nonsense. I would as soon go into a cage all covered over with blood and let the animals lick it off as any other way. Lions and tigers won't attack a man in a cage, or out of it either, unless they are hungry. I make no exception to this rule. Any man can go into a cage of lions or tigers without danger of being hurt if he only understands the animals and is not afraid of them. They may be just caught—not two months out of the forest or jungle, and yet they will not attack a man.

There never was a lion or a tiger that was not afraid of a man. Let them alone and they never will attack a man so long as he keeps his face towards them. I am speaking now of those that are wild. The trained ones will not even spring at their keeper from behind. I can teach the wildest animal that was ever caged not to attack me under any circumstances, and I won't take more than half an hour or so to give the lesson.

I had an exciting time once, however, when I was with a circus and "moral menagerie." I had forty cages of animals under my charge. The cages were all painted with scenes from the Bible. On the cage where I used to perform with the lions—there were four of them—there was a picture of Daniel in the lions' den. I used to be bound hand and foot and thrown into th cage with the four lions.

One night one of the lions gnawed out of his cage and got in among the elephants. The elephants became excited and the lion sprang on the back of a little elephant. The little elephant trumpeted and kneeled down, and that woke up the watchman. I was sent for. I took a pitchfork and jabbed at the lion, and he let go and sprang for a big elephant close by. The big elephant was called Queen Anne—they've changed her name to Empress and she is still in the business.

She grabbed the lion with her trunk and threw him from her about twenty feet. He fell in a heap of bones which had come from the meat with which the animals were fed. The bones were under the stairway leading to the hayloft and a man was asleep up there. I got into the hayloft from the outside of the building and fastened the trapdoor down. Then I went down and tackled the lion. I got a shifting-box close up to where he was and then I got into the box. It had a door on each side. I teased the lion and made him mad so that he came for me. I had a close shave getting out at one side while he got in at the other, but I succeeded and caged him.

The elephants are by far the most dangerous in the menagerie. They can never be depended on. One bad elephant is worse than a dozen lions. They will try to kill their keepers when they get ugly, and when an elephant is thoroughly enraged he will stop at nothing. Every year all male elephants who have reached a certain age will have a spell of viciousness. This period keeps up for a month to six weeks, and at such times the elephant is always very dangerous. Lions and tigers will obey half a dozen or more masters, but elephants will only obey one.

One man is sufficient to look out for a herd of elephants. Of course he has helpers, but he alone is the master of the elephants. The keeper, when an elephant is going to become vicious, prepares for it by chaining the big beast. The elephant Tip that was killed up in Central Park could have been kept in this way and would have got over his ugly fit in a short time. The idea of killing an elephant at such times is absurd. No first-class elephant man would think of such a thing.

When I was with another circus they had a big elephant named Sampson. Sampson was nearly as big as Jumbo and was every bit as gentle. He used to carry a hand on his back. Afterwards we made it a feature of the parade to have a whole lot of children—fifteen or more—on his back. We used to advertise marriages on Sampson's back under the canvas.

One day I noticed that Sampson showed signs of an ugly temper, and I made up my mind that I would have to chain him up in a few days. On this day he had sixteen children on his back, and they had just got off and we were going into the tent when Sampson showed his temper.

He came for my cage and upset it. I crawled out, but before I could do anything Sampson had attacked the horses attached to the cage. They were four big grays, but he knocked them down and trampled on them. I got a pitchfork and jabbed it into Sampson's hindquarters. He turned on me and I ran behind a lot of cages. He came after me and knocked over eight of the cages trying to get at me. Mr. Cole was with me and I told him to get me a horse or the elephant would wreck the whole show.

He got me the horse and I attracted Sampson's attention and made him take after me. His fore feet were chained together loosely, and another chain ran from the middle of the foot-chain to a collar about his neck. I led him along the railroad track in hope that his chains would catch in the ties and throw him, but it didn't work. He kept right after me. At last I procured a shotgun, with a lot of cartridges loaded with buckshot.

I fired seventeen loads of buckshot into the elephant before I could turn him. When he at last ran I fired three more into him. Then I got him in between two flat cars and he gave up.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

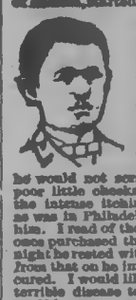
FACE LIKE A BURN

Bloody Water Oozed Out Constantly. No Peace Day or Night. Doctors Failed. Cured by Cuticura.



My child's disease, which was the worst kind of eczema, started on one cheek like a ringworm. It spread and itched so the poor little fellow had no peace night or day. Then it started on the other cheek and chin, until all were raw as a piece of boafsteak, like a burn where you would rub off the skin, and bloody water oozed out constantly. His sufferings were terrible I know, although he was but six months old and could not tell how he suffered. I tied his hands that he would not scratch, then he would rub his poor little cheeks on his shoulders to relieve the intense itching. I had as good a doctor as was in Philadelphia, but he failed to relieve him. I read of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and at once purchased them. Strange to say that very night he rested without scratching his face, and from that on he improved and soon was entirely cured. I would like anyone suffering from this terrible disease to see my boy, who is in his twelfth year now. His complexion is as clear and smooth as can be. This is an unsolicited testimonial, and every word is true. I thank God for my child's recovery, and I thank the manufacturer of CUTICURA.

ON SATURDAY, NOV. 3rd, we inaugurate a Startling 60 Days Sale of New Season's Goods that must be cleared out with the utmost expedition. It shall be so. It's Fair's Way.

In all lines of Fall and Winter Dress Goods we offer the best quality in union with the latest style and the cheapest price.

FAIR'S is the people's Mantle House. We cater for high and low, rich and poor. We give the best value because we buy on the best terms in the world's best markets. New makes with new prices have come to the front superseding old prices and giving all the satisfaction that is required for modern wear.

BRUSSELS CARPET is now the carpet for the masses. Our lines, in a large variety of patterns and beautifully coloured, have had an immense sale, while our special quality at $1.10 is the best value in Canada.

Many feel annoyed that, having bought a fine Brussels, the colours so quickly fade. This cannot be so with our extra quality Brussels. The yarns are the finest, and consequently the colours will stand.

A WILTON CARPET has to be made of fine yarn and closely woven, and we cannot recommend any price lower than $1.40 per yard. And in our extra quality we have some beautiful plain colour effects.

We merely ask you to test our statements; when that is done, you'll do the rest. COME HERE FOR BARGAINS any day in the week, and you'll get such "surprises" as will forever preclude the possibility of going elsewhere while this great sale continues.

WHEN DOCTORS DIFFER

The Czar's Physicians Wrangling Over Their Modes of Treatment.

HE STEADILY GROWS WORSE

A Specialist in Embalming Has Been Summoned to Livadia—Why the Wedding Is Delayed—Austrian Officers Will Attend the Funeral.

VIENNA, Nov. 1.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Neue Freie Presse says in the despatch published in the evening edition: Dr. Zacharin and Prof. Leyden have had violent quarrels, each accusing the other of giving the Czar improper treatment. When Prof. Leyden's opinions were accepted Zacharin declared that he would return at once to Moscow. Gen. Ticherevin forbade his leaving Livadia, threatening to detain him by force if necessary. Prof. Wywodzeff, specialist in embalming, has been summoned to Livadia.

Later despatches from St. Petersburg say that the Czar has grown worse steadily, that his heart is weaker than at any previous time, and that he is hardly able to recognize his relatives.

The quarrel between the Czar's doctors is reported to be due to Zacharin's brutal frankness in telling the Czar of his condition. Leyden reproached Zacharin with discouraging the patient. Zacharin replied angrily with a fling as to foreign interference and an open rupture was the result. The officers of the Czar's Austrian regiment have been ordered to be ready to act as a deputation at the Czar's funeral.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News says: "The delay of the wedding is owing to the Czar's insisting that the customary festive ceremony take place. 'If I get better,' he said, 'I shall wish to have the wedding celebrated with the usual splendor. If I get worse there will always be time enough for a quick and simple ceremony.'"

Damaging Floods in France.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—Heavy rains during the past few days have caused floods in the north of France. In the departments of Pash-Calais and the Nord thousands of acres are under water. Many villages have been rendered uninhabitable, and hundreds of peasants have been driven from their farms. The factories in Roubaix and other industrial towns have been stopped by raising flood. Many miles of railway tracks have been undermined or submerged, and trains are run only with great irregularity. In the valley of the Meuse hundreds of cattle have been killed, and bridges and barns near the banks have been swept away. Accidents have been reported from all parts of the flooded districts.

The Kaiser Values Religion.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—Count Ziethen-Schwerin, President of the Lutheran Church, has informed the Lutherans of Germany that the Kaiser in a recent address to the presidents and vice-presidents of the Church said that the labors of the general synod would be blessed if that body worked in a spirit of reconciliation. He hoped that the churches would be opened at other times than during the regular hours of service. This would promote and revive the religious feeling of the people, the Emperor said, for religion was still a power. Even the subversive elements of the present day had several times had to halt before it.

A Doctor's Suicide.

PALMYRA, Nov. 1.—Dr. De Lamater, who committed suicide here, was buried at Albany to-day. In looking over the doctor's effects, two letters were found addressed to his son. One, in brief, requested him to never marry, be a good boy and save the property left him, and requesting his son to bury him beside his first wife. One of these letters was dated October 3rd and the other October 28th, which goes to show he had contemplated suicide for some time.

Confessed to Wrecking a Train.

MERRILL, Wis., Nov. 1.—Levitt Hazleton, who is only 20 years of age and claims Brainard, Minn., as his home, has confessed that he and Frank Williams, who came from Appleton, Wis., were bent on wholesale murder and robbery in wrecking the Soo limited train near Hofford Junction the night of October 7 which resulted in the death of Fireman Cottrill. The men were held for trial. Williams maintains his innocence.

German Cabinet Movements.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—It is reported that Count Herbert Bismarck will be made ambassador to one of the great powers. Another source has it that he will be appointed Chancellor to the Chancellory. The report that Herr von Heyden-Cadow, Prussian Minister of Agriculture, is to resign, is confirmed by the newspapers.

More Weavers on Strike.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Nov. 1.—The weavers at Osborn mill, No. 2, have struck against a reduction in wages and an attempt to have them run six and eight looms on wide and fine goods.

The Children's Enemy.

ORES OF THE KOOTENAY

A Mining District in Canada Where Minerals Are in Abundance.

LARGE SHIPMENTS OF SILVER

One Mining Camp This Year Ships a Million Dollars Worth of This Ore—Result of the Investigations of Surveyors in British Columbia.

OTTAWA, Nov. 1.—R. G. McConnell and H. Y. Russell, of the geological survey, have returned from the scene of their field work in the western Kootenay district of British Columbia. This district has received much attention during recent years for its large deposits of minerals, the chief minerals being gold and silver. The mission of Messrs. McConnell and Russell was to enquire into the actual mineral resources of this district.

"Four or five years ago," said Mr. McConnell, "prospectors began to go into the western Kootenay, and to-day there are eight or nine thousand people, of whom four or five thousand are engaged in mining. Mines have been started everywhere. The Kootenay is bound to be a good mining country. Silver and gold is to be found in abundance. The Slocan camp, which is among the largest in the district, although every camp claims to be the largest, will this year ship $1,000,000 worth of silver ore. Other camps expect to ship other large quantities of ore. Some of the mines have been well fitted up with machinery. There is also considerable gold mining, and the returns for the labor spent are very satisfactory. The magnificent forests of the district have been badly destroyed by fire this year, and the loss is inestimable. The river valleys are covered with a heavy virgin forest, but the timber on the side of the mountains is much burnt. The principal timber areas are the Douglas fir, the cedar and spruce. The miners are accountable for the burning of the forests for they frequently are careless in setting fires."

The Ontario W. C. T. U.

CORNWALL, Nov. 1.—A number of very interesting reports were read by the Ontario W. C. T. U. in session here yesterday and all were very encouraging. Mrs. Gildchrist, of Toronto Junction, reported on unfermented wines. Work among the lumbermen was dealt with by Mrs. W. A. Hunter, of Pembroke, and Mrs. Samuel Brownlee gave some valuable pointers. Miss Dougall was elected an honorary member of the Union. Miss Douglas, of St. Catharines, gave a report on young women's work. Miss Scott, of Ottawa, reported on the literature depository and the Woman's Journal. Mrs. Thornley gave a report on the School of Methods, and Miss Emma Wheeler, of Paris, on parlor meetings. Scientific temperance was the subject of Mrs. Platt's report. Mrs. Rockwell's report on legislation was very interesting. Dr. Lelia Davis, of Toronto, reported on hygiene, heredity and social purity. Miss Sarah Wright, of London, on narcotics, and Miss Anning, of Belleville, on flower mission work. An evangelistic meeting in the evening in the Methodist church was addressed by Rev. Mr. Meikle and others.

Mourning the Death of Mercier.

QUEBEC, Nov. 1.—The Liberal members of the local parliament for Quebec and district have passed resolutions of condolence anent the death of Hon. Mr. Mercier, which have been forwarded to deceased's family. A very large crowd leave here to-day by the G. T. R. and C. P. R. to attend Mr. Mercier's funeral. All the newspapers in town, both Liberal and Conservative, publish long articles of biography of the dead French Canadian statesman. Friends of the deceased leader are arriving from all parts of the province, and the funeral promises to be a very imposing one. The pall bearers will include Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, leader of the Dominion Liberals; Hon. F. G. Marchand, leader of the Quebec Liberals; Hon. James McShane and Hon. Pierre Garneau. Members of Mr. Mercier's cabinet and Sir Alexander Lacoste, Chief Justice of Quebec. Delegations are expected to attend the funeral from various points in the New England states.

Election Rows in Newfoundland.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Nov. 1.—The nomination of candidates for the seats in the assembly vacated by the unseating of the former representatives took place yesterday. The Goodridge government and the Whiteway opposition will contest all the seats, eleven of which were formerly held by Whitewayites. Whitewayites created a small riot here. They stormed a government meeting and nearly demolished the building in which it was held. The police were powerless. It is expected that a warship will be sent here to preserve order.

Seizing the Fishers' Nets.

BARRIE, Nov. 1.—Since the seizure of Boon's nets at Eight Mile Point last week Detective Beardsley and Constable Sweney have seized another large quantity of net, the property of Light-house Keeper Dark, of Fox Island, though said property was in charge of Dark's sons when the officers surprised them. About four hundred yards in all were taken, there being net for trout, bass and herring. A five-pronged spear was also taken. It seems Dark's market has been Bell Ewart and vicinity, and Toronto. Our local fishermen expect to have better luck in fishing next year.

Hamilton Protests Withdrawn.

HAMILTON, Nov. 1.—Notice has been filed with Deputy Sheriff Zealand and Lyman Lee, the two returning officers in East and West Hamilton, that the protests against the return of Hon. J. M. Gibson and J. T. Middleton have been withdrawn by the petitioners. The deposits will be paid out of court accordingly. The protest against the return of J. L. Flatt in South Wentworth will be prosecuted and the respondent will be examined for the purpose of discovery before C. Livingstone, special examiner, on Tuesday next.

A WINTER CAMPAIGN

Japanese Will Continue the Campaign Through the Cold Weather.

MASSING TROOPS IN CHINA

An English Missionary Gives an Interesting Sketch of the Situation in the East—The Empress of China Reported to Have Suicided.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—The Herald has a special from Shanghai which confirms the report of the death of the Chinese Emperor's young consort. It avers that the Empress committed suicide; that she was rebuked by the Emperor, who slapped her face, whereupon she took poison.

CHICAGO, Nov. 1—"I have just been over the road from Moukden to Shan Kwan, and it is as perfect as ever. Not only that but the road affords every facility for the passing of troops in winter from Corea to the great wall near Pekin. The victory of Japan is a foregone conclusion," said the Rev. Maurice J. Walker who has been stationed in North China by the English Government for the past nine years and passed through Chicago on his way to London to make his report. Speaking of the war, Mr. Walker, said: "Japan was obliged to engage in foreign warfare to prevent a repetition of the revolution of 1871 in her own domain. For years she has been carefully laying out her campaign in China. For over a year draughtsmen and photographers have traversed every part of China until the topography of the country is better known in Tokio than in Pekin.

"The Japanese commanders know that the correspondents make a mistake when they say that winter will close the campaign. I have been over the road at Moukden at all seasons of the year. It is impassable in the fall or spring. In winter it is in perfect condition. If the Japanese can cross the mountains before cold weather and capture Moukden, which is the key to the whole situation, victory is theirs. The five hundred miles of good road from Moukden to the great wall at Shan Kwang can be covered in a month. The real fighting of the war will be along the line of one of the most beautiful shelving beaches in the world that stretches for a hundred miles between Shank Wan and Lan Ho. The Chinese are massing there, building forts and preparing to attack both by land and sea. By land the Japanese have advanced from Seoul to Ping Yang and from Ping Yang to beyond the Yalu river in a marvellously short time. The next battle will be in China. As if by prearranged programme, while the army is moving up to Moukden, the navy is approaching the great objective point of both forces—Lan Ho. Already Port Arthur has fallen, and once the Japanese capture Chee Foo harbor they control the situation. The contract for goat skins from America means that the Japanese will brave the cold of a winter's campaign.

"Li Hung Chang realizes the danger of a winter campaign, and will now make his headquarters at Loo Tai, on the only line of railroad leading out of Pekin. There, between Lan Ho and the capital, he will personally conduct a defensive campaign."

Speaking of the feeling in China Mr. Walker stated that the natives were thoroughly indifferent about the war. At Tien-Tsin, 100 miles from Pekin, where Mr. Walker's mission is stationed, the only means of communication is by courier, who, in passing leaves a few words about a battle. In Pekin the news is telegraphed back from London.

In the interior at Tien-Kien Europeans are in some danger, as the proclamation of war merely states that China is invaded by foreigners, and all foreigners are treated as common enemies. The gentleman reports that Europeans in Pekin are becoming uneasy, and all through the empire the Gee Hings and other secret societies are preparing for a great uprising against the Emperor, who is exceedingly unpopular. They think defeat by Japan means civil war in China and a general dissolution of the empire. At Tien-Tsin the only knowledge the people have of a war is by seeing soldiers passing on the grand canal. They are apathetic, and so peaceful that they would rather run than fight, and as there are no telegraph wires in China it would take months, if not years, to mass an army large enough to successfully cope with the plucky little Japs.

Germany's Embargo on U. S. Cattle.

LONDON, Nov. 1,—The Standard's Berlin correspondent says: The prohibition of imports of cattle from the United States produced a lively exchange of views between Mr. Runyon and Freiherr Marschall von Bieberstein. Runyon declared the order severe, unjust and needless and evidently a reprisal for the American sugar duties which the president would of course annul. Marschall admitted the force of the three first epithets but repudiated the last one. He said that Germany could not barter the soundness of her cattle for a prospective lowering of sugar duty.

French Journalist Jailed.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—The judges of the Seine Assizes, sitting without a jury, pronounced condemnation in default upon Henri Rochefort, sentencing him to three months' imprisonment for having published an article in the Intransigeant insulting the judiciary. M. Farjat, manager of the Intransigeant, was tried for complicity in the same offence and acquitted. M. Farjat was tried by a jury. The anarchists Paul Reclui, Puget, Cohen, Martin and Duprat were condemned in default to twenty years' imprisonment at hard labor.

To Unite Eastern Churches.

ROME, Nov. 1.—The Pope presided over the third sitting of the conference looking to the union of eastern churches at the Vatican yesterday. His Holiness presented a memorandum of the communications of the Holy See with Patriarch Azarian of Constantinople, who is detained at the Turkish capital. It is believed that several more sittings of the conference would be necessary.

Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1894.

THE TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

The EXAMINER is sad—the Review has been reading it a solemn lecture on the unspeakable sacrilege of throwing the faintest shadow of doubt upon the bona fides of the Dominion Government in the matter of pushing the Trent Valley Canal to completion. The EXAMINER merely pointed out the unwisdom of digging a well by beginning at the top and the bottom and leaving the middle to look out for itself. We still maintain that the public interests would have been much better served by constructing the whole of the Lakefield-Peterborough section at once, so that continuous navigation could have been had from Hastings to Balsam Lake. By a concentration of the work, of the engineering staff, which "has been rushed in the work of making plans," upon the Peterborough-Lakefield section, the plans for this section could have been completed so that the whole section could have been offered for contract at the same time as the favoured three and a half miles at the Lakefield end. The EXAMINER humbly apologises for not knowing all about the experimental character of the proposed hydraulic lift locks. It was understood that having proved successful in Europe they had been adopted for the T.V.C. And a still more abject apology is due from the EXAMINER for having for one moment, and in the most intangible way, doubted the good faith of Hon. John Haggart, Minister of Railways and Canals, in the construction of our T. V. C. "as rapidly as the finances of the country would permit." We confess that it was outrageous to doubt that a minister who, when the finances of the country didn't permit, would spend something like half a million on a big ditch, to bring grist to his own mill—the Tay Canal—would hesitate to spend all the money he could get in making the Trent Valley Canal group of con-constituencies solid. The T. V. C. has been too much trifled with in the past; has been made too much the cats-paw of politicians, and it is high time that work was begun in earnest, and the patchwork, piecemeal, political style of work give way to honest, through work. The Government is spending our money on this work, and we have a right to demand that the money be spent in a business like way. The T. V. C. is an important public work, one that we must have built. We have had excuses for the past half a century; now we want performance. Our contemporary may assume all the indignation it likes, but the people know when public business is done on business principles, whether it be in connection with Lachine Bridges, Galops Rapids, or Trent Valley Canal. The public demand an honest deal in this matter.

FINANCE Minister Foster has successfully worked a loan of £2,250,000 in the London money market. The admirers of the Government claim that this is an evidence of the excellent credit Canada enjoys, and incidentally an evidence of good and economical administration of our public affairs. It is an evidence of the vast extent of our national resources, and of the enterprise and energy of the people, circumstances that bring prosperity to a certain degree in spite of vicious and extravagant maladministration. If the money lenders of England knew as much as Canadians do about the financial administration of our public affairs, their confidence would perhaps be modified. The English people are notoriously ignorant of Canadian affairs. No citizen who is honest with himself will say for a moment that the financil affairs of Canada are well administered, and the confidence of English money lenders is not founded on experience as tax payers. Many a man's good credit has led to his ruin. When Finance Minister Foster achieves the little trick of paying off $2,250,000 of Canada's public debt his admirers will have just cause to crow. Borrowing money is a much more facile matter than paying when borrowed.

THERE's a considerable ferment in the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals at Ottawa. It appears that Mary Ann Carney's cow wandered upon the lawn of Mr. Nelson, a civil servant, who is described as "living in a fine house on one of the best residential streets of the city." Mr. Nelson took the law into his own hands, and severely scalded the trespassing cow. He was summoned to appear before the police court on a charge of cruelty to animals, but the Society's solicitor withdrew the charge. There is great indignation amongst the members of the Society, who claim that the fact of Nelson paying the woman $35 damages does not relieve the offender from the charge of cruelty to animals. It is a question of how far the fact of the defendant living in a fine house influenced the withdrawal of the charge. If this, or any other society of kindred aims, wishes to keep up the full measure of its usefulness, there must be no respect of persons. The size of a house or bank account should not avail anything in mitigation of an offence. The administration of the law that "jumps upon" the poor man and glosses over the offence of the rich is iniquitous.

DORCHESTER township, Middlesex county, can boast of a man that bids fair to be able to boast of having dated his letters in three centuries—1700, 1800 and 1900. His name is John Mitchell and he has just celebrated his 101st birthday. He has one son 77 years of age and one daughter 75. Mr. Mitchell is a Scotchman and has worked hard nearly all his days, being a blacksmith by trade—an instance of the fact that hard work does not shorten a man's days. Mr. Mitchell's mind is clear. He can read without glasses and his hearing is good and if he escapes the measles and other like epidemics, he may live to see 1900 easily.

Minard's Liniment cures burns, etc.

IT appears that the Hudson Bay Railway scheme will be utilized as a lever to lift somebody into parliament in the government interest. A deputation has returned from Ottawa and is highly elated at the attitude of the government towards the enterprise. Did Sir John Thompson hint, as he did to the Trent Valley Canal deputation, that the government expected substantial recognition of its interest in the Hudson Bay road?

THE Hamilton Herald says:—"Whatever else may be said about the late Count Mercier, there is at least this to be said about him that he died a poor man. A great many politicians die rich."

THE Empire," which was bleating dolorously for one session of the Legislature every two years, is now clamouring for two sessions in one year.

FOSTER IS SATISFIED.

He Expected No Difficulty in Floating the Loan in London.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—In an interview in regard to the successful floating of the Canadian 3 per cent loan of £2,250,000 Mr. George E. Foster, Canadian Minister of Finance, said: "I am not surprised at its success, as the reception accorded to previous Canadian loans led me to anticipate large subscriptions. No borrowing country has ever fulfilled as scrupulously its obligations toward the London market as Canada, and few countries are more solvent.

"Considering present conditions and future prospects half of the present loan will be applied to public works. There will be no conversion of the Canadian loans contemplated.

"It depends upon state finances whether further subsidies will be granted for commercial projects during the next session of parliament. The reduction of taxation of the last four years renders it imperative to expend money upon the most necessary projects only.

"Canada has no intention to urge Great Britain to consent to the establishment of a permanent board of arbitration for Canada and the United States. The subjects of difference between these two countries are happily few and are becoming fewer. The relations between Canada and the United States are most cordial and friendly and there is no reason to think they will be lessened."

Mr. Foster will sail for New York on Saturday on the steamer Campania, en route to Canada. Mr. Foster will have an interview with Lord Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies, before sailing. It is expected, however, that Sir John Thompson, who sailed from New York on the Majestic yesterday, will fully consider the outstanding questions with the Colonial Office when he arrives.

Like a Miracle

Consumption—Low Condition

Wonderful Results From Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Toronto, Ont.

"Four years ago while in the old country (England), my daughter Hannah was sent away from the hospital, in a very low condition with consumption of the lungs and bowels, and weak action of the heart. The trip across the water to this country seemed to make her feel better for a while. Then she began to get worse, and for 14 weeks she was unable to get off the bed. She grew worse for five months and lost the use of her limbs and lower part of body, and if she sat up in bed had to be propped up with pillows. Physicians

Said She Was Past All Help

and wanted me to send her to the 'Home for Incurables.' But I said as long as I could hold my hand up she should not go. We then began to give her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She is getting strong, walks around, is out doors every day; has no trouble with her throat and no cough, and her heart seems to be all right again. She has a first class appetite. We regard her cure as nothing short of a miracle." W. WYATT, 88 Marion Street, Parkdale, Toronto, Ontario.

AN ANSWER TO "BIBLE CLASS TEACHER."

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—The DAILY EXAMINER of Oct. 27th contains a letter addressed to the Otonabee Normal and Institute Class of Sunday School workers asking for an explanation of "to destroy us," found in the Sunday School lesson of Oct. 21, and, as a member of that class, I take the liberty of replying. As I understand it, the evil spirit speaks for itself and for all other similar spirits when he says "us;" while "destroy" seems to mean to defeat, to overcome, for Christ came to destroy the works of the devil. The evil spirit seemed to fear that he should be at once banished to his place of torment.

A. S. S. TEACHER.

SOUTH MONAGHAN.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

It is with feelings of profound sorrow that it becomes our painful duty to record the death of Mrs. Wm. Lang, of this locality. Mr. Lang was very highly esteemed and much respected by all who knew her. She had been ill for some weeks and kept peacefully sinking until Saturday, when she gradually passed away. The bereaved husband, together with deceased's relatives and friends, will have the deep sympathy of the entire neighbourhood in this their hour of affliction. The funeral took place from the family residence on Sunday and proceeded to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

A LUCKY MAN.

Laid up for Months by a Severe Form of Kidney Disease—The Simple Cure he used—He's Well Now.

THEDFORD, Oct, 22.—Some men don't know when they are in luck and some do. Albert Maithers, of this place, is one of the lucky ones who knows of his good fortune and tells about it. He says he was laid up and could do no work for months because of kidney disease. When kidney disease has such a hold on a man as that, he is in a serious condition. Mr. Maithers recognized this and used every remedy he could think of, but without getting any help until he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Three boxes cured him and he is attending to his affairs once more and is as hearty and happy as ever.

A Baby Saved.

DEAR SIRS,—My baby had a terrible cough. The doctor said it was Whooping Cough, but it got worse all the time until baby was just like a skeleton. When he was four months old I tried Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion, and after using one and a half bottles my baby is entirely cured. No other remedy but the Emulsion was used, and baby is now strong and healthy.

MRS. J. G. THOMPSON, Callander, Ont.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

ABOUT FAST STEAMSHIPS.

The Allans Reply to Premeter Haddart's Letter.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—In a letter in the Times the Allans reply to Mr. Huddart's letter of the 18th inst. The Allans say that they never professed that steamers of twenty knots could not be provided, but that they maintained that such speed could not continuously be utilized with safety, and the enormous cost of maintenance also could not be escaped from. The Messrs. Allan append an extract from the New York Journal of Commerce of October 13, in which Mr. William Smith, Deputy Minister of Marine at Ottawa, points out the folly of the Huddart schema.

Sir John Pender, M. P., addressing a meeting of the Eastern Extension Telegraph Co. said the proposed Pacific cable scheme was apparently ripening. If it were decided upon he would not oppose it to any extent beyond that necessary to protect his own interests.

The Chignecto Ship Railway.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—A deputation from the Chignecto Ship Railway Company waited upon Hon. G. E. Foster, Canadian Minister of Finance, and interviewed him concerning the extension of time of the construction of ship railway. Hon. Mr. Foster, in replying to the deputation, said that they need have no doubt of the sympathy of the Government. The promises made by the Government to Mr. Provand had not been forgotten, and the representations made by the deputation would receive earnest consideration.

A Hunter Accidentally Shot.

BARRIE, Nov. 1.—D. F. Hall, an employe in Wallace's tailoring establishment, and one of a hunting party encamped near Gloucester Pool, Muskoka, was accidentally shot while disembarking from a small skiff on the Severn River. In removing his compass from the boat it was accidentally discharged, the ball piercing the right arm and breaking the bone. Amputation may be necessary.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose topay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

Always forearmed for all the shopping demands of our customers—this store is never behind—the right goods at the right time and at the right prices. October suggest the need of such things as Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to choose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these, we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last year's hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show a full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

Stock Not Sold.

The stock of Mr. Macfarlane Wilson, China Hall, was withdrawn at Suckling's sale in Toronto yesterday. The highest bid was 62 cents on the dollar. This amount not having reached the reserved bid, the creditors ordered the stock to be retaken, and postponed the sale. Three merchants from Peterborough were present to take the stock if sold at a price to allow of a profit.

In the Children's Interests.

A meeting of the Children's Aid Society is called for Monday afternoon next at 3 p.m in the town council chamber. Considerable important business will demand attention and the presence of all members possible. It is absolutely necessary to the efficient working of the society that the members attend the meetings and consider the questions as required by law. This organization is no longer a purely voluntaro philanthropic one, but is part and parcel of the system of Government in Ontario.

All Saint's Day.

As All Saints day is observed by Christains in all parts of the world, the following extract from a speech of the Bishop of Exeter at the recent Church Congress will be read with interest:—"We remind ourselves that our Lord's intercession for the union of His saints is being progressively day by day fulfilled in those who pass within the veil. They are gathered from all Christian communions under heaven, but in the Paradise of the holy dead no partisanships divide them. They are one in the presence of their one Lord, theirs and ours. They reflect one image. They sing one song. We see them not, and yet they are knit to us by countless links of spiritual kinship. Do we realise as we ought the centripetal unifying power of this fact? We are, perhaps, too prone to look only on the Church Militant; an angel's ken would always include the Church Triumphant. Still we hail every approach to closer union here, which is founded on truth, and we thank God for those yearnings of heart after brotherly fellowship between Churchmen and Nonconformists which found such touching expression and recognition in the Lambeth Conference of 1888."

An Inquest to be Held.

HASTINGS, Oct. 30.—The peculiar manner of Mr. William Dunnet's death, as telegraphed from here yesterday evening, coupled with the discovery of marks and bruises on the body, strengthens the belief that the old man came to his death by foul play. Coroner McNichol of Cobourg, after consulting with the County Crown Attorney, has decided this evening to hold an inquest. It was intended that the body was to be interred to-morrow afternoon, but the Coroner has instructed Constable Ellemor to have the funeral postponed until after the jury have viewed the body and a post-mortem is made, which may dispel present suspicions.

SHERIN—At Lakefield, on Friday, Oct. 26th, 1894, the wife of Mr. J. Harry Sherin, of a son.

DEATH ENTERS AND THERE'S NO ESCAPE.

THE CZAR IS DEAD.

The Absolute Monarch of 90 Millions Meets the Common End.

(Special cable to the Examiner.)

LONDON, Nov. 1—"The Czar is dead." Such is the brief cable despatch that announces the death of Alexander III, the Czar of all the Russians. The old, old democrat, death, who knocks impartially at the portals of palaces and at the hut of the pauper, has gathered to himself the absolute ruler of nearly ninety million people. The news of the Czar's last illness has for week's monopolized the press, but to-day, he lies in his palace, at Lividia, a senseless bit of clay.

Alexander III, emperor of the all Russians, was born on March 10th, 1845, and on March 13th, 1881, succeeded his father, (who fell at the hands of an assassin.) In 1866, he married the Princess Dagmar, daughter of the present king of Denmark, and sister of the Princess of Wales and the present King of Greece. The deceased emperor leaves behind him his widow, three sons and two daughters.

THE ELDEST SON AND HEIR APPARENT, now heir de facto, being the Grand Duke Nicholas (the cesarevitch) who was born in 1868. The late Czar was a descendant of Michael Romanoff, who was elected Czar in 1613. However for over two centuries the members of the Romanoff family have so generally married into the German royal houses, that the present Romanoffs are practically, by blood, Germans as much so as their kinsman the head of the German Empire.

The defunct Czar will leave his family provided for in a fairly comfortable manner. He had private estates of more than one million square miles, over six hundred and forty million acres, of cultivated land and forest, besides gold and other mines in Siberia. His annual income has been estimated at about twelve millions of dollars.

Some weeks ago Kirkwood, Lennon & Co., (Mr. Kirwood and Mr. McKinnon) of Sudbury, sent an Ontario cheese to the dairy commissioner of New South Wales. The following is the commissioner's report: The cheese is very rich in fat and in splendid condition. Its composition may well serve us as a standard, to the attainment of which our efforts should be directed." The composition of the Ontario cheese and that of first class N. S. W. cheese shows the former to have 4 per cent. more of fat than the latter.

IN THE POLICE COURT PRECINCTS.

Joseph Raymer Remanded for Sentence —A Bad Boy.

This morning, in the police court, Joseph Raymer plead guilty to the charge of theft and was remanded until this afternoon for sentence. This is the youth, whose history appeared in the EXAMINER last evening. He was released from the reformatory last fall, after a five year term and since that time, has been working down at Indian River. He stole a watch, on Monday night, from a Peterborough boarding house, and was caught yesterday afternoon by Officer McGinty, who discovered a watch on the lad's person, for which he had traded off the stolen article.

The youngster appears very contrite and promises "never to do it again" if only let off, but there are no extenuating circumstances in connection with the case.

HALLOWE'EN HILARITY AND HORSEPLAY.

Last Night's Celebration of an Antique Custom.

For a thousand years All Hallowe'en has been celebrated in forms varying with the superstitions of the age. When witch s and fairies were an ingredient in almost everybodys creed, these eerie and uncanny creatures formed an element in the observance of the occasion; and long after the passing away of belief in supernatural visitants the customs founded upon them remained in modified form. In the present day the places of the witches and fairies are taken by boys and girls hardly less mischevious than the goblin prototypes, and every recurring Hallowe'en is marked by freaks of a more or less practical character. The outbreak this year of the spirit of mischief last night in town was particularly active, and a complete chronicle of the pranks of the night would make a lengthy chapter.

As has been the custom of late years, a large number of "taffypulls" and "shines" were held among the young people.

Two young men carried their pranks just a little too far, and masqueraded on George street in female apparel. It didn't take the police long to become apprised of the fact, and the boys were invited around to police headquarters, where they doffed their skirts.

The chickens are having a picnic on the head of Hallowe'en this morning, and the pecks of peas which were thrown at the windows are being put to good use.

One of the benches of the Court House park was run up tho the top of the Union School flagstaff and the hallards securely fastened to the top of a maple tree just opposite. There was a lot of time spent in getting the bench back to terra firma.

Along the side of the white-washed fence dividing the two schools are the words, in large capital letters, panted in red, "Old Bill, the Flogger."

Dr. Boucher's sign is at the Public School Inspector's door at the school.

Opposite the George street Methodist church a gate may be seen on top of an electric light pole.

A big gate from No. 52 Murray street was removed by two young ladies assisted by a gentlemen. They placed it opposite the gaslamp on College street, which made a good gate—pedestrians had to "gait" around it in order to pass. The young gentleman who assisted the young ladies kindly assisted the owner in replacing the same in its proper place this morning.

The boys paid Mr. R. C. Braund, Albert street, a visit last night, and taking a cutter from his barn, carried it a block and a half and heaved it up on the roof of an unoccupied house, on Chamberlen street, where it yet remains.

The lot in the rear of the Grand Trunk storehouses was found to be cumbered with gates this morning, and disgusted householders were to be seen at an early hour sorting over the collection in the hope of finding one that matched their fance.

Many an apple paring was thrown over the shoulder during the evening, for if a person wishes to celebrate the festival properly, he or she should, at some time during the evening, pare an apple, taking care not to break the peeling. This must be thrown over the left shoulder, while the omen seeker chants:—

I pare this p'ppin round and round again,
My lover's name to flourish on the plain,
I fling unbroken parings o'er my head,
Upon the floor my lover's name to read.

The parings then, in obedience to the incantation form the initial of the lover.

A LARGE ATTENDANCE AT A PRETTY CHURCH WEDDING.

Mr. Thos. Drew and Miss Kernaghan United in Marriage Last Night.

George street church was the scene of a most pretty and attractive wedding at 8.30 o'clock last night, when Rev. W. R. Young united Mr. Thomas Drew and Miss Dolly Kernaghan in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her brother, Mr. Adam M. Kernaghan, who gave her away. She was attired in a most becoming stylish seal brown (Bureche) brocade travelling suit, trimmed in seal brown silk velvet and watered silk ribbon of the same shade, relieved with applique lace. The hat also was of seal brown trimmed with rose pink.

Miss Lillie Miller was the bridesmaid, and Miss Annie Fowler, a cousin of the bride, was the maid of honour. Both these young ladies were similarly attired in golden brown costumes with hats to match.

The groom, Mr. Drew, has many friends in town and is most deservedly popular. He is foreman in the wire department of the Canadian General Electric Works, and was supported by Mr. Frank Schneider.

The wedding party entered the church to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march. The front seats were reserved for the guests and Prof. Geo. Schneider presided at the organ. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the happy young couple received the congratulations of their many friends, who thronged both the body and gallery of the church. On leaving the church, the party drove directly to the G. T. R. station and boarded the nine o'clock train for a wedding trip west, to Toronto, Hamilton, Cleveland and other points.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. R. Wolstenholm, Charlotte street, and until lately has been with the R. Neil Shoe Company, the employees of which firm made a presentation of a handsome rocking chair of quarter-cut polished oak, with embossed leather seat. The friends of the groom, in the wire department, of the Electric works, presented an arm chair and rocker, also of quarter-cut oak in antique finish. Many other handsome gifts were received, a great number coming from a distance. Presents were received from friends in England, Ireland, Minnesota, Montreal and Sherbrooke.

The gift of the groom to the bride consisted of a handsome ring set with diamonds and emeralds. Mr. Drew also presented the bridesmaid and maid-of-honour with pretty rings and brooches tastefully set with Cape rubies, opals and diamonds.

The EXAMINER joins most sincerely with the many friends of the young couple in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Drew a happy voyage through life.

Upon their return from their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Drew will take up their residence on Aylmer street.

THE WHEEL.

Buffalo, Oct. 30.—When John S. Johnston gets out on the track, or on a straightaway course, such as Buffalo has in the Delaware avenue boulevard, if the conditions are at all favourable to fast riding, something is bound to give way. This afternoon Johnson brough the record for the mile unpaced down under two minutes. He made the mile in 1.57 4-5. This ploughs a regular furrow in the 2.07 1-5 which Sanger set for the mark, and which Johnson has beaten by nearly ten seconds.

Johnson rode a 76-inch geared wheel. He rode in an opposite direction to the one he took when he made a paced mile in 1.35 2-5. The course is, in fact, very nearly level, and fast time under like conditions has been made during the past week in both directions. The electric tim apparatus worked to perfection, and wh tle wind did blow came up in alle ffs that were neither a help or a hindr ce to good riding. The time at the quarter was not caught, but at the half, the wheel passed over the line in 55 3-5 seconds, and the third quarter was done in 1.25 3-5. Johnston finished in splendid shape, and rode on for a short distance before he went back to the start for a try behind the quad. Through some misunderstanding, they slowed up before passing the quarter mark in 24 seconds, and about that time the rain began to fall, and the wires were taken in. The record of 55 3 5 seconds for the half unpaced also is a record-breaker, and goes ahead of Tyler's 57 4-5 at Waltham.

Johnson is the first man in the world to beat the trotting, pacing and running horse records, the first man in the world to do the mile with flying start and with standing start in less than two minutes. No man ever did a mile in less than 1.50 until Johnson did the trick, but he can also claim that he first did the mile under 1.40, and now he is the only man who has done the mile unpaced in less than two minutes, and that is what Tom Eck has been waiting over in Buffalo for. He says that he will go to Chillicothe perfectly happy, for his men have done all that he has looked for while here. Mr. Eck says there is one more record that Johnson must bring below the two-minute mark, and that the mile skating, which he feels confident Johnson will do during the coming winter.

There is talk of a match race between Zimmerman and John S. Johnson. The New Jersey friends of Zimmermon will back him for any amount against the Western wonder.

FOOTBALL.

Sporting Editor EXAMINER: Sir,—The article in some of Monday's dailies referring to the football game between Brooklin and Greenwood was so manifestly unjust as to call for correction. Some weeks ago the Greenwood people, hearing that some of Brooklin's best players were unable to play this fall, owing to sickness and other causes, thought this would be a good opportunity of jumping into notoriety by defeating this heretofore invincible organization. Accordingly home and home matches were arranged. The first game was played at Brooklin Sacurday, Oct. 20, and although Greenwood searched the country from Rough Hill to Bowmanville to secure an aggregation to win the game, and although the vacant positions on the Brooklin team were filled by juniors, yet the home team won by 3 goals to 0. The Brooklins knowing that the Greenwood sportsmen (?) would go still further to secure players for the return game, stipulated that if any change was made in the personnel of the team genuine Greenwood players should be substituted. This was agreed to by the captain and members of the Greenwood team. But when the Brooklin team lined up at Greenwood on Saturday they found still more ringers on the opposing team. They at first refused to play, but not wishing to disappoint so many spectators, many from a distance, at last decided to do so. Instead of the game being all in Greenwood's favour, as the despatch would have us believe, Brooklin forced the play from the start, and it was only their imported goal-tender that saved Greenwood from a bad defeat. As it was, the match ended in a draw, though Brooklin had two goals disallowed, one of which at least was fairly won. Thus the fond hopes of the Greenwood people, who were so anxious for the defeat of the Brooklin team, met an untimely end, and the Brooklin Association football team has yet to meet defeat.

Yours very truly,
GEO. J. GILL,
Secretary of Brooklin F. B. C.

ASHBURNHAM'S YOUNG BACHELORS.

Merry Hours Spent in Tripping the "Light Fantastic."

The Young Bachelors, of Ashburnham, held a most enjoyable assembly, last night, in the town hall, across the river. About forty couple were present and dancing was indulged in far into the small hours.

The hall was tastily festooned and draped with flags and bunting and never presented a more attractive appearance. A programme, embracing twenty-six numbers, was carried out and altogether the whole affair was perhaps the most successfully conducted of any assembly held in the village in years.

The supper was a tasty one indeed and bore evidence of the handiwork of Mr. John Craig, who catered.

The orchestra committee was composed of Messrs. A. Craig, W. McGregor and R. Watley and Mr. Archie Moore was master of ceremonies for the occasion.

HEALTHY EXERCISE

—fresh air and proper food, help to keep a woman in good condition. It's insufficient for some, weakened or borne down as they are by the ailments and irregularities peculiar to their sex.

They're easily helped, though; there's a remedy in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription—that will build up and cure every enfeebled woman. It's the prescription of a physician; has been tested in thousands of cases, and never found wanting.

The only risk that's taken is that of the manufacturers who promise to refund the money if no benefit is experienced.

This "Prescription" reaches the origin of the trouble. Dizziness, fainting spells, and nervous disorders, such as sleeplessness, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, depend upon the irregularities and displacements of the special structures, the "Prescription" cures by regulating and correcting these functions and organic changes.

MAIL BAGS RIFLED.

Thieves Enter the Baggage Room at Kingston—Suspects Arrested.

KINGSTON, Nov. 1.—The Kingston outgoing mails for the east and west were rifled by thieves. They stole a number of mail bags containing a quantity of registered letters and money orders. The mail leaves the city at ten o'clock and is locked in a small house at the station, being left unguarded. The robbery was not discovered until the arrival of the train from the west. The mails from the city were sent to the outer station by waggon as usual and placed in the mail room, which is a compartment of a small building in which is the office of the station agent and the baggage room. On account of the proximity of this building to the refreshment rooms on one side and the train despatcher's office on the other, the mails were always considered fairly safe in the mail room up to last year, when the building was broken into and some matter stolen.

The burglar took plenty of time in laying his plans. The first move was to cut out a pane of glass in the window of the baggage room. This enabled the miscreant to unfasten the catch and raise the sash and effect an entrance. A trap door was then raised and by crawling along underneath the robber reached another trap door in the floor of the mail room, where he entered and ransacked the registered mail bags at leisure, cutting them open and strewing such letters as did not contain money about the floor. After taking what he wished without interruption the thief returned as he had come to the baggage room window and it was at this point that the first alarm was raised, for as he had one leg out of the window Thomas Sweetman, a train despatcher, passed through the yard and saw him. The window was dropped like a shot and the man ran across to the window on the opposite side of the room and plunged through it with a crash, taking part of the sash with him. He ran across the railway tracks to an opening in the fence across the yards, which is the last known of his movements.

It would seem that for some reason nobody suspected robbery, for when Gego the baggage man, entered the mail room at train time he tripped over the mail bags lying about and fell to the floor. The condition in which the mail was found made everything plain.

Several arrests have been made on suspicion. Among those in custody are John MacDermott, a brakeman, and Walter Cooper, who formerly drove the mail conveyance between the city and junction. The registered mail was unusually heavy that night. It is said one leading business man from here had a remittance of $1,500 in it.

A prominent police official remarked today that there must be a screw loose somewhere or the burglars could not have chosen such a time, when there was a large number of money letters in the mail, to make a raid on it.

Lord Brassey's Farm.

MONTREAL, Nov. 1.—Lord Brassey, who passed through Montreal some weeks ago en route for his farm at Indian Head, N. W. T., has returned to England. A Winnipeg despetch to a Toronto paper on Saturday stated that the 40,000 acres known as the Brassey farm had been disposed of to the C. P. R. company, the reason given being that the venture had not proved successful and the C. P. R. authorities, knowing the capabilities of the land for farming purposes better than the Brassey people, had determined to manage it themselves. This despatch was shown to a C. P. R. official this morning, who stated that it had been manufactured of whole cloth. The Brassey farm has paid dividends up to this year, when it had not done so well, owing to the prevailing depression, but Lord Brassey was well satisfied with the prospect and the C. P. R. has no intention of taking over the management of the property.

Montreal has Something to say Respecting the Well Known Richmond Physician.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Que., whose remarkable cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been set forth in his letter, recently published, is a graduate of McGill College, this city. He is well known, not only to the medical profession in Montreal, but throughout the entire province, as a careful and reputable physician, and his testimony to the worth of Dodd's Kidney Pills is accepted by physicians generally as a guarantee of the efficacy of the remedy. Such a communication, coming from so eminent a graduate of McGill, will have the effect of making Dodd's Kidney Pills universally popular in Quebec.

A Decision Important to Tenants.

TORONTO, Nov. 1.—A decision has been given by Chancellor Boyd which, if confirmed by the higher courts, will be a great hardship on tenants unless the law is amended. The tenant, in this case, covenanted to leave the premises in good repair, but the Chancellor held this as also referring to fixtures put in by the tenant at his own expense during the term. Further, all fixtures attached by screws, nails, etc., become part of the freehold and cannot be taken out by the tenant. These gas fittings, gasaliers, shelving, mirrors, awnings and even the furnaces are held to come within the meaning of the covenants in the short form of leases as becoming part of the freehold and therefore the property of the landlord. It will not be safe now for tenants to attach any fixture to the walls or basement or houses they do not own.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 1, 1894.

Barley at Buffalo remains firm; Canada lots active in arriving before close of navigation. Canada quotod 60 to 64c.

Only one load of red wheat came in here and it sold for 52c. White is nominally quoted at 53c and goose at 51c. One load of barley brought 41 1-2c.

Wheat was weak in Chicago on the increase in the world's available stock shown by Bradstreet's report, the close being 3-8 to 1-2c lower. Corn was weak on the prospect of increased receipts. Oats closed weak and 3-8c lower.

There was not a good demand for cattle here and numbers were left over. Butchers' cattle dull; best, 3 1-4c per lb.

There were all told 5,000 head of Canadian lambs on the East Buffalo market and not above half were disposed of, several loads going east in first hands and 15 cars were unsold at close of market. Sheep steady; lambs neglected; best Canadas, $3.75 to $3.85.

The London stock markets were steady on the whole, being very little affected by the news of the Czar. Americans were rather better on purchases against options, but Louisville and St. Paul closed weak.

Nothing occurred in the New York stock market movement which might not have been inferred from recent belated "bear" adventures in the coal stocks. The volume of trading was not heavy, which suggests that a good deal of short stock in these quarters may yet be outstanding. The anthracite situation has not improved and may still be described as critical.

Attention

In time to any irregularity of the Stomach, Liver, or Bowels may prevent serious consequences. Indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, biliousness, and vertigo indicate certain functional derangements, the best remedy for which is Ayer's Pills. Purely vegetable, sugar-coated, easy to take and quick to assimilate, this is the ideal family medicine—the most popular, safe, and useful aperient in pharmacy. Mrs. M. A. BROCKWELL, Harris, Tenn., says:

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills cured me of sick headache and my husband of neuralgia. We think there is

No Better Medicine,

and have induced many to use it.

"Thirty-five years ago this Spring, I was run down by hard work and a succession of colds, which made me so feeble that it was an effort for me to walk. I consulted the doctors, but kept sinking lower until I had given up all hope of ever being better. Happening to be in a store, one day, where medicines were sold, the proprietor noticed my weak and sickly appearance, and, after a few questions as to my health, recommended me to try Ayer's Pills. I had little faith in these or any other medicine, but concluded, at last, to take his advice and try a box. Before I had used them all, I was very much better, and two boxes cured me. I am now 80 years old; but I believe that if it had not been for Ayer's Pills, I should have been in my grave long ago. I buy 6 boxes every year, which make 210 boxes up to this time, and I would no more be without them than without bread."—H. H. Ingraham, Rockland, Me.

THE POWER OF HOME.

Some Truths That Cannot Too Often be Promulgated.

The great hope of a nation is centered in its homes. They are wonderful in their forming and their restraining power, if they are what they should be. But, alas for us! if we fail to make them mighty forces to withstand corruption and drive back the tide of evil. If we are to have honest men in our halls of legislation, men to whom principle is more than party, an honor more than the spoils of office, the fathers and mothers have a work to do at home. If we would stay the tide of intemperance, there are the best opportunities to work around our own firesides, among our own children, for lessons early learned are longest remembered.

It is pitiful to think how many children grow up in unloving homes, where harsh words and bitter fault-finding are the rule, and gentle, kindly tones the exception. Weary mothers, well meaning, doubtless, but "encumbered with much serving," speak many bitter words at those around them; fathers, absorbed in business, take little time to amuse and instruct their children, while merry, cheerful laughter is too often hushed with harsh, impatient words—words that may yield an awful harvest.

If we could see the great aggregate of misery and sin directly traceable to unhappy homes, I think we would let the unkind word more often remain unsaid. What if the little feet leave a track upon the clean floor, and little hands drop mittens or stemless flowers upon the carpet sometimes, it scarcely calls for the bitter words mothers so often use. If the husband forgets an errand at the village store, he may be as likely to remember it another time if gently reminded as when harshly reproached with "never remembering anything!" Too many times the first lessons in deceit and falsehood are learned at the mother's side; fathers, by their practice, teach their boys to give scant weight and short measure.

I know a mother who opened her door to receive some unwelcome visitors one day, telling them she was so glad to see them, when her little daughter of five spoke up in utter astonishment. "Why, mother, you said you did hope they were not coming here!" We may think that if we teach them the decalogue it is enough, but our children will be very likely to pay more attention to our practice than to our precepts; and "if father or mother does so, we can."

We have each of us our work to do, parent and child, and are mutually responsible for the condition of our home. Do we do our duty toward making it the pleasantest spot on earth? If we do our part faithfully, God will help us; if not, "sin lieth at the door." Fathers and sons are too often driven away from the homes that should be most sacred and most dear, to the bar-room, where intoxicating drinks and vulgar stories are all too common. Wives and daughters grow sad and heart-broken sometimes because fathers and husbands forget to bring sunshine home with them.

Let me give you a little sketch of my ideal home. It is full of comforts, though it may be bare of luxuries. Whether it rains or shines, indoors there is warmth and brightness. If a father has cares he does his best to forget them, that they may not darken their hearts. The mother has worries, but is not anxious to prove herself a martyr, so lovingly and cheerfully she casts her burden on him who is able to bear it, and makes home bright and shining. Seeing father and mother wise and cheery, the children will learn to do their part. When trouble comes, as to all it must, it loses half its weight if met and borne together. There is, at least, one pleasant room, with some of the many little things that make home happy—a few pictures (and many, if possible), that early the young may learn to love beauty, and the older ones may rest their tired eyes upon them when life grows dreary as even here it sometimes may. It shall be a home good enough for visitors, but not too good for "our own," and never by any chance so elegant that sunshine, home-light, and our family are shut out.

Let us make our homes places of rest and peace, of purity and good cheer; schools where all that is noble and pure is taught; and, above all, types of that other home where enters nothing that makes a lie.—Sunday Magazine.

Vitality of Disease Germs.

As an evidence of the phenomenal vitality of disease germs, Dr. Koch, of Germany, and Drs. Ewart and Carpenter, of England, declare that the blood of animals and men dying of contagions may be dried and kept for years, and that they will then produce the class of infections to which they belong; this even after having been pulverized in a mortar and subjected to the lowest degree of natural and artificial cold.

A Bit of the Autocrat's Wit.

Everyone probably has heard the story that when James T. Fields invented the name of Manchester-by-the-Sea and wrote a note dated from there to Dr. Holmes, the poet replied in a note dated "Beverly-by-the-Depot." It is said that Whittier, egged on by the irrepressible Autocrat, also wrote one dated "Danvers-among-the-Hollyhocks."—Boston Transcript.

SIR HENRY SUSTAINED.

The Trouble Among the Grand Trunk Shareholders Settled.

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The adjourned annual meeting of the shareholders of the Grand Trunk Railway of Canada was held yesterday.

Sir. Henry Tyler had challenged the ballot and demanded a recount of the votes on the question of Mr. Searle's amendment to the motion for the adoption of the report. The amendment called for an investigation of the accounts before passing the report, and on the first count was declared carried.

The result of the recount was a victory for Sir Henry Tyler, whose presidency has been the subject of criticism by certain of the shareholders.

An analysis of the voting on the report showed that 41 shareholders present supported Sir Henry Tyler, they representing personally 15,288 votes. Sir Henry and his supporters held 2,894 proxies, representing 371,458 votes, making a total of 389,681 votes polled against the inquiry proposed by Mr. Searle. Forty-three shareholders supported Mr. Searle. They represented only 4,382 votes and held proxies for 6,756 votes, making a total of 11,138 votes polled for the amendment.

The amendment was therefore declared lost, and Sir Henry Tyler, as chairman, declared carried his motion to adopt the report and accounts as read.

The Pall Mall Gazette says: "Out of the riot at the Grand Trunk meeting it is satisfactory to see that the directors are amenable to pressure as they have never been before."

Burglary at Lindsay.

LINDSAY, Nov. 1.—The house of Mr. J. C. Marstone, principal of the Collegiate Institute, was entered by a burglar. Mr. Beverley Ross, of Niagara Falls, who was vising at Mr. Harstone's, heard a noise in his room, and on getting up was clinched by the burglar, who shoved him over the bed, when the robber jumped through the window and escaped. Mr. Ross fired two shots from his revolver at the man, but does not appear to have hit him. After the burglar disappeared Mr. Ross found that his gold watch and chain and $88 in cash were missing.

Registration in London.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 1.—The new Cities Registration Act for Ontario elections was put into force here for the first time yesterday. In most places the voters requiring to register came in slowly, giving the registers and their clerks, together with scrutineers, plenty of leisure time. Up to 3 o'clock the total number of voters registered was 334. Both parties are working hard to insure the registration of their friends.

Defying the Game Laws.

BARRIE, Nov. 1.—Every southbound train brings returning hunters from Muskoka. It is estimated that the number of deer slaughtered this fall will tend more towards their extinction than the bag of any season heretofore. In some cases the law has been openly defied, and inspectors are busily engaged in lodging complaints against alleged violators.

A Canadian's Death in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, Nov. 1.—Hugh C. Sells, of the law firm of Brown & Sells, was found dead in his bed. He suffered from rheumatism of the heart. Mr. Sells was forty years old and a graduate of Toronto university, and had been engaged in this city in the practice of his profession about eight years. He leaves a wife and one son.

Quebec's New Chief Justice.

QUEBEC, Nov. 1.—Sir L. N. Cassault has been presented with his certificate of appointment as chief justice of the province of Quebec made vacant by the death of the late Sir Francis Johnson.

From Quebec to Labrador Coast.

MONTREAL, Nov. 1.—Several Boston and Quebec capitalists are in the city in the interests of the scheme to build a railway line from Quebec to the Labrador coast. A surveying party is being organized to go over the proposed route and report on the scheme. This party will consist of several engineers from Montreal and Toronto and will be ready to commence operations in the course of a few weeks.

Killed by a Circular Saw.

QUEBEC, Nov. 1.—A man named Menard was killed while working a circular saw at Vallier's upholstery shop here. A piece of wood flew from the saw and struck Menard in the abdomen, killing him instantly.

Over a Hundred Were Drowned.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 1.—The steamer Wairarpa, plying between this port and Auckland, was wrecked on Great Barrier Island on Sunday night. She began going to pieces at once in the heavy seas. A few of her passengers were saved, but 112 were drowned. The vessel is a total wreck.

A French Officer Arrested for Treason.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—Captain Dreyfus, an officer in the army, has been arrested for treason, it being alleged that he has sold plans of frontier forts to the Italian war office.

The Sun Bath.

One of the greatest cures is the simple sun-bath, which very few people really appreciate. The solar heat gives to the whole system a strength and vigor which no nourishing food can impart. It is so essential to our health and happiness that when it is taken away from us we become weak and puny. When winter is over most city people are weak, run down and pale; but when they go out into the warm sunlight again new strength and health quickly come to them. The sun bath is absolutely essential. Take it every day. Cut down the trees that are so close to the house that they obscure the sun, and have every living-room flooded with light. If one is forced to stay indoors all day, try to get near the sunny window where the full effects of the sunlight can be felt.

THE TRIBUTE OF A CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOURER.

Remarks on the Life of the Late Mrs. J. H. Sherin of Lakefield, Daughter of Rev. John McEwan, Presbyterian Minister, and Secretary of the Provincial Sunday School Association.

DIED—On the 22th of October, 1894, at Lakefield, Clara Playter Sherin, beloved wife of J. H. Sherin, aged 33 years.

By a loving mother's solicitude for the highest welfare of the child entrusted to her care, by a father's noble life and character, Mrs. J. H. Sherin was led at an early age to see that the first duty of life is to seek the kingdom of God and His righteousness. Her quick, susceptible nature awoke and responded. From that time until she was called home she was ever active, energetic and faithful in every department of the Master's work.

At an age when most girls are considered too young to engage in Sunday School work, Mrs. Sherin took charge of a class of boys, almost as old (as herself. For this class she prayed, studied and laboured, and when forced by circumstances to relinquish direct efforts, her interest ceased not. The prayer and burden of her life was:

"My whole dear class for Jesus, now in their youthful bloom,
My whole dear class for Jesus, oh, let not one be lost."

In the senior Society of C. E., Mrs. Sherin was a zealous active member. Her activity was shown in devising methods of work that would enoble and elevate the Society, in extending a helpful hand to those unable to attend the Sabbath services, in visiting the homes of such and bringing to them much of the spirit of the Master, as revealed in her own beautiful life and character. By her example and influence many members of the Society were led to take a deep interest in the work of the higher religious instruction of the church. To be associated in work and friendship with one so gifted, so faithful, so zealous, was an estimable privilege.

In 1891 a Junior Society of Christian Endeavour was organized, and Mrs. Sherin was appointed superintendent. For this work she was eminently qualified. Her personal magnetism, her individuality gave life to every meeting. The Bible lessons were used as the warp into which she wove her teachings with an art that must leave deep and lasting impressions on the minds and hearts of those entrusted to her care.

In her teachings her great effort was the formation of character. Being in spirit a child of the Creator whose paths she pointed out, her influence must live.

"There shall never be one lost good
What was shall live as before."

Mrs. Sherin's love for the society of J. E. was rewarded with a love given few teachers. This was shown in various ways, and none more strongly than their desire that she continue the work. Their last tribute of love and respect was the offering of a beautiful wreath bearing the letters J. S. C. E.

In 1893 Mrs. Sherin was appointed Vice-President of the County Union of C. E., and was the principal mover in the organization of the C. E. Society at North Smith.

The missionary movement in this village suffers a severe loss also. Mrs. Sherin's executive ability was soon recognized, and at different times she filled the offices of literature secretary of the Presbyterial Society, assistant secretary and secretary of the Auxiliary. The duties pertaining to these offices she discharged with faithfulness and efficiency. Her decided convictions regarding systematic giving were practised in her life, and dying she left her infant son a gift to the world of missions. Ere she departed she expressed a wish that he be trained for the work of foreign missions. Friends of missions will you make this motherless child the subject of your daily prayers? Pray that he may be the means of leading many into paths of righteousness.

Mrs. Sherin's ardent desire to benefit mankind in general was also exemplified by her work in the W.C.T.U. Her great executive ability led to her appointment as corresponding secretary at the organization of the Union, a position held worthily by her till her call came. Her last official act was the sending for literature for circulation among the members to enable them to become more intelligently interested in the cause. By her removal the Union loses one of its foremost workers. Who will volunteer to take up the work so unexpectedly laid down?

Mrs. Sherin was characterized by fidelity to the Lord's cause, by decided convictions of Christian principles, by steadfast piety. She led the only life worth living, a life of faith in the Son of God.

The esteem in which Mrs. Sherin was held was outwardly manifested by the business men of the town closing their places of business during the time of the interment. The Rev. J. McEwen and Mr. J. H. Sherin desire to express their appreciation of this kindly, thoughtful act.

The heartfelt sympathy of the public is extended to the sorrowing friends.

The words of Bryant are peculiarly appropriate in this connnection:

"And when I think of one, who in her youthful beauty died,
The fair meek blossom, that grew up and faded by our side.
In the cold moist earth we laid her, when the forest cast the leaf,
And we wept that one so lovely should have a life so brief.
Yet not unmeet it was that one like that young friend of ours,
So gentle and so beautiful, should perish with the flowers."

A CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOURER.

Lakefield, Nov. 1st, 1894.

GREAT GAME PLENTY.

A TALL HUNTING STORY OF THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

A Deer, a Panther and Three Bears Bagged in One Shot—A Deer Played One Bear Against the Panther—Both Died—The Hunter Shot the Deer.

"Game was plentiful in those days," said the old hunter. "One day I was still-hunting around the headwaters of Cowley Run. The fact of the matter is I had to still-hunt that day because Zenas Cowley had shot my two hounds. Zenas didn't believe in running deer with hounds, and he always put a ball into anybody's dog that came his way on the trail of venison. My two hounds were Russian greyhounds. The day they were killed Laroy Lyman came to me and said:

"'What'll you take for them two hounds o' your'n, Noah?'

"'You can't buy 'em for $100 apiece,' said I.

"'I didn't know,' said Laroy, 'but I seen a deer over toward Cowley's an hour ago, and I thought I'd ask ....'

"'In that case,' said I, 'you can buy them hounds for four shillin'!'

"And he could, too, for I knew they'd never come back if they had been so forgetful as to take a deer over toward Cowley's. But there isn't any doubt that is just what they did, for I never saw 'em again. And they were the best dogs in Haliburton. So I was out still hunting that day.

"I sat down at the roots of a big fallen hemlock to wait and see what would come my way. I hadn't waited long before I saw a big she bear and two cubs come slouching up out of the hollow and tumble into a clump of bushes not more than twenty rods from where I sat. I was getting ready to send a bullet into the old bear when I saw a deer break out of the woods and come bounding along the open side hill opposite me. Only a few jumps behind it came a big panther, hot on the trail of the deer, and as the panther was clearing more than thirty feet feet at every jump I saw that it wouldn't be a very long chase before he had his claws on that deer.

"The course the deer was taking brought her—it was a doe—along above the bushes where the bear and her cubs were lying. I saw at once that the deer either saw or smelt the bears from the way she kind o' swerved as she went past the bush. Now, there isn't anything a panther likes more than bear cubs, and there is the deadliest enmity between bears and panthers just on that account. The old she bear smelt the panther, and got to her feet just as he was bounding by. The panther was evidently too intent on the deer to either hear or see the threatening bear. Of course this all took place in a few seconds, and before I made up my mind just exactly what tactics to adopt to get the most benefit out of the situation. I hadn't fully resolved yet, when, to my surprise I saw the deer wheel like a flash, leap clear over her savage pursuer, and take her back track. The panther took up the chase with renewed fury, and gained rapidly on the deer. I was on the point of stopping him with a rifle ball, when I saw by the action of the deer that she had discovered the bears in the bushes, and it struck me that she had a scheme.

"'There's going to be some fun here,' thought I, and I lowered my rifle.

"With the passing of the panther the first time the old bear, seeing that her cubs were not the object of the panther's quest, had returned to the bushes and lain down with her cubs again. The second time he went by she got up again and stood ready to tackle him if necessary, but the panther shot by without noticing the bear. The deer bounded on and into the woods. In less than a minute she came out again, with the panther dangerously close. This time the deer was headed straight for the bushes where the bear and her cubs were, and she slackened her pace.

"'Aha!' said I. 'Smart deer.' She's going to turn that panther over to the bear!'

"When she reached the bush she leaped over it, and the panther was only one easy spring behind her. He crouched to make it, but he didn't, for right in front of him out of the bushes rose the gigantic front of this savage she bear. The suddenness of the change in the situation seemed to surprise the panther, but not for long. He was out for blood, and if he couldn't get deer blood he would take his chances with bear. He lashed his long tail nervously on the ground for a second or two and then launched his big body straight at the bear. His claws were in the bear's shoulders and his red jaws at her throat the next instant. But the huge bear folded the panther in her terrible embrace and put all her strength in the hug. I could hear the panther's bones crack, and both bear and panther fell to the ground dead. As I discovered later the panther's fangs had severed the bear's jugular vein and windpipe both.

The deer took but two leaps after bringing the panther face to face with the bear. Then she stopped and became an excited spectator of the result of her stratagy. When the bear and the panther came together her eyes blazed, she shook her head high in the air, stamped her feet, and relieved her feelings by resounding snorts. She seemed to take fiendish enjoyment in the sight of her deadly foe in the toils of the equally savage bear. When the two combatants fell to the ground and rose no more the deer approached them cautiously, sniffing and snorting and stopping every few steps to stamp her feet on the ground. At last she came to where the two big beasts lay dead together. She sniffed at the carcasses. The hair on her neck stood erect, and she showed the fury she felt by rising on her hind feet and striking with her sharp forefeet the body of the panther. I wanted that panther's skin and knew that the deer would soon rip it into worthlessness with her hoofs, so I shot her where I stood. She never knew what hurt her. I was always sorry that her vindictiveness against the panther forced me to kill her, for she played a smart trick on him to save her life, and she ought to have had it. I captured the two bear cubs alive. And that is the way I bagged all that game with only one shot."

Wigwams Classed as Improvements.

The land office has just rendered an important decision, and one entirely without precedent. The land laws require that a settler taking up government land must make improvements thereon, and in the case in question a Sac and Fox Indian, who had become a citizen and settled upon government land, was contested on the ground of not having made proper improvements. But the office holds that as he had erected a wigwam upon the land and that being all the improvement he considered necessary for comfortable living, he was entitled to the land.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

ROBERT FAIR.

STARTLING 60-DAYS SALE-60 —AT— THE GOLDEN LION.

Always prepared for all the shopping demands of a fastidious and exacting people—this house is NEVER BEHIND, and every day adds to its popularity. Our Policy is not fluctuating or spasmodic. Every day experience proves that our VALUES are THE BEST in the trade.

It makes no difference what others say about goods or what others get for them—at this store the aim is straight for one point, viz.—To get the best and give it at the right rate, as low or lower than any other house in Canada! Anything short of the top in Extent of Stock, Excellence of Service, Endeavours for Improvement, would never do for this establishment. The fall of '94 finds us far ahead in each of the above three particulars.

ON SATURDAY, NOV. 3rd, we inaugurate a Startling 60 Days Sale of New Season's Goods that must be cleared out with the utmost expedition. It shall be so. It's Fair's Way.

Bargains are common—but the Bargains quoted below are of so startling a character as to command the immediate attention of every possible Buyer in Peterborough and vicinity.

Some of Fair's 60 Days' Offerings:

FAIR'S DRESS GOODS.

In Fair's Dress Goods department there is such an aggregation of Bargains as will astonish the ladies for the next two months to come.

Our assortments are not only abundant, but we are offering the best values by many shillings and many inches that we have ever shown before.

The novelties are, of course, first to go. See the stuff and you'll jump at the chance to get late novelties at these prices.

Ladies, remember what constitutes a bargain. It is not Price. You know well how easy it is to be misled by one quality of goods masquerading in the semblance of another. It is done every day.

A bargain has to be looked at from the three cardinal standpoints of Price, Quality and Style.

In all lines of Fall and Winter Dress Goods we offer the best quality in union with the latest style and the cheapest price.

—50 pieces Black and Coloured High-Class Dress Goods, imported to sell at 75c. to $1.25 per yard, your choice for 50c.

FAIR'S MANTLES.

Not a day passes over the history of this store that does'nt bring "grist" to our "bargain mill." There is no dormant energy in the management. Every nerve is at straining point to bring to our patrons the best money's worth to be had.

FAIR'S is the people's Mantle House. We cater for high and low, rich and poor. We give the best value because we buy on the best terms in the world's best markets. We can always please, because our styles are correct and our stock will convince every doubter as to assortment. The ladies of Peterborough must have the latest things, and we are justified in saying that they will not be disappointed in their purchases here.

—200 High Class German Tailor-Made Mantles, ranging in price from $8.00 to $15.00 each, can be purchased now for $5.00 and $8.00 each.
—200 yards Tweed Ulsterings, reduced from $1.50 to $1.00.

$13 00 per yard Sealette for	9 00
11 00 per yard Sealette for	8 00
8 50 per yard Sealette for	6 00
6 50 per yard Sealette for	4 50
5 00 per yard Sealette for	3 00

This is, without doubt, the greatest value ever offered in these high class makes and qualities. "It's Fair's Way."

"Well, we've seen all the Mantles in town and we like yours the best," is a remark one frequently hears in our Ready-Made Mantle Department.

FAIR'S STAPLES.

There's no other department in the whole store so prolific of surprises as this same staple department. A thousand and one things here that you want for the home, and which we cannot find space for. We note a few:—

FAIR'S BLANKETS, &c.

When you require a Good Pair of Blankets, Canadian, English or Scotch, we will give you the variety and value.

This season we have had a splendid sale of Blankets, and, judging from the quantity going out, they must be exceptional value.

FAIR'S SHAWLS.

The same generous hand touches prices in Fair's Shawls. Don't fail to make the GOLDEN LION your first shopping place for a Shawl.

Always keep this point in view, that the entire stock must be sold within a limited time. That it's going at bankrupt stock prices—which are more in your favour than through buying in the regular way.

—5 doz. Ladies' Knitted Shawls, for evening wear, ranging in price from $1 50 each to $3.25, your choice of the whole for $1.25.
—3 doz. Woven Shawls as follows, starting at 65, 85, $1.10, $1.50, $2.50, $3.00, $3.10, $3.75, $4.00.

FAIR'S GLOVES AND HOSIERY.

We have a great exacting constituency to consider in Gloves. No taste has been neglected.

You can't buy your Gloves too soon now. It will be cold before very long. Do not wait until the snow flies. Give us your hands and we will fit them.

Our long experience is a guarantee that all the Gloves in our stock are first-class in every respect.

For years we have been noted for the realiability and general excellence of our Hosiery, for men, women and children. This season our stock of these goods is exceptionally complete and varied. We have made special efforts to secure superior qualities at moderate prices, and we have succeeded in doing so. —A Big Drive in Boy's Heavy Ribbed Stockings at bargain prices.
—90 doz. Best B & C Corsets, every pair perfect, sold everywhere at $1.00, our sale price 65c. each.
—26 doz. Fair's Half Dollar Corsets, for this 60 days sale only 35c. per pair.

FAIR'S CARPETS.

We lead easily in Carpets and Floor Coverings. This season's exhibit will testify to our never-flagging energy and enterprise in anticipating the increasing demand for high art goods and novelty of style, coupled with low prices. No other season have goods been so low.

New makes with new prices have come to the front superseding old prices and giving all the satisfaction that is required for modern wear.

BRUSSELS CARPET is now the carpet for the masses. Our lines, in a large variety of patterns and beautifully coloured, have had an immense sale, while our special quality at $1.10 is the best value in Canada.

Many feel annoyed that, having bought a fine Brussels, the colours so quickly fade. This cannot be so with our extra quality Brussels. The yarns are the finest, and consequently the colours will stand.

A WILTON CARPET has to be made of fine yarn and closely woven, and we cannot recommend any price lower than $1.40 per yard. And in our extra quality we have some beautiful plain colour effects.

BEST ALL-WOOL CARPETS—Maple Leaf brand—which we can confidently recommend.

—Our entire stock of superior quality (Maple Leaf) All Wool Carpets, worth $1.00 per yard, your choice for 75c.
—Best 5-Frame Brussels Carpets, with borders, now being offered at $1.25 and $1.35, your choice of the whole stock at $1.10.
—Best English Wilton Carpets, with border, worth $1.85, to go for $1.40.
—Your choice of our 4-Frame Brussels Carpets, worth from $1.00 to $1.15 for 85 and 95c. per yard.
—Similar startling prices in our Tapestrings, Rugs, Mats and Squares.

FAIR'S CURTAINS.

—Chenille and Scotch Turcoman Portiers and Table Covers.
—Nottigham Lace Curtains, in new designs, rare value.
—New Window Draperies, Irish Point Curtains, Irish Point Sash Nets.

DON'T BE SKEPTICAL.

We know the prices we have made will tax credibility severly. It is hard to believe that the prices we tell pertain to new and fresh goods; but nevertheless it is true. We merely ask you to test our statements; when that is done, you'll do the rest.

COME HERE FOR BARGAINS any day in the week, and you'll get such "surprises" as will forever preclude the possibility of going elsewhere while this great sale continues.

THE DEATH OF THE CZAR

All Europe Plunged into Mourning at the News from Lavadia.

EFFECT ON THE DUAL ALLIANCE

Russia's Union With France Will Be Maintained by the Czarewitch—The Czar's Last Moments—London Papers Praise Him for His Love of Peace.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—A despatch to the Daily News from Yalta, Livadia, says the Czar died at 2.15 p.m. yesterday.

The Prince and Princess of Wales, who are on their way to Livadia, were at the last station this side of Vienna when they received the despatch announcing the Czar's death.

The news did not reach Balmoral until 7 o'clock in the evening. The Queen was not surprised as she had been informed of every phase of the Czar's illness, nevertheless she was deeply moved when she learned that the end had come. She sent a long telegram to the Czarina, and issued to the court officials the usual instructions as to mourning, which are to be published in an extra Gazette.

The Russian Embassy received its first official news of the Czar's death from Lord Kimberley, secretary of Foreign Affairs, who handed to Ambassador Staal a copy of the despatch sent from the British Embassy in St. Petersburg.

Last Moments of the Czar.

YALTA, Nov. 2.—The Czar was told on Tuesday that he could live only a few days more. He listened composedly. During the rest of the day he passed most of his time in disposing his personal and family affairs. Then he calmly awaited the end, with his consciousness broken only occasionally with short periods of coma. In the morning he looked for the last time from the windows of the palace. He was long silent, then he said it was pleasant to feel that he could pass his last hours on

THE DEAD CZAR.

Russian soil. The previous night he had no sleep. He was racked constantly by violent coughing and hemorrhage. His heart grew so weak that it often seemed to have stopped beating. These distressing symptoms became more accentuated at 10 o'clock in the morning, but shortly afterward he rallied slightly. He was fully conscious.

He wished the sacrament to be given him in the presence of the family, and he received the visticum with grateful fervor. An hour and a half later he was seized with violent spasms. It seemed as if death had come, but he rallied again and at 12.30 appeared to be free from pain. But the weakening heart beats, and breathing told told his physicians that the end was coming fast. He was conscious almost to the last moment. At 2.15 his eyes closed and he ceased breathing.

According to the tentative arrangements made last night the body will be conveyed aboard the Imperial yacht Polar Star to Odessa. It will be escorted by the whole Black Sea fleet, which has orders to assemble at once off Yalta. From Odessa the body will be taken on a special train to St. Petersburg, and will be placed in the cathedral of Saints Peter and Paul. The final ceremonies will be held probably in about two weeks.

It is understood that Czar Nicholas II. will be proclaimed to-day, and the Grand Duke George, Alexander III.'s second son, now ill in the Caucasus, will be declared the heir, and that the troops and state officials will take the oath of loyalty and allegiance to-morrow. State mourning is expected to begin to-morrow.

France Mourns His Death.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—The first news of the Czar's death came to Paris in an official despatch to the Foreign Office. It was simply that the Czar died at 1.55 p.m., and was conscious to the last. The despatch was shown at once to President Casimir-Perier. He read it and laid it down, and after a long silence said:—

"He was France's strong and loyal friend."

Signs of mourning have multiplied ever since the news was made public. La Presse, La Jour and Le Soir issued special editions with black borders. All sold as rapidly as they could be brought to the street. The booths and newsmen were surrounded by eager crowds struggling to buy papers before the supply was exhausted.

La Presse's comment was:—"All French patriots will be grieved by this sad news. The mourning will extend throughout France. The Czar was a sincere partisan of peace and a devoted friend of our country. Our sorrow is unutterably deep, but there is no reason to despair as the heir of Alexander III. will recognize the close bond uniting France and Russia. The sorrow of France will be the most convincing evidence to the son and sovereign that the union of the nations which for years has assured the peace must remain and guarantee the peace in the future."

At the Continental Capitals.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 2.—The churches in Moscow and St. Petersburg have been thronged with men and women praying for the Czar's soul. Near the churches many groups of weeping women have been gathering since nightfall. The crowds are quiet and mournful.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—President Casimir-Perier sent messages of condolence to St. Petersburg and Livadia. Flags on all the government buildings are at half mast and many of the buildings are draped with mourning.

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 2.—Expressions of deep sorrow have come from all classes since the announcement of the Czar's death. A memorial service will be held in the Russian church.

BERLIN, Nov. 2.—Freiherr Marschall von Bieberstein, secretary of foreign affairs, called upon Count Schouvaloff this afternoon to offer his condolence.

ROME, Nov. 2.—Premier Crispi and Baron Blanc, minister of foreign affairs, called at the Russian embassy this afternoon to express their sorrow over the death of the Czar. The Pope has sent a message of condolence to Livadia.

Effect on the Dual Alliance.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—There is but one absorbing topic in the boulevards, cafes, clubs and theatres. If the president of the republic were dead the expressions of regret could not be more general. The probable effect of the event upon the Russo-French alliance and the European situation in general is discussed by every one. The belief is that Nicholas will adopt his father's policy.

London Press Comments.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—The Standard says this morning. "His life was one long martyrdom which he bore with serene fortitude. That he kept his head clear and his judgment stable argues his uncommon strength of character. The price had to be paid for this stern exercise of will power."

The Daily Chronicle says: "For doing his utmost to preserve Europe from war, millions who detest his ideas and the nature of his rule will respect his memory."

The Daily Graphic says: "On the whole the Czar's influence was healthy. He leaves Russia distinctly happier, stronger and more prosperous than in any other period of her history."

The Times says:—"He has passed away with the consciousness that he so used his strength and great position as to save the human race the awful scourge of a great war."

The Daily News says:—"A single blunder of vanity or ambition would have brought upon Europe the most devastating war in history. To his eternal honor the blunder was never made."

The Czar's Career.

Alexander III., Czar of all the Russias, who succeeded to the throne on the murder of his father by nihilist conspirators on March 13, 1881, was born March 10, 1845. For some time after his elevation to the throne he seldom appeared in public, but lived in the closest retirement in Gatchina, being in constant dread of the machinations of the secret societies of socialists. His coronation took place at Moscow, on May 27, 1883. He married, in 1866, Mary Feodorvna (formerly Mary Sophia Frederica Dagmar), daughter of Christian IX., King of Denmark, and sister of the Princess of Wales and King of Greece. The principal concern of the Czar was to put down nihilism, to develop the military power of Russia, to organize her Asiatic and Caucasian provinces and to keep a steady eye on Constantinople.

From the beginning of his reign periodical attempts upon his life were made by the Nihilists. Twice officers in his own army tried to shoot him. In 1888 he and his family narrowly escaped death in a railway accident near Borki. The train was thrown from the track and many passengers were killed, but the Imperial party were hardly injured. The derailing of the train was supposed to be the work of Nihilists. Last spring a plot was formed in Finland to blow up the castle which the Czar was expected to occupy during the fall manœuvres round Smolenski.

The political police are still busy hunting down the conspirators.

The Czar was deeply religious. He was under the influence of such bishops as Pobodonoakeff, attorney-general of the Holy Synod, and his group, and persecuted the Jews, Catholics and German Lutherans in Russia without cessation or mercy.

He inherited with his Minister of Foreign Affairs, Prince Gortchakoff, a strong prejudice against the Germans, which was increased by the agitation of the Pan-Slavist war party in his capital. Nevertheless he held fast to a peace policy. Last year he reached an understanding with France during the visit of the Russian fleet at Toulon and ever since Russia and France have been regarded as constituting a dual alliance, counterbalancing on the continent the power of the triple alliance. Nothing has been published, however, to show that any formal agreement between the two powers was signed, or that the Czar pledged Russia to help France recover Alsace and Lorraine from Germany.

The Czar left five children, the Czarewitch Nicholas, 27 years of age; the Grand Duke George, now ill in the South of Russia; the Grand Duchesses Xenia and Olga, and the Grand Duke Michael, a boy in his teens. In the ordinary course of events, the Crown Prince Nicholas would succeed to the throne. In view of his physical weakness and other peculiarities there has been much talk of a regency.

In religion Alexander III. was a thorough bigot. He never once doubted that he was the Lord's anointed, ruling all Russia and her subject provinces by divine right, and that Jews, Stundists, Mennonites and others who did not implicitly obey his directions were in rebellion against God and deserving of little consideration. The Romanoffs have always been given to a sort of brutal devotion, and the natural bent of Alexander's mind was intensified by the teachings of his tutor, M. Pobiedonotseff, in later years the much feared chief of the holy synod of the Russian church. Nevertheless, he taught his pupil morality, and it is claimed that Alexander III. was the only European sovereign of his time who never kept a mistress. He was frantically devout and his views on education were those of the Russian priests. As head of the church he consistently opposed every form of instruction not controlled by the priests.

Alexander III. was a man of remarkable physical force. He stood 6 feet 4 inches in his stockings, and it is told of him that he could take a silver coin of the size of a dollar and double it between his thumb and forefinger. When in 1888 his train was wrecked and a number of persons were killed, it is said he saved those who were in the same compartment with him from injury and perhaps death by supporting a portion of the fallen roof with his shoulders till assistance came.

He was an untiring worker; got down to his desk as a rule at 8 a.m., and went resolutely through official papers till 1 p.m. Then he had a light lunch and took recreation and read till a 6 o'clock dinner. He often wrote severe comments on the margins of papers presented to him, and these were glazed over to preserve them in the royal archives. He was a man of unflinching courage. He proved this in the last war between Russia and Turkey, and though during the entire reign he was in constant expectation of being murdered he never hesitated to show himself to his people when he thought the occasion demanded it, and he oftentimes was accounted even rash in his manner of doing this. For instance, on several occasions when members of his household died and notably when his English nurse passed away, he attended the funeral services like any common person, following the hearse on foot. It was his custom frequently to drive a pair of horses over the public highways, the Czarina and the whole family accompanying him in an open carriage.

CAPT. DRYFUS' TREASON

How He Gave Away the Plans for Mobilizing the French Army.

THIS WILL COST HIM HIS LIFE

Important Secrets in Connection With the Army and State Service He Divulged to Agents of the Governments of Italy, Austria and Germany.

PARIS, Nov. 2.—A special cabinet council was held yesterday to consider the case of Captain Albert Dryfus, who is now under arrest and confined in the military prison on a charge of high treason in having sold information in regard to the plans of the frontier fortifications to agents of the Italian Government and also divulged the plans for mobilizing the the French army in the event of war. It is the general opinion that Captain Dryfus will be shot after the formality of a court martial has been gone through with.

The arrest of Captain Alfred Dryfus is the sensation here. He was attached to the organization and mobilizing department of the general staff, and in his capacity held access to some of the most important documents relating to the plans for mobilizing the French army in case of war. Suspicion against Captain Dryfus was aroused by his intimacy with an Italian officer and Gen. Mercier, the Minister of War, caused detectives to be sent to Monaco and to Italy, with the result that Captain Dryfus is now under strict guard.

Captain Dryfus is said to have supplied the Italian officer referred to, who is believed to have been a secret agent of the Italian government, with the plans for the mobilization of the fifteenth army corps, covering the departments of the Maritime, Alps, Ardeche, Bouchers du Rhome, Corsica, Gard, Var, Vaucluse and Marseilles, as well as with plans for mobilizing the French forces around Briancon, the Alpine Gibraltar for the alien frontier. He is also suspected of having furnished the Italian agent with plans of the numerous fortified positions around Briancon, which are connected by underground galleries with the town mentioned. It is a place of the utmost importance, especially in view of the possible advance of the Italian army into France.

Briancon commanded the route across Mont Genevre between France and Italy and in addition to being most strongly defended on account of its natural position (it is situated on a hill about 4,800 feet above the level of the sea), its surrounding eminences are crowded with strong, modern fortifications, mounted with the latest artillery and as already stated, these fortifications communicate with each other and with the town by subterranean passages. A bridge having a span of about 180 feet and 180 feet high crosses the Clarre Valley and affords access from the principal parts of the fortifications to the town itself.

Capt. Dryfus finally is said to have supplied the Italian Government with all the plans so carefully laid out during years past for the defence of the Alps and which have been looked upon as forming a complete bulwark against the possibility of an invasion of France from Italy, and he is also said to have sold all these plans to Germany and to have divulged to Austria and Germany the names of all the French officers who have recently been sent abroad on secret missions.

THE CHIGNECTO RAILWAY.

Hon. Mr. Foster's Reply to the Delegation in London.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—In receiving a delegation making representations on behalf of the Chignecto Marine Railway Hon. G. E. Foster said the reply of the Dominion Government would be given about the middle of December. This reply will definitely state whether or not the Government will extend the time within which the work may be completed in order to draw the yearly government subsidy.

As the matter now stands the work was not completed in time to draw this subsidy, funds for its completion not having been forthcoming, and the capitalists behind the project and the maritime province people generally are anxious to finish it up. This they do not want to do without the assurance of the Government that the subsidy for its operation would be paid.

The delegates said that the total loss of the money expended in the work could not fail to have an effect on the Canadian project seeking funds in the British money market. The Finance Minister gave a most careful hearing to all the representations, and one of the delegates afterwards said that the prospects of acquiescence on the part of the Canadian Government were fairly good.

WHAT STRAY CATTLE MAY MEAN.

At the assizes in Kingston, on Tuesday, a case came up for trial, which will be of interest to the owners of stock, especially those owners who permit their stock to run at large. A man collided with a cow on a country highway; he was thrown from his buggy and sustained more or less serious injuries. He brought suit against the township for the damages thus sustained. When the case came up for trial, the plaintiff was non-suited, the judge holding that the township was not liable for the damages, but the owner of the cow was the responsible party. His Lordship, in the course of his remarks, referred to the railway smash up at Lusk's crossing, near Fraserville, in which three men were killed, and asserted that the owner of the cow that caused the run-off could be held answerable to the estates of the men, who were killed. If this is sound law—and Chief Justice Armour does not talk at random—farmers should be exceedingly careful in respect to allowing their cattle to run at large in the vicinity of railways. It would be very poor economy to give a cow a chance to swallow a little free pasturage, on a public highway, at the risk of an action for damages that might easily swallow a whole farm.

THE HARTLEY POISONING CASE.

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review which has the advantage of being in the vicinity and in touch with local circumstances in a manner that more distant observers cannot enjoy. This concludes an able review of the case:

While we regard the Brantford verdict as a miscarriage of justice which all thoughtful citizens must deplore, we cannot refrain from a reference, in alluding to the case, to Mr. Osler—who is so well known here in connection with the Birchall trial and other important cases. From a professional stand-point it is doubtful if he ever won a greater personal triumph in his life than when he secured the acquittal of Mrs. Hartley. The case was not strongly put for the Crown; nor do we think that conviction was pressed for as the circumstances warranted. But the evidence was such as to make Mr. Osler's task a difficult—and, as it appeared to everybody, a hopless—one. But the apparant hopelessness of his task seemed to draw out all the great counsel's latent powers. In his management of the case he made an effort worthy of his reputation, and with a result that must have surprised himself. It is only on rare occasions when it can be said that a prisoner owes life to a counsel. But it is quite true in this case. Mrs. Hartley had better luck than Birchall. She had Osler for her, not against her. Birchall lies in the gaol yard. Mrs. Hartley is an innocent woman. The law has said it; and she is free—to draw that life insurance.

TUESDAY, 20th November, has been appointed as the time and Port Arthur as the place of trial of the West Algoma Provincial election petition (Whitacre v. Savage) and cross petition (Foy v. Conmee) Mr. Justice Burton and Mr. Justice Ferguson will be the trial judges. A motion will, however, probably be made to postpone the trial to the spring. Application by the petitioners for leave to withdraw the petitions have been made in the following cases: Centre Simcoe, (Hunter v. Paton) South Brant (Dowling v. Hardy—Hon. A. S. Hardy), West Hamilton (Hopkins v. Gibson—Hon. J. M. Gibson) and East Hamilton (Aimes v. Middleton.

FOR the present season, ending October 19, 1,388,064 boxes of cheese left Montreal, against 1,293,697 boxes for the same period in 1893. But when we come to butter what a falling off meets the eye: 70,176 packages in 1893, and only 27,483 in 1894 for the same period. Canada reached low water mark in butter exports in 1890, when the value was only $340,131. In the year ending June 30, 1894, we had come up to $1,296,814; but it would appear as though we shall drop back to our 1890 record.

THE Empire is at a loss to know how Mr. Laurier with a revenue tariff can raise the twenty millions or more raised under the present tariff. Through taxation the people put their hands in their pockets and pay twenty millions that goes into the public treasury, and they have also to pay twenty millions more that goes into the pockets of the protected combinesters, whom our exclusion tariff permits to keep up prices.

THE Grand Trunk shareholders may look in vain for dividends so long as the affairs of the company are conducted on a scale that gives Mr. Sargeant a salary of $20,000, two and a half times greater than the salary of the premier of Canada, or the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court respectively—$8,000.

AFTER an election the only things talked of are protests; corruption and bribery fill the air, and all elected candidates are to be unseated. In calmer moments common sense prevails, and it is exhibited just now in the protests against Hon. J. M. Gibson and Mr. J. T. Middleton being dropped.

THE popular reader will not be surprised at the death of the Czar of Russia. He might have withstood kidney disease, dropsy and congestion of the lungs, but when the doctors performed paracentesis thoracis upon the unfortunate monarch, it was "all day" with him.

A DARING BURGLARY.

(Lindsay Watchman.)

Last Tuesday evening Mr. Bev. H. Ross, of the Niagara Falls Park and River Railway, who is spending a short holiday with his friends in town, had an experience with a midnight burglar and would-be assassin that he will not soon forget. Shortly after the Mountford lecture he returned to the home of his sister, Mrs. J. Harstone, and about 11.30 went to his repose. He had only nicely dosed off when he was awakened from some then unknown cause. He arose and went over to a bureau and took his revolver and laid it on the table near his bed, and afterwards lay down. He was only nicely asleep again when he was disturbed and imagined his watch, a gold one, was slipping out of the bed. He thrust his hand under the pillow and caught the chain, and was surprised to find that there was some force which seemed to be steadily pulling it. He jumped out of the bed and his disengaged hand struck a man. He grabbed his revolver with the right hand, when the burglar grappled with him and tried to secure the revolver, and in the struggle threw Mr. Ross to the floor, and while on top of him continued the effort for the possession of the weapon. Mr. Ross called loudly for help, but no help came. After being on the floor for a minute or so, the watch chain snapped, the burglar having retained his hold of it throughout the struggle, while Mr. Ross had held the chain. The burglar finding that he had secured the watch, raised Mr. Ross bodily from the floor about two feet, and flung him back violently in an effort to stun him, and then jumped through the window. Mr. Ross sprang to his feet and fired a shot at him, then as he ran through fired a second shot, but with what effect he cannot say. Mr. Harstone then appeared on the scene with a lamp, when it was discovered that Mr. Ross' pantaloon pockets had been rifled of a considerable sum of money, and thrown out of the window. The furniture in the room presented the appearance of a free fight, and Mr. Ross' night robe and undershirt were torn in shreds. Fortunately he escaped without any serious bodily harm, although it is an experience which he never wishes to have repeated. The burglar is, as near as Mr. Ross can tell, a man of about five feet eight to ten inches in height, possessed of great strength, and dressed in dark clothes, no beard and a prominent nose. The only clue that can be said to exist is the watch which the burglar had in his possession, but as the number is unknown it is a rather poor one.

A WORD TO ADVERTISERS

THE "EXAMINER" is read every day by thousands of people who buy and pay cash for their goods.

Advertiser! Is there anything in this for you? A paper that goes to the homes is worth a dozen that don't.

The DAILY EXAMINER is the Popular Peterborough Evening Paper, and we are bound to place it in every home in the Town, thereby covering the whole ground for the advertiser. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Tenders for the Pacific Cable—The Sawdust in the Ottawa River.

OTTAWA, Nov. 2.—Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, who is Acting Premier, states that the tenders for the submarine Pacific cable will not be opened until the return of Sanford Fleming.

"Billy" Leacy, the famous home player of the Capital Lacrosse Club, is not likely to be a member of the team next season. It is learned on pretty good authority that Mr. Leacy is to be appointed postmaster in the place of his eldest brother, J. H. Leacy of Cardinal, who died last week after a few days illness with pneumonia.

Senator Clemow, who was one of the commissioners appointed by the Government several years ago to inquire into the sawdust evil in the Ottawa River, when seen by a reporter expressed the opinion that the article in a Toronto paper was written by one of the lumbermen interested. He denied that the Senate was not fully alive to the importance of the question when they struck out the clause giving the Government power to exempt certain streams. This power the Government had had for a number of years and had only exercised it towards the Ottawa River. The new bill was introduced in order to give the Government greater power to impose penalties on those breaking the fishery laws or polluting streams, and did not at first contain the old power to exempt a clause at the last moment. He said the bill was sent back from the lower House with this clause tacked on as an amendment, and the Government used every pressure to get it through, but it was opposed unanimously, with the exception of the Senate leaders.

Colonel Turnbull, commander of the Toronto School of Cavalry, was said to have been dismissed six months ago, and the Department of Militia replied that he had been given six months' leave of absence. This expired a few days ago, and has been renewed "until further notice," which has again given rise to the idea that he has been permanently laid off from the force.

WRECK OF THE WAIRARAPA.

Further Details of the Terrible Disaster at Sea.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Nov. 2.—Further particulars of the wreck of the steamer Wairarapa on Great Barrier island Sunday night have been received here. The vessel struck on the rocks at midnight. The sea was very rough and the night very dark. All of the passengers were in bed. As soon as the ship struck the life belts were served out to the passengers, among whom, although they were fully aware of their danger, there was no panic. An attempt was made to launch the life boats, but the sea was so heavy that several of the boats were capsized and many persons were drowned. Some succeeded in getting ashore by means of lines which were sent to the mainland attached to rafts. The seas broke over the ship, sweeping a great many passengers from the bridge upon which they had crowded. Other passengers and some of the crew took refuge in the rigging.

At daylight two men swam ashore with lines, and the survivors were landed. Two passengers were drowned by losing their hold upon the line. The survivors were very scantily clad, and remained upon the rocks thirty hours, subsisting upon oranges that had been washed from the wreck, which was rapidly going to pieces. The unfortunates were finally discovered by Maori boats, and with the aid of assistance obtained from Port Fitzroy they were rescued and made comfortable. One account says that Captain McIntosh, with 23 of his crew and 111 passengers, were drowned. Another report says that 81 passengers and 40 of the crew were saved and landed at Auckland, and that 20 of the crew and 58 passengers were drowned.

Ballot Girls Kick.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2.—An extraordinary kick has been made by the Coryphees Protective Union, to the effect that Miss Lillian Russell has brought from England nineteen chorus girls and eight dancers for the Queen of Brilliants, which is to be produced by the Lillian Russell Opera Company Wednesday. The claim of the Coryphees Protective Union is that these imported girls are not artists, but plain, ordinary employes like any member of the protective association. In any case, say the officers of the association, Miss Russell's company could get just as good talent here. At the request of Miss Siengrist, walking delegate of the Coryphees Protective Union, a committee called on Mr. Schoeffel, one of the managers of Abbey's theatre, and protested. Mr. Schoeffel said the girls were artists, and politely showed the committee to the door.

Work on the Panama Canal.

PANAMA, Nov. 2.—It is said the force now at work on the Culebra branch of the Panama Canal will soon be increased to 1,000 men. Advices from Honduras reports the discovery of the remains of an ancient Toltec city in the centre of a mahogany swamp near Rio Grande. They comprise hundreds of large, well-built dwellings and three temples, each 100 feet long, 50 feet wide and 35 feet high. The streets are paved. These ruins are now covered with 9 inches of soil.

A LUCKY MAN.

Laid up for Months by a Severe Form of Kidney Disease—The Simple Cure he used—He's Well Now.

THEDFORD, Oct, 22.—Some men don't know when they are in luck and some do. Albert Maithers, of this place, is one of the lucky ones who knows of his good fortune and tells about it. He says he was laid up and could do no work for months because of kidney disease. When kidney disease has such a hold on a man as that, he is in a serious condition. Mr. Maithers recognized this and used every remedy he could think of, but without getting any help until he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Three boxes cured him and he is attending to his affairs once more and is as hearty and happy as ever.

Plain Facts.

As a prompt, pleasant and perfect cure for coughs, colds, hoarseness, sore throat, pain in the chest, asthma, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, influenza and all throat and lung troubles, Norway Pine Syrup is the best remedy known.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1893.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

At the W. C. T. U. Convention.

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 2.—The morning session of the W. C. T. U. convention was taken up with the election of officers. The old officers were elected as follows:—President, Mrs. Thornley, London; vice-president, Mrs. Rutherford, Toronto; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Wiley, Richmond Hill; recording secretary, Miss Gosford, London; treasurer, Miss Jennie McArthur, Cornwall. In the afternoon Miss Dougall, of Montreal, gave an address on Bible reading. Mrs. A. Gordon, of Ottawa, followed on Evangelistic work. Mrs. Bigelow, of Aultsville, took up scientific temperance, while Mrs. Dr. Edwards' paper dealt with "The ballot for women." Union work in small places was discussed by several delegates, after which some time was taken up with "Parliamentary drill." In the evening Dr. A. Shaw, of Boston, gave an address on "Woman's Franchise" to a crowded public meeting in the music hall.

Burned in His Bed.

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 2.—Peter McNaughton, aged 25 years, proprietor of Park hotel, Telegraph street, retired to bed about midnight. It is believed he lay in bed reading by a paraffine lamp and fell asleep. His brother, Dan, was on the street, saw a bright light and rushed upstairs, opened the bed room, when the flames and smoke burst out and drove him back. At that moment his brother rushed out of the room with his night clothes on fire, and fell down unconscious. The flames were extinguished on the unfortunate man, and he was removed to a place of safety. In the morning he died from the effects of the burning.

Absconder Filgiano's Shortage.

HAMILTON, Nov. 2.—Mr. Higginbotham, the Grand Trunk auditor who has been here for several weeks looking into the accounts of Fred Filgiano, the defaulting cashier of the G. T. R. freight department, has returned to Montreal. Mr. Higginbotham would give no information as to the exact amount of the shortage, but intimated that it was under $20,000. Filgiano's whereabouts has not been ascertained by the railway company, but the guarantee company has detectives at work and have distributed Filgiano's photograph throughout cities in the United States and Canada.

No Advance in Lumber Rates.

BURLINGTON, Ont., Nov. 2.—Grand Trunk Railway had conference with principal lumber operators of Ontario in Grand Trunk offices when it was arranged that no advance in lumber rates would be made until the 30th of April next, and of the trade would warrant it some advance might be made on that date, but a further conference is to be held between the officers of the G. T. R. and lumber merchants some time in February with a view to discussing the question and agreeing upon a basis for insuring summer operations.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, anhave no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

ROBERT HALL.

Seasonable and Opportune.

Always forearmed for all the shopping demands of our customers—this store is never behind—the right goods at the right time and at the right prices. October suggest the need of such things as Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to choose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these, we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last year's hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show a full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

The North China Herald and Supreme Court and Consular Gazette, published at Shanghai, contains a full and reliable account of the recent naval duel at Yaloo river, in which commander Philo Norton McGiffin, son of the late American Consul, at Port Hope, was slightly wounded. Mr. McGiffin exhibited great bravery on the occasion.

Mr. Fred. Clark, ledger keeper of the Bank of Commerce here, leaves on Monday morning to relieve the manager of the branch at Ayr, Ont., who is to take three weeks holidays. Mr. Clarke has been about two years with the bank here and his being made locum tenens of so responsible a position shows what confidence the management repose in him. Mr. Clarke will be greatly missed in local musical circles. He has filled the position of organist of St. John's with great satisfaction and has always been liberal of his services in promoting local musical interests. He is counted one of the best accompanists in town and, what is to his credit as a lover of music, his services have always been gratuitously rendered. Mr. Clark will carry with him the best wishes of a wide circle of friends.

ALLEGED APPLE PEST.

Mr. Bosworth, Toronto, assistant freight traffic manager of the C.P.R., received the following dispatch yesterday: "British Columbia Government Fruit Inspector is condemning apples shipped from Ontario on account of their being infected by a larvæ of coddling moth, and he is insisting that a carload of apples now here shall be destroyed by fire. Unless shippers are careful in filling orders for the British Columbia market to see that fruit is free from any infection of this nature, serious loss will result."

Inquiry among the fruit dealers of the town failed to reveal any cause for such alarm as is suggested in the despatch. There is no prevalence of the codling moth this year, and the shipment in question they think must have been of fruit poorly handled if it was not made up of wind-falls. Some of those spoken to have shipped to British Columbia and have heard no complaint as to quality. Mr. C. C. James, Deputy-Minister of Agriculture, says he had heard nothing about any unusual provalence of the pest. There is this year, he says, a good deal of rust among the apples, but that is all. He thinks the shipment spoken of in the despatch must have been wind-falls. Speaking of the English market, Mr. James said the latest reports were very favourable for Canadian apples, and that better prices are being obtained.

The reader is referred to the announcement made in "Fair's way" of this special sixty days' sale. These are special opportunities for close buying in the Dress Goods department, the Mantle department, the Staples department, the Blanket department, the Shawl department, the Glove and Hosiery department, the Carpet department and the Curtain department. The reader will be surprised on studying the list of special offers in these several departments, but his surprise will be met by facts if he visits the Golden Lion. Don't let any person forego the pleasure and profit of patronizing the great sixty days sale of the Golden Lion. You have only to make one visit to insure going frequently to the Golden Lion, R. Fair, while this sale continues.

—The expression, "Mind your P's and Q's," arose from an old custom of innkeepers marking down their scores of their customers on the wall or doors wite a bit of charcoal. Q stood for quart, P for pint, and a hint to mind one's P's and Q's was equivalent to a reminder that he had been drinking too much.

—Never strike a child on the head. This is not only cruel, but it is dangerous. "Boxing the ears" should be an offence punishable by law, for a "box" as likely as not will break the drum of the ear and destroy the hearing perhaps permanently. Children have often died from brain troubles produced by a box on the ear. No parent or teacher should ever think of administering chastisement in this way.

WAS READY FOR THE BOYS.

An Old Man Loads His Revolver to Frighten Hallowe'en Depredators and Shoots Himself.

Port Hope, Nov. 1.—F. Murphy, an old resident of Port Hope, accidentally shot and killed himself to-day.

Being in good spirits last night he loaded his revolver wherewith to scare mischievous youngsters who were celebrating Hallowe'en, but they did not put in an appearance. Not at all disappointed, the old gentleman put the weapon on the bookshelf in his bedroom and retired.

After breakfast he took the revolver from the shelf and was examining it, probably unloading it. Mr. Murphy was 82 years of age, and his unsteady fingers, while thus engaged, accidentally pulled the trigger, discharging the weapon. The bullet entered his body on the left side, just below the ribs. Mr. Murphy got up from the chair and staggered to the bed.

His daughter, who was in an adjoining room, heard the report and instantly after the call of her father, "Kate, I'm shot," she ran to his room.

Dr. Might was at once called, who, after examining the wound, thought it necessary to call in Dr. Powers. But their efforts were of no avail. The ball had pierced the vitals and the victim's life was fast ebbing away. All that was possible was done to alleviate his sufferings, but death came to his relief about noon.

Mr. Murphy was a native of Ireland; came to Port Hope nearly 60 years ago from Toronto to clerk for the late John Crawford, merchant and distiller. After the death of Mr. Crawford, he went into business with Mr. Hugh Crawford, a nephew of his late employer. For many years afterwards he was the chief auctioneer in this section of the country, and for nearly 20 years was in the Internal Revenue Department, but has been superannuated for the past six or eight years. The funeral will take place on Saturday, and will be under Masonic management, he being a member of that order.

THE FIRE RECORD.

Barn Burned at Omemee Through the Explosion of a Lantern.

Omemee, Ont., Nov. 1.—Mr. Samuel Nugent, living about five miles south-west of Omemee, had his barn and all its contents burned at about 8 o'clock, Wednesday evening. A lantern exploding caused the fire. It appears that Mr. Nugent's son was in the loft putting down hay and had the lantern hanging in its usual place when the explosion took place and the oil being scattered, the building was soon in a mass of flames. Young Nugent saved himself from being burned to death by knocking some boards of the side of the barn.

A SUCCESSFUL "ENDEAVOUR."

St. Andrew's Y. P. S. C. E. Concert Last Night—A Very Large Attendance—A Good Programme Successfully Carried Out.

A very large assemblage greeted the rising of the curtain in Bradburn's opera house for the excellent concert and entertainment under the auspices of the St. Andrew's Y.P.S.C.E. Every part of the house was well filled by an audience which heartily appreciated the excellent programme given.

The entertainment opened with a grand chorus "Awake Æolian Lyre," well sung by a sixty voices, under the baton of Mr. G. W. Mulligan. The chorus was excellently balanced, and the work was effectively done, and struck the high standard that was maintained by the succeeding numbers of the programme. This chorus also concluded the programme with "O Who Will O'er the Downs?" As was announced, Miss Jessie Alexander, the clever, petite and piquante elocutionist, furnished the large share of the programme, providing five out of the twelve numbers, not counting the encore appearances that succeeded almost her every number and every number if the audience had had its way. Miss Alexander's first number was a monologue entitled "Coaching in Scotland," a recital of her own experience last summer. Her second was "The Hungarian Martyr," a serious selection, which was followed by "Minding the Baby," "'Ceptin' Me" and "Professor Augustus." Miss Alexander's triumph was won in the lighter regions of elocutionary art and the most of her selections were humourous or pathetic and in them she exhibits wonderful ability and gains the most pronounced expressions of popular approval, as shown by the rapturous recalls to which she was compelled to respond. Special reference should be made to her recital of "Ceptin Me," a beautiful bit of pathetic poetry, composed for Miss Alexander by a clever young literary lady, of Peterborough, Miss Alma McCallum. The literary grace and touching pathos of this selection was admirably interpreted by Miss Alexander. The enthusiastic applause that followed this number was, doubtless, as much a tribute to the literary cleverness of the young poetess as to Miss Alexander's touchingly tender rendition of it. The vocal numbers included a gracefully sung contralto solo, Molloy's "Carnival," by Mrs. Stapleton; a soprano solo, Kummer's "My love thoughts are of Thee," also gracefully sung by Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, Mr. Butcher furnishing the flute obligato that much enhanced the effect. Mr. Mulligan gave a fine manly rendering of that favourite selection from the "Bohemian Girl"—"The Heart Bowed Down," with flute, euphonium and piano accompaniment. It admirably suited the range of his voice, and his interpretation of it was entirely musicianly. Miss Scheak sung with pleasing effect, and in a voice that gave evidence of careful culture, Roekel's "Only the Sound of a Voice." In reply to a warm encore she sang a humourous selection. "I Couldn't, Could I?" with excellent effect. A well sung duet, "Estudiantina," was given by Miss Vair and Mr. Mulligan. This was so well done that the audience insisted upon a repetition, which was gracefully given, "Flow Gently Deva," being the repeat number. In both these Miss Vair's well-trained voice was heard with fine effect.

The accompaniments were unusually excellent, and were supplied by Miss Grant, organist of St. Andrew's, and by Mr. J. Crane, organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's.

Taking it altogether the entertainment was a most successful one, and the audience was greatly delighted with it. The success is a plume in the bonnet of the St. Andrew's Y.P.S.C.E. and the choirmaster, Mr. Mulligan, who had charge of the musical arrengements. The following are the members of the chorus:

Sopranos—Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Sanderson Miss Garrow, Miss McClelland, Miss Carruthers, Miss Huebeck, Miss Hagerman, Miss Gillespie, Miss Ferguson, Miss E. Ferguson, Miss Courtney, Miss Rose, Miss Patterson, Miss M. Patterson, Miss Hall, Miss Fisk, Miss Fowler, Miss L. Garrow, Miss Weddel, Miss McNab.

Altos—Mrs. Mulligan, Mrs. Stapleton, Miss Coe, Miss Gladman, Miss Lee, Miss Dawson, Miss Carey, Miss Montgomery, Miss Wrighton, Miss McFarlane, Miss Fowler.

Items of Interest to Local Sportsmen.

LACROSSE.

Mr. John Fanning received a letter from Mr. Jack Simpson, an old Peterborough boy, yesterday, in which it was stated that both he and Mr. A. C. Mercer had attended the great lacrosse game, which took place at Vancouver, recently, between New Westminster and Victoria. Letters to the Toronto papers stated that the match resulted in a draw, but Mr. Simpson writes that the victory was awarded Victoria by a score of 3—2. He speaks enthusiastically of the game.

POOL.

Pool Champion Wm. Stubbs, of Montreal, formerly of Peterborough, and John Higby, of Toronto, played a series of 21 pyramid pool games at the Kensington last night for $200 a side. Higby won by a score of 11 to 10 after a close and exciting contest. George Sutton, also formerly of Peterborough, umpired the game.

FOOTBALL.

The local football team do not go into the match to-morrow with any idea that their work is not cut out for them, for the Osgoode team will contain three of the strongest backs in Toronto, namely Gilmour, Bain and McLaughlin. But the home boys are going to do their best to win and no doubt a lively game will be put up. The match will be played on the Driving Park grounds. Play called at 3 o'clock.

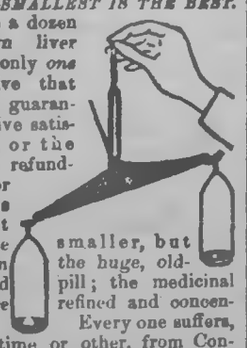
THE SMALLEST IS THE BEST.



There are a dozen well-known liver pills, but only one so effective that it can be guaranteed to give satisfaction, or the money be refunded. Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are smaller, but better than the huge, old-fashioned pill; the medicinal agents are refined and concentrated. Every one suffers, at some time or other, from Constipation, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Biliousness, Bilious and Sick Headaches. You're relieved and cured of these troubles, if you take "P. P. P."

These Pellets are easy to take, and act in a natural way without shocking the system. They're easy to carry, because they are put up in little glass vials. They're the cheapest, because guaranteed to give satisfaction. Remember, that Dr. Pierce's Pellets are pleasant to take, pleasant in action, perfect in effect. Keep this in mind and you solve the problem of good health and good living.

If you're suffering from Catarrh, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy ask you to try their medicine. Then, if you can't be cured, they'll pay you $500 in cash.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS STRIKE.

Unsatisfied Claims Against the Government—Tuberculosis Again.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 2.—Thirty-one third class clerks and carriers of the Victoria postoffice struck work yesterday with the object of emphasizing their claim for payment of the delayed provisional allowance. It had been the custom in the past to grant these low salaried employes of British Columbia offices $10 per month over their usual pay in view of the greater cost of living in the west. This allowance has not been received here although the sum was provided for in the supplementary estimates of last year's parliament.

Their claim has been endorsed by the Board of Trade as just. The board, however, advised the clerks and carriers to return to work, assuring them that the board would press the matter of payment of the delayed allowances immediately. The strike was last night declared off for one month, and if it is not settled by the end of November the Board of Trade has tacitly promised to assist the strikers. Without the allowance referred to the salary of the carriers is $20 and that of the clerks $38 per month.

Tuberculosis has appeared to an alarming extent among cattle in this neighborhood. Over sixty are now in quarantine, including six entire herds.

MRS. LINT'S BODY FOUND.

Her Clothes the Only Thing By Which She Could Be Identified.

CAYUGA, Ont., Nov. 2.—Mrs. J. Lint, wife of Mr. J. Lint, sen., strayed away from her home in the village of Kohler on May 7th. Search was immediately made for the missing woman. The entire neighborhood searched the woods and dragged the river. Several times women were found wandering through the country and word was immediately sent to her family that she had been found.

Yesterday three young men, out hunting in Mr. Leggitt's bush about a mile from Kohler, found the body of Mrs. Lint. There was nothing of the body left but the dry bones, and the only thing left to show that it was the remains of Mrs. Lint were the clothes that she wore on leaving home.

Coroner Thompson, of Cayuga, drove out yesterday afternoon and viewed the remains. He said that an inquest was not necessary. Previous to her leaving home she had been for some time in a melancholy state.

Arrested for Robbing Mail Bags.

KINGSTON, Nov. 2.—Five young men have been arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the robbery of the mail bags at the G. T. R. junction depot on Wednesday morning, but no evidence of importance has been adduced to show that any of them are guilty. They were in the vicinity of the depot late on Tuesday night and were drinking together. They were brought before the police magistrate yesterday morning and remanded until Saturday.

Broke His Child's Skull.

BEETON, Nov. 2.—Robert Nichols, while in a fit of passion, threw a chair at his wife, but she dodged it and it hit one of his children breaking the little one's skull. The doctor removed two pieces of bone, each as large as a twenty-five cent piece, from the brain. It is not expected that the child can recover. Nichols was promptly arrested and brought before the town magistrate, who remanded him.

Burglary in Mount Forest.

MOUNT FOREST, Nov. 2.—Yesterday a dim light was observed in the general store of Hampton & Co. and burglary being suspected, notice was given Mr. Hampton, who was going to the store, tried the front door, when the burglar became alarmed and jumped through the large glass front window and escaped, the night being very dark.

WHO DR. McCORMICK IS.

Montreal has Something to say Respecting the Well Known Richmond Physician.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond Que., whose remarkable cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been set forth in his letter, recently published, is a graduate of McGill College, this city. He is well known, not only to the medical profession in Montreal, but throughout the entire province, as a careful and reputable physician, and his testimony to the worth of Dodd's Kidney Pills is accepted by physicians generally as a guarantee of the efficacy of the remedy. Such a communication, coming from so eminent a graduate of McGill, will have the effect of making Dodd's Kidney Pills universally popular in Quebec.

The Westlands to Move.

TORONTO, Nov. 2.—The house and furniture of Benjamin Westwood, father of young Westwood, who was so mysteriously assassinated a few weeks ago, was offered for sale yesterday, the family being anxious to move away from the scene of the murder. An enormous crowd was on the premises. The house is one of the largest and handsomest in the west end.

Mr. Wickes Sued for Divorce.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Laura W. Wickes has brought suit for absolute divorce from her husband, Thomas H. Wickes, second vice-president of the Pullman Palace Car Co. The ground on which the degree is asked for is extreme cruelty. Mrs. Wickes charges her husband with beating, striking and otherwise cruelly abusing her.

Addington Patrons.

HARROWSMITH, Ont., Nov. 2.—The Patrons of Addington met in secret convention here and selected J. B. Aylesworth, of Newburgh, as candidate. Nothing further can be learned of the convention, as only those selected as delegates from the different lodges throughout the county were permitted to attend.

Giles Pool Room Case.

BRAMPTON, Nov. 2.—Judgment in the Giles pool room case, tried before Judge McGibbon here some weeks ago, was to be given yesterday, but as it is impossible for Mr. Osler to attend, judgment has been deferred for a week or ten days.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 2, 1894.

On the street here 300 bushels of wheat sold at 52c for white, 51c for red, and 50c for goose; 2,000 of barley at 41 to 44 1-2c, 150 peas at 54 1-2c, and 800 oats at 30 to 31c.

Canadian barley in Oswego sold at 61c.

Barley was active at Buffalo, the demand being particularly for Canada. Quotations: No. 1 western 59 to 60 1-2, No. 2 do 57 to 1-2, samples 54 to 55. Canada for above mentioned grades 61 to 65.

Small receipts and the death of the Czar contributed to an advance in wheat in Chicago, the close being 6-8 higher for Dec. and 1-4c for cash. May corn gained on light receipts, cash closing unchanged. May oats closed higher.

At the East Buffalo live stock market there was included in the offerings 15 cars of Canadas held over and six loads of fresh receipts. Some choice medium weights Canadas sold at $4, the bulk going at $3.80 to $3.90. Market closed with fair prospects for the balance of the week if the supply is not excessive.

Had the Czar's death come suddenly, as it was thought it might, four weeks ago, it would have had an instant influence on prices. As it was the N. Y. stock market was not affected. The London stock exchange and some of the continental bourses were closed for holiday; but it is hardly probable that in any case a turmoil in prices would have been occasioned. The European stock markets have had their heavy break, and they have had their subsequent recovery. In fact signs have been numerous that the largest continental financial interests have purposely been giving support to prices.

Attention

In time to any irregularity of the Stomach, Liver, or Bowels may prevent serious consequences. Indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, biliousness, and vertigo indicate certain functional derangements, the best remedy for which is Ayer's Pills. Purely vegetable, sugar-coated, easy to take and quick to assimilate, this is the ideal family medicine—the most popular, safe, and useful aperient in pharmacy. Mrs. M. A. BROCKWELL, Harris, Tenn., says:

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills cured me of sick headache and my husband of neuralgia. We think there is

No Better Medicine,

and have induced many to use it.

"Thirty-five years ago this Spring, I was run down by hard work and a succession of colds, which made me so feeble that it was an effort for me to walk. I consulted the doctors, but kept sinking lower until I had given up all hope of ever being better. Happening to be in a store, one day, where medicines were sold, the proprietor noticed my weak and sickly appearance, and, after a few questions as to my health, recommended me to try Ayer's Pills. I had little faith in these or any other medicine, but concluded, at last, to take his advice and try a box. Before I had used them all, I was very much better, and two boxes cured me. I am now 80 years old; but I believe that if it had not been for Ayer's Pills, I should have been in my grave long ago. I buy 6 boxes every year, which make 210 boxes up to this time, and I would no more be without them than without bread."—H. H. Ingraham, Rockland, Me.

COOKING FOR TWO.

Suggestions for the Housekeeper Who Has a Small Family.

Keeping house for two is what tests the housekeepers' skill. It is a comparatively easy matter to provide bountiful repasts for a large family, but to arrange tempting little dinners for two and yet to have no waste is a problem which requires real genius to be solved. A roast is apt to re-appear indefinitely in a small household or else to be partly wasted—either of which is a calamity hard to be borne.

A loin of mutton is a good "stand-by" for a young housewife. It can be used in various ways. It lends itself readily to dividing and subdividing. From the fillet portion underneath roulards may be made by removing it in one piece from the bones, flattening the piece with a cutlet bat, cutting into long strips an inch wide, sprinkling them with pepper, salt and chopped parsley, rolling them round, fastening them with tiny skewers, dipping each in egg and brown crumbs, frying them brown and serving hot with thick gravy.

The thin flap should be cut away and put in a stewpan with two or three small onions, a turnip and parsnip, two or three mushrooms, a pinch of sweet herbs and seasoning, a tablespoonful of water. It should stew gently under close cover for an hour and a half. Serve altogether if required for eating hot, or remove the meat to a mould; skim the gravy and strain it, color it brown and dissolve a pinch of gelatine in it; then pour into the mould, press the meat under a weight, and when turned out it should be found surrounded with jelly. The upper portion of the loin will make a nice little roast or will divide into several cutlets.

Sheep's brains are an excellent substitute for sweetbreads, and are invaluable to the caterer to a small family. They should be carefully washed and boiled fast. Then, when they are quite cold, they may be coated with egg and crumbs and fried, or may be simmered in rich gravy and served with sauce.

An oxtail furnishes two dishes for a small table, besides a nourishing soup. The whole tail should be cooked with about a quart of water until it is quite tender. A thick gravy of stock, tomatoes and onion should be made, and the smaller pieces of the tail served in this. Then strip all the meat from the larger pieces, leaving the bones clean, lay it loosely in a fancy mould, dissolve a pinch of gelatine in a cup, fill it up with the oxtail liquor, season it well and color it, then pour over the meat and leave until quite solid.

A veal cake, made from the best morsels left from roasted veal, cut in thin slices and alternated with thin ham, sliced hard-boiled eggs and chopped parsley, laid in layers in a pretty mould, filled up with strong gravy, baked in the oven for half an hour, and turned out when quite cold, makes another dainty for a small family.

To Clean Lace Curtains.

Lace curtains are going up, and the housekeeper who is still devoted to last year's curtains, is busy. If the curtains are laundered at home they must be treated with care. They should never be rubbed.

In washing two pairs of curtains half fill a large tub with warm water, add to it about a gill of household ammonia and half a pound of shaved soap which has been dissolved in two quarts of boiling water. In this tub let the curtains soak over night. In the morning sop them well in the water, then squeeze out all the water, but do not wring the curtains.

Now, remove them to a tub of clean warm water. Continue to rinse them in fresh tubs of water until there is no trace of soap; next rinse in water containing bluing. After pressing out all the water possible hang the curtains over sheets on the clothesline. When they are dry dip them in hot, thick starch.

Fasten a sheet on a mattress or on the floor of a room that is not being used, and pin the curtains carefully to the sheet. Be sure that they are perfectly smooth. In order to have the curtains a light shade of ecru rinse them in weak coffee, and if a darker shade is desired use strong coffee.

A Puzzler.

To puzzle their companions is one of the greatest enjoyments of young people. Juggling with numbers is one of the most interesting ways of puzzling others. There are catchy problems that have come down from the days of our grandfathers. One of these is the question, "What is the difference between six dozen dozen and half a dozen dozen?" Ask the question in a rapid, monotonous manner, and two out of three persons who have never heard it before will say there is no difference.

The problem of subtracting 45 from 45 and leaving 45 as a remainder discloses a curious relationship between the nine integers. Added together, they make a total of 45, and the answer to the problem is obtained thus:

9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1—45
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9—45
- - - - - - - - -
8 6 4 1 9 7 5 3 2—45

ITCHING AND PILES

PIN WORMS.

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly afflicted from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

THE HOUSEHOLD

MODERN SLEEPING ROOMS.

They Are Largely Responsible for Many Women's Ill Health.

A distinguished member of the New York Board of Health said the other day for publication:

Usually the air in the sleeping-room, polluted and all, as it is, is taken into the lungs and breathed over and over again through the night; instead of being cleansed of its impurities from the body, the blood has more poison forced upon it. Under these circumstances the individual may wake up with a headache, a tired feeling or conditions favorable to a cold, sore throat, etc. Soiled air cannot purify the blood, and if the blood is not purified health cannot be preserved.

My idea of a sleeping-room is a bedroom the size of a cell, so as to discourage decorators and house furnishers. Have the bed as simple in design as may be compatible with comfort. Sacrifice everything for perfect ventilation. Many persons have an idea that ventilation means raising a window a little from the bottom or opening a door a bit to let in the air. It is a matter of indifference to them where this air comes from—the cellar, a basement kitchen, a stuffy hall, a damp courtyard festering with disease or the stable side of the building, teeming with poisonous materials. This idea is all wrong. Others think they must have the doors and windows wide open and a small hurricane trying to evolve itself out of the draught. This, too, is incorrect. Ventilation means providing admission for pure air and an exit of impure air. It is a trifle more important that the bad air should have a chance to get out than good air should get in, for in the exit of the former the latter will manage to steal in.

Lower the window a trifle at the top and bottom in cold weather and a great deal in fine weather. This will allow the fresh air to rush in below and by forcing up the hot air drive it out above. If you wish to prove that the impure air really goes out at the top opening just hold a lighted candle near it and you will find that the blaze will be carried outwards by the escaping current; if you hold the candle at the sill the flame will be blown in.

To recapitulate, provide bedrooms and, so far as circumstances permit, use them to sleep in only; dispense with all carpets, hangings and ornaments; change the air in the room before retiring, and provide for the consumption of a gallon of fresh air every minute of the night; dress the bed in linen in warm weather and in woollens in cold weather if means allow; avoid cotton filled comfortables, shoddy blankets and fur coverings, as by impeding circulation, they keep a bad atmosphere about the body; never go to bed thirsty or dirty; sleep with the mouth closed; sleep alone; have the sleeping hours as regular as dinner time—day or night, the latter preferred—and sleep until nature calls. Hang the shoes and clothing outside; the airing will do them good. Between the ages of twenty-two and fifty-two seven hours' sleep should suffice for the laborer and six for the brain-worker. Children and old people require double that amount.

Sealing-Wax Language.

In Europe, and especially in France, there is among fashionable people a species of code in the use of sealing wax. The white article is used for communications relating to weddings, black for mourning correspondence, violet for expressions of sympathy, chocolate for invitations to dinner, red for business letters, ruby for the billetsdoux of engaged lovers, green for lovers not yet affianced and brown for refusals of offers of marriage.

Schoolgirls seal their letters with pink wax, and intimate friends use gray.

The use of sealing wax is exceedingly ancient. It was not, however, until the reign of King Louis XIII. of France that it became the fashion among the higher classes of Europe.

The oldest known recipe for making sealing wax was published in Augsburg in 1879, and prescribed almost the same ingredients as those now employed.

The use of blue wax was formerly restricted to royalty, a superfluous provision owing to the difficulty of imparting this color to sealing wax, for the reason that vegetable dyes when united with wax become greenish.

Choked to Death by an Apple.

NEW YORK, Nov. 1.—George Reed was choked to death by a piece of apple. He was at the dinner table, and while he was eating a humorous remark was made. He laughed, and a piece of the apple slipped into his throat and lodged in the larynx. He was unable to dislodge the obstruction, and expired before a physician could be summoned.

ALL SAINTS' DAY SERVICES IN ST. JOHN'S.

THE ANNIVERSARY OF THE RE-OPENING.

An Interesting and Powerful Sermon Concerning the Communion of Saints and the Blessed Privileges Which it Confers Upon the Partakers Thereof — Special Music for the Occasion.

Rev. G. W. Webb, of Colborne, conducted the services held in St. John's church, last evening and delivered a most powerful sermon on "The Communion of Saints." He took as his text Hebrews xii chap., 22, 23 and 24 verses.

"But ye are come unto mount Zion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels.

To the general assembly and church of the first-born, which are written in heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of just men made perfect.

And to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel.

The speaker confined his remarks entirely to his subject and the sermon was one preminently suited to an All Saints' Day service. He queried as to whether all realized the great privilege, which was conferred when they were permitted to become partakers in the holy communion? The doctrine of the saints was then explained. Those called to be saints, he stated, should be considered as a class within a class. The saints were those who had not only been called, but had been faithful in their vocation—those who had fought the good fight and kept the faith. These then, he went on to say, were the ones who had attained the most blessed privilege of communion with God himself—a much higher privilege than that accorded to others.

Scriptural passages were then quoted at length in support of the speaker's contention as to the attitude of the blessing thus conferred upon the saints.

Baptism, he held, established a communion on earth which could not be participated in by those who had not been a principal in this ceremony. Those who had been baptized formed one grade of the communion, and as he had stated previously, the higher and holier grade was partaken of by those who had fought the fight and kept the faith. There was a communion of saints, he stated, in the hereafter, and, it was too often forgotten, that those who had been called away, also had a communion. These should always be remembered when communion was held upon earth. By some it was thought impossible for the departed to hold communion, as they had no body—no substance—but this was a wrong conception to take of the case entirely, as it was not the body which participated in the holding of a communion, but the soul, the inner man, the ego which had not died but had only passed into a higher state. The Church Expectant was as much a reality as the Church Militant. "If they were united," said he, "with Christ and we of the earth are united with Christ, the union with us is as perfect as though they were with us in the body upon earth."

Mr. Webb held that those who did not believe in the communion of saints were losing one of the greatest and most blessed of the benefits which had been conferred upon man. By way of illustration and as a confirmation of the assertion he reasoned that believing in the communion he prayed for all others that also did so and they for him. Thus, then, through this blessed communion, prayer was offered to the Almighty, one for another and each for each. And if He be our Father and we pray to Him for our brethren, must we not, queried he, live to them as brethren.

In concluding his sermon Mr. Webb asserted his conviction that all who believed in the Fatherhood of God and the Brotherhood of Man, must see with him that this was but the logical conclusion of the communion of saints.

The rector at the conclusion of the announcements made a few remarks appertaining to the fact that, as well as being All Saints Day, the occasion was the twelfth anniversary of the re-opening of the church. He was sure that his hearers could not cast their minds back over the lapse of time since then without a feeling of awe in regard to the changes which the Almighty in His wisdom had seen fit to make. Some who had been much interested in the work of enlarging the edifice had passed away, and he was sure that deep and solemn thought would be the result of a consideration of subsequent church anniversaries.

The collection which was taken up, will be devoted to the augmentation of the fund for the improvement of the Sunday School.

At offertory the choir rendered an anthem with peculiar sweetness. All the music of the evening had been special, and the arrangements of the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis were particularly noticeable for fine effect and harmony.

Rev. J. C. Davidson will deliver a special anniversary sermon next Sunday evening in St. John's.

DEATH CLAIMS ANOTHER PETERBOROUGH BOY.

Cancer of the Tongue and Throat the Cause of his Untimely End.

The Preston Progress, of last week, contains the following account of the life and death of Mr. D. J. H. Mann, formerly of Peterborough,—"After being confined to his bed for the past three months, death put an end to the suffering of David John Henderson Mann, on Tuesday morning, at 10.30 o'clock. Mr. Mann came from Peterborough to Hespler, about two years ago, being employed as loom fixer for Brodie & Co. He was first taken ill about two weeks after New Year's, since which time he has never been able to resume his work. Three months ago he took to his bed, never leaving it again. His disease was cancer of the tongue and throat. It originated from a small growth of the tongue. Three different operations were performed on him, but without stopping the spread of the cancer. He was an intense sufferer, but bore the agony uncomplainingly, and tried to give as little trouble as possible to those around him. He was an adherent of the Presbyterian church. Before his illness, he was of a very lively disposition, fond of all athletic sports. At all times of a social, genial nature, he made friends with all with whom he came in contact. He was married about twelve years ago to Mary, daughter of Mr, and Mrs. Wm. Legary, of Lanark; she, with three children, survives him. Deceased was a member of the Independent Order of Foresters, also of the Canadian Order of Oddfellows,—the members of both lodges turning out in a body to the funeral, which took place here, on Wednesday, at 2 o'clock, to the Hespler cemetery."

REPEAL OF THE FRESH MEAT BY-LAW.

George Street Will be Thrown Open to the Butchers—A New Horse.

At a meeting of the License Committee last night a communication from Mr. Ostrom was read, asking that he be allowed to sell fresh meat in his premises on George street. At present there is a bylaw in existence prohibiting fresh meat from being sold on George street, between Brock and Charlotte. A resolution was passed recommending the repeal of the by-law in question. This will satisfactorily answer Mr. Ostrom's petition.

The Finance Committee held a session, but beyond the passage of accounts no other business of importance was taken up.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee empowered Councillors Brady and Dawson to buy a new horse for the fire department to replace one which is unsuitable for the work.

STARTLING 60-DAYS SALE-60

—AT—

THE GOLDEN LION.

Always prepared for all the shopping demands of a fastidious and exacting people —this house is NEVER BEHIND, and every day adds to its popularity. Our Policy is not fluctuating or spasmodic. Every day experience proves that our VALUES are THE BEST in the trade.

It makes no difference what others say about goods or what others get for them—at this store the aim is straight for one point, viz.—To get the best and give it at the right rate, as low or lower than any other house in Canada! Anything short of the top in Extent of Stock, Excellence of Service, Endeavours for Improvement, would never do for this establishment. The fall of '94 finds us far ahead in each of the above three particulars.

ON SATURDAY, NOV. 3rd, we inaugurate a Startling 60 Days Sale of New Season's Goods that must be cleared out with the utmost expedition. It shall be so. It's Fair's Way.

Bargains are common—but the Bargains quoted below are of so startling a character as to command the immediate attention of every possible buyer in Peterborough and vicinity.

Some of Fair's 60 Days' Offerings:

FAIR'S DRESS GOODS.

In Fair's Dress Goods department there is such an aggregation of Bargains as will astonish the ladies for the next two months to come.

Our assortments are not only abundant, but we are offering the best values by many shillings and many inches that we have ever shown before.

The novelties are, of course, first to go. See the stuff and you'll jump at the chance to get late novelties at these prices.

Ladies, remember what constitutes a bargain. It is not Price. You know well how easy it is to be misled by one quality of goods masquerading in the semblance of another. It is done every day.

A bargain has to be looked at from the three cardinal standpoints of Price, Quality and Style.

In all lines of Fall and Winter Dress Goods we offer the best quality in union with the latest style and the cheapest price.

—50 pieces Black and Coloured High-Class Dress Goods, imported to sell at 75c. to $1.25 per yard, your choice for 50c.
—500 yards 54 inch Dress Tweed Suitings, worth $1.00, sale price 50 to 60c. per yard.
—300 yards All-Wool Black and Coloured Dress Goods, worth 50 to 60c., sale price 35c.
—500 yards Double-Fold Costume Cloths, your choice for 25c. per yard.
—Customers for Black Goods will find special attractions in this department. Our well-selected stock contains every new and requisite material for first and complimentary mourning.

FAIR'S MANTLES.

Not a day passes over the history of this store that does'nt bring "grist" to our "bargain mill." There is no dormant energy in the management. Every nerve is at straining point to bring to our patrons the best money's worth to be had.

FAIR'S is the people's Mantle House. We cater for high and low, rich and poor. We give the best value because we buy on the best terms in the world's best markets. We can always please, because our styles are correct and our stock will convince every doubter as to assortment. The ladies of Peterborough must have the latest things, and we are justified in saying that they will not be disappointed in their purchases here.

—200 High Class German Tailor-Made Mantles, ranging in price from $8.00 to $15.00 each, can be purchased now for $3 50, $5.00 and $8.00 each.
—200 yards Tweed Ulsterings, reduced from $1.50 to $1.00.
—10 pieces Ulstering, worth $1.25 to 75c. per yard.

When in the wholesale market recently we purchased a wholesale lot of the celebrated "Lister's" Sealettes, (every piece stamped,) at a reduction of 30 per cent. and which we are now offering as follows:—

$14 00 per yard Sealette for	$9 00
11 00 per yard Sealette for	6 00
8 50 per yard Sealette for	6 00
6 50 per yard Sealette for	4 50
5 00 per yard Sealette for	3 00

This is, without doubt, the greatest value ever offered in these high class makes and qualities. "It's Fair's Way."

"Well, we've seen all the Mantles in town and we like yours the best," is a remark one frequently hears in our Ready-Made Mantle Department.

FAIR'S STAPLES.

There's no other department in the whole store so prolific of surprises as this same staple department. A thousand and one things here that you want for the home, and which we cannot find space for. We note a few:—

FAIR'S SHAWLS.

The same generous hand touches prices in Fair's Shawls. Don't fail to make the GOLDEN LION your first shopping place for a Shawl.

Always keep this point in view, that the entire stock must be sold within a limited time. That it's going at bankrupt stock prices—which are more in your favour than through buying in the regular way.

—5 doz. Ladies' Knitted Shawls, for evening wear, ranging in price from $1.50 each to $3.25, your choice of the whole for $1.25.
—3 doz. Woven Shawls as follows, starting at 65, 85, $1.10, $1.50, $2.50, $3.00, $3.10, $3.75, $4.00.

FAIR'S GLOVES AND HOSIERY.

We have a great exacting constituency to consider in Gloves. No taste has been neglected.

You can't buy your Gloves too soon now. It will be cold before very long. Do not wait until the snow flies. Give us your hands and we will fit them.

Our long experience is a guarantee that all the Gloves in our stock are first-class in every respect.

For years we have been noted for the realiability and general excellence of our Hosiery, for men, women and children. This season our stock of these goods is exceptionally complete and varied. We have made special efforts to secure superior qualities at moderate prices, and we have succeeded in doing so. —26 doz. Fair's Half Dollar Corsets, for this 60 days sale only 35c. per pair.

FAIR'S CARPETS.

We lead easily in Carpets and Floor Coverings. This season's exhibit will testify to our never-flagging energy and enterprise in anticipating the increasing demand for high art goods and novelty of style, coupled with low prices. No other season have goods been so low.

New makes with new prices have come to the front superseding old prices and giving all the satisfaction that is required for modern wear.

BRUSSELS CARPET is now the carpet for the masses. Our lines, in a large variety of patterns and beautifully coloured, have had an immense sale, while our special quality at $1.10 is the best value in Canada.

Many feel annoyed that, having bought a fine Brussels, the colours so quickly fade. This cannot be so with our extra quality Brussels. The yarns are the finest, and consequently the colours will stand.

A WILTON CARPET has to be made of fine yarn and closely woven, and we cannot recommend any price lower than $1.40 per yard. And in our extra quality we have some beautiful plain colour effects.

BEST ALL-WOOL CARPETS—Maple Leaf brand—which we can confidently recommend.

—Our entire stock of superior quality (Maple Leaf) All Wool Carpets, worth $1.00 per yard, your choice for 75c.
—Best 5-Frame Brussels Carpets, with borders, now being offered at $1.25 and $1.35, your choice of the whole stock at $1.10.
—Best English Wilton Carpets, with border, worth $1.85, to go for $1.40.
—Your choice of our 4-Frame Brussels Carpets, worth from $1.00 to $1.15 for 85 and 95c. per yard.
—Similar startling prices in our Tapestrings, Rugs, Mats and Squares.

FAIR'S CURTAINS.

—Chenille and Scotch Turcoman Portiers and Table Covers.
—Nottigham Lace Curtains, in new designs, rare value.
—New Window Draperies, Irish Point Curtains, Irish Point Sash Nets.

DON'T BE SKEPTICAL.

We know the prices we have made will tax credibility severly. It is hard to believe that the prices we tell pertain to new and fresh goods; but nevertheless it is true. We merely ask you to test our statements; when that is done, you'll do the rest. COME HERE FOR BARGAINS any day in the week, and you'll get such "surprises" as will forever preclude the possibility of going elsewhere while this great sale continues.

RUSSIA'S YOUNG RULER

His Proclamation Is Received With Satisfaction in Europe.

DESPISES JEWISH EXPULSION

The Body of the Dead Czar Lying in State —Festivities at the Capital—Guarding Against Nihilists—The Czarina Completely Prostrated.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 3.—The official Messenger yesterday publish the first proclamation of Emperor Nicholas II. of Russia, in which, after formally communicating to the nation the news of the death of his father, Alexander III., he says: "May the knowledge console us that our grief is the grief of our entire beloved nation, and may the nation not forget that the strength and firmness of holy Russia lies in its unity and unbounded devotion to us.

"In this sad and solemn hour, in which we ascend our ancestral throne of the Russian Empire and Czardom of Poland and the Grand Duchy of Finland indissolubly linked with it, we, however, remember the legacy left to us by our lamented father, and imbued with it, we, in the presence of the Most High, take a sacred vow to make our sole aim the peaceful development of the power and glory of our beloved Russia and the happiness of all our faithful subjects."

The manifesto concludes with commanding that the oath of allegiance be taken to his heir-apparent, Grand Duke George Alexandrovitch, his brother, who is to be entitled Czarewitch until God may bless with a son the union which his Majesty is about to enter into with Princess Alix of Hesse-Darmstadt.

The imperial heralds, clad in brilliant uniforms, accompanied by trumpeters, announced yesterday morning the death of Alexander III. and the accession to the throne of Emperor Nicholas II. The heralds were escorted by a military guard through the principal streets. The trumpeters would blow three blasts, when the heralds would proclaim the death of the emperor and the official birth of another. This proclamation was made from every place of vantage in the route taken by the heralds. The accession of Grand Duke Nicholas to the throne is being celebrated by a festival, as is customary. This celebration, according to custom, always precedes the period of mourning; hence the newspapers appear as usual without a sign of mourning. The period of mourning will begin to-day.

The Senate held a session for the purpose of taking the oath of allegiance to the new Czar. The members were present and took the oath. The garrison of St. Petersburg paraded with colors and were sworn according to the customary forms. The civil servants of the government will take a similar oath in due course.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—The Central News has this despatch from its St. Petersburg correspondent: "Despite the nominal celebration of a festival the aspect of the city is sombre and depressing. The theatres and music halls and hundreds of shops are closed. Many public buildings are draped with mourning. Thousands of private citizens have put on black. It is announced that the official period of mourning will last three months. All despatches received from Livadia agree that the Czar's death was peaceful and apparently painless.

"The Czarina is completely prostrated. The attacks of hysteria for which Dr. Hershejewski treated her recently have returned and threaten to break down her general health, besides including paralysis of the feet. Nevertheless the semi-official statement is that she bears up well under her trouble. Her friend and former governess, Mme. Descalle, a Belgian, has been with her throughout the ordeal. Mme. Descalle says that the Czar died in perfect peace, praying audibly with Father Ivan to almost his last breath. She describes the last scene as beautiful and impressive, although agonizing for the Czarina."

The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Daily News says it is understood that the body will be consecrated in Moscow and then conveyed to the capital, where it will lie in state four days. He confirms the report that Princess Alix of Hesse will return with her brother to remain a short time in Germany. In Moscow and St. Petersburg every precaution against Nihilist demonstrations has been taken.

From Odessa the Daily News hears: "The city is draped in mourning. A grand requiem mass was said in the cathedral yesterday. More than 100,000 people were within and without the building. The Prince and Princess of Wales will arrive here to-day. They have especially requested that no public reception be given them."

"The people's rights manifesto has led to numerous arrests here and more lists and addresses have been handed to the police by the post-office authorities. Nearly all the university students in Odessa, Kieff, Kharkoff, Moscow and St. Petersburg are under observance. Nevertheless, a large number of copies have been secretly circulated. It is learned that in many quarters the moderate and reasonable spirit of the document are producing a grave impression."

The Standard's St. Petersburg correspondent says: "The young Czar's manifesto is received with open delight, probably unparalleled in the history of Russian official declarations. The dignified and almost affectionate tone is freely compared with the proclamation published upon the accession of the Emperor William II. The despatches from Moscow say that oppressive stillness and mournful expectation overhang the city. The theatres and other places of amusement, the banks and the exchanges have been closed and business at a standstill. It is expected that the body of Alexander III. will lie in state in Kieff and Moscow before it will be brought to St. Petersburg."

The Standard's Vienna despatch says: "Some time ago a deputation petitioned the Czarewitch to intervene for the Russian Jews. A member of that deputation tells me that the Czarewitch replied: 'I despise and condemn the expulsion of your countrymen, but my hands are tied.'"

The News in commenting on Nicholas' proclamation says: "The young Czar could not have begun better. If Russia be allowed to remain in peace and be helped to develop herself she soon will find her way to the front rank of constitutional states."

The Standard says: "The manifesto is a pregnant document and its language is worthy of the occasion. Judged by it the Czar has a most deep and acute consciousness of the nature and extent of his responsibilities."

A court circular issued last evening says: "Her Majesty has received with the deepest concern the sorrowful intelligence of the fatal termination of the illness of the Emperor of Russia. The Queen who is allied with the Russian Imperial family by so many ties, feels the warmest sympathy with the afflicted Empress and her family as well as the young Emperor who is about to become by marriage her Majesty's grandson and for whom the Queen entertains sincere affection and regards."

Sir Henry Ponsonby, the Queen's private secretary, made a long call on M. Staale, the Russian ambassador, on behalf of her Majesty.

ROME, Nov. 3.—The Pope will have a personal representative at the coronation of Nicholas II. Premier Crispi and Baron Blanc, minister of foreign affairs, called upon M. Vlangali, Russian ambassador, yesterday. The Italian ambassador in St. Petersburg will represent King Humbert at the funeral.

The Disitto expresses the hope that the new Czar will grant Russia a constitution. The Tribuna thinks that the change will materially effect the foreign policies of Russia and France.

A YOUNG MAN'S AWFUL CRIME.

Killed His Mother and Fatally Wounded His Father.

BUFFALO, Nov. 3.—At 658 Fulnon street, in a little one-story frame house, lives John Gipp. That house was the scene of a terrible tragedy yesterday. The family consisted of John Gipp, his wife and four children, three boys and one girl. The 20-year-old boy, William, is employed by the Lehigh Valley Railway company, and works nights.

About 1.30 in the morning William returned home from his work and found her mother up and dressed. At that time the neighbors heard the report of a pistol shot, and many of them hastened to the scene of the shooting. It seems that as soon as William entered the house, and without any immediate provocation, he pulled a revolver and aimed it directly at his mother. He fired twice, and one bullet struck her in the head, while the other took effect in her body. She screamed and fell to the floor, dying almost instantly.

The report of the shot and the scream of the woman aroused the family. The father was the first to appear on the scene, and the son fired twice at him, one bullet striking him at the corner of the right eye, near the nose, and the other taking effect in the right breast. William escaped. The father is alive and conscious.

Gipp was arrested at Brocton in the afternoon and taken to Dunkirk, where he is held for the arrival of Buffalo officers.

The ante-mortem statement of his father, taken by the coroner, gives no reason for the young man's awful crime, and the cause is a mystery and must remain so unless the murderer himself decides to explain it.

Trade in the Dominion.

MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—Business has been fair for dry goods throughout Nova Scotia, but the movement in other lines has been checked by mild weather. In New Brunswick the lobster business is poor this season. Jobbers throughout Ontario continue to order for small lots and the result is a noticeably quiet trade. In Quebec bad weather and the provincial holiday have cut into business, although jobbers in groceries report an increased distribution. Mid-winter trade prospects are not regarded as bright. The total number of failures reported in Canada this week is 46, as compared with 36 last week, 39 a year ago, 32 two years ago and 43 three years ago. Bank clearings at Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax aggregate $16,972,000, as compared with $20,350,000 last week and as contrasted with $16,073,000 in the week a year ago.

American Trade Report.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—Bradstreet's says: General trade continues on conservative lines, there being little far-reaching improvement in business circles as compared with a week ago. The aggregate bank clearings reported for October this year is $4,228,287,350, an increase over September, 1894, of 21 per cent. and over October last year of more than 6.3 per cent. The cities very generally reported increases over a year ago, only about one-seventh showing decreases. For ten months this year the decrease in clearings compared with 1893 is 19.6 per cent., and compared with 1892 the falling off is 27 per cent. The number of business failures in the United States this week is 269, against 221 last week.

Relics of the French and Indian Wars.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Nov. 3.—A force of workmen were engaged in excavating around the ramparts of the historic old French fort in this city, overlooking the upper river. The massive stone chimney of this fort is still standing in perfect condition. The ground which the workmen upturned had not been disturbed in over a century and in one place two perfect human skeletons and a sabre were found. One of the skulls had a full set of teeth. The bones are believed to be those of victims of the French and Indian wars, relics of which are thick in this locality. The bones were divided among the workmen and relic hunters.

MOVING ON MOUKDEN

Japanese Forces Pushing Rapidly Into Chinese Territory.

A BIG BATTLE IMMINENT

Shanghai Despatches State That the Japanese Have Been Driven Out of Kiaulien-Chang With Heavy Loss and Are Leaving Port Arthur.

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 3.—The second Japanese army has landed on the Gulf of Liatung at a point four days march from Kinchow, and a battle is imminent. It is stated here that the Japanese forces have completely invested Port Arthur by land and sea, and both armies are being rapidly pushed in the direction of Moukden. It is intended that the Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama shall attack the Chinese at Kinchow, forty miles northeast of Port Arthur. Gen. Nodzus' advance column in the meanwhile is approaching Fung-Whang, a fortified town on the main road between Wi-Ju and Moukden, to which place all the Chinese forces retreated after vacating their position north of the Yalu river. The Japanese expect to defeat the Chinese at both places and unite their forces in front of Moukden.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 3.—It is announced in the native papers that the Chinese troops have recaptured Kiaulien-Chang after desperate fighting. The Japanese are said to have been defeated with a loss of 3,000 killed and wounded. Upon good authority it is reported that the Japanese are leaving Port Arthur and its vicinity.

The Central News learns that the capture of Fong-Fang-Chen leaves the road to Moukden clear for the Japanese. Marshal Yamagata is expected to be within striking distance of Moukden on November 10. It is believed that the city is held by a very large but untrained and poorly equipped force.

The Japanese legation has this despatch, dated at Tokio yesterday: "The first army under the command of Marshal Yamagata has got possession of Fong-Fang Chen and has defeated the Chinese, who are fleeing toward Natien-Ling. The second army under Marshal Oyama is attacking Kinchow. Both Talien-Wah and Port Arthur are in a critical condition."

ANOTHER PERRAULT CAPTURED.

Four of These Desperadoes Are Now in Jail at Parry Sound.

PARRY SOUND, Ont., Nov. 3.—Since the capture by Detective Greer about ten days ago at Penetanguishene of two of the Perrault brothers, the celebrated Georgian Bay desperadoes, additional warrants were issued for the arrest of the two remaining brothers, and acting upon these Constables Greer and Quinn, of this place, the former a brother of Provincial Detective Greer, started out for Moon River, the suspected rendesvoux of these notorious characters. The woods had to be penetrated for a short distance. The Perraults had dogs to watch the two paths that led to their camp. Upon the approach of the constables the dogs gave tongue and so apprised their masters of the approach of danger. The officers made all haste forward and succeeded in capturing one of the men. The other, however, made off and escaped. Four of the Perrault brothers are now in jail here and will be tried at the district sessions here on Tuesday.

Funeral of Mr. Mercier.

MONTREAL, Nov. 3.—The funeral of the late Hon. Honore Mercier took place yesterday. The attendance was enormous. All the windows along the route of the procession were draped with black. The pall-bearers were: Sir Alexander Lacoste, chief justice of the court of Queen's bench; Hon. W. Laurier, M. P.; Hon. H. G. Joly de Lotbiniere, ex-prime minister of Quebec; Hon. F. X. Marchand, Liberal leader in Quebec; Mayor Desautels, of St. Hyacinthe; James McShane, ex-mayor of Montreal; Judge Bourgeois, of Three Rivers, a former law partner of the deceased; Robert Mackay, a prominent English Liberal; L. David, president of the St. Jean Baptiste society, and Hon. Pierre Garneau, ex-minister of public works. The service was celebrated at the Church of the Gesu, Monsignor Gravel being the chief officiant.

A "Colonial Union" Organization.

SOUTHAMPTON, Nov. 3.—At a meeting held here composed of prominent citizens of North Bruce an organization supporting the union of the colonies was formed. This society is to be known as "The Colonial Union of North Bruce," and has for its objects, first, to obtain and distribute all information as to prices in colonial markets, and freights and duties on local Canadian produce, and to seek to secure the full benefit that may arise for our people in this district from the proposed inter-colonial trade; and second, to support the movement in favor of commercial union between the British colonies, and the gradual removal of protective duties between colony and colony. Reeve Belcher was appointed chairman, and Dr. C. J. Laird, secretary of the new organization.

A Hamilton Burglar Sentenced.

HAMILTON, Nov. 3.—Joseph Robinson, aged 20, who says his home is at Milton Centre, was captured by the police while going through a King street tailor shop and at the police court he pleaded guilty on four charges of robbing King street stores. He says he has been doing up the stores for the past two weeks and in every case he easily obtained entrance through the skylight after scaling the roof by means of eave troughs, etc. The magistrate sent him to Kingston penitentiary for three years.

The Goodrich Government's Policy.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Nov. 3.—The Government has published a declaration of policy to the effect that they will remain in office until next June, even if a majority against them be returned at the polls. Then they will hold a general election to take the verdict of the country on the question at issue. This indicates a vigorous campaign throughout the winter. It is believed that the declaration is the result of instructions from Governor O'Brien, who has returned from England.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1894.

ALL the post office employees in Vancouver have gone out on strike, owing to the delay in paying the provisional allowance, i. e., a sum voted by Parliament to meet the increased cost of living out on the Pacific coast, as compared with eastern cities. This allowance has been gradually cut down, and now the question has arisen which class of officers should receive it. The matter is purely a departmental one, and a despatch to the Empire says, "it seems extrordinary that the employees should have gone as far as they have." It seems extraordinary that the Government has been so remiss in its duties as to neglect these claims. The striking employees have to live, and as they wish to live honourably and meet their financial obligations, it is natural that they should resent the indifference of the Government in paying their salaries.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. John Finlay—A Brief Sketch of an Honoured and Useful Life—Laid at Rest.

The late Mrs. John Finlay was born in Flamborough, near Dundas, in 1837, and came to Dummer with her parents when very young. She was a daughter of the late John Wilson, and was the eldest of a family of seven, five of whom are still living, viz., Mrs. Richard Nicol and Mrs. Kempt, of Norwood; Mrs. Thos. Parker, of Asphodel; John Wilson, of Dummer; and William Wilson, of Peterborough. She was married, in Percy, on Jan. 10th, 1855, by Rev. J. Norman, of Norham, to John Finlay, then of Brighton, now the senior member of the firm of John Finlay & Son, and ex-Reeve of Norwood. She was converted to God in early life, and the home which she governed was a model of domestic felicity. In her late illness, which extended over a period of several months, she suffered greatly, but was relieved as much as possible by the unremitting attention of her husband and children, who constantly watched by her bedside. At her own request—while she remained conscious—the family gathered around her bed every night for prayer and to sing the songs of Zion. She proved a faithful and valuable helpmeet to her husband, was loved by her family and highly esteemed in the community. Living she was prepared to die, and dying she leaves a record not easy to do justice to the merit of in a few passing words. She leaves besides her husband, six children—Mrs. I. N. Ackerman, Mrs. S. Girvin, Mrs. A. J. Fitzgerald, Mrs. M. R. Callendar, Alfred and Thomas R., all of Norwood—to mourn the loss of a loving and dutiful wife and mother. After a short service at the house, conducted by the Rev. J. F. Somerville, pastor of the Presbyterian church, of which she was a member, the remains were on Wednesday, at two p.m., conveyed to the cemetery, followed by a large number of relatives and friends. The family have the deepest sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their sad bereavement.

Rev. Mr. Weaver, who had frequently visited Mrs. Finlay during her illness, and Rev. Mr. Anderson, were present and took part in the service.

Several beautiful wreaths of flowers were laid on the casket. One was a large wreath of white chrysanthemums with the word "mother" set in across the centre. Another had a card attached on which was printed the following lines:

Servant of God well done,
Thy glorious warfare's past,
The battle's fought, the race is won,
And thou art crowned at last.

The pall bearers were W. E. Roxburgh, Thos. Rork, A. R. Anderson, R. W. Waters, John Walker and William Doughty.—Register.

AN ODE TO DIAMOND DYES.

A : BONNIE DOON.

O! Diamond Dyes, ye colours fair,
Prepared with scientific care,
Ye joy of every woman's heart,
From our lov'd homes, oh, n'er depart.
Ye are our choice, our joy and pride,
Forever in our homes abide,
That ye may show your marv'lous pow'rs,
When time brings on our dyeing hours.

In vain have speculators tried
To mar thy worth, thy fame deride;
But women's hearts so warm and true,
Forever loyal are to you.
Shine on! shine on! ye stars of light,
Ye Diamond Dyes so fast and bright,
Ye gems of true economy,
May millions yet be blessed by thee.

Another Canadian in Bow Street.

LONDON, Nov. 3.—James Mullin, the Montreal man who was arrested here on a charge of embezzlement, was arraigned at the Bow street police court yesterday. It was stated that Mullin had embezzled a large amount of money, the proceeds of sale from a shipment of horses belonging to James Darling, of Montreal. Owing to a technical objection raised and sustained by the magistrate, the prisoner was discharged. He was immediately rearrested and arraigned at the Guildhall court. Mullin was remanded until the 8th of November and admitted to bail.

The Canadian Credit Company.

NEWARK, N. J., Nov. 3.—Howard B. Hayes, counsel for the Canadian Credit System Company, was seen at the company's office, Washington and Market streets. He denied that the concern is insolvent. W. P. Rommel, the secretary, said: "I shall make a statement later in the day. On Oct. 29 at a meeting of the credit system directors, it was decided to stop writing policies in Canada, as that feature of the business did not pay, but we have assets sufficient to meet our death losses in the Dominion, and they will be paid in full.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Mesnbway's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

Close of the W. C. T. U. Convention.

CORNWALL, Ont., Nov. 3.—At the commencement of the W. C. T. U. Convention yesterday Mrs. Rutherford presented the President with a beautiful bouquet of roses, which had been sent by a lady of Cornwall. Mrs. Thornley made a graceful acknowledgement. Several questions bearing on the work of the Union were discussed, strong exception being taken to the statistics published by the British Medical Association showing that there is greater longevity among those who use liquor than among total abstainers. Several speakers said this statement was entirely incorrect, and claimed that temperance journals had published positive evidence that the conclusion arrived at was erroneous. In the afternoon a memorial service was opened. Mrs. Gordon, of Ottawa, and Mrs. Cavers, of Galt, addressed the meeting. The reports of the county presidents were then taken up, giving the standing of local unions. Hamilton was selected as the next place of meeting. The convention was then closed, and Mrs. Pratt, of Hamilton, addressed the children in the Knox church.

Skirmish With Soughee Indians.

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 3.—Sergt. Levin, of the city police force, has been exonerated from all blame for shooting and killing a Pohena Indian named Bailey on the Soughees' reserve in this city. A party of Indians attacked the seargeant and a policeman while they were arresting a drunken Indian. The police were being roughly handled, when Levin shot one of the Indians. They fled, but returned quickly with firearms and chased the officers back into the city.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 3.—The Maritime Liberal Association executive were in session in this city last night. Hon. L. H. Davis presided. After the close of the session as an early hour this morning Mr. Davies said the business transacted had reference to the forthcoming general election, making arrangements to control the different constituencies. The elections, Mr. Davies thinks, will take place in February as soon as the lists are made up.

A Child Crushed by a Waggon.

HAMILTON, Oct. 3.—Frank Wray, the four-year-old son of Daniel Wray of Rockton, was run over by a loaded waggon, the hind wheels passing over his abdomen. His injuries are such that his recovery is not expected. The lad was reaching under the waggon for a turnip with which it was being loaded, and his father not knowing the little fellow's dangerous position, started the horses forward with the result as above described.

THE CITY OF HAMILTON STIRRED UP

An Interesting and Well-known Lad Taken Home From St. Joseph's Hospital to Die.

The Whole Staff of Physicians and Trained Nurses Declared His Case to be a Hopeless One.

At the Point of Death, Paine's Celery Compound Cures Him.

One of the Most Desperate Cases Ever Known—Limbs and Body Swollen—An Unrecognizable Piece of Humanity—The Boy's Body is Tapped and Two Gallons of Water Taken Away—After Medical Skill Failed, Paine's Celery Compound Works Miraculously—All Statements Vouched for by George LeRiche, Esq., Late of J. Winer & Co., and David Morton, Esq., Superintendent of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church Sunday School.

ALEXANDER McINTOSH, Hamilton, Ont.

Young Aleck McIntosh, interesting, bright and good looking, is a lad in his teens, and resides with his parents at No. 237 Catherine street, south, Hamilton, Ont. The members of the family are well and favourably known, and attend St. Paul's Presbyterian church, of which Rev. R. J. Laidlaw, LL.D., is pastor.

Some months ago, to the great grief and consternation of Mr. and Mrs. McIntosh, their son Aleck was stricken down with a terrible swelling of the limbs and throat. Notwithstanding the fact that the boy was under the care of an able and experienced doctor, his condition became most alarming. At this juncture a consultation was held by three of the leading physicians of the city, and the result was that Aleck was sent to the hospital, where he might have all the advantages of medical skill, and the constant attention of trained nurses.

At the end of four weeks Aleck's condition was more alarming than ever, and his parents were assured that there was no possible chance of recovery for the dear boy. He lay on his hospital bed perfectly helpless, and so swollen from head to foot that he was unrecognizable.

The sorrowing parents, feeling that there was no hope, and that the hand of death had securely grasped their loved boy, wished to have him die in their home. As he was being taken from the hospital, those in charge expressed sorrow that nothing more could be done for the dying lad.

While at home, and at the point of death, a kind neighbour called to see him. A thought—a revelation—came to her mind. A joyous hope filled her motherly heart as she gazed on the dying boy and witnessed the intense grief of the parents. She remembered having herself used in an extreme case that great life-giver and health-restorer, Paine's Celery Compound. Would it meet this case where the vital spark was almost extinguished? Yes, she had faith that it would. The use of Paine's Celery Compound was suggested to the parents. "Ah! yes, try it—anything—if dear Aleck's life can be saved."

The wondrous Compound was immediately procured and properly administered. The first dose produced results that gave the parents hope. There was a virtue in the remedy that no other medicine ever contained. The boy lived, and the medicine was continued from day to day with results that gave joy and gladness. By the time the fourth bottle was finished young Aleck McIntosh was well, and all his troubles vanished. To-day he is as strong and robust as any boy of his age in the city.

All the physicians look upon the cure as a marvellous one, and the whole staff of St. Joseph's Hospital rejoice at the lad's restoration to health.

Scores of Hamilton's best people can vouch for every statement made in connection with this unparalleled case. The statements made by Mr. and Mrs. James McIntosh, the boy's parents, are ably supported by two of Hamilton's leading business men. Such sterling proof of the value of Paine's Celery Compound should strongly convince every sufferer, and all who have suffering and diseased friends, and there is no other medicine known to the medical profession and the public that can so effectually and honestly meet the needs of all.

It is the only medicine in the world that saves and cures the sufferer when he or she is given up by the doctor.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McIntosh write as follows:

"We are willing and anxious to give a testimonial letter in reference to the marvellous cure your Paine's Celery Compound effected for our son Alexander.

The case is such an important one, and has attracted so much attention in this city, we would like it to be as fully communicated to you and the public as possible.

"Our son Alexander was taken with swelling of the limbs, and in a few days after, the throat was similarly affected. At this stage he was confined to his bed for about two weeks, when he became somewhat better. A short time after, he was worse, the swelling affecting his whole body and limbs. He continued in bed under the close attention of one of our best doctors, when a consultation of three leading physicians was held, and we were informed that the case was so serious that Aleck would have to go to the hospital, where the experience and skill of the whole staff of physicians could be employed, and where trained nurses would be in attendance day and night.

"For four long weeks our boy suffered and battled heroically with his disease. At the end of the time we were assured there was no possible chance of recovery. Everything had been done that could be done, even to tapping, under which operation two gallons of water was taken from the body. For two weeks after this operation he lay perfectly helpless, and so swollen from head to foot as to be unrecognizable.

"That he might die in our midst, we made arrangements to have him conveyed to our home. As we carried him out of the hospital, the good people in charge remarked, 'they were sorry that nothing could be done for our poor dying boy.'

"While Aleck lay in bed in our home a friend and neighbour called. She had used Paine's Celery Compound successfully for an extreme case of neuralgia. Our friend said she would write and ask you if it would be advisable to use Paine's Celery Compound, even in this terrible case of kidney trouble, attended with the worst form of erysipelas. You replied that it was very advisable to try the Compound free of charge.

"God bless you for the good advice and the gift. He used the four bottles and no more, and to-day Aleck is as well as ever before, a marvel to his physicians and the whole staff of St. Joseph's hospital, and a large circle of friends in this city."

The above testimony of Mr. and Mrs. James McIntosh, is vouched for by Geo. LeRiche, Esq., and David Morton, Esq., as follows:—

"The testimonial letter from Mr. and Mrs. James McIntosh, in reference to the cure of their son Aleck by Paine's Celery Compound, has been submitted to us as neighbours and friends. Having visited this home many times during Aleck's illness, we do most willingly testify to the truthfulness of all statements made."

A Railroad Conductor Shot Dead.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Conductor Sanders, of the St. Paul and Kansas City railroad, was fatally shot yesterday while in charge of a freight train pulling out of Chicago, and robbed of $100 and a watch. He was at his post at the rear of the train when it started from the city. At Forty-eighth street the engineer looked back and saw him lying on one of the box cars at the end of the train. There were two bullets in his body and one in his head. No one saw the murder committed.

Sanitation by Sea Water.

The new system of sanitation adopted in Havre—based upon the electrolysis of sea water—has proved a gratifying success. The electric current decomposes the chlorids of magnesium, while the chlorids of sodium serves as a conductor, the result being a liquid disinfectant of great power, being almost odorless, leaving no residuum when used for purposes of flushing, and is entirely inoffensive; the solid matter in sewage is instantaneously consumed in this solution, as well as the organic matter, what is left being simply an odorless and troubled liquid, incapable of fermentation, and containing only a few phosphates, the salts of ammonia and the salts of the disinfectant. Of the two classes of microbes—anærobic organisms, existing without air, and ærobic organisms, requiring air to live—the action of this chloride compound on the first is simple, for, as they cannot live in the presence of oxygen, their extinction is swift and sure; the destruction of the microbes which require free oxygen to support life is equally certain.

One Cause.

One cause of dyspepsia is emotional waste of nervous force. The nerve force is to the physical system what steam is to the machine. In the normal condition of things it is renewed as fast as it is used. But nature makes no provision for the immense amount expended by excessive care, by fuss and worry, by hurry and drive, by explosions of passion and by the undue excitements of pleasure. All these are like a great leakage of steam. The stomach is the first and largest sharer in the loss.

A Queer Find.

In the year 553, A.D., while workmen were engaged in trenching the salt mines in Prussia, they unearthed a triangular building in which was a column of white marble. At the side of the column was a tomb of freestone and over it a slab of agate inscribed with these words, which were in Latin: "Here rests the ashes of Peleg, grand architect of the Tower of Babel. The Almighty had pity on him because he became humble."

Prospects Good.

"What's the outlook for a newspaper in this town?"

"First-class. We've got a map of a railroad, six candidates for postmaster, an' it ain't ten miles to where the circus shows!" —Atlanta Constitution.

Another Pole Hunter.

To reach the north pole an architect, M. Hauin, has proposed to the Geographical Society of Paris the construction of wooden huts one or two days' journey apart. He considers Greenland the most favorable locality for an experiment of this kind. Each of the huts would become in its turn a base of supplies for the construction of the next. As the distance to be covered is about 900 miles, a score of huts would be necessary to establish a route to the pole.

A LUCKY MAN.

Laid up for Months by a Severe Form of Kidney Disease—The Simple Cure he used—He's Well Now.

THEDFORD, Oct, 22.—Some men don't know when they are in luck and some do. Albert Maithers, of this place, is one of the lucky ones who knows of his good fortune and tells about it. He says he was laid up and could do no work for months because of kidney disease. When kidney disease has such a hold on a man as that, he is in a serious condition. Mr. Maithers recognized this and used every remedy he could think of, but without getting any help until he began using Dodd's Kidney Pills. Three boxes cured him and he is attending to his affairs once more and is as hearty and happy as ever.

ROBERT HALL.

Seasonable and Opportune.

Always forearmed for all the shopping demands of our customers—this store is never behind—the right goods at the right time and at the right prices. October suggest the need of such things as Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to choose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these, we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last year's hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show a full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

The Yunck Concert.

The above named concert promises to be a great success as several Peterborough gentlemen had the pleasure of hearing this artist at the Toronto Massey Festival in June, and cannot speak highly enough of his excellent playing, and are anxious to hear him again. Herr Yunck will be assisted by Mrs. Martin Murphy, soprano, of whom the Globe says:—"Special mention must be made of Mrs. Martin Murphy's laughing song which was the 'hit' of the evening, and drew a double encore. Oh, how she did laugh! It was no stage laugh, it was the real music of a merry soul, she laughed and laughed and kept on laughing with the piano. Her listeners went into various stages of hysterics, and then they cried and the black haired woman in her pink gown outlaughed them all." Mrs. Martin Murphy will sing this celebrated laughing song at the Yunck concert in the opera house.

An Afternoon Blaze.

About 3.45 this afternoon the fire alarm called attention to a blaze in the stable of Mr. S. Ray, in rear of Dr. Boucher's. The horse, which had been out, had just been placed in the stable and the fire is thought to have originated by a spark from a cigar or pipe. A small quantity of hay was consumed. The damage was slight. The brigade responded very promptly. The hose waggon dashed past the EXAMINER Office some time before the general alarm was rung.

Next Friday's Attraction at the Opera House.

What the Ottawa Free Press says of A. Q. Scammons "Burglar" Co'y which appeared in that city last week:—"A good house greeted the production of the Burglar at the Grand last night. It is a rich dramatic composition with a fair share of pure comedy all the way through. The piece was cleverly performed the company not having a weak point. Eugene Moore acted the leading part of the Burglar to perfection, while T. A. Russell as Ned Barrington melted all the applause given him. To particularize among the others in the cast is needless, as all the members did their respective parts well. Little Edith Carlisle certainly created an impression. The piece will be reproduced this afternoon and evening and should draw immensely. This company appear here next Friday. Prices 35, 50, 75c.

Peterborough is not without considerable literary talent of a quality quite above the average. The readers of the EXAMINER will remember the graceful Florida letters, from the pen of Maud Miller (Mrs. Macfarlane Wilson.) These gave evidence of an excellent literary style. On page four of Saturday's illustrated Toronto Globe will be found a thoughtful article on the great American poet, Oliver Mendell Holmes, under the psendonym of Maud Miller, Mrs. Wilson's maiden name, being "reflections on the great New Englander." Apart from the intrinsic excellence of the matter, as will be discovered on reading, the fact that the Globe gives so much prominence of heading and position should be a source of pride to the talented authoress, who, if she choose, is sure to be seen hereafter walking well to the front in the paths of literature.

CITY HOTEL CHANGES HANDS.

James Dolan in Possession.

This morning Mr. James Dolan purchased the business of the City Hotel, which was sold under a chattel mortgage held upon the goods by Mr. Dolan. It is generally understood that Mr. Dolan in taking over the business did so to protect his own interests, and has now the business for sale. Mr. Dolan took possession at once, and Mr. Clancy will remove from the City Hotel.

If you are shipping and receiving goods that are liable to damage from wet, Kingscotte's black oiled canvas waterproof covers "fills the bill,"—nothing better or cheaper. They have no tar in their composition, being an OIL preparation, which keeps them soft and pliable. Awnings taken down and stored in a careful and agreeable manner. Halls decorated for assemblies, balls and meetings of all kinds. ALF. KINGSCOTTE, tent, sail and awning maker, 344 Water street.

Our Days are Numbered.

The Peterborough Bookstore has introduced a new scheme. Not one day a week, but on three numbered days of the week. Special bargain sales have been inaugurated to continue during the winter season, each day having a number of attractive and different lines to be slaughtered at low prices. New books, stationery, wall papers, window blinds, cornice poles, pictures, fancy goods, etc., will be sold at about one half their former prices. These three bargain day sales during each week will sweep everything before them, and put dollars down into the pockets of prudent, cautious and thoughtful buyers. See the advertisement in another column for this week's special "plums," and if you want any of them just sit down and make out you list, then come to the Peterborough Bookstore and get an estimate of how much you will save by taking advantage of these bargain days.

Golden Lion 60 Days Sale.

Sixty days sale—because the immense stock of the Golden Lion could not be dealt with in a shorter time. The reader is referred to the announcement made in "Fair's way" of this special sixty days' sale. There are enumerated in this great advertisement, the details of bargains that have never been surpassed in Peterborough in the several departments. These are special opportunities for close buying in the Dress Goods department, the Mantle department, the Staples department, the Blanket department, the Shawl department, the Glove and Hosiery department, the Carpet department and the Curtain department. The reader will be surprised on studying the list of special offers in these several departments, but his surprise will be met by facts if he visits the Golden Lion. Don't let any person forego the pleasure and profit of patronising the great sixty days sale of the Golden Lion. You have only to make one visit to insure going frequently to the Golden Lion, R. Fair, while this sale continues.

THE OUTFALL SEWER MUDDLE.

The Work Begun Without a Contract Signed—Mr. Grant Refuses to Resume Work Without Some Positive Guarantee of Payment for Past Work, and the Rest of the Work as it Progresses.

The ratepayers of Peterborough are under the impression that Mr. Robert Grant, of Toronto, is the contractor for the construction of the outfall sewer, but he is not. As a matter of fact there has been no contract signed, and it is a fact that the contract papers signed by himself, but not by the town, are in his possession still.

At the last council meeting it was considered a matter of urgent necessity that North Monaghan should assent to the completion of the brick work in the existing excavation, and it was generally supposed that when this consent was granted, that work would be resumed at once. But such is not the case. Mr. Grant, who has been working on the outfall sewer, is ill and yesterday he sent his agent with power of attorney to place his (Mr. Grant's views before the council. His agent and Mr. W. H. Moore, Mr. Grant's solicitor, laid Mr. Grant's proposition before the Mayor. His position is this—he refuses to proceed with the brickwork of the existing excavation without being paid for the some $2,000 or $3,000 worth of work already done, and for the present brickwork and as it progresses. He objects to getting his men together to complete the little brick work to be done and then call them off at great expense, as he had to do with the portion first constructed and then get them together again after the arbitration is concluded. Mr. Grant does not wish to take advantage of the position of the town; he is willing to carry out the work on the basis of his tender and to carry out the contract that has been drawn up, but never executed. He is ready to carry out the contract, that is ready to be signed, to the letter. But he must have some guarantee that he will be placed in safe possession of the territory he is to work upon, and that he will be paid for the work he does.

There seems to be little prospect of the roseate ideas of councillors of giving employment to our citizens this fall being carried out. The bylaw to authorize the issue of debentures to the amount of $21,000 to construct an outfall sewer was carried on the second of August, and three months after that date the sewer actually seems farther from completion than the day before the bylaw was voted upon.

It does seem strange that ordinary business prudence has not been exercised in this matter. That the corporation should have instructed, or at least permitted Mr. Grant to go to work without first having a contract properly executed can hardly be excused.

A meeting was held at the law office of Messrs. Edmison & Dixon to select members of the new arbitration, but up to the hour of going to press a conclusion had not been reached.

The one price, and that the lowest price in Canada, for good honest clothing at Grafton & Co.

POLICE COURT SIFTINGS.

Two Cases of Family Trouble Aired Before Magistrate Dumble.

A Water street resident was sentenced to six months in jail, this morning, on a charge of creating a disturbance. It seems that he went off on a "toot," yesterday, and abused his wife to an extent, which necessitated the invoking of police protection.

In the case of abusive language, in which judgment was suspended from last Saturday until to-day, in order to give the defendant an opportunity of leaving town, the defendant made his appearance at the police court. Upon being questioned by the magistrate as to the cause of his remaining in town after stating that he would leave, the defendant expressed a desire to stay in Peterborough, as he had obtained work here. His request was acceded to on the condition that he would not interfere with his wife, who is living apart from him and who was the plaintiff in the case.

Christopher Raymer, the lad who came here from Indian River, and stole a watch shortly after his arrival, and who was so kindly treated by the magistrate, who gave the boy supper and breakfast and set him to work, has again disappeared, actually decamping before noon. The statement in a morning contemporary to the effect that Rev. Father Scollard had secured work for the youth in Harvey is news to Father Scollard, who never saw the lad.

JUDGMENT DEFERRED UNTIL TUESDAY.

Corn Doctor Connors Pleads Guilty to a Charge of Burglary.

A Toronto exchange states that Connors, the chirapodist, pleaded guilty at Toronto to the charge of burglary preferred against him. Regarding his trial the Telegram says:

"Last night Detective Slemin brought from Georgetown David J. Connors, who is charged with breaking into the premises of J. Fletcher, 31 Sydenham street, last Monday and stealing a quantity of jewellery. A portion of the latter was found on the prisoner. When the charge was read this morning Connors pleaded guilty, and was remanded until Tuesday for sentence.

"Connors is evidently a confirmed criminal. He is only recently out of the penitentiary after serving ten years for horse stealing in Toronto, and has also served three years and one year for burglary. A short time ago he was released on suspended sentence for burglary in Peterborough, promising to do better. He came straight to Toronto and committed this burglary. He denied wanting to spend his life behind the bars when questioned by the Colonel."

THE PHYLACTERY IDENTIFIED.

Its Owner Traced—A Jewish Peddler's Loss.

Our readers will remember that a few months ago, the EXAMINER referred to the finding, by Mr. Geo. J. Horkins, of what was considered a mysterious parchment. Several years ago, Mr. Horkins, while out hunting with a friend, found among the leaves at the foot of a tree, in the woods, near Coe Hill, a parchment box, containing a roll of parchment, on which was inscribed in very neat chirography, Hebrew characters.

Mr. Horkins kept the article several years and was unable to find a translation, till the parchment was left with the EXAMINER, by whom it was given over to Rev. H. Symonds, rector of St. Luke's. Mr. Symonds being a Hebrew scholar, translated the roll and published a most interesting article upon the parchment, in the EXAMINER. It was a Jewish phylactery identical, doubtless, with those worn and paraded with such offensive ostentation of piety by the scribes, in the time of our blessed Lord, as to, draw down his scathing rebuke. Things come about strangely. Mr. R.S. Tivey who lived many years in Coe Hill, has removed to Peterborough. The other day Rev. Mr. Symonds met Mr. Tivey, and in the course of conversation told him of his experience with the phylactery, and as he began Mr. Tivey's eyes began to twinkle, and when the relation was concluded, he asserted that the parchment must have belonged to, and been lost by, a Jewish peddler who used to ply his calling in the vicinity of Coe Hill.

However, he had forgotten his name. Mr. Horkins was fortunately able to supply the missing link. The peddler was one John Dobinsky, a Russian Jew, popularly known in Coe Hill and vicinity as "Cheap John," who was a frequent visitor to the neighborhood some ten or twelve years ago.

It is probable that there being no synagogue in Coe Hill, Mr. Dobinsky, desiring to perform his devotions, forgetful of the practices of his prototypes of our Lord's time, retired to the seclusion of the woods and forgot to pocket his phylactery when his devotions were concluded. Thus, what seemed at first an unsolvable mystery is made plain.

A GOOD CHANCE MISSED.

Matthew's Pork Factory Would Have Been Valuable to the City.

(Ottawa Journal.)

Some of the aldermen and civic officials are beginning to think the city missed a good thing when it declined to lend a hand to Mr. Matthews' in establishing his pork factory in Ottawa.

The alderman said: Mr. Matthews' has put up in Hull now an immense building that has cost fully $30,000 and he will put up another big building yet. I understand he is employing fully 100 men.

Mr. Matthews is the kind of a business man the city should have encouraged. His business in Peterborough was sufficient guarantee that he would do all he said.

"Mr. Matthews," continued the alderman, "has done more than a little to encourage pork raising in the district since he came here. He instructs the farmers as to the best methods in raising, buys all decent hogs brought in and pays the highest market price.

It's no use of course talking about the opportunity that is past, but the point I want to make is that when in the future a good non-competitive factory comes along the city should try and make a satisfactory arrangement to get it."

NEW ELECTRIC LIGHT CONCERN.

Surplus Power at Auburn to be Used to Generate Electricity.

The Auburn Woollen Mills Company having by the reconstruction of the Hilliard Mills, provided for more power than is utilised by the industries now in operation, have decided to devote the surplus to the generation of electricity, to be used for the commercial supply of power and lighting purposes. It is not yet decided whether the Auburn Mills Company will conduct the new enterprise or whether a new company will be organised for the purpose.

It is said that the only matter not yet definitely decided upon is whether the new enterprise will begin by supplying electricity for power purposes only or for both power and illuminating purposes. It is understood that the steps for organization and the active prosecution of the proposed enterprise are being taken as rapidly as legal requirements will permit. Considerable prospecting has been conducted with a view of ascertaining, with more or less definiteness, the amount of patronage the new enterprise can depend upon. It is also stated that the new concern will be known as the "Citizens' Light and Power Company." No doubt further developments will transpire within a few days.

LOSS OF POWER

and vital force follow loss of flesh, or emaciation. These come from impoverished blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery enriches the blood, stops the waste of strength and tissue, and builds up healthy flesh. Nasty Cod liver oils add fat but not wholesome flesh. Thin, pale, puny and scrofulous children are made plump, rosy and robust by the "Discovery." They like it, too.

In recovering from "Grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, or other wasting diseases, it speedily and surely invigorates and builds up the whole system. As an appetizing, restorative tonic, it sets at work all the processes of digestion and nutrition, rouses every organ into natural action, and brings back health and strength.

If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

A SIMCOE CO. MIRACLE.

THE STARTLING EXPERIENCE OF MRS. ROBINSON, OF MIDHURST.

Eleven Years Sickness—Her Case Pronounced Positively Incurable—She Was Given up to die by two Doctors—Now a Picture of Good Health and Strength.

From the Barrie Examiner.

Near the village of Midhurst, about six miles from Barrie, stands the smithy of Mr. John Robinson, while within the sound of the anvil is his home, where in the midst of a large and leafy orchard dwell the smith and his family. Mr. Robinson is the type of the proverbial blacksmith, with "the muscles of his brawny arms as strong as iron bands," but with Mrs. Robinson it has been different. The wife and mother has for a long time been a victim to acute and painful dropsy of the kidneys. Shortly after the birth of her youngest child (now about 13 years) Mrs. Robinson began to take fainting spells, accompanied by violent headaches. This continued through the years that have elapsed, during which time she has obtained the best medical advice available. For about a year she was in constant terror of going insane. Her dull heavy headache, beating pain in the back and weak swollen legs and body made her case something fearful. To a representative of the Examiner Mrs. Robinson said: "It is some five or six years since I took worse, and since then we have spent hundreds of dollars in medicine and for medical advice. The symptoms of my case were heavy headaches, pain in the back and kidneys and swollen legs. I rapidly grew worse, and last July was given up by two doctors to die, and all my friends and neighbours told me that they never expected to see me out again. I could not raise myself up, could not dress myself, and had to be assisted in everything. Now I am well and strong, and can put out a big washing without any over exertion. I have also suffered from diarrhœa for a number of years, and when I spoke of it to my doctor he said if it were stopped worse results would follow. At the urgent request of my son, who was then living in Manitoba, and personally knew of wonderful cures wrought by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I decided to give this remedy a trial. Since using the Pink Pills I have been completely cured and have felt none but beneficial results. Only the week before I commenced taking the Pink Pills I was told by a physician that he could not cure me, and that I would likely get worse when spring came. He analyzed my blood and said it was in a fearful state, and that my disease was dropsy of the kidneys, which positively could not be cured. This was about the middle of January. After the third box of pills my headache left me, and it has not since returned. I have taken thirteen or fourteen boxes in all, and owe my recovery to this wonderful medicine. I can't praise Pink Pills too much, whatever I say of them," said Mrs. Robinson.

"I recommend them to everybody. I can't speak too highly of them. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to let others, who was suffering as I was, know all about them."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills strike at the root of the disease, driving it from the system and restoring the patient to health and strength. In cases of paralysis, locomotor ataxia, sciatica, rheumatism, kidney and liver troubles, erysipelas, scrofulous troubles, etc., these pills are superior to all other treatment. They are also a specific for the troubles which make the lives of so many women a burden, and speedily restore the rich glow of health to sallow cheeks. Men broken down by overwork, worry or excesses, will find in Pink Pills a certain cure. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail, postpaid at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Beware of imitations and substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

Four Years for Attempting Murder.

BARRIE, Nov. 3.—Judge Boyd sentenced Donald McCauley, of Severn Bridge, to four years in prison, having been proven guilty of stabbing with intent to kill. William Smith, from near Midland, was sentenced to eighteen months in the Central Prison at hard labor for assaulting and seriously wounding his brother. Geo. Vivian, of Coldwater, charged with arson, was acquitted.

Sudden Death in Tilsonburg.

TILSONBURG, Ont., Nov. 3.—John Graham, for years a resident of Tilsonburg, was found dead in his bed yesterday. Mr. Graham was 55 years of age, and leaves a widow and one daughter.

The Children's Enemy.

Scrofula often shows itself in early life and is characterized by swellings, abscesses, hip disease, etc. Consumption is scrofula of the lungs. In this class of disease Scott's Emulsion is unquestionably the most reliable medicine.

To destroy worms and expel them from children or adults use Dr. Low's Worm Syrup.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Navigation of Lake Nipissing—Absconder Neale's Sentence.

OTTAWA, Nov. 3.—W. P. Anderson, chief engineer of the Marine Department, has just completed the work of surveying Lake Nipissing, with a view of placing buoys and lighthouses where they would be most advantageous to navigation. The steamer Booth was placed at his disposal. Mr. Anderson has reported that it will take sixteen buoys and several lighthouses, including a large one on the Manitou Island, to make navigation perfectly safe. It is understood that Mr. Coste, the engineer of Public Works, will visit North Bay at an early date in regard to improvements to the docks.

A telegram to Commissioner Sherwood says that Neale, the absconding sub-collector of St. Mary's, N. W. T., has been sentenced to seven years in the Stony Mountain Penitentiary. It was the end of September when Neale skipped out and he has been traced, caught and punished in about a month, the Atlantic having been crossed and re-crossed in the meantime, thus forming about the quickest instance of Canadian justice on record.

A. F. Wood, ex-M. P. P., Madoc, Government valuator for the Soulanges canal lands, has 50 claims of damages to dispose of yet out of 300. He has several important claims before him, chief among which are those of the seignorial estates, which reach fabulous sums. At Cascade Point the Government has encroached on some land laid out into village lots by Mr. Harwood, M. P., and that gentleman wants $30,000. The Government says $1,000 is sufficient. With this particular case and others the Government may have many civil actions to defend. It is understood Mr. Harwood will sue at once.

The controller of customs has received from Sub-Collector Flesher at Spanish river a despath that no sale has been ordered of the American booms brought over from Saginaw. The sub-collector wired that he has ordered no such sale, and that, in fact, he had made no formal seizure of the material in question. It would appear further from this despatch to the controller that when the booms arrived to be laid up for the winter, the sub-collector simply notified the owners that as manufactures of wood from a foreign country, they were liable to duty at 20 per cent. There was neither forcible seizure nor threatened sale.

TIRED OF HIS LIFE.

A Young Toronto Man Makes a Determined Attempt at Suicide.

TORONTO, Nov. 3.—Albert Laycock, a stenographer who recently worked in the law office of Mills & Mills, 35 Adelaide street east, made a deliberate attempt to take his own life by drinking about three-quarters of an ounce of laudanum. The poison was taken with whiskey, a full bottle of which was in his pocket. Laycock worked several years for Mills & Mills, and left two or three months ago. It is said by Messrs. Mills & Mills that he tried to take his own life about a year ago.

The young man has been very despondent for some time, and on Thursday in the law office put a loaded revolver to his head and pulled the trigger. The weapon was at half-cock, however, and did not go off. It was taken away and locked up in the safe. He also admitted taking a quantity of laudanum previous to that.

Laycock was taken to the hospital in the ambulance. He admits to the detectives that he had tried to kill himself, but would assign no reason for the rash act. He declared if let go he would finish the job at once.

WHO DR. McCORMICK IS.

Montreal has Something to say Respecting the Well Known Richmond Physician.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond Que., whose remarkable cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been set forth in his letter, recently published, is a graduate of McGill College, this city. He is well known, not only to the medical profession in Montreal, but throughout the entire province, as a careful and reputable physician, and his testimony to the worth of Dodd's Kidney Pills is accepted by physicians generally as a guarantee of the efficacy of the remedy. Such a communication, coming from so eminent a graduate of McGill, will have the effect of making Dodd's Kidney Pills universally popular in Quebec.

Attention

In time to any irregularity of the Stomach, Liver, or Bowels may prevent serious consequences. Indigestion, costiveness, headache, nausea, biliousness, and vertigo indicate certain functional derangements, the best remedy for which is Ayer's Pills. Purely vegetable, sugar-coated, easy to take and quick to assimilate, this is the ideal family medicine—the most popular, safe, and useful aperient in pharmacy. Mrs. M. A. BROCKWELL, Harris, Tenn., says:

"Ayer's Cathartic Pills cured me of sick headache and my husband of neuralgia. We think there is

No Better Medicine,

and have induced many to use it.

"Thirty-five years ago this Spring, I was run down by hard work and a succession of colds, which made me so feeble that it was an effort for me to walk. I consulted the doctors, but kept sinking lower until I had given up all hope of ever being better. Happening to be in a store, one day, where medicines were sold, the proprietor noticed my weak and sickly appearance, and, after a few questions as to my health, recommended me to try Ayer's Pills. I had little faith in these or any other medicine, but concluded, at last, to take his advice and try a box. Before I had used them all, I was very much better, and two boxes cured me. I am now 80 years old; but I believe that if it had not been for Ayer's Pills, I should have been in my grave long ago. I buy 6 boxes every year, which make 210 boxes up to this time, and I would no more be without them than without bread."—H. H. Ingraham, Rockland, Me.

Care of the Teeth.

To keep the teeth clean should be one of the things early taught a child. If every person would be particular with his or her teeth from childhood up there would be less suffering and the dentists would soon find their business on the decline. Nevertheless it is due the skillful dentist to say that he does help allay suffering, and by going to him in season much disfigurement could be avoided. Cleanliness is a very important item with the teeth. They should be well cleaned with a brush and clear water after each meal and before retiring. Fine soap is not at all harmful, while it aids in the cleansing process. Powdered chalk is also a good thing, and five cents worth will last a long time.

"M. Casimir-Terrier."

President Casimir-Perier has a strongly developed jaw, a look of determination and something of the aggressive appearance of a bull-dog. A clever caricaturist took advantage of the resemblance in appearance and name to portray him as "M. Casimir-Terrier," and the caricature has "caught on." Far from lowering him in the eyes of the public esteem, however, it has greatly increased his prestige as the uncompromising watchdog of the Republic.

Question for Question.

Some rude speeches merit rude answers.

"No," replied the man, "I am not; are you the chambermaid?"

Burglary at Lisle.

LISLE, Ont., Nov. 3.—R. H. Little's general store and postoffice was robbed of some money and stamps. The burglars did not touch the safe. Three years ago the store was robbed, the safe broken open and $275 taken. Since then Mr. Little has kept no money in it. It is believed a bad gang in the village did both burglaries, and that they knew Mr. Little did not use the safe now.

Severe Earthquake in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 3.—A severe earthquake, lasting more than half a minute, shook the city last night. People and horses were thrown down in the streets. It is not known that there was any damage, although houses were much shaken. Hundreds of persons fell on their knees in the streets and prayed.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 3, 1894.

On the street here 300 bushels of wheat were sold at 53c for white and 50c for goose. Red was nominally 52c. Two thousand bushels of barley brought 41 to 44 1-2c, one load of peas 54 1-2c and 700 oats 30 to 31 1-2c.

Canadian barley in Oswego is quoted at 61 to 62c.

There is a continued good demand for Canadian barley at Buffalo and no offerings under 61c; western is also in good request, but malsters as a rule are not disposed to pay the prices. Canada is quoted at 61 to 64c.

Wheat was dull during the greater part of the session in Chicago, but closed strong and 1-4c higher. Corn was firm. Oats were neglected and closed a shade lower.

There were 16 1-2 cars of sheep and lambs on sale at East Buffalo, when all yarded including 7 cars Canadas. Early values were steady at $3.75 to $3.90, with a few sales up to $4.

The London stock markets were good. The death of the Czar having been fully discounted there was a general rise in prices, consols leading. Americans rose sharply, closing at the best, but the big operators disbelieve in the genuineness of the rise and look for a relapse.

There was little foreign buying in New York. The day was marked by a buying in of shorts, where contracts for that account were heavy. This bear relect was especially reflected in Northwestern stock, in Louisville and in Western Union. Several other sharp advances in usually inactive shares gave life to an otherwise apathetic market.

The wisest course in politics is to vote for the best man, and you cannot be mistaken. So, in the use of blood-purifiers, you can't be mistaken if you take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, because all parties agree that it is the best—the Superior Medicine. Try it this month.

IS THE CONSUL SAFE?

Peru's Charge d'Affairs at Washington Thinks He is.

WHAT CAUSED THE TROUBLE

The Republic's Representative Says the Revolutionists Are Mere Bandits Who Menace Private Interests and Will Soon Be Suppressed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3.—Dr. Don Jose M. Yrigoyen, the Charge d'Affairs of the Peruvian legation, explained to a United Press reporter to-day, the cause and effect of the existing international troubles in Peru. These, Mr. Yrigoyen says, are not properly understood in this country. He does not regard this as remarkable, inasmuch as they are caused by a mere handful of men who cannot be called revolutionists, yet whose depositions give color to the belief that a serious revolution against the government is impending. The sequence of events leading up to the present situation is thus described by Mr. Yrigoyen:

"When the late president of the republic died in April last Dr. Solar, the first vice-president of the republic, declined to assume the functions of chief magistrate, his objection being that he disliked the responsibility with which he would legally be invested. The reins of office were then taken by Gen. Burgonne, the second vice-president, who discharged the duties of president until the 10th of August last, when Gen. Caceres, who had been elected president, was inaugurated.

Meanwhile Dr. Solar betook himself to Chili, where Senor Pierola, the ex-dictator of the republic, has been living for many years. At this safe distance Solor and Pierola began an agitation among the Peruvian people against the established Government. Neither has come to Peru, but they have been represented in the latter country by certain of their friends. Through their efforts various detachments of dissatisfied persons have banded together and begun active hostilities, not against the Government, but against the peace and private interests of the wealthier classes in the republic.' Dr. Yrigoryen refers to these malcontents in contemptuous terms. "They are mere bandits, men who have organized a guerilla warfare in certain outlying and sparsely settled districts. They do not number twelve hundred all told. They are divided into various camps, the largest number under one command does not exceed four hundred. They burned and pillaged and destroyed where it suited their pleasure or convenience to do so. They have inaugurated a reign of terror in the provinces most frequented by them and exacted heavy ransoms from planters and other wealthy individuals whose persons and property they have seized. The Government has made every effort to exterminate them but so far without especial success. They disappear in the presence of the regular soldiery like mist before the morning sun.

"Much of the prevailing commercial depression in Peru is due to these marauders, since the agricultural districts which represent the real wealth of Peru are continually overrun by them. Their capture and dispersement by the government troops is only a question of time, and with their disappearance business in those localities will speedily revive."

Dr. Yrigoyen was asked as to the truth of the report that the so-called revolutionists had killed several members of the family of the British Consul at Callao. He said the report could not be true. Callao is a large seaport city, only a few miles distant from Lima, and all the revolutionists combined would not dare approach it for any purpose whatever.

The Royal Arthur Leaves.

VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 3.—The first-class cruiser Royal Arthur, the flagship of the Pacific station, leaves for Acapulco to-day under imperative orders. There is a great deal of mystery surrounding the voyage and it is currently believed that the hasty departure is occasioned by the imprisonment of the British consul at the Costa Rican capital. Admiral Stephenson's officers say they have positively no information on the subject.

Catholic Societies May Use Secret Work.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 3.—Information has been received here from an authentic source that is regarded as of prime importance by the members of the Roman Catholic Union and Knights of St. John. The secret work for which they have striven unsuccessfully during four annual conventions, and which was finally passed at the Buffalo convention in face of the strenuous opposition of ecclesiastical authority, has at length received the full consent and approbation of Mgr. Satolli. The secret work, together with the authentication of the papal delegate will be issued by the supreme officers in the various commanderies within a few days.

He Was a Cobbler.

A Novice.

"How did he do it?"

"Unconsciously. He asked me where he could get a drink on Sunday."

Beware of spurious without trade mark on signature of manufacturers.

About six months ago my little son, aged three, was very much troubled with a breaking out on his scalp and behind his ear. The places effected were about as large as a silver dollar, the flesh seemed raw and covered with little blisters. The child suffered considerably, and was naturally very fretful. I tried several remedies without obtaining any beneficial results, in fact the eruptions seemed to be spreading and new places breaking out. I concluded to try the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and bought a box of CUTICURA, a cake of CUTICURA SOAP, and a bottle of CUTICURA RESOLVENT. I washed the effected parts with the CUTICURA SOAP, taking care not to irritate the flesh, and applied CUTICURA. I noticed a change for the better in the appearance of the eruptions in twenty-four hours. I continued the treatment morning and night, and in two weeks the eruptions entirely disappeared, leaving the skin smooth and the scalp clean, in fact a perfect cure, as I have not seen any indications of any eruption or breaking out since. I gave the child only a few doses of the CUTICURA RESOLVENT. I consider your CUTICURA REMEDIES very valuable, and expect to keep a small supply constantly on hand. I believe CUTICURA would be excellent for applying to insect bites, which are very annoying in this country. C. A. ARMSTRONG,
Swift Island, N. C.

CUTICURA REMEDIES cleanse the system by external and internal medication of every eruption, impurity and disease, and constitute the most effective treatment of modern times.

THE RETURN OF THE PETERBOROUGH HUNTERS.

THEY HAD GREAT LUCK IN THE BACK WOODS.

The Winch-Morrow, Snowden-Ray and LeBrun Parties are all Back and Report Having had a Glorious Time in the Back Woods During Their Search for Game.

The hunters who have been up in the northern wilds are starting to swarm back into town again, and three parties, viz. the Snowden party, the Winch-Morrow and the LeBrun camps have all come in within the last few days.

In speaking of the outing of the Winch-Morrow party, Mr. Winch says they all had a glorious time, and that the story of his killing a buck with the knife is perfectly true, the fight which the deer made for its life being than represented. It took three plunges of a hunting knife in the groin of the deer before it gave up the struggle. There is no doubt but that the deer was killed in this manner as there is not a bullet hole in his body. The noble fellow attracted not a little attention, yesterday, as it lay stretched out at full length in front of Winch Bros. shop. There was a fine set of five pronged antlers on his head and when weighed, he tipped the beam at 220 pounds. As allowance has to be made for drying out, the buck in all probability weighed 225 pounds when shot. It is by far the finest which has come into Peterborough this year. Every man in this party of ten was successful in bringing down a deer and some and some of them got two. Fifteen were secured in all and yesterday morning, the division of the spoil took place, so the friends of the hunters will regale themselves on venison in the near future.

The Snowden party arrived in town, from Gold Lake, last night, after a most enjoyable couple of weeks outing in the back country, during which time and also some excellent bags of ducks and partridges. A very funny incident occurred, when Messrs. George Fitzgerald and Thos. Rutherford cornered a deer out in the lake and forced it to take to a small island. Mr. Fitzgerald landed to chase the deer off again into the water, and it gave him a lively time of it dodging through the scrub, finally it took out into the lake again, and Mr. Rutherford fired away all his ammunition in a vain endeavour to secure the animal. Although he was not successful in putting a bullet into the deer, he scared it so badly that it turned and landed on the island again, where Mr. Fitzgerald was lying amongst the rocks half dead from the violent exertions made when chasing the animal off the island. He revived sufficiently, however, to put a bullet in the right spot when the deer landed this time. On the way home the dogs were put out for a run and almost instantly were in full cry after a deer. In fifteen minutes and proved to be the largest secured by the party. The camp was composed of Messrs. Wm. Snowden, Samuel Ray, Thos. Boddy, Thos. Rutherford, L. Steel, Geo. Fitzgerald, Arthur Blade and J. Baptie.

FIFTEEN DEER WERE SECURED

THE ANIMAL WAS SHOT

Mr. Harry LeBrun's party also struck the town last night. One deer was brought home, and to Mr. W. H. Bradburn is given the credit of bringing it down. No one has yet explained how this deer was killed, and some of those who interviewed the hunters this morning were unkind enough to hint quite broadly that the bullet which brought it into the possession of the party was in the shape of some good bank bills.

However, be that as it may, if the party cannot tell how they secured the deer, neither can some of them tell how on earth it was that they didn't have the luck to bring down some good ones.

Mr. C. LeBrun and Mr. W. H. Robinson had some narrow escapes from killing two or three, but, as the latter puts it, Mr. LeBrun didn't seem to SHOOT FAST ENOUGH.

One afternoon in particular when this pair were out routing around for game, it seemed as though kind fortune was about to smile upon them. A splendid buck was seen crossing the lake, and the canoe was lightened of everything possible, including Mr. Robinson, and Mr. LeBrun paddled out after the "antlered monarch." He soon overtook the deer in his light canoe, and ranging up alongside, he planted the nozzle of his trusty rifle against the deer in the water, so as to run no chance of missing the shot—he pulled the trigger and the hammer fell with a click, but there was no responsive report. As the rifle was a repeater that trigger was pulled seven times, but with no result. No bullet sped forth on its message of death and so the chase had to be reluctantly relinquished. Mr. LeBrun was positive that seven cartridges, good and true, had been put into the chamber of his rifle that morning, and so took particular pains to ascertain just how they came to disappear. Subsequent inquiry revealed the fact that in a spirit of curiosity all the barges had been drawn by a member of the party, who was anxious to understand the interior mechanism of a repeating rifle. Mr. LeBrun relieved his mind in four different languages. The party went back in the woods to hunt and they had lots of even if they had no luck.

Enough hunters and dogs are in the Muskoka woods to completely exterminate the deer in one season, says the Gravenhurst Banner. No such catastrophe is feared, however, for a majority of the sportsmen couldn't shoot a deer unless it was tied to a tree while enough wet groceries are included in the camp stores to render the nerves of some too unsteady for drawing a head on a barn.

THE SCULPTORS.

A Statue of Shelly, the work of the sculptor Lucchesi, will be unveiled at Viareggio, the place where his body came ashore.

Mr. Franklin Simmons, the American sculptor at Rome, has just finished and sent to the United States a statue of Gen. Grant, which will be erected at the capitol at Washington.

During the visit of the British association to Oxford a statue of the great physician Sydenham, who was an Oxford man, was presented to the university museum by the warden and two former fellows of All Souls'.

Besides the monument to be erected to him in Balliol college chapel, a marble bust of Prof. Jowett will be placed in the Bodleian library, of which he was for forty years a curator. It will be the work of Mr. H. Pinker, for whom the late master of Balliol sat repeatedly during the last years of his life.

Cain, the sculptor, just before he died expressed the wish to give the city of Paris his last study in bronze, an eagle and vulture fighting over the body of a bear, which was exhibited at the salon in 1891, and at the world's fair at Chicago. It will be set up in the square Montholom, where the artist used to play when a child.

When Others Fail

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable, and do not purge, pain or gripe. 25c.

WE EXPECTED

A Jam All Week!

In the scrimmage for Bargains on Saturday, there was an extraordinary unanimity of opinion as to the GENUINE character of the Bargains which we are giving at our

60 Days' Sale

The news has spread quickly, and shoppers' orders, telephone orders, lookers and buyers, have kept us hustling to keep up.

Those who came early to-day emptied their pocket books and hastened away for more money. Those who came late are coming again to-morrow.

Those who didn't come at all should arrange for early breakfasts and be on hand when the doors open.

It will take an hour to-night to straighten out the tangled and twisted heaps that look as if a cyclone had struck them. (A cyclone did).

Ready again for the fray at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning with piles of handsome goods at bewitching prices. We are going to keep right on selling in this way until January 1st, 1895. "It's Fair's way."

You can tell by your own instinct that this sale is well worth more of your attention than the ordinary sales you see announced in the papers. For instance:—

The B & C Corsets

Sold everywhere else at $1.00, Fair's price only 65c.

Dress Goods sold everywhere else for from 50c. to $1.00 a yard, Fair's price only 35c. to 50c. a yard.

Mantles sold formerly at from $6 to $18, Fair's price now only $3.50, $5 and $8 per garment.

The celebrated Maple Leaf Brand of All-Wool Carpet, hundreds of yards of which have been sold at $1.00 per yard, Fair's price now only 75c. per yard.

The Best 5-frame Brussels Carpet considered cheap at $1.25 and $1.35, Fair's price now only $1.10.

And so on all through the store. "It's Fair's way."

UNCLE SAM'S ELECTIONS

Many States of the Union Will Witness a Hot Fight To-Morrow.

THE CONTEST IN NEW YORK

Democrats Expect to Make a Gain in the City—Morton, the Republican, Carries the Odds for the Governorship of the Empire State.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The campaign of 1894 is at an end. It has been a stirring one in many States and the American people are aroused as seldom before in a year in which the Presidency is not at stake. Issues of importance have been presented and the verdict of the people at the polls to-morrow is expected to practically determine which will be the dominant party in 1896. Forty-one of the 44 States in the union elect representatives to the fifty-fourth Congress and 21 States elect legislatures which choose United States senators. Besides 21 States elect governors, nine elect minor State officers and three States, New York, California and South Carolina vote upon important constitutional amendments.

All eyes are on the Empire State. The Republicans are confident of winning. Chas. W. Hackett, chairman of the State Committee, predicts Morton's (Rep.) election over Hill by 50,000.

Thomas C. Platt says: "I am entirely confident of the election of Mr. Morton."

The betting is in favor of Morton at odds of 10 to 4, and many heavy wagers have been laid that Morton's piurality will exceed 25,000.

The Democratic managers declare themselves satisfied that Hill will be elected. Claims of a 10,000 to 20,000 plurality are made. The Democrats say they will hold their present number of representatives in Congress and gain the one in New York city which was carried by Lemuel E. Quigg, Republican, last year. The Republicans claim they will gain three in this city, three in Brooklyn and five up the state.

The Republicans also expect to elect a Republican legislature and to support by the constitutional amendments framed by the constitutional convention. The Democrats are making a desperate fight against the new apportionment, and claim to have it beaten.

In this city Tammany Hall has one of the hottest fights in its long history on its hands. The revelations of the Lexow investigating committee have been used by the Republicans, the committee of 70, and all the other anti-Tammany organizations, to down the local machine.

Col. William L. Strong, the anti-Tammany nominee, has had the support of the ministers, the press, with only two or three exceptions, and the reformers. Ex-Mayor Grant, the Tammany champion, says he is confident of winning by from 10,000 to 20,000 votes, but the betting is in favor of Strong at odds.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—In a leader predicting the victory of the Republicans in America to-morrow the Daily News says: "Both sides are now tariff reformers but the democrats have not shown governing power. A re-arrangement of parties is now proceeding in the states and the current question probably will be the new battleground. Anyhow extreme protection is certain dead."

GOTHAM'S CORRUPT POLICE.

Disgusting Disclosures Brought Out in the Lexow Committee.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—The testimony before the Lexow commission on Saturday was the most horrifying and disgusting yet elicited. The principal witness was Dr. Whitehead, a specialist in female diseases, in other words, a professional abortionist. He testified that he had been arrested several times but never convicted, owing to the fact that he had paid the police to stay prosecutions, and in one case one of his patients had reached her unfortunate condition several times through intimacy with a judge before whom the witness was brought for trial. He had always, after payment to the police, been bailed out, but never knew who his bondsmen were. The witness testified that he believed there were 500 abortionists in New York, and that they all were compelled to pay tribute to the police.

Mr. Goff, in closing prior to adjournment of the committee until November 19, referred to the evidence given by Dr. Whitehead. "I think," said he, "that the testimony we listened to here this evening is the most terrible we have yet heard. I do not think that the people of New York, who heretofore believed generally in public and official corruption in this city, could even imagine the horrible realization which has been testified to, and in my humble opinion proven to exist. I am sorry that this should be so for the sake of our city of New York."

Killed by a Bursting Boiler.

VANWERT, O., Nov. 5.—The boiler in Foust's grain elevator at Groverhill, near here, gave way under a heavy pressure of steam. Foust, the proprietor, McDown, the engineer, and the latter's son, aged 13, were working near the boiler. The boy was killed and the other will probably die.

Loss by an Incendiary Fire.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5.—Fire destroyed the freight sheds of the West Indian and Pacific Steamships Co. on the Levee together with the contents including 4,000 bales of cotton valued at $120,000. Total loss $150,000; covered by insurance. The fire was probably of incendiary origin.

FLED BEFORE THE JAPS

The Chinese Garrison at Fong Wong Make a Hasty Departure.

NATIVE CHINESE PLUNDERED

They Welcome the Arrival of the Japanese to Relieve Them From the Violence of Their Own Countrymen—Awaiting a Battle at Port Arthur.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Central News has this despatch dated at Kulienchao on November 3:

"After the capture of Kulienchao on the 26th the Japanese headquarters were moved from Wi-Ju to this point. Two columns chased the Chinese to Sato and attacked Andong. The Chinese fled without fighting, throwing away arms and drums in the flight.

"Gen. Tatsumi started for Fong Wong on the 27th and arrived there on the 31st. The garrison made no show of fight, but fled toward the main body as soon as the Japanese approached. The principal generals are proceeding with their troops toward Moukden.

"The inhabitants of Haichao and Takoshan complain bitterly of the violence of the Chinese soldiers from whom they suffered constantly during the occupation. They are very friendly toward the Japanese. At present the Japanese are taking no prisoners. Three hundred Chinese bodies were found after the capture of Kulienchao, many of them having died of wounds received in previous battles."

"By the capture of Fong Wong, Andong and two more abandoned batteries the Japanese came in possession of 55 cannon, 20,000 round of ammunition, 1,500 muskets and two million cartridges besides an enormous quantity of miscellaneous supplies.

"Marshal Yamagata has ordered that all labor and supplies be paid for as soon as obtained by the Japanese, consequently the inhabitants of the country volunteer their services and gladly provide the commissariat with any needed provisions. Marshal Yamagata has established an office of civil administration in Andong and has placed in charge Col. Komuria, secretary of the Japanese legation in Corea. He has issued a proclamation promising protection to the people and ordering them to pay this year's taxes to Col. Komuria."

From Tokio the Central News hears that the government is expecting soon to receive reports from Gen. Oyama and his army, although as yet no news of decisive operations at Port Arthur has been received. From Shanghai the Central News hears that several European warships are cruising near Port Arthur, waiting the expected battle. It is reported in Shanghai that the Japanese court will go into mourning for the Czar.

A despatch to the Times from Tien-Tsin says: "Fong-Huang-Chang has been burned. The Chinese defence of the Moukden road has collapsed. Cold weather has commenced and snow has fallen in Manchuria. The Japanese cleverly landed at Pitzwo while making a demonstration off the coast of Shan-Tung and cut the wires, thus preventing the news of their position reaching the Chinese.

The admiral of the Chinese fleet with fourteen vessels besides torpedo boats afterwards started to attack them, but was recalled. Prince Kung, the Emperor's uncle, has been appointed dictator, thus indicating the further centralization of authority. The Manchu princes favor reforms but the Chinese oppose them.

Several news have a Yokohama despatch saying that Gen. Oyama has captured Talien Wan and Kinchow after a few hours' fighting.

From Shanghai the Times hears: "Li Hung Chang will go to command the first army. Lutai, viceroy of Nankin, will become viceroy of Tien-Tsin, and the viceroy of Wuchang will succeed him in Nankin. Huynuff, the judge of Kuangsi, and Col. Von Hannekin have been ordered to raise a new army on German lines as the nucleus of a new grand army of China."

The Times prints also a despatch from Tokio saying that Gen. Oyama reports an important naval battle on November 3. No details of the battle have been received.

The News Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—A telegram has been received at the Japanese legation quoting despatches received by the Japanese government from Marshal Yamagata under date of Lin-Len-Chang, November 3, as follows:

"On the 31st of October the detachment under the command of Gen. Tatsumi took possession of Fon Wong, the most important stronghold next to Moukden. The Chinese soldiers fled mostly toward Moukden, the rest in the direction of Hai Cheng and Ta Ka San. The native inhabitants were suffering from plunder and devastation committed by the Chinese soldiers and welcomed our army. The captures to this date amount to 55 cannon and 1,500 small arms, also about 20,000 rounds of ammunition for the cannons and about 2,500,000 for the other arms, with miscellaneous articles of immense quantity."

New Spanish Ministry.

MADRID, Nov. 5.—Premier Sagasta, who resigned in company with all his colleagues several days ago, has reconstructed the Cabinet. The ministers are: Premier, Sagasta; Justice, Saura; Public Works, P. Capdepon; Colonies, Lopez Puigerver; Foreign Affairs, Groizard; War, General Dominguez; Finance, Gamazo; Marine, Admiral Pasquin. All took the oath of office before Queen-Regent Christiania.

Died Alone in the Night.

SAGINAW, Mich., Nov. 5.—A man named Home was found dead under a load of plank he had been hauling. It is supposed the load tipped over during the night as he was driving along. One horse was dead and lying upon Home's body. Home was married and leaves several children.

Shot by Outlaws.

PERRY, Ok., Nov. 5.—Samuel J. Dunlap, postmaster at Red Fork, Ok., located in the eastern part of the Cherokee strip, 40 miles east of here, was shot and killed by the Cook gang of outlaws. The gang is said to be headed for this part of Oklahoma.

REFORM OF THE LORDS

This Question Dwarfs All Others Before the British Electorate.

SALISBURY SHIRKED THE ISSUE

His Reticence on the Subject Causes Uneasiness in Unionist Circles—McCarthyites Satisfied to Await the Result of the Struggle With the Peers.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Lord Salisbury's shirking of the task of formulating a system for the reform of the House of Lords, while admitting that a reconstruction of that body is advisable, is the theme of general regret on the part of the Conservative press. The explanation of the ex-Premier's reticence accepted in Unionist circles is that his address being made only forty-eight hours after that of Lord Rosebery, he did not have time to consult with his colleagues as to an alternative programme. Right Hon. Arthur J. Balfour has promised to address the Conservatives of Newcastle on November 18, if his health will permit. The unanimity of demand of the party that they be given some idea of their leaders' policy with regard to the House of Lords is so complete and so well grounded that Mr. Balfour must be more explicit than was Lord Salisbury or leave the country convinced that the Tories are prepared to fight to the end for all the privileges of the peers.

Among the Unionists several propositions are being debated, including one for the appointment of a selection committee of the House of Lords to consider what changes can be made that would promote the efficiency of the Upper House. The appointment of such a committee was proposed by Lord Rosebery in 1888, but it was at the time rejected. In the present critical situation such action might serve to stave off the attack upon the people by the Commons. The project of Lord Dunraven for the restriction of the number of executive peers to 180, chosen by their order in a similar manner to the existing practice of the Scotch representative peers, with the bulk of the House composed of life peers, has been revived and meets with considerable favor among the Unionists. One thing is certain, and that is whatever plan the Conservative leader decides must be quickly put into operation. Unless the Liberal Unionists speedily prevail upon Lord Salisbury to agree to some reform of the Government the coming general elections will sweep the Unionists out of Parliament. Since Lord Rosebery's speech in Bradford all of the political parties recognize the fact that question of reform of the House of Lords dwarfs all others now before the country.

The McCarthyites, though chagrined at the prospect of the prolonged struggle over the House of Lords question postponing all consideration of home rule, generally accept the Government plan as eventually the surest road by which to reach their goal. The clamor of the Redmondites that home rule must remain in front of all other questions is not supported by a single practical suggestion as to how this is to enable Ireland to attain relief of the nationalists. Mr. Dillon, speaking at Mullinahone voiced the opinion of a majority of the Irish party when he said, "We would be madmen and traitors to the cause if we refused to give all the assistance in our power to help the Radicals of England break the power of the House of Lords which throughout generations has been the bitterest enemy of the Irish people." The coming conference of the leaders of the McCarthyite faction of the Irish parliamentary party will doubtless decide to support the Government provided a resolution be submitted to the House of Commons sufficiently drastic in its opposition to the Upper House.

A Peculiar Accident.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 5.—Mr. P. Mihell, a young man employed as shipper by Lawson & Jones, had his leg broken in a peculiar manner on Saturday. He was walking on the west side of Richmond street on his way to the post-office, and when opposite Ladell's cigar store a large greyhound ran violently against him, throwing the pedestrian with considerable force to the flagstone. Mr. Mihell felt the bone of his leg crack and had to be assisted to his feet. Being taken into the cigar store and the injured member examined, it became readily apparent that a bad fracture had resulted.

Preston Visited With Fire.

PRESTON, Ont., Nov. 5.—The largest fire that has been witnessed here for a great many years broke out on Saturday morning in the large five-story frame grist mill belonging to Mr. S. J. Cherry. It was full of grain and has just recently been fitted up with the newest machinery. The loss is very heavy. The wind, which was very strong, spread the flames across the street, setting fire to the grocery belonging to Mr. C. G. Ross. The stock and building were partly destroyed. Insurance on stock $800. The goods not burnt were damaged by water.

The Kingston Mail Robbery.

KINGSTON, Nov. 5.—The mail bag robbery case was again adjourned by the police magistrate on Saturday until Wednesday next. In the meantime the post-office and Grand Trunk detectives, together with the local authorities will search for evidence. It is said that the Crown has some important evidence to submit, but it is probably better just now that it be not spoken of. Detective Holman, of Grand Trunk fame, states that the case is a most serious one.

Paper Mills Burned.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—A report has reached here that J. C. Wilson's paper mill at Lachute, a very large concern, has been totally destroyed by fire. No particulars yet as to the amount of the loss. The company has another mill at St. Jerome.

A New Canadian Railway.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—It is rumored here that a proposed new Canadian railway will be brought to the front soon, bearing a guarantee for a limited number of years of either the Dominion or Provincial Governments.

A Civil Servant Dead.

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Pete Duffy, an employe of the Interior Department, aged 43 years, and who at one time was one of the best sprinters in Canada, died yesterday after three days' illness.

The Daily Examiner is delivered to any part of the Town for 10c. a week 35c. a month, $3.00 for six months.

THE ELOQUENT LAURIER.

Conclusion of The Last Speech of His Northwest Tour.

The following are the closing sentence of Mr. Laurier's brilliant address made at the brilliant banquet in his honour at the termination of his Northwest tour :—

I am a firm believer in Canadian federation, and I am forever an admirer of the idea. I will promote this idea as long as I have a voice in the public affairs of Canada, but it cannot be developed on the lines of the National Policy. In the face of the experience which we have acquired during this trip through the west of the endeavour to develop federation upon the lines of the National Policy, I believe, and I know I have the belief of the Liberal party, that the only way in which we can maintain and develop Canadian federation is to leave our Canadian citizens untrammelled and unfettered by the taxation of the National Policy, and make the settler feel that freer trade is to his advantage. (Applause.) This line, and the only one, upon which you will make every Canadian citizen feel proud of the institutions of his country, is the one we can hope to have with a Liberal Government, and we will have a Liberal Government. (Applause.) When we, sir, have this feeling among the citizens of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, and every advantage to be gained under a freer trade policy, when we have this condition emigrants will come with a rush to this Province, because then every setter would become an emigration agent among his friends, and among those whom he has left behind. This will be a proud day for every Canadian in the success of Canada at large; and the west, in general with the men of the east, will be united in the federation they have attained and acquired. In regard to the faith reposed in me in my leadership which has been referred to and spoken of in so many kind words by you and my friends and the Chairman, let me tell you this, gentlemen, the position I would only be too glad to relegate to other shoulders; but I must say that in my task of leading the Liberal party I have resolved that I would give my whole bodily efforts, to bring a successful issue in this great reform—(applause)—and I am here to discharge the duty of that office. I have endeavoured to the best of my ability, because I thought it my duty, from the very first to make myself acquainted with the requirements of the country and of the people, and whether in good fortune or bad, whether successful or not, it shall be always my first thought to keep true to the one idea—Canada first, Canada last and Canada forever. It matters not personally to me whether we are victorious or of the Liberals of Canada—(hear, hear)—and they will always have me and find me defeated if I am sustained by the good will and affection, if I may say so, ready for the discharge of my duty, whatever that duty may be. I may mention an incident which it was my privilege once to hear, and comes conspicuously before me, of two Scotch officers who met on a memorable field of battle, but had no time to ask any questions or speak to each other, but in the mad rush of the fight they flew with their waving swords at the enemy with the cry of "Scotland forever!" and immediately afterwards an Irishman rushed after them with his cry of "Ireland still forever and ever afterwards." This strikes me as a forcible example which I think is worthy the imitation and attention of every man who has a claim to Canada. We are here of many races and creeds from many lands, but for all the Provinces of Canada, the motto we can suggest is, "Canada first, Canada last, Canada forever and ever afterwards." And with these words I have only to say, farewell, farewell for the present; farewell in body, not farewell in mind, nor in heart, because in mind and in heart, as long as I am in the position which I occupy never shall I forget the people of the west, who have been so kind to me on this present trip. (Loud and long continued applause.)

MY WHOLE SOUL AND MY WHOLE LIFE

THE deputation concerning the Hudson's Bay railway went away, says the Ottawa Free Press, thoroughly satisfied. One of them who tarried behind his fellows, states that their reception was cordial and the promises made as strong as any that have been given by the government in the case of appeals for public aid. The government does not however promise aid to undertakings of the kind without expecting something in return. Sir John Thompson laid down the principle very clearly in the case of the Trent Valley canal. Something more, he told the deputation, was needed than the moral support of the people of the district. We wonder how much the Northwestern people will have to contribute to the expenses of the next general election.

THE Globe, of Saturday, by the way a splendid specimen of the highest type of a newspaper, contains a fac-simile reproduction of a proclamation of "Alexander Smith, brigadier general, commanding the centre army," dated November 17th, 1812. The proclamation sets forth how the centre army is to forthwith conquer Canada and make it one of the United States." This spread eagle boast is strongly suggestive of the proclamation made by Brigadier General Creighton, in the name of Mr. Marter forecasting the utter rout of the Mowat Government, and its fulfilment, will partake largely of the nature of Brigadier General Smith's "conquest" of Canada.

CHANCELLOR BOYD'S decision to the effect that all household things in the shape of gas lamps, shelves, mirrors, etc., which a tenant fixes to a house with screws or nails, belong to the landlord, will either bring about a change in the law, or else create a revolution in house furnishings. Simplicity will be the order of the day. It is not much satisfaction to buy costly fixtures for the benefit of the landlord. If Chancellor Boyd's interpretation of the law is right, and it would be contempt of court to doubt it, the law is hard on the tenant, and gives the landlord a "cinch."

IT is reported on good authority that the petition against Mr. German's election in Welland, and the counter petition against Mr. McCleary, will both be dropped.

"A chemical success and medical triumph," so speaks an eminent physician in reference to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral; and the eulogy was none too strong. No other medicine is so safe and efficacious in all diseases of the throat and lungs.

ON CANADIAN QUESTIONS.

The London Times Talks of Our Finances and the Two Proposed Projects.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The Times this morning congratulates Mr. Foster, the Canadian Finance Minister, upon his success with the Canadian loan.

"The success" it says, "shows London's confidence in the essential soundness of Canadian finance and the prosperous future of the colony.

"There is good reasons to believe that the Hawaiian treaty with the States will not prove an insuperable difficulty in the event of a decision to construct a Pacific cable, although it is an open question whether Neckar Island is the most suitable station.

"A blue-book containing the Earl of Jersey's report on the Ottawa conference probably will be issued this week. It is understood that the Earl of Jersey reported favorably on the plans for a cable and fast steamship service. Wakeham's emphatic concurrence, as well as Admiral Hopkins', as to the safety of swift navigation in the St. Lawrence, is important testimony to the feasibility of the project. New developments may be looked for in steps being taken to effect these projects, and the Government doubtless has been approached to learn its decision as to the subsidy to be accorded to a mail line via Canada and the Pacific."

IN MEMORY OF THE CZAR.

Services in St. Petersburg—Princess Alix Received Into the Church.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—The correspondent in St. Petersburg sends this despatch:

"Metropolitan Palladius, assisted by the orthodox Greek clergy of the capital, conducted an impressive service yesterday at St. Isaac's Cathedral in memory of Alexander III. Part of the cathedral was reserved for persons of high rank. All the men were in black, and against the black background of mourning which hides the walls, could be seen only as shadows. The women were in white. Outside the reserved section thousands were admitted freely—rich and poor, titled and untitled. They stood crowded together on the moist pavement, the shabbiest moujiks cheek by jowl with the members of the capital's high society. Huge chandeliers lighted the nave, but only flickering candles shone from the side walls, and the marble pillars and gold ornaments were left in heavy relief. The service was painfully impressive. Many wept, and with every pause came the sound of sobs from some recess of the great building. Memorial services were held also in the American and British churches.

Arrangements are proceeding in the fortress church for the reception of Alexander's body. Along the route to be taken by the funeral train from Odessa to St. Petersburg special orders have been given out to all railroad officials. The journey will occupy ten days, as the train will stop at many towns for services, and will remain two days in Moscow.

LIVADIA, Nov. 5.—Princess Alix has been received formally into the orthodox church. After the ceremony she exchanged rings with her betrothed, the Emperor Nicholas.

that many women owe their beauty to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The reason—beauty of form and face, as well as grace, radiate from the common center—health. The best bodily condition results from good, fresh, air, and exercise, coupled with the judicious use of the "Prescription." In maidenhood, womanhood and motherhood, it's a supporting tonic that's peculiarly adapted to her needs, regulating strengthening and curing, the derangements of the sex.

If there be headache, pain in the back, bearing-down sensations, or general debility, or if there be nervous disturbances, nervous prostration and sleeplessness, the "Prescription" reaches the origin of the trouble and corrects it. It dispels aches and pains, corrects displacements and cures catarrhal inflammation of the lining membranes. It's guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money paid for it is refunded.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.

I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

Scrofula in the Neck—Bunches All Gone Now.

"Gentlemen:—I feel that I cannot say enough in favor of Hood's Sarsaparilla. For five years I have been troubled with scrofula in my neck and throat. Several kinds of medicines which I tried did not do me any good, and when I commenced to take Hood's Sarsaparilla there were large bunches on my neck so sore that I could not bear the slightest touch. When I had taken one bottle of this medicine, the soreness had gone, and before I had finished the second the bunches had entirely disappeared." BLANCHE ATWOOD, Sangerville, Maine.

JUDGE DUGAS WRATHY.

Justice in Quebec, He Says, is Hurked by Ontario Magistrates.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—"How many reporters are here?" was the question of Judge Dugas as he looked sharply over the audience in the police court on Saturday. He continued: "I want the people to know of the shameful way in which the wheels of justice are blocked and hampered by the police magistrates of the province of Ontario."

Judge Dugas said that the Ontario magistrates, or at least some of them, were doing and had done all in their power to stop the course of the law as administered by the authorities of Montreal.

The case which has brought Judge Dugas to a boiling over point was that of Arthur Sicotte, who was accused of stealing two loads of hay. It seems that Sicotte left Montreal and went to Ottawa. High Constable Bissonnette telegraphed to Ottawa for his detention. When Bissonnette arrived at Ottawa for his man he was informed by Magistrate O'Gara that as he considered that there was no case against the prisoner he would not countersign the warrant.

Judge Dugas said that if this had been the first instance of the kind he would think nothing of it, but that it was a common occurrence and a matter to be brought to the public notice. The judge also said that unofficially he had been informed that the matter had gone so far that lawyers had stated in the presence of Justice McMahon, of Ottawa, that their clients could not obtain justice before the courts of the Province of Quebec. It was also stated by the judges of the Province of Ontario that this was occasioned by the presence of French judges on the bench in the Province of Quebec. Judge Dugas vented his wrath and stated that he had communicated with the Attorney-General of Canada on the subject.

Havoc Among the Electric Wires.

St John, N. B., Nov. 5.—On Saturday this city had heavy rain accompanied by winds which reached a gale. A sign on a roof of a four-story building on the corner of King and Canterbury streets was blown down, breaking the telephone wire and bringing it in contact with the street railway's trolley wire. A horse owned by D. Connell, livery stable keeper, was being driven up King street at this time and struck the wire hanging over, killing it instantly. The driver was also struck with wire, but he had a rubber coat on and this saved his life. The telephone wire to the Royal Hotel in the room occupied by Mr. Temple was strongly charged with electricity from trolley wires, set fire to frame work round the window. Finally wire was cut and the fire put out with about $100 damages.

A Steamer's Captain Drowned.

GRAVENHURST, Nov. 5.—Capt. Charles Ewlegh, of the steamer Onaganah, who lives on Tobin's Island, Lake Rosseau, was drowned on Saturday. The Onaganah left Port Cockburn about 11 o'clock at night with two lady passengers, to catch the early train here, and was to return at once. The engineer being sleepy, the captain told him to lay down and the mate and himself would handle the boat. The mate was in wheel-house at the bow and the captain was pulling on the steam line when he slipped into the water and before assistance could reach him he had sunk for the last time.

Suing Hamilton Council.

HAMILTON, Nov. 5.—Mr. Alfred Turner, acting through his solicitors, has notified the city clerk of his intention to bring action against the city for damages for loss of the time of himself and sons, and loss of clothing, household effects, etc., through the action of the health board in removing himself and family from his house on Tisdale street some months ago when smallpox broke out in it. Mr. Turner claims the disease was not smallpox, and that the city is responsible for the loss he sustained.

A Yankee Firebug to be Extradited.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—Judge Dugas has rendered judgment in the case of Henry Gotlieb, who a few weeks ago was arrested in this city after a long pursuit by the United States authorities, who wanted him on a charge of having caused the total destruction of a large row of buildings by fire in the city of New York in the month of January last. The Court decided that there was sufficient ground for the prisoner's extradition to New York, where he will undergo trial on a charge of incendiarism.

Nipissing Gives Up Its Dead.

ROSSEAU, Nov. 5.—The body of Isaac Haw, foreman of the lumber camps of Davidson & Hay, of Toronto, at Cache Bay, has been found in Lake Nipissing. It will be remembered that he, with a number of others, perished about a year ago in the great Fraser disaster—caused by the explosion of the boat's boiler. The body has been buried on the shore until winter, when it, together with the remains of the victim's nephew, John, will be sent down to Baysville for interment.

Accidentally Shot Dead.

BARRIE, Nov. 5.—A sad accident occurred at Minesing Village in the township of Vespra, whereby a promising young man loses his life. James, the 16-year-old son of Mr. Andrew Ronald, postmaster, accidently shot himself, while practising with his revolver, from the effects of which he died in an hour and a half.

German Agrarians Joyful.

BERLIN, Nov. 5.—The agrarian newspapers are in high glee over the prohibition of American meat and cattle. They predict that this one step against an American product will be followed by others equally effective and rejoice in the prospect downfall of Caprivi's liberal policy.

Gored by a Bull.

HAMILTON, Nov. 5.—Samuel Hess, a well known wholesale butcher, of Hamilton, while driving a cart in Caledonia, was attacked by a young bull and seriously if not fatally injured. He was gored in several places and a dozen stitches were required to close the wounds in the side of his head.

THE LITTLE MOTHER.

And Some of the Amusing Things She Does.

It is very amusing to notice the maternal air a girl of four of five summers will assume toward another of two years. In the northwest part of the city lives a little girl named Annie, who puts on such a maternal look when taking care of a neighbor's baby that everybody has to laugh.

Annie's chief weakness was an unconscious yearning to spoil this baby. She was crowding its little inside with cake the other day when its mother came upon the scene.

"Don't give Helen any more cake," said the mother, "I'm afraid it will make her sick."

Notwithstanding this request, Annie thought she knew better, and went in the house for more cake.

A moment or two afterward Helen's mother discovered her child still swallowing cake.

"Annie, didn't I tell you not to give her any more cake? I'll take her in the house if I see you give her another crumb."

So Annie kept the rest of the cake to herself. Little Helen stuck up her mouth invitingly and it almost broke Annie's heart to refuse the child. Helen begged for more cake and not getting it, burst into tears.

Then Annie took her in the arms and said:

"Never mind, Helen. I'll be your mother. You come with me. You can have all the cake you want." And if the mother hadn't stepped in with a slipper the two might have wandered away to start housekeeping far from her sway.

All Alike.

"I've let my play reader go," said a manager. "I paid him $4,000 a year to read plays, and all I got out of it was the knowledge that he had gained enough information to write a play for himself. I suppose that with the public he has picked up his efforts will be a howling success; but no more play readers for me, if you please. They do not pay. I have had several play readers, and I know whereof I speak. One of them would come down to the office at ten o'clock, read a play in an hour or so and go out and get drunk. Then he would come back with renewed vigor and convert comedy into tragedy and smiles into tears. He would tear passion to tatters and throw literary physic to the dogs. Oh, they are all alike and this is why I've got the door locked."

A Change of Sex.

The novelist of the future will have to change the sex of the old Scotch gardener who potters around in the conservatory, who hates to have his choice blooms plucked, and who utters words of wisdom in quaint dialect to the members of the family. Not even gardening, the profession which would seem to be men's by inheritance since the days "when Adam delved and Eve span" is left to men. Lady Carlisle is training an entire staff of women to take charge of the fine grounds on her extensive estate in York. Miss Wilkinson, an English woman, has recently been complimented by royalty on her landscape gardening at Vauxhall Park, which has just been opened by the Prince of Wales.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel the burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose topay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

ROBERT HALL.

Seasonable and Opportune.

Always forearmed for all the shopping demands of our customers—this store is never behind—the right goods at the right time and at the right prices. October suggest the need of such things as Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to choose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these, we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last year's hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show a full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

A Peterborough Resident Under Arrest.

The following item appears in the Quebec correspondence of the Toronto Mail of to-day: "John James Lundy, of Peterborough, the absent witness in the Baldwin case, was arrested and brought to Quebec yesterday morning, where he entered into recognizances before Judge Blanchett for his appearance at the next term of the Criminal Court." Mr. Lundy, it appears, was unable to attend the session of court to which he was summoned, and his arrest and subsequent release was a mere matter of form, in consequence of his contempt of court. The matter, it is understood, was easily settled.

"Edith's Burglar"—"A Play of Exceptionally High Order."

On May 21st, 1893, the A. Q. Scammon Company presented "Edith's Burglar" in Peterborough. The EXAMINER of the 22nd said of the play: The A. Q. Scammon Company appeared at the opera house on Saturday evening and produced in an excellent manner "Edith's Burglar." The house was only fairly well filled, this undoubtedly being due to a large number of citizens not being in a position to attend on account of it being Saturday night, which is an unsuitable evening for any production to appear in a busy town like Peterborough. The play throughout was of an unusually high order of excellence and interest. The acting was the best and most faithful and realistic in the character representations that has been witnessed on a Peterborough stage for some time. Although none of the caste were "shining stars," still all the performers in their different roles were strong and effective. The play is full of pathos and domestic life, interspersed with a liberal share of fine comedy element. Little Lottie Briscoe as "Editha," is the most precocious child actor that has ever appeared here. Her singing and dancing were exceedingly clever and delightful and was greeted with vociferous applause. The simple, trusting, confiding nature exhibited by this wee little tot in her character, which is charmingly conceived, was splendid. Mr. Fred E. Cooke, as "John Hamilton," a retired merchant, Mr. Eugene Moore, as "Wm Lewis, the burglar, and Louis Dutton as "Edward Bainbridge," a law student, sketched their parts well. The support was not weak in a single instance. Should the company revisit Peterborough they may be assured of a bumper house, for they deserve it.

—On the subject of lawyers, Mr. Justice McMahon at the Brantford Assizes, made the statement that the soliciting of suits by lawyers and the urging of people to take action against other people, is a violation of the barrister's oath, and an offer to take a case and to pay the costs—except in the case of a favorable judgment—is almost equivalent to a crime.

—Messrs. Jos. Pentland, of Peterborough, Ed. Pentland of Collingwood, and Wm. Pentland of North Monaghan, passed through here on Monday to join the Oliver party, who are hunting on Black Duck and Concession Lakes. —A peculiarity of the blind is that there is seldom one of them who smokes. Soldiers and sailors who have been accustomed to smoking, but who have lost their sight in action, smoke only for a short time afterwards. They say it gives them no pleasure, because they cannot see the smoke. Another peculiarity of the blind is that while other storekeepers are asking a dollar for a blind with a lace fringe, stratton is selling them at sixty-nine cents each, with roller and fittings complete.

—The driver of the Bobcaygeon stage took his seat in the new and handsome vehicle, manufactured by Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger, Saturday for the first time. It is a three-seated democrat, capable of carrying the mails and ten passengers, and is handsomely painted, the gearing being of red, while the body is of sage, or tea green. The seats are upholstered in the latest style, and the work reflects great credit upon the builders. In bright letters on each side is the title "Bobcaygeon Stage."

THE OUTFALL SEWER MATTER.

Explanation as to the Signing of the Contract—Judge Ketchum Appointed Arbitrator.

It didn't take the town solicitor and Mr. Edmison, solicitor for the townships, long to settle upon an arbitrator, once they settled down to business on Saturday afternoon. As soon as Mr. Edmison was empowered to act by his clients, he submitted the names of Judge Ketchum, Cobourg; Judge Benson, Cobourg, and Judge Morrison, of Owen Sound. Mr. Edwards chose city men, and named Judge Macdougall, Toronto; Judge Senkler, Hamilton, and Judge Waterman. Out of the six names that of Judge Ketchum, of Cobourg, was selected to act as the arbitrator, without much discussion. The Judge has already signified his willingness to act in the matter any time after Nov. 15th.

In reference to a paragraph in Saturday's issue, respecting the contract for the outfall sewer, Mr. Edwards, town solicitor states that the contract was in possession of the town's agents and that while the bonds have not been signed by the Mayor, they have been signed by Mr. Grant and one of his sureties, and that the other bondsman is out of the Province, but is exected to return daily when the documents will be fully signed.

THE FOLEY WILL CASE.

Argument to be Made in the Matter of Respective Contentions of Town and County.

A special committee of the County Council is in session this afternoon in the County Council Chambers considering the steps to be taken in the argument in connection with the will of the late Mrs. Foley.

The county contends that under the term of the will of the late Mrs. Foley, the moneys devised by Mrs. Foley for the poor of the county of Peterborough should be applied only for the benefit of the poor in the county literally, that is the country outside the town; on the other hand the contention was raised on behalf of the town that for the purposes of the will in question the town is part and parcel of the county, and to settle their conflicting contentions is the object of the argument at Osgoode Hall to-morrow, Mr. W. A. Stratton, county solicitor, and Mr. ChristopherRobinson, Q.C., appear on behalf of the county, and Mr. E. B. Edwards on behalf of the town.

Mr. Joseph Armstrong, Gilmour street, has been appointed travelling representative for the Benjamin Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of patent coal ash screens. The new device is wonderful in its simplicity and will save from ten to twenty-five per cent in fuel. Mr. Armstrong is taking orders in Peterborough at present and is meeting with good success.

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC WORKS NOTES.

Precautions Against Fire Being Taken—That Hunt Club—Handsome Cars.

A brick partition is being built between the Compounding Department and the Carpentering Department. The bricklayers are now at work on the wall, which is being built, in order that if another fire occurs in the Compounding Department, it will be more easily confined to the room with less danger of spreading.

The Hunt Club has decided to postpone its bear hunt until next Monday. North Monaghan has been chosen as the spot for the Club's operations.

Mr. Stanley has the five cars almost completed, which are being manufactured for the Toronto and Kingston Electric Railway systems. The finishing touches are now being added to the handsome product of the Works.

BLOODSHED AND BLASPHEMY.

A Sanguinary "Scrap" in Ashburnham Last Night.

Three young men from Douro made the welkin ring with their profanity, last night, in Ashburnham. No one who witnessed the encounter was able to tell how it originated and no one saw the three cornered fight begin, but it raged fiercely for almost an hour in the mud, of a gateway leading off Elizabeth street, just across the Hunter street bridge. The chief of the Ashburnham police could not be found, although many went in search of him, in the fear that murder might be done. The scrap, which began at about half past nine, only ceased when the combatants were unable to distinguish each other through the liberal coating of mud and blood, which covered them.

Our Days are Numbered.

The Peterborough Bookstore has introduced a new scheme. Not one day a week, but on three numbered days of the week. Special bargain sales have been inaugurated to continue during the winter season, each day having a number of attractive and different lines to be slaughtered at low prices. New books, stationery, wall papers, window blinds, cornice poles, pictures, fancy goods, etc., will be sold at about one half their former prices. These three bargain day sales during each week will sweep everything before them, and put dollars down into the pockets of prudent, cautious and thoughtful buyers. See the advertisement in another column for this week's special "plums," and if you want any of them just sit down and make out you list, then come to the Peterborough Bookstore and get an estimate of how much you will save by taking advantage of these bargain days.

A lady writes: "I was enabled to remove corns, root and branch, by the use of Holloway's Corn Cure." Others who have tried it have the same experience.

CHURCH CHIMES.

The Ladies' Aid Society of George street church will meet at 2.30 on Thursday afternoon.

St. John's Young People's Association meets this evening. A large attendance is requested.

The sacrament of the Lord's Supper was administered in the George street church yesterday.

The trustees of George street Methodist church will hold their monthly meeting directly after service, Wednesday evening.

Rev. Prof. Wallace, B. D., of Victoria College, a former pastor, will preach at both services in George Street church next Sunday.

The collections in St. John's church yesterday will be devoted to the funds for the improvement of the Sunday school, together with the offertory taken up on Thursday last.

Features of the quarterly Communion Sunday services in the George street church, yesterday, were an unusually large number of communicants, large congregations, and the reception of twenty new members.

Special services for women will be held nearly all day on Tuesday, Nov. 13th, in St. John's church. A continual service will be held from three o'clock in the afternoon until nine at night. Tea will be served in the Sunday school.

Mr. McLean, of McMaster University, conducted services in the Park street Mission yesterday most acceptably. The choir sang the anthem "Let me hear you tell it over once again" in the morning, and in the evening rendered "Come away to Jesus" in a most effective manner.

Rev. J. E. Trotter conducted both the morning and evening services in the Murray street Baptist church, yesterday. A quintette, composed of Dr. and Mrs. Scott, Mr. C. B. Moutley, Fred. Pollard and Alfred Kemp, rendered "The Lord is My Shepherd" in splendid voice, in the morning, and in the evening, sang "Come Unto Me" in a manner equally as well.

Rev. J. J. Rae occupied the pulpit, both morning and evening, in the Charlotte street Methodist church, yesterday. In the evening, the attendance was so large as to necessitate the use of all the draw seats, as well as a number of chairs. Mr. Rae took as his evening text "Ye know the things and do them not." Mr. J. C. Steers took the solo in the morning anthem, which was entitled "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." In the evening, Miss Fawcett took the solo in an anthem, which was rendered, while the collection was being taken up.

At St. John's last night there was a large congregation. The rector preached the sermon, taking for his text the 21st verse of the third chapter of St. Paul's epistle to the Ephesians: "Unto Him be glory in the church by Jesus Christ throughout all ages, world without end. Amen." After referring to the origin and constitution of the church, the speaker pointed out that the work of the church and of the members was to carry on the work which Christ had begun during his earthly ministry. What was expected of the church was to glorify God, to make holy the lives of its members, and to spread the blessings of the gospel to the world. Jesus Christ glorified God by doing His will, and that was the chief mission of the church.

Yesterday, both morning and evening, large congregations assembled in St. Andrew's church, notwithstanding the threatening weather. Two most impressive sermons were preached by the pastor. In the morning he chose his text from 2nd Cor. 6-17: "Come out from among them and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing." The injunction to be separate, the possibility of being separate and many reasons why the Christian should be separate were considered in eloquent terms. In the evening the text was Isaiah I, 18: "Come, now let us reason together, saith the Lord, though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be white as snow, though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool." No synopsis can convey any idea of these sermons. If the morning discourse was a stirring appeal to to the Christian to come out and live a separate and higher life than the world, the evening was a stirring appeal to the unsaved to reason regarding sin and salvation with God. The anthems by the choir were excellent. After the evening sermon the choir sang with touching effect, the piece so appropriate, "Though your sins be as scarlet they shall be white as snow." Mr. MacWilliams stated in making the announcements that he was greatly delighted with the large attendance at all the meetings.

A BIG SCRAMBLE

For the Position Held by the Late C. D. Richardson.

Toronto News.

There is a breakneck struggle for the $5,000 position made vacant by the late C. D. Richardson, local manager of the London Guarantee and Accident Company.

Millionaire George A. Cox is after it for one of his younger sons. So is Henry O'Hara, who is said to have gone to England in connection with the matter. Mr. Holland of the Equitable, and Mr. R. C. Hamilton are also mentioned.

IT WOULD NEVER DO.

"What did you pay for that hat?" asked the first woman.

"Only eighty-five cents," answered the other woman.

"Your husband was delighted, wasn't he?"

"Oh, no. You don't think I would be so foolish as to tell him that I got a hat so cheap as that? He would be wanting me to wear bargain counter hats all the time."

There is one big profit saved by buying from Grafton & Co.

FOOTBALL.

On account of the chilliness of the atmosphree and the dampness of things in general, there was but a poor attendance at the Osgoode vs. Peterborough Rugby match, in the Driving Park, Saturday afternoon. The stay-at-homes missed it, however, as the game was a good one and well worth braving wind and weather to witness.

Osgoode won the toss and decided to kick with the wind, which blew a veritable hurricane across the park from the west. This decision of Osgoode's was a good one, as in the second half, when Peterborough should have had the wind in its favour, the gale dwindled down to a gentle zephyr. The teams lined up in the following order:

Osgoode.			Peterborough.
J. P. Smith		back	Adams
W. Gilmour	Halves		King
			Moore
J. Bain			Lefevre
W. Richardson		quarter	Leefe
H. Martin	scrimmage		Colyer
P. McKenzie			Strickland
S. Storey			McIntosh
S. M. Brown	wings		Moore
B. A. C. Crag			Montgomery
J. McGillivray			Bell
P. White (capt.)			Jones
C. Cross			Corrie-Smith
R. C. Scott

Referee, Mr. Taylor.—Umpire, Mr. Drope.

The wind was so high that it was useless for Peterborough to try and kick against it, as if the ball rose in the air it would be carried directly backward by the gale. The game, therefore, was to keep the ball in the scrimmage as much as possible. This plan was adopted, but even here the home team laboured at a disadvantage, as despite the remonstrances of the referee, Osgoode persisted in placing the ball amongst the feet of its own scrimmage and in a position where it was impossible for the Peterborough boys to lay hands on it. It was easy work, therefore, to pass the pigskin back to Richardson, the quarter back, and he appeared to know just what to do with it on these occasions, as it invariably rose high in the air, where the wind caught it and sent it flying far down among Peterborough backs and often beyond touch. Again and again had the Peterborough backs to rouge in order to save a touch-down. At the end of the first half the visitors had piled up a score of eleven, comprised of a touch-down—4, safety-touch—3, rouges—5.

Peterborough had not scored at all, but from the way in which the boys fought against the tremendous odds, which the high winds imposed upon them, it certainly looked as though they would have no trouble in scoring once they were kicking with the gale.

Unfortunately, however, when the teams again took the field to play out the latter half of the game the wind had abated to such an extent as to be hardly noticeable, but even without its help Peterborough scored eight, by a touch and try, which was converted into a goal by Lefevre, and by compelling Osgoode to rouge twice.

Osgoode displayed great generalship in the first half of the game, when, they brought all their half backs forward to play on the wings. Peterborough's halves had necessarily to move up closer, and thus Osgoode's forwards had an easier time in racing down after the ball when it went sailing towards Peterborough's touchline.

Richardson played a grand game at the quarter for Osgoode. Early in the day he received a bad cut over the eye, when he came into contact with McIntosh with such force as to stretch both men out at full length. The cut bled profusely, but the quarter back was soon at his place again, playing gamely as ever. It is understood that he will be given a chance on Osgoode's first team.

Leefe at the quarter, and Lefevre at half back, as well as Strickland in the scrimmage, played their usual excellent game.

Bell put up a star game on the right wing, and McIntosh and Montgomery also deserve special mention.

The Osgoode boys continually expressed their surprise at the excellent game put up by the Peterborough's. They were of the opinion that they were coming to a country town where main strength would be the chief factor in the game, and were agreeably disappointed when they found their skill met with skill and not with roughness. The visitors had no hesitation in stating that if Peterborough had gone into the Intermediate League, the pennant of victory would have been won by the Plate Glass City fifteen.

Peterborough goes to Toronto on Thanksgiving Day to play the first fifteen of either Osgoode, Varsity or Trinity. The boys will not go unaccompanied.

The Osgoode men came down in a special car, which was side-tracked here for them in the C.P.R. yards. They spent the greater part of the evening in the Oriental parlours, together with the members of the town team, and Hunter street re-echoed with the spirited rendering of college glees, etc. The visitors drifted down to their car in groups and when the early morning train came along there were few, if any, of them aware of the fact that their car was attached to it until they were many miles on their return trip.

INJURED WHILE AT PLAY IN THE SNOW.

After Months of Suffering Little Theresa Stabler is Called Home.

Little Theresa Stabler, daughter of John Stabler, lot 15, con. 7, of Smith, died yesterday in the Nicholls Hospital after six months of great suffering.

The little girl, who is only seven years of age, hurt her hip, last winter when out playing in the snow with her sled. She fell upon the tongue of a waggon and the iron tip pierced her thigh. The wound never became healed, and in time developed into an abscess, which was a constant source of pain to the delicate child. In the spring she was brought to the hospital and tended with the greatest care, but her constitution was too frail to stand a second operation, and so little Theresa, so well known to all who have been inmates of the hospital during the last six months, gradually faded away.

One operation, which was performed on the child in the spring, nearly resulted in her death, animation being actually suspended at one time, but by constant application of hot water bottles, and other treatment known to medical science, the little girl was revived.

Her sufferings have been borne with uncomplaining patience, and she was conscious up to the moment of her death.

A PATRON INTERVIEWED.

A reporter of the EXAMINER met a prominent member of the Patrons, in Peterborough, on Saturday, and interrogated him as follows:

Well, how are political matters in East Peterborough getting on?

"Somewhat quiet at present," was the reply.

Do you anticipate a new election for the local, in connection with Mr. Blezard's protested return, was asked.

"The patron replied that he expected that the protest would be withdrawn and Mr. Blezard allowed to take his seat for this parliament, for two reasons. He announced that he would not again be a candidate for the Legislative Assembly and, anyway, I do not think that Blezard violated the election law. For my part, I am satisfied that he should sit out this parliament."

The reporter added, that would be the graceful thing to do in any event. What are the Patrons going to do in the next Dominion election? was then asked.

"We are going to nominate a man that will stand until the last vote is polled, and we are going to call a convention shortly for that purpose."

Have you any idea who the man will be?

"No; several names are spoken of but Mr. Dawson Kennedy is looked upon as the best talker and most active Patron that we have in the East."

What about Mr. Lang?

"Mr. Lang did not accept when the nomination was tendered him. He expects Liberal nomination and will most likely accept it."

"I am not prepared to say anything further at present, as our plans are not yet fully considered. If we can get Mr. Burnham out of the way, with a Patron candidate I think we could win—in fact I am confident with a good man we can win any way, as the Patrons are stronger and more united than they were in the local contest."

THE ELECTRIC FLUID.

A FORCE OF NATURE NOT YET UNDERSTOOD BY SCIENCE.

Whence Come Those Deadly Bolts?—Weather Bureaus Investigating Some Extraordinary Pranks Played by Thunder Bolts.

So mysterious and little understood is electricity, even now that it is so widely utilized for mechanical purposes, that its vagaries in nature excite the utmost interest. The question recently discussed by Italian scientists, as to whether a bird can be struck by lightning, seems to be answered in the affirmative by the destruction of a whole flock of wild geese on April 30 last. Twenty-two of them, flying north over Casnovia, Mich., were slain by a bolt from the sky. Such an extraordinary event would have been regarded as an ominous portend a century or two ago. The action of lightning as an explosive is a subject that has elicited special attention from the weather bureau of late. Up to date no theory has been found to account for it satisfactorily. On April 30, 1894, a brick house at Keokuk, Ia., was struck and completely wrecked as if a bombshell had done the work. One day earlier a farmhouse near Kiowa, Kan., the property of D. R. Streeter, was completely ruined by a bolt, the roof, doors and windows looking as if they had been shot full of holes. At Barberton, O., on June 18, 1893, the dwelling of William Martin was literally torn to fragments by a similar agency.

Inasmuch as two hundred people are killed every year by lightning in this country special protection for the person is surely called for. One ingenious scientist mentioned by the Philadelphia Times has devised an umbrella with small copper chains attached to the end of the ribs. These are long enough to reach the ground. A thunder-storm coming up, they are loosened and permitted to dangle, while the owner of the contrivance walks along in perfect security. Under such circumstances metal about one's body is dangerous—for example, the wires in a lady's bonnet. But this peril may be overcome by fastening similar chains or copper threads to the frame-work of the headgear. Though a bolt should destroy a bonnet, the electricity would spare the wearer and pass off into the ground. An instance on record is that of a lady who raised her arm to shut a window as rain began to fall on a summer's day. There was a sudden blaze of light and, though she was unharmed, her gold bracelet disappeared so that no vestage of it could be found. A sulphurous smell was observed in the air. This, scientific men say, is quite usual when lightning strikes, being due to an excess of ozone generated by the electricity. The atmosphere in its usual condition contains one ten-thousandth part of ozone. When this proportion is increased inconvenience is felt by men and animals. It has been suggested that sometimes persons found dead after a stroke of lightning, though showing no marks of injury, may have been suffocated by ozone.

Lightning does occasionally strike twice in the same place. A few years ago St. Aloysius' church in Washington suffered. A flash ran down the lightning rod to within twenty feet of the ground. Then it left the rod, passed through twenty feet of air space to a water pipe and broke a washstand. Six years later the same thing was repeated in every detail, the electricity leaving the rod at the same point, jumping to the water pipe and smashing to pieces the washstand, which had not been mended. The Church of the Incarnation, in Washington, was also badly hit. To prevent a repetition of the accident the edifice was protected by a very elaborate and costly system of rods. The most important rod of course, protects the steeple. It ought to terminate in a sharp point, but the church authorities thought it more appropriate that it should be surmounted by a cross, on top of which was placed a rooster. Thus the usefulness of the defensive contrivance has been almost wholly destroyed, for so it stands at present.

The introduction of lightning rods in Roman Catholic countries was strongly opposed on religious grounds. Pious persons declared that the devices were of the devil, and called them "heretic rods." It was a long time before the churches would adopt them, though buildings of that description have always been the greatest sufferers from celestial fire, on account of their tall steeples. During the last century a certain church in Carinthia was struck so often that services were discontinued during the summer months. It was hit four or five times a year on an average. In 1778 a rod was put on, and there was no further trouble. At Stratsnnd, in Pomerania, a church was the scene of a very appalling occurrence. On a Sunday, the building being full of people, a ball of fire entered and fell upon the altar, thereupon exploding and doing great damage.

As to the nature of phenomena of this sort science knows almost nothing Such globular lightning is seen quite often, but nobody can guess how it is formed. All that can be said is that it is electricity very highly concentrated. Balls of lightning are sometimes seen rolling along the surface of the sea. Occasionally they strike vessels. As a rule they burst violently with a loud noise and disastrous effects.

A Nice Young King.

The young king of Spain, Alfonso XIII. who recently entered upon his ninth year, according to all who have come into contact with him, is bright, intelligent and high spirited. They tell a story of a dance at St. Sebastian, where his majesty took a great fancy to a partner of his own age, and the young lady innocently offered her cheek for a royal embrace. Alfonso, however, proudly stepped back, stretched out his hand for her to kiss, and exclaimed: "I am your king."

It Was the Fourteenth.

"No," said the man who was waiting for his turn in the barber shop, "I'm not superstitious, but I have a kind of horror of the number thirteen, and I think a good many other men have the same kind of sentiment about it. I had only one experience, but that was a peculiar one."

"Did you sleep in No. 13 in a hotel?" asked the man to whom he was talking.

"No. I went to Pontiac to attend the funeral of a friend and was invited with others who were at the services to dine at the house of a relative of the deceased—his uelce, in fact. When we sat at table our hostess, who was assisting in waiting upon us, remarked that there were just thirteen at the table. She had a beautiful child, two years of age, and to break the spell she brought the little fellow and put him in my arms. He was much admired and was passed from one to another until his mother was ready to sit down, when he was taken away."

"Well, what happened? Did some one die before the year was out?"

"That's the strange part of it. It was not one of the thirteen guests who died, but the little child, who was brought in to break the spell."

His voice faltered, and he looked thoughtful as he took his seat in the tonsorial chair.

performed by Ayer's Sarsaparilla, one in particular being that of a little daughter of a Church of England minister. The child was literally covered from head to foot with a red and exceedingly troublesome rash, from which she had suffered for two or three years, in spite of the best medical treatment available. Her father was in great distress about the case, and, at my recommendation, at last began to administer Ayer's Sarsaparilla, two bottles of which effected a complete cure, much to her relief and her father's delight. AN OLD TIME HANGING.

HOW TREY STRUNG THEM UP HALF A CENTURY AGO.

An Execution Then Was a Sort of Public Picnic—All the Countryside Gathered to Witness It—Disgraceful Scenes Around the Scaffold.

Executions half a century ago were not restricted, as they are now, to the prison yard, in the presence of a limited number of witnesses, but were celebrated conspicuously on an open field, before a large and often rollicking and tumultuous crowd of spectators.

Such a body I remember to have seen gathered on such an amphitheatre more than sixty years ago to witness the hanging of a murderer. The man was a farm hand, and well known. When under the influence of strong drink he was sullen, turbulent and dangerous; but when sober he was so proverbially quiet and inoffensive that he was the easy-going butt of his associates. While at work one day in harvest time, mowing a meadow near town, he drank freely and became tipsy; whereupon one of his comrades indulged in long-continued and rough horse-play at his expense, till in an excess of passion inflamed by rum he turned upon his tormentor and slew him on the spot.

Of course he was immediately arrested, and never shall I forget the wave of horror that swept over the little town when the news of the murder was bruited and the victim was carried to the home of his parents on a barn door. During the trial of the homicide the court-house was crowded to overflowing with people, who flocked in from the country for miles around to listen to the gruesome details of the slaying and to gaze upon the murderer as he was escorted to and fro by the constables between the jail and the court-house.

For several days immediately preceding the hanging (that was before the day of railroads, it should be recalled) multitudes from the country for twenty and more miles around flocked into town to see the execution, and some of them "to turn an honest penny."

On the fatal Friday the "Big Field" surrounding the gallows was fringed with booths and tents for the sale of cakes, pies, small beer and other refreshments, interspersed at frequent intervals with farmers' waggons laden with watermelons, muskmelons, apples, peaches and other fruit, the enterprising vendors of which drove a brisk trade under the very shadow of the fatal tree. It was estimated that on that tragic summer day over twenty-five thousand people, a large proportion of whom were women and children, were clustered around the gallows to witness the dying throes of the wretched man. And, thoughtless boy though I was, I was shocked by the horrible indifference to the dread event for that poor soul which was manifested, and by the still more horrible jesting, profanity and drunken combats that were indulged in. It was a saturnalia of brutishness and indifference never to be forgotten.

Longevity of Nuns.

Cloistered nuns, writes a Paris correspondent, are said to die early, and those active women of the orders of St. Thomas de Villeneuve, St. Vincent de Paul and the Augustine sisterhoods to live to great ages I know a sister of charity who was engaged in the cholera wards of the Hotel Dieu in 1832. She refuses to retire from active service, and has three times volunteered to attend smallpox patients during epidemics. Sister Rosalie, who organized the French military hospital service in the Crimea, lived to a great age. The other day the golden wedding of Sister Delphine with the order of St. Vincent de Paul was celebrated at Romanville. She was a full year a novice before she took the black veil, and has been fifty years a school teacher. Sister Delphine was thirty years old when she determined to take the vows. By the rules of the order of St. Vincent de Paul the nuns are not allowed to aspire to extraordinary virtue through mortification. Such efforts might feed pride and cause self righteousness. The teaching is that those who want to be angels before God calls them to a higher world are liable to fall lower than ordinary mortals.

Hidden Burglar Alarm.

A new type of burglar alarm is being introduced by Messrs. Siemens Brothers & Co., the special object of which is to arrange the usual contact appliance in such a position as to render it invisible and not readily accessible, while at the same time it is protected from dust and damp. The magnet, which actuates the alarm by closing or opening a circuit, is fixed inside the door jamb or window frame, while the contact lever is similarly imbedded or sunk in the door frame itself, or vice versa. On opening the door or window the influence of the magnet is withdrawn, and a spring or weight throws over the contact lever, and the circuit is thus completed.—English Mechanic.

The Chinaman's Brain.

The brain of the average Chinaman is, says Mr. C. H. Bond, up to the normal standard as regards convultiods, and rather above it in the frontal lobes. The cross furrows are more conspicuous than the front and rear ones. The weight of the brain studied by Mr. Bond is 1182 grammes, or 176 grammes less than the average male adult brain of European nations. The cerebrum is smaller and lighter in comparison to the cerebellum than is usual. For the average man the proportion is 8¼ to 1; but for this particular Chinese brain it is only 5 to 1, while it is 6¼ to 1 for the chimpanzee.

"Nothing succeeds like success," and nothing will more quickly insure success than true merit. For fifty years, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has maintained its popularity as the superior blood-purifier. It stands upon its own merits and never fails to give satisfaction.

Rheumatism can be Cured.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil has cured Chronic Rheumatism, Stiff Joints and Swellings of years' duration after all other means had failed. In all forms of inflammatory and muscular pain it is a specific cure.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Burdock Pills do not gripe or sicken. They cure Constipation and Sick Headache.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is created. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

PHYSICIANS FAILED

BUT B.B.B. CURED

DEAR SIRS—After having used Burdock Blood Bitters for Scrofula in the blood, I feel it my duty to make known the results. I was treated by a skilled physician but he failed to cure me. I had three Running Sores on my neck which could not be healed until I tried B. B. B., which healed them completely, leaving the skin and flesh sound and whole. As long as I live I shall speak of the virtues of B.B.B., and I feel grateful to Providence that such a medicine is provided for sufferers.

A SCALY ERUPTION

UNENDURABLE ITCHING

Suffered Three Years—Now Perfectly Cured by B. B. B.

GENTLEMEN—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for Skin Diseases, from which I have been a sufferer for three years. I have used six bottles and am now entirely cured. I tried other remedies, such as Donald Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura Remedies, but all to no good. I doctored one year with the best physicians in the land; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but could not remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and scales formed hard dry scales. The itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured, and I owe it all to B. B. B.

THE HAPPIEST HEART.

Who drives the horses of the sun
Shall lord it but a day;
Better lowly the deed were done,
And kept the humble way.

The rust will find the sword of fame,
The dust will hide the crown;
Ay, none shall nail so high his name
Time will not tear it down.

The happiest heart that ever beat
Was in some quiet breast
That found the common daylight sweet

JOHN VANCE CHENEY.

HIS HEARING WAS RESTORED.

But for Some Time After He Couldn't Bear the Ticking of a Watch.

A well-known physician recently told the following story to an Indianapolis Sentinel reporter: "A prominent Marion county farmer discovered that he was gradually getting deaf. He couldn't hear the hired man blast stumps with giant powder. He came to my office and made signs that he wanted his ears examined. I examined them and in an instant almost found that his defective hearing was caused by the gathering of a waxy substance in his ears. When I removed this obstruction of the hearing I was surprised at the result. The old gentleman jumped from the chair where he had been seated and put both hands to his ears. He couldn't stand the noise from the street and the least sound startled him. He was one of the most pleased men I ever saw. He went away and it was several weeks before I saw him again. He called at my office with his wife and she did all the talking. She hardly raised her voice above a whisper and every now and then she looked at her husband in a timid way. She said that for several days he would not allow the least bit of noise in the house and that he butchered some pigs before their time on account of being affected by their squeal. His daughter and her husband had lived with them for two years and they had to leave on account of the crying of their 6-months-old baby. There were two clocks in the house, one in the dining-room and one in the bedroom. These he stopped on account of their ticking. The clock in the bedroom was an alarm clock. It went off one night. He jumped from bed and nearly broke his neck by falling head first on the floor. The woman said that she had to keep the house as quiet as a graveyard for more than two weeks, as it was that long before her husband became accustomed to hearing. His daughter, however, has gone back to the farm with her baby, and the clocks have been started again."

Silk Made From Wood Pulp.

At Bradford, England, silk has been made from wood pulp so much like the real thing that it bids fair to occupy a place in commerce and use. It is produced by subjecting vegetable fiber to the action of various acids, the result being a product said to be identical with the filament of the worm, having its lightness, lustre and all its qualities, including that of durability. Commercially speaking, the importance of the discovery can hardly be overestimated, and it is possible that it will produce the most revolutionary consequences in the trade in that commodity everywhere. The world's stock of silk, both woven and raw, is immense and has always held a staple value likely to be much shaken and disturbed by the intrusion of a new supply which can be cheaply and abundantly produced. Samples of yarn, fringe, braid, gimps, sewing silks, handkerchiefs, brocades and other fabrics, dyed in various colors, have been exhibited by the Bradford makers to the trade and pronounced all right and up to the commercial standard in all respects. With artificial silk and artificial diamonds and rubies such as are now being turned out in great abundance, modern society will doubtless take on a style of splendor hitherto unknown, outshining the courts of Solomon or the Queen of Sheba or the retinues of Mahoud or Haroun Al Raschid. —Philadelphia Ledger.

Origin of Common Law.

In a most able discourse delivered by ex-Chief Justice Charles P. Daly, of the New York court of common pleas, before the senior law class of the University of the City of New York, April, 1894, on the common law, its origin, sources, nature and development, he attributes the origin of the common law in England to the Norseman. Their laws of war were most chivalrous; to strike a fallen enemy was murder. No history has been more perveted by even modern historians than that of the Vikings. Their conquests and settlement of Britain, of part of Gaul and other countries, of their expeditions and invasions, of their sea power, have been attributed to another people—the so-callled Saxons of the Romans, then to the Anglos.

People shout "We belong to the glorious Anglo-Saxon race" when there is not a particle of historical facts backed by monuments to prove their assertions. On the contrary, as it will be seen, the monuments or graves found in England and called Saxon or Anglo-Saxon graves or in France Frankish graves are thoroughly Norse in origin as well as their contents.

Taking Time by the Forelock.

A clerk in the war department went out to look for lodgings the other day and called at a nice looking house on Eleventh street in the window of which was a placard, "Rooms for Rent." The landlady showed him a large front room, the rental for which, she stated, was $16 a month.

"That is more than I can afford to pay," said the clerk.

"Well," responded the landlady, apologetically, "would you object to occupying a room in which a lady had died?"

"No," replied the clerk, "I guess not. What caused the death?"

"Consumption."

"That is not a contagious disease. How long since the lady died?"

"Why, she isn't dead yet, but it is only a question of a few days. Can't I engage the room to you?"—Washington Post.

Their Name is Legion.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

A Baby Saved.

DEAR SIRS,—My baby had a terrible cough. The doctor said it was Whooping Cough, but it got worse all the time until baby was just like a skeleton. When he was four months old I tried Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion, and after using one and a half bottles my baby is entirely cured. No other remedy but the Emulsion was used, and baby is now strong and healthy.

The Occasion of Mr. Fred Clarke's Departure Gives the Congregation of St. John's an Opportunity of Expressing its Appreciation of Him.

At the conclusion of the services in St. John's church last evening, a ceremony took place which was both sad and pleasant in its attendant circumstances—sad, because a valued member of the congregation in the person of Mr. Fred Clarke, was bidding adieu to his many friends in the congregation prior to leaving town, and pleasant, because those friends were given an opportunity of expressing their appreciation of Mr. Clarke's work in church circles and as organist of St. John's.

Immediately after Mr. Clarke had doffed his simplice he was notified that a presentation was about to take place, and very many of the congregation remained in the edifice to witness it. The late organist was detained at the head of the church, where Rev. Mr. Davidson apprised him of the object of those assembled, and expressed his regret at Mr. Clarke's departure from town in words that reached the hearts of all present and more especially that of Mr. Clarke himself.

Mr. Robert Fair, rector's churchwarden, then stepped forward and on behalf of the congregation read the following address, while Mr. Harry Long, people's churchwarden, made the presentation :

PARISH CHURCH OF ST. JOHN'S,
Peterborough, Nov. 3rd, 1894.

Mr. Frederick Clarke, late organist of St. John's Church, Peterborough

DEAR MR. CLARKE,—The Clergy, Wardens and Congregation of St. John's church, on the eve of your departure, desire to express to you their appreciation of your services as organist and a recognition of the faithful and courteous manner in which you have discharged your duties. Although they have known for some time that the severing of your connection must come before long, they, nevertheless, feel much regret in the thought that they will be deprived of the great pleasure and assistance which they have derived from your chaste rendering of the musical portions of the services, and in asking you to accept the trifling memento now presented to you, they wish to assure you of their continued interest in your future and the hope that you may at some time return to your position amongst them.

Very sincerely yours,

JOHN C. DAVIDSON, Rector. CHAS. B. KENRICK, Curate.
ROBT. FAIR, Rector's Warden. H. LONG, People's Warden.

The mementos referred to in the address consisted of a goldheaded ebony cane, a handsome travelling case and a purse of gold. Mr. Long made a few remarks apropos of the occasion, and Mr. Clarke was so overcome by his emotion and the surprise, which was a genuine one, that he could hardly voice his thanks for the presentation, which, he assured them, that he would value most highly as mementoes of the most pleasant years of his life.

After a few moments spent in earnest prayer those present moved to the front of the church and bade Mr. Clarke good bye, after which the congregation slowly dispersed.

Owing to the fact that the promoters of the presentation had such brief intimation of Mr. Clarke's departure, which took place this morning at 4.51, it was necessary to take the only opportunity that presented—at the close of the evening service—and the matter was conducted with so much of solemnity and decorum as to make it almost a continuation of the service.

As if in emphasis of the loss the church and congregation sustains in the withdrawal of his services as organist, the recessional voluntary Mr. Clarke played last night was one of the most brilliant and effective solo performances he has given during his incumbency. Mr. Clarke is an organist and musician of exceptional ability for so young a man, and if he should give himself over exclusively to the pursuit of musical study he would make a decided mark as a professional musician.

WORD FROM THE LAND OF THE RISING SUN.

How Affairs are Going in Japan—A Long Continued War Feared.

Miss Jessie K. Munro, of Peterborough, who is located in Tokio, Japan, as a missionary, writes home to her parents, concerning the Japanese-Chinese war, as follows :—"The war is the general subject of conversation. I do admire the way the Japanese are taking their successes. Although they have been successful so far, they fear the result of a long continued war, and the expense is enormous—hundreds of thousands of yen every day, they say. No Japanese speaks of it now without his very heart showing through his eyes. The Japanese are more than patriotic in its usual sense. If you touch one Japanese the whole nation feels it, and the deaths on the battlefield and the maltreatment of the pursuers taken by the Chinese, come almost like personal sorrow to old and young. Again and again, as our people speak of the war, their voices choke and their eyes fill and yet the campaign has been a succession of victories for the Japanese on land and sea. Not a day passes in our school without public prayer for the army. The Christians say "Japan must conquer, for it is a just and wholly unselfish war." "Japan must conquer, for how much cruelty will be done by the Chinese if they conquer." God grant that it may soon be over.

The work in the school goes on very slowly. Everyone's attention is distracted by the war and people are not sending their children to school. Even the preachers—many of them—have left their charges to go around the country speaking about the war. The Quakers report many of their members leaving them because of their peace principles.

Miss Munro returned to Tokio last July, after spending a few months holidays with her parents in Peterborough.

SMITH.

Death of an Old and Respected Resident.

Sunday morning Mr. John McDonald, who has for a long time been in infirm health, passed away. The deceased gentleman was born 84 years ago in Cork county, Ireland, and came to Canada in 1825. He settled in Smith, upon a farm on the Lakefield road, where he lived with the exception of temporary absence, absence, till the time of his death. Mr. McDonald was twice married, the first time to Miss Ann O'Neil, sister of Mr. John O'Neil, Chambers street. To this union were born five children—three sons and two daughters. Mr. McDonald's second wife was Miss Eliza Young, daughter of the late Wm. Young, of Young's Point, who bore him ten children. Mr. McDonald was well known in this vicinity, and was highly respected for his integrity and uprightness, and many good qualities as a friend and neighbour. The funeral takes place from the family residence on Tuesday at 9 o'clock.

TENNYSON MUTILATED.

A Regina paper publishes the following lines on a tame bear which recently died a violent death :

Half a leg, half a leg,
Half a leg o' Bruin,
Lies in the butcher shop
Ready for chewin'.
His not to reason why,
His not to ask reply,
His but to camly lie
There in the window.

Indians to right of him,
Schoolboys to left of him,
Butchers in front of him,
Screaming and scratching.
Sto med at with shot and shell,
Promptly he rose and fell,
While with a fiendish yell,
Thus ended Bruin.

BEHIND THE SCENES.

Annie Abbott, the "magnet," has reached Montreal on a proposed tour through Canada. Don't come west, Annie, even if the Montreal press has given you flattering notices. We're "onto you;" Nellie Bly, of the New York World, sized you up well and we know the trick.

The number of actresses who think that they are divinely designed for the succession of Rosina Vokes is only limited by the number of young women who are starring.

The veteran "Gus" Pennoyer says that during the five years he was connected with the management of Lotta's tour there was scarcely a page in the account books which did not show a "charity" entry of from $10 to $300.

Wilkie Collins, at the performances of his own plays, used to sit in a box, with his back to the stage, and watch the effect of every speech upon the audience. He then jotted down the memoranda in a note-book, and whatever failed to "go" was certain to be cut out the next day.

Sarah Bernhardt is going to play the "Second Mrs. Tanqueray" in French.

Mrs. Langtry will sail for America on October 27 and will remain here until June.

William A. Brady, manager of Corbett, Bobby Gaylor, Joseph Grismer and Phœbe Davis, and the melodramatic productions, "The Cotton King" and "Old Glory," is the latest theatrical man that wants to have a theatre of his own in New York. He says if he can't find one ready made he will have it put up to order.

Lincoln J. Carter will produce "The Tornado" in London next month for a run at the Alhambra Theatre. Manager Carter's first play, "The Fast Mail," has been touring the English Provinces for three years and its great success there is the incentive for the production of "The Tornado."

It is rather remarkable that the engagement of Cissy Loftus to cross the Atlantic and appear as the ingenue of Augustin Daly's Company has called forth so little comment. Last summer in London, where she was exclusively engaged at the Palace Music Hall, she was the greatest of all favorites. Her name was more spoken than that of Irving, Bernhardt or Rejane.

STAGESTRUCK.

Improving on the Typewriter.

An inventor claims to have constructed a machine which will accomplish not only the work of an ordinary typewriter, but is adapted for successful operation in the case of bound books of any size, as the device can readily be clasped upon a book of any breadth or thickness for the recording of a deed or other instrument of writing. In this mechanism there are seventy-four characters, including all carried by usual machines, while there are but twenty-seven keys to be operated, and in its movement it strikes downward and travels over the page of paper from left to right, along a spacing bar, the printing contrivance which moves along the bar weighing only four and one-half pounds, while the clasps and the entire apparatus weigh only nine and three-fourths pounds. There is also provided an ingenious kind of lining arrangement—suitable for application likewise to other typewriters—insuring perfect regulation of the distance between lines until the machine is finally worn out.

Be good to them, provide them with one of Kingscotte's strictly waterproof covers, costing only a dollar or two. They have no tar in their composition, being an OIL preparation, which keeps them soft and pliable. Awnings taken down and stored in a careful and agreeable manner. Halls decorated for assemblies; balls and meetings of all kinds. ALF. KINGSCOTTE, tent, sail and awning maker, 344 Water street.

RE-UNION OF CHRISTENDOM.

Cardinal Gibbons Says the Conditions Are Easier Than Generally Imagined.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 5—Cardinal Gibbons yesterday preached at the Cathedral on "the Re-union of Christendom." He said that Luther, Calvin and other reformers of the 16th century should have reformed within the church. Such a reformer was St. Charles Boromec whose feast was celebrated yesterday. In regard to the re-union of christendom the Cardinal said : "I have prayed that as we are bound to our separatist brethren by social and family and by national and commercial ties so may we be re-united to them in the bonds of a common faith. Separation is estrangement : union is love. Gladly would I give my life for this devout consummation. The conditions of re-union are easier than are generally imagined. Of course there can be no compromise on faith and morals. The doctrines and moral code which Christ left us must remain unchanged. But the church can modify her discipline to suit the circumstances of the times." The Cardinal appealed to his separatist brethren saying the only restraint the church imposes is obedience to the moral law.

Heavy Weather on the Atlantic.

SOUTHAMPTON, Nov. 5.—The captain of the steamer Berlin, which arrived here yesterday, says that he experienced the worst weather he had seen since 1877. For five days it was especially bad. Tremendous seas swept over the decks, the passengers were kept below and the hatches were battened down. Third Officer Bromley was washed overboard and drowned. Two of the crew were dashed against the bulwarks and injured. The vessel was not damaged much. All vessels arriving here report storms and casualties.

A Bomb in Old London.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—A bomb exploded at midnight in front of No. 1 Tilney street, corner of Park Lane, West London. Reginald Brett, son of Lord Esher, lives in the house at this number. The door was shattered and the windows were blown to powder. The windows for a dozen numbers up the street were smashed, plaster was loosened from the ceilings, and the occupants fled panic-stricken to the street. Nobody was hurt. It is surmised that the bomb was set by anarchists who mistook Brett's house for that of Justice Hawkins.

The Earthquake in Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 5.—The earthquake which visited this section of the republic Friday evening was the most severe which has been felt since 1858. Reports of damage to life and property are coming in slowly, but it is known that thirteen people were killed in this city, and at least three at outside points. All the killed are of the lower classes.

British Fight With Waziris.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 5.—In the recent conflict between Turner's surveyors' escort and the Waziris on the frontier 21 soldiers, mostly natives, and 23 followers were lost by the British, and 250 Waziris were killed.

Walter, of the Thunderer, is Dead.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—John Walter, chief proprietor of the London Times, is dead. He was born in London, 1818, and has been a member of parliament. His grandfather published the first number of the Times on January 1, 1788.

No Boarders in the Palace.

One of the ladies of Hampton Court palace recently undertook to increase her income by taking boarders. The lord chamberlain was therefore obliged to point out that while rooms at Hampton court may be temporarily lent with the queen's consent, and there is no objection to relatives or friends contributing to the expenses of the ladies while on a bona-fide visit, the queen draws a line at attempts to make pecuniary profit out of her hospitality.

A 'Longshoreman Murdered.

SAGINAW, Mich., Nov. 5.—The body of John Lafferty, a 'longshoreman who disappeared ten days ago, was found floating in the river on Saturday. There was an ugly looking gash on the head, giving rise to the theory of murder, although it could not have been for the purpose of robbery.

His Wife Instigated the Deed.

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 5.—George Van Pelt, a wealthy young man of Trenton, was assassinated a few days ago. Sidney Seth, aged 19, has confessed to the crime, saying that Mrs. Van Pelt induced him to kill her husband

J. B. Balfour's Extradition.

BUENOS AYRES, Nov. 5.—The Government has granted the extradition of Jabez Spencer Balfour, the absconding head of the Liberator Association and ex-Member of Parliament, and he will be taken to England without delay.

Will War Against Madagascar.

PARIS, Nov. 5.—Le Paris asserts that the Government will demand from the Chamber of Deputies a credit of 30,000,000 francs to prosecute the proposed war against Madagascar.

Jesuits Pray for Mercier.

MONTREAL, Nov. 5.—Twelve thousand Jesuits scattered throughout the world offered up masses on All Souls' Day for the repose of the soul of the late Mr. Mercier as instructed to do by the General of the Jesuit order, as a token of gratitude to his memory for his settlement of the Jesuits' estates question.

Crushed by a Falling Awning

TERRELL, Tex., Nov. 5.—While 100 persons were standing on a wooden awning in front of the Mississippi store to see the street parade of a circus the awning fell. There were fully 200 persons underneath and the awning struck them with terrific force. In all there were over 125 injured. The work of examining the injured progressed slowly and so far the physicians say that five of them will die.

Rough Weather on Lake Erie.

BUFFALO, Nov. 5.—A seaman named Louis was swept off the schooner Porter near Windmill point on the Canada shore in Saturday's storm. The body has not been recovered. Another seaman named Rudstaf was at the time badly injured and was taken to the hospital as soon as the vessel made this port. All craft on the lake had a bad time of it, and some serious disasters may have occurred.

Rejoicing Over the Czar's Death.

BOSTON, Nov. 5.—A mock funeral service of rejoicing over the death of the Czar of Russia was held in memorial hall at the south end of Boston last night, about 2,000 Hebrews being in attendance. Socialistic speakers and labor leaders were the orators. Parodists were numerous and the music enlivening.

AN ATROCIOUS CRIME

Two Children Brutally Murdered Near an Ohio Town.

THE LITTLE GIRL OUTRAGED

Both Bodies Were Horribly Mutilated and Burned to Cover Up the Traces of the Crime—Two Men Arrested on Suspicion Narrowly Escape Lynching.

PAULDING, Ohio, Nov. 6.—George and Nellie Good, aged 9 and 6 years respectively, children of Samuel Good, who lives about three miles north of Paulding, were found by a searching party in the woods near the house with their throats cut from ear to ear and their bodies blackened from a fire started with the object of removing all trace of the crime.

On Sunday afternoon the Good children were playing in the road near their home and wandered into a near-by wood. They failed to return at supper time and could not be found by their parents. At dark a searching party was organized, and the search continued throughout the night, but no trace of the little ones was found until morning, when a party of men found the bodies in a brush heap forty rods from the road and less than a mile from their home. The little girl's head was pounded to a pulp, her throat was cut and she had been disembowelled. The little boy's head was nearly severed from his body, which was terribly mangled.

The little bodies had been tied together with a tarred rope and thrown into the brush, which had afterwards been fired, but owing to a heavy rain the brush was too damp to burn and the fire only blacked the mangled bodies. It is supposed that the little girl was outraged and then murdered and her companion was killed to prevent him telling of the crime.

About 500 persons visited the scene of the murder and threatened swift and terrible punishment to the guilty ones if found. Sheriff Staley arrived upon the scene and arrested Charles Hart, aged 19 years, a boy who resides near the Good Home, on suspicion. Hart is an illiterate boy and is by some considered insane. His arrest was due to his strange actions at the time the bodies were found. Leo Gain, a negro, 21 years old, who has been a companion of Hart, was also arrested and placed in jail. Paulding was quickly filled with men who talked of lynching the arrested persons. Judge Snook and other leading citizens made an effort to quiet the mob by delivering speeches in the streets.

The attitude of the mob continued to grow more and more threatening and the prisoners were sent to Vanwert for safe keeping.

A Farmer's Dire Distress.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 6.—A visitor from the country found three children dead and four others besides their mother very sick with smallpox in the lonely farm house of Fred Kusch four miles from Hades Corners, this county. Kusch's neighbors have refused to go near him so he has nursed his family as best he could for eight days. The state board of health will give Kusch, who has not slept for five days, immediate relief.

Changes in the New Tariff.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—The Treasury Department has liberally construed, on an opinion of Solicitor Reeve, paragraph 91 of the new tariff and directed that window glass, packed in cases of 50 feet square and multiples thereof, be admitted to entry. Heretofore the rules provided that only window glass packed in cases of fifty feet square, should be admitted to entry.

Death From Poisoned Water.

GALLIPOPOLIS, Ohio, Nov. 6.—The drinking of poisoned train water caused the death at Evergreen of Mrs. James Donnelly. Her father, Joseph de Little, and her three sisters are believed to be dying from the same cause. The poison came from white lead with which their house had been painted.

A Bad Indian's Deed.

LOCKPORT, N. Y., Nov. 6.—Mitchell Patterson, a very bad Indian of the Tuscarora tribe, went to the house of his neighbor, Isaac Clause, a good Indian, and called him out. As soon as Clause appeared Patterson knocked him down and kicked him on the head. Patterson then skipped out. Clause may die.

Stabbing Affray in Guelph.

GUELPH, Nov. 6.—What might have proved a serious stabbing affray took place here, when Ben McCuen, under the influence of liquor, struck Alex. Robinson, hostler at Devlin's livery, with a pocket knife in the breast because Robinson would not give him a rig. The knife struck a rib and did not do much serious injury. McCuen claims he did not know he struck Robinson with the knife.

Big Blaze in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—An immense blaze was caused in the east end last night. Shortly before midnight four large buildings used for storing ice, owned by H. Dufrane, situated on Lafontaine and Fullum streets and filled with hay, were destroyed. Firemen Lafrance and Richard were dangerously hurt by falling timbers. The loss will exceed $5,000.

OUR JUDICIAL SYSTEM

An Important Question to the Colonies Discussed by the Times.

AN AUSTRALIAN SUGGESTION

That Colony's Desire for Representation on the English Bench Suggests a Remedy to the Present System of Disposing of Colonial Matters.

LONDON, Nov. 6—The Times this morning says in a leader on the Australian suggestion that judges from Australia should be eligible for the English bench: "There is a strong feeling in the self-governing colonies that if the judicial committee of the privy council is to retain its old position it must be enlarged to meet the new requirements which it is expected to fulfil. The alternative seems to lie between this and the creation of independent supreme courts for each great group of colonies. The existing supreme court of Canada is an indication of the direction in which the colonies may be expected to move. If in Colonial appeals, the judges composing the committee have given decision on points with which they necessarily were unfamiliar, it is not surprising that they make mistakes which bring the judicial system of the empire into disrepute.

"If there were no remedy the eventual severance of the judicial systems of the principal colonies from that of the United Kingdom probably would be inevitable. It is, however, very generally recognized that a remedy lies in the exercise of the power by which the provision already has been made in theory for the admission of colonial judges to the committee. It is felt that the Australian, Canadian or South African judges should sit in the committee for the reason for which the Indian judges originally were called to share the council's affairs.

"The self-governing colonies have assumed an import warranting the grave consideration of the demand. The change might be made gradually by appointing in the first instance only one, who presumably would be chosen from Australia. The legal reputation of the best colonial judges is very high, and there can be little doubt that the judgments of the council would gain weight from being formed with actual, as well as technical, knowledge of local law."

The Times insists upon the advantage of maintaining the existing unity of the British legal system. "The question cannot be determined solely by legal merits," it says. "The committee has for the majority of the colonists something more than the significance of a mere court of appeals. Perhaps no British institution is more universally accepted as a symbol of the unity of the empire. Its efficiency has high political importance and any measure tending to increase its efficiency must be viewed with general satisfaction. The question of expense may be raised, but if the colonies are earnest in their desire for judicial representation this ought not to be a permanent obstacle."

TRADE WITH AUSTRALIA.

Mr. Larke Speaks of the Possibilities of Canadian Manufactures.

QUEBEC, Nov. 6.—Mr. Larke, speaking before the Board of Trade on his mission to Australia, said that the Massey Manufacturing Company of Toronto was exporting largely to that country, and doing a profitable trade. Quebec manufacturers could many of them do as well. The four million inhabitants of Australia imported goods to the annual value of $365,000,000 or a million dollars worth a day. Canada could do a large part of this trade. He expected to be in Sidney about the middle of December and would be glad to answer any questions from Canadian manufacturers. He did not advise the shipment of goods on commision to agents in Australia but thought it would be better for a number of houses to unite in sending out a representative to follow up lines of samples that would have to be sent. The wages paid in Australia were so high that manufacturing would not pay there. Messrs. Gourlieau and Bresse and A. J. Turcotte, M. P., spoke of the possibilities of the boot and shoe trade in the proposed markets and votes of thanks were passed to both Hon. A. R. Ingers and Mr. Larke.

Attempted His Life.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Oscar Cummer, a printer, who hails from the United States, and who has been on a prolonged spree for some time past, was locked up at police headquarters yesterday on a charge of insanity. He was standing at the corner of Simcoe and Adelaide streets when a man named Thomas Elwood came along. Cummer stopped the latter on the street and said he was going to blow his brains out. Elwood told him not to be a fool, but Cummer pulled out a revolver and levelled it at his own head. Elwood struck his arm and the pistol exploded, the bullet going through Cummer's hand. A policeman was called and the injured man was taken into custody.

The Murphy Forgery Case.

HAMILTON, Nov. 6.—Before Judge Muir, Barrister James Chisholm moved for judgment in the claim of the American Exchange Bank, First National Bank, Merchants' Loan and Trust Company, Continental Bank and Schutte Bros., all of Chicago, against Cornelius F. Murphy, now in jail awaiting extradition. The claims aggregate $18,000. Fitzgerald, for Murphy, opposed the motion. Judgment was reserved. Mr. Fitzgerald will apply for a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Murphy, who is under sentence of extradition on a charge of forgery.

They Suspect Foul Play.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—The sons of John L. Smithson, who died suddenly under strange circumstances, are in Toronto and will urge the Government to analyse the stomach; failing which they will have it done themselves. The young men wish it made known that Mr. Smithson was not in the habit of taking liquor, and they cannot understand his heavy drinking here just before his death.

CHINA SUES FOR PEACE

She Will Request the Powers to Step in and Stop the War.

COREA TO BE INDEPENDENT

China is Disposed to Grant This as a Basis of a Peace Settlement—She Will Have to Go Down on Her Knees to Her Conquerors.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The Central News says: "There is reason to believe that China has resolved to formally ask the powers who have immediate commercial interests at stake to stop the war. The Chinese minister is said to have communicated the request to the Foreign Office in London. Last night he started for Paris to seek interviews with M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs and President Casimir-Perier.

Neither the Foreign Office, the Admiralty, the Chinese Legation nor the Japanese Legation has heard anything to confirm the published report of the bombardment and capture of Talien Wan and Kobuyono. The Central News suggests that the report has the same imaginary basis as the story of Port Arthur's fall.

The Graphic has this despatch from Rome: "According to a telegram from Pekin China is disposed to conclude peace upon the basis of the acknowledgment of the independence of Corea and the payment of an indemnity to be fixed by the powers. The powers who are willing to support this arrangement are requested to intervene."

The Daily News has information that China is suing for peace, and has instructed her envoys in Europe to submit to the powers the terms which she is willing to offer. It is a formal renewal or repetition on a larger scale of the overtures made to the British Government a month ago. The News expresses again its approval of Lord Rosebery's effort for joint interference, and speaks regretfully of the reticence of the powers to see the matter in the same light.

"No European government," it says, "can desire to see this disastrous conflict prolonged. Even the United States, despite the Monroe doctrine, must be concerned for the regularity and security of their trade with Japan. Sooner or later, and better sooner than later, there must be an internal settlement. It will be difficult to contend that interference will be premature now."

In a letter on China's proposals for peace the Standard says: "The conquerors will for the first time display a lack of sagacity if they decline to accept reasonable overtures for peace. They are no longer despised by the Chinese, but, more than ever, are hated and could not hope to govern a single province of China proper if it should be formally ceded to them. Meanwhile the powers have a common interest in averting the disintegration of the celestial empire. Humanity peremptorily forbids the thought of allowing a government under which hundreds of millions live to be destroyed. Japan may lose the whole fruits of her victory by clutching for too much."

The Daily Chronicle says: "If China desires peace she should address her request to Japan and not to Europe. However unpleasant the task may be, it is to the victorious the vanquished must appeal."

The Times correspondent in Tien-Tsin telegraphs under yesterday's date: "The telegraph to Port Arthur was cut yesterday, probably on the narrow isthmus between Port Adams and Talien Wan. This indicates that the Japanese are within a day's march of the Talien Wan forts. It is reported that 70,000 Siberian troops have been concentrated at Vladivostock."

The Times hears from Yokhama that before the capture of Wong-Hung-Tcheng the Chinese fired the citadel and fled in the night.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—The Kreuz Zeitung correspondent in London has had an interview with Sir Halliday McCartney, councillor of the Chinese legation. Sir Halliday vigorously attacked Lord Rosebery's policy toward the combatants as weak and vacillating.

"When Japan demanded reforms in Corea," he said, "Lord Rosebery ought to have prevented further complications by demonstrating to her that it would be impossible to comply with such a preposterous proposal. He ought to have intimated that if there should be war between China and Japan Great Britain would not remain neutral. When the Kow-Shing was sunk by a Japanese man-of-war he let another opportunity slip, allowing the British flag to be insulted with impunity. The eastern people are not likely not to forget how the flag may be treated. But Lord Rosebery's sudden attempt to interfere was more remarkable than his previous 'let alone' policy. It was not solicited nor even countenanced by the combatants and was utterly unwarranted. It was unprecedented in the annals of British diplomacy. England will have to pay the piper eventually. China will reimburse herself for the cost of the war by imposing duties on foreign goods when they reach the barrier stations of the interior. Obviously these duties will fall most heavily on British trade."

Storm in New England.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—A fierce storm is raging in New England. Last evening reports reached the United Press office that it was snowing hard along the coast. Shortly after 9 o'clock the velocity of the wind increased, tearing down wires and breaking communication with all points. At midnight connection was made with Springfield, Mass., via Albany, N. Y., but there is no prospect of restoring communication with Boston to-night. Springfield reports that a heavy snow storm prevails there.

Damage by Water at a Fire.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—A fire broke out in H. Sims & Co.'s cellar warehouse last evening. The fire itself was of slight consequence, but the premises were supplied with patent sprinklers, which at a certain temperature go off. This is what happened and the whole place was badly damaged by water. The loss will amount to about $10,000.

THE TOWN COUNCIL'S THREE HOUR SESSION.

A Deputation From The Children's Aid Society.

THE SHERBROOKE STREET SEWER.

The Town Will not Consent to Act in Regard to Indeminifying Contractor Grant Until his Bond is Properly Signed and Executed, and the Contractor Does'nt Want to Sign Until He's Promised Indemnity.

At the regular meeting of the town council, last night, there were present Mayor Kendry and Councillors Cahill, White, Kelly, Hall, Hughes, Dawson, Roger, Sutton, Mason and Brady.

After the reading of the minutes of the three previous meetings of the council the report of the Engineer re the construction of an extension of the Sherbrooke street drain was read, and upon the Mayor asking if any of those who signed the petition wished to withdraw their names several of the ratepayers present signified their intention of so doing. The difficulty appears to be that they desired a sewer in the middle of the street and not a drain along the side. Those withdrawing their names were John Adlum, Philip O'Brien, Octave Trombley, Stephen Carroll and Albert Dunford. The withdrawal of their names by these gentlemen of names of ratepayers interested which was on the petition to a minority, and consequently the drain will not be completed. The cost of the expenses already incurred will have to be borne by the petitioners, but those withdrawing their names will be assessed just twice as much as those who did not.

A deputation representing the Children's Aid Society, and composed of Mrs. Kendry, Mrs. Butler, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. (Dr.) O'Sullivan, Venerable Archdeacon Casey, Father Scollard, Rev. W. R. Young, Sheriff Hall, Hampden Burnham and Rev. J. E. Trotter, was received and introduced to the council.

The deputation was welcomed by the Mayor, who apologised for keeping the members of it waiting so long and invited them to broach the subject which caused their attendance at council.

Mr. Hampden Burnham, secretary of the Children's Aid Society, was the first speaker and explained to the council the object of the deputation in appearing before them, viz., to point out to the council its duty in regard to assuming the responsibility of co-operating with the society in its work. He quoted the statutes bearing on the duties of the council in such matters. There were twenty-five children, he stated, who should be taken immediately from their parents and put in charge of proper and responsible persons. And it was in this work and in the incurred in finding the children suitable homes, that the society wished the aid of the town. Although it was plainly the town's duty to aid in this work of succor and provide a temporary shelter for the children, until homes were found for them, yet it was not on the ground of duty that the society appealed to the councillors, but hoped rather that their sympathy would lead them to extend help to those little ones, who, at present, were living in atmosphere tainted with crime and profligacy.

Sheriff Hall, in addressing the council, asked that a committee be appointed to confer with the society regarding the course to be followed. He thought that by following this course much valuable time could be saved, and when the committee was ready to make its report a special meeting of the council could be called to consider the question.

The Mayor, too, was in favour of appointing a committee to deal with the question and in compliance with the Sheriff's suggestion the Finance Committee was selected to confer the society.

THE LICENSE COMMITTEE

recommended that the market by-law be amended so that it will not prevent butcher shops being kept on George street between Brock and Charlotte streets, and that Wm. Croft, T. Cavanagh, M. Connors and M. and J. Jamieson, who paid large sums for a three months license this year, be granted an eating house license each, to the first of May next, free.

Mr. Hughes spoke to the report and moved the adoption of the first clause.

Mr. Dawson and Mr. Brady moved in amendment that the whole report be adopted.

Mr. Hall moved in amendment to the amendment, that the first clause be not adopted.

An animated discussion followed.

Mr. Hughes explained in relation to the first clause, that the limits regarding the exclusion of butcher shops from certain portions of the town had been gradually narrowed, and he thought that butcher shops would do no harm anywhere.

Mr. Cahill and Mr. Hall opposed the passage of the clause.

The discussion then turned on the eating house licenses, and Mr. Brady explained that the object of the committee in not charging these hotels, which had lost liquor licenses, for eating house licenses, was to encourage the establishment of TEMPERANCE HOUSES.

Mr. Hughes opposed this clause, as he did not think it exactly fair to other proprietors of eating houses.

After some further discussion, it was resolved to receive the report as a whole, and on motion of Messrs. Dawson and Brady, a resolution was carried to pass the second clause, and allow the first to stand for the present.

Mr. Hughes then moved that the report be amended so that the limits be narrowed down to exclude the butcher shops from George street between Charlotte and Hunter.

Mr. Hall thought this would be most unfair, and worse than the report, as such a motion would be clearly passed in favour of an individual.

Mr. Hughes had a by-law already drafted to meet the case, but the spirited opposition of the members induced him to move that the clause be referred back to the License Committee for further consideration.

The resolution was carried.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Mr. W. H. Moore, as solicitor for Contractor Grant, stating that the work on the sewer will be recommenced, provided the town pay him for the work already done and provide for payment for the additional work of completing the brickwork in the excavations already made.

On motion of Messrs. Hall and Cahill, Mr. Moore was heard in reference to the construction of the sewer and payment for the work. Mr. Moore stated that though the contractor was anxious to get on with the work, he could not see how he could do it by piecemeal, unless some arrangement could be made for a payment of a portion of the cost of the same. He only asked for payment, after the town engineer had certified to the proper discharge of the work.

Councillor Hughes objected to any change being made in the terms of the contract.

The Mayor thought that Mr. Grant should be treated fairly and squarely regarding the matter and that he against loss and reimbursed for his outlay, as much as was consistent with the legal view of the question.

Mr. Dawson thought that the request of Mr. Grant was not at all unreasonable He was in favour of paying Mr. Grant pro rata for the work done.

Councillor Brady also thought the request most reasonable, unless the Town Solicitor advised against such a course of action being followed.

Mr. Moore explained further that in regard to the signing of Mr. Grant's bonds by his bondsmen, the contractor was perfectly willing to have the council pass a resolution such as he asked, and to attach to it the proviso that the bonds be signed immediately and the contract executed and signed.

Councillor Hughes stated that it came upon him when the EXAMINER announced on Saturday that the contract had not yet been executed. He strongly advocated the completion of the signing of the contract and the bonds before any further steps were taken at all.

LIKE A THUNDERBOLT

Mr. Moore remarked that if the contract were executed now and the bonds signed, that the council might be inclined to hold Mr. Grant to the original conditions of the contract, and refuse to pay him for the work until it was entirely completed.

The Mayor did not think it exactly fair on the part of Mr. Moore to infer that the council would be disposed to take any advantage of Mr. Grant. He assured Mr. Moore that, as soon as the bonds were signed, he would immediately summon the council together and deal with the request of Mr. Grant and he had no doubt but that a satisfactory arrangement would be reached.

Mr. Moore had hoped the council would pass some resolution of assurance in regard to the letter, so that he might communicate such action to Mr. Grant, and pressed his request to that effect.

Mr. Hall did not want to see the question pushed along so fast and cautioned the council against taking any sudden action in regard to this letter of Mr. Grant's. His motion seconded by Mr. Kelly to the effect that the matter be referred to a committee of the whole council to be summoned at the call of the Mayor was passed.

ANOTHER BATCH OF LETTERS.

The Park Constable's request for a grant of $25 for looking after the Smith street bridge and preventing horses from being driven across it at a rate of speed exceeding a walk, was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

From Mr. W. J. Hall stating that he had fifty cords of good wood for sale and he hoped the Charity Committee would purchase some of it from him at $2.25 per cord, instead of purchasing the wood from outside parties.

On motion it was decided to advertise for tenders for the wood required.

From E. B. Edwards stating that he is in receipt of the notes of the evidence in the Mason vs. Peterborough case. He has paid of fees of $24.75 and the council is required to put up the sum of $400 as security in making the appeal.

On resolution the Mayor and treasurer were empowered to issue a check for the amount of $424.75.

From E. B. Edwards notifying the council that the Foley will case would come up for argument shortly in Toronto.—Received.

From T. J. Armstrong, complaining that he is assessed for a dog which he never owned.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From Catherine Rudkins, stating that she had received no notice of the amount for which she was assessed until she received her tax bill, and also stating that the assessment was too high both on real and personal property. She asked for a correction in the figures to be made.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From F. Lepiante, peddlar, stating that he is now a resident of the town and asking for a refund of a portion of his $30 license fee. He stated further that he had not received protection, as other peddlars were allowed to pursue their vocation without holding a license.—Referred to the License Committee with power to act.

From G. H. Hibbard, asking for a reduction in assessment on his personal income, and stating that his protest would have been filed earlier, if he had received a notice of assessment, which he did not.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From John Kelly, complaining of over-assessment of Lot 15, south of Sherbrooke street, for the Park street drain. The lot, he stated, derived no benefit from the drain.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From T. H. Fenn, stating that the tax-collector had overcharged him 70 cents on last year's taxes, and asking for a refund of the amount.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From Jonathan Green, stating his inability to pay the statute labour tax, and asking for it to be remitted in his case.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From Wm. Ferguson, stating that he is wrongfully assessed for a dog.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

From the Prisoner's Aid Association, asking aid to forward their projects.—Referred to the Charity Committee.

From Robert McLean, Secretary of the Fire Underwriters' Association, inquiring as to what had been done in reference to replacing single branch hydrants with double ones and removing dead ends.—Referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From W. H. Moore, stating that Mrs. Geo. Tighe, 13 Waterford street, had been thrown down and seriously injured by the fact that a decayed, unnailed plank in the sidewalk on George street had been raised and had tripped her. He asked the council to pay Mrs. Tighe's doctor bill and compensate her for being confined to her bed for two weeks.—Referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

From Ranney & Innes, asking for a grant of $650 to indemnify them for loss if they prepared and issued a new map of the town of Peterborough. Attention is called to the statute requiring a correct map to be registered.—Referred to the Finance Committee.

From Hall & Hayes, stating their surprise at learning that the taxes against Edward Harran had been returned against the land. On behalf of the owner of the property they gave notice that these taxes were improperly returned against the land and objected to this being done for the reason that up to the present Harran, who is assessed and is liable for the taxes, has goods sufficient to make them. In addition to this the Bailiff for the collector, at due time actually did distrain for these taxes, and for some reason did not proceed with the distress, although there were ample goods to pay them. We also on the 23rd July last formally notified the collector that we insisted on having these taxes collected out of the chattels of Harran, and pointed out that we objected to having them returned against the land. It is entirely owing to the neglect of the tax collector and her bailiff that these taxes have not been collected, and we most decidedly object to the roll being returned and the sureties of the tax collector released until these taxes are returned as collected, for as we have pointed out this should and could have been done.—Referred to the Court of Revision.

The chief of police asked for $6.75 expenses incurred in securing a conviction in the Kennedy case. Mr. Dawson opposed the passage of the account in the principle that he had always been opposed to establishment of a secret service fund.

On resolution the account was ordered paid in accordance with a previous motion in council.

THE COAL OIL BY-LAW.

Mr. Kelly introduced the by-law regarding the storage of coal oil within the town limits. The by-law prohibits the storing of coal oil in larger quantities than three barrels, to be kept in an isolated building, 60 feet distant from any other building within the fire limits. It also provides that coal oil in larger quantities than five gallons be not kept in storage, unless the oil be removed fifteen feet from any artificial light. The penalty for an infraction of the by-law is fixed not to exceed a fine of $50 or 21 days' imprisonment.

The by-law was read a third time and passed on motion of Messrs. Kelly and Hughes.

MISCELLANEOUS BUSINESS.

Mr. Hall stated that Mr. Edmison, solicitor for the township of North Monaghan, had suggested that perhaps there was a cheaper way of settling the outfall sewer matter than referring it to an arbitration. His idea was that it would be just as satisfactory if a set of questions, concerning the vital points at issue, were submitted to a number of sanitary engineers to answer. Mr. Hall moved, in accordance with these views, that Messrs. Cahill, Hughes Hall and Roger be a committee to confer with the town solicitor on the subject and draft a set of questions which could be discussed by the council.

The motion was carried.

A committee of the whole Council will be called and another conference held with the Ashburnham council re. the amalgamation question.

On motion of Mr. Dawson, the Street and Bridge Committee were empowered to advertise for tenders for snowploughing.

Street Inspector Pope submitted the following report on the outlay on the streets :

Dumping ground	$ 14 00
Grading on Hunter, Water and Rubidge streets	262 00
Cleaning streets	25 00
Repairing sidewalks and streets	94 00
Material	70 00
Total	$465 00

Received and referred to the Street and Bridge Committee.

Shall I Trust It?

Will It Meet My Expectation?

The Answer of Thousands is: "It Has Cured Us and Will Cure You."

Paine's Celery Compound Never Fails.

Testimony of a Well-Known Mechanical Engineer.

Shall I trust Paine's Celery Compound? Will it meet fully my expectations, and give to me the health and vigor for which I have so earnestly sought?

These questions are asked occasionally by wearied, overworked, nervous, sleepless and dyspeptic men and women, who have met failures and disappointments after using the common patent medicines of our times.

We admit that repeated failures have a tendency to weaken and destroy faith; we sincerely sympathize with those who have been duped in the past by worthless nostrums. The disappointed ones have not only lost their money, but they have been cast deeper into the mire of disease and suffering.

All doubts and fears as to the efficacy and powers of Paine's Celery Compound should at once be banished from the mind. The strong testimonials of prominent and well-known Canadians received in the past and coming in every day, are the best and strongest proofs of the value of the great medicine. When trustworthy friends and neighbors are cured, and you know it, what further evidence is wanted? Surely the medicine that has cured those that were given up by physicians, will meet your case, reader. Paine's Celery Compound is a guaranteed cure and never fails.

Read the testimony of Mr. C. E. Robertson, Government steamboat inspector for Manitoba and the Northwest. Mr. Robertson says:

"It gives me much pleasure to give you my opinion of your preparation known as Paine's Celery Compound, and how it acted on me. A little over a year ago, while coming through a very anxious time, first in connection with my business as an engineer, and then by the loss of my child, as well as overwork, my nerves gave out completely; I could not sleep for weeks, and could not work through the day at such work as drawing, owing to the twitching of my nerves making me blot the work.

"A friend told me to try your Compound, which I did, and I firmly believe it did more for me than any doctor could do. I am now strong, sleep well, and as steady as a rock. My whole system has been invigorated by it.

"I have recommended it to a large number of people, and find it as a rule never failed to do them good. I could give you examples of a number of cases where it has been the decided cause of restoration to health."

THE DUAL ALLIANCE

Will Be Maintained by the New Czar—He Will Unmuzzle the Press.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 6.—In response to the message of condolence and sympathy sent to the Czarina by President Casimir-Perier, of France, her Majesty caused the following to be telegraphed to M. Casimir-Perier: "Accept my personal thanks for the cordial sympathy you have shown me in my cruel sorrow." The Czar telegraphed as follows to the municipal council of Caen: "Russia thanks you for your good wishes. Be assured that I have inherited from my beloved father his sympathy for France."

ROME, Nov. 6.—Premier Crispi, as King Humbert's representative, went yesterday to the requiem mass in the chapel of the Russian embassy. Baron Blanc, Minister of Foreign Affairs, and United States Ambassador MacVeagh, with the whole staff of the United States embassy and most other members of the diplomatic corps, were present. Baron de Marochetti, who was recalled from the Italian embassy in St. Petersburg, will go back to represent King Humbert at the funeral. The Popolo Romano and other Rome dailies continue to predict that there will be trouble in Russia unless Nicholas II. grant a constitution.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—The Daily News correspondent in St. Petersburg says that Dr. Zacharin is not likely to return to Moscow at present, as the populace persists in the suspicion that the Czar was poisoned. The students declared that they would not attend his lectures and that his life would be in danger if he should return.

The News correspondent in Odessa telegraphs: "It is believed here that the partial or total abolition of press censorship will be among Nicholas II.'s immediate reforms. The correspondent learns from several authoritative sources that Pobedonoseff, attorney-general of the Holy Synod, is not likely to retain his office despite his erudition, ability and honesty. He alienated Nicholas' respect long ago by his fanaticism."

Anniversary of a German Poet.

NUREMBURG, Nov. 6.—Hans Sachs, the German poet, was born in Nuremburg 400 years ago yesterday. The city celebrated the anniversary on a grand scale. Not a shop or school was open and visitors filled the hotels and lodging houses and packed the streets. A thousand persons attended the reception at Rathhaus, among them delegates from most Bavarian towns, colleges and royal academies. Prof. Goetze, the orator of the day, traced at length Sachs' influence upon the German language. After the oration the historical procession passed slowly through the principal streets.

No other remedy but the Emulsion was used, and baby is now strong and healthy.

In Search of An Explorer.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—A despatch from Christiana to Lloyd's says: The Russian government has chartered Meinich and Company's steamer Lindesnaes to search for the steamer St. Jernen on which Captain Wiggings, the Arctic explorer, left Yeneseisk September 15 with his own and two other crews, numbering 50 in all. It is believed that Wiggings is ice bound in the Kara Sea. The captain of the Lindesnaes hopes to get tidings of Wiggings at Chabarowa. Should he fail to do so he will send parties overland to the Orberian coast.

A Negro Murderer Captured.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 6.—A posse of 50 men is on guard in the Shelby county jail to protect Charley Epps, a negro lad from threatened lynching. Epps last Thursday shot and killed Policeman Parkinson and escaped. Two hundred men have been scouring the cane brakes ever since. He was captured last night and locked up. It is thought that the posse will be able to keep any mob in check.

Found Mangled by a Train.

EASTON, Pa., Nov. 6.—The dead body of an unknown man with two deep gashes in his head and his left hand cut off was found on the Lehigh Valley railroad track yesterday. It is supposed that the man was murdered and placed on the track afterwards. The man was well dressed, but there was nothing about him which would lead to identification.

German Embargo on U. S. Cattle.

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—The Agrarian League has petitioned Prince Hohenlohe to extend the order against American cattle so as to forbid those shipped since October 28 to be landed at any port, and to direct that they be returned to America, the ships after unloading to be subjected to a quarantine. It is believed that Ambassador Runyon will renew his efforts for the recall of the original order.

A St. Louis Hotel Burned.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Nov. 6.—The Belvidere hotel has been totally burned. The 50 guests got out in safety. The place was conducted as a family hotel by F. S. Andrews, whose loss is $20,000. The building is part of the estate of the late Gen. G. T. Beauregard. Loss on the building, $60,000; insured.

Murdered for His Politics.

PARIS, Tex., Nov. 6.—News has been received of the murder of Dixon Irwin and his wife in bed at their home in Cedar county, Choctaw Nation, on Saturday night. Dixon was a prominent adherent of the Locke faction and the murders are believed to have been on account of politics.

Mysteries of the HUMAN BRAIN!

The latest discovery in the scientific world is that nerve centres located in or near the base of the brain control all the organs of the body, and when these nerve centres are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid, or nerve force, are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centres will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force; that is, when a nerve centre is deranged or in any way diseased it is impossible for it to supply the same quantity of nerve force as when in a healthful condition; hence the organs which depend upon it for nerve force suffer, and are unable to properly perform their work, and as a result disease makes its appearance.

At least two-thirds of our chronic diseases and ailments are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centres at the base of the brain, and not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organs and not the nerve centres, which are the cause of the trouble.

The wonderful cures wrought by the Great South American Nervine Tonic are due alone to the fact that this remedy is based upon the foregoing principle. It cures by rebuilding and strengthening the nerve centres, and thereby increasing the supply of nerve force or nervous energy.

This remedy has been found of infinite value for the cure of Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Paroxysms, Sleeplessness, Forgetfulness, Mental Despondency, Nervousness of Females, Hot Flashes, Sick Headache, Heart Disease. The first bottle will convince anyone that a cure is certain.

South American Nervine is without doubt the greatest remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all Chronic Stomach Troubles, because it acts through the nerves. It gives relief in one day, and absolutely effects a permanent cure in every instance. Do not allow your prejudices, or the prejudices of others, to keep you from using this health-giving remedy. It is based on the result of years of scientific research and study. A single bottle will convince the most incredulous.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to choose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these, we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last year's hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show a full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

The following new volumes have just been placed on the shelves of the Mechanics' Institute: Electrician at Home, Chilton-Tenney; Ornamental Carpentry, Pansey and White; Decorative Work for House and Home, Stoke; Glimpses of Four Continents, Duchess of Buckingham; Life and Letters of Erasmus, Froude; Use of Life, Lubbock; Canada, Badeker; House in Bloomsbury, Mrs. Oliphant; Phillip and his Wife, Deland; What I Have Seen, (2 vols.), Sala; Sea Wolves, Pemberton; Pinch of Experience, Watford; Girl's Own Annual, 1894.

The Yunck Concert.

Mr. Hoover has achieved so high a reputation for providing first class concerts for the musical people of Peterborough, that his name associated with a concert is equivalent to a guarantee of its high class character. Therefore we may expect a treat at the forthcoming concert at which Herr Yunck, the great German violinist, will appear in several numbers. Of Mr. Blight, the baritone for the occasion, the Mail says: "Mr. Blight's singing of the baritone was, for ease of execution and logical consistency of interpretation a feature of the concert." Respecting the appearance of Mrs. Blight, the pianiste and accompaniste, who acted as accompaniste at the great Massey Festival, the World says: "Mrs. H. M. Blight deserves unstinted praise for the able manner in which she played the organ and piano accompaniments throughout the festival. Her work in this respect places her among the ranks of our most successful and accomplished native musicians."

"The Burglar."

The hour is after midnight, when, in the most fashionable quarter of the city, the sumptuous home of one of the best known editors has been forcibly entered by a burglar. The inmates peacefully slumber, unconscious of danger, all but a little tot of six years, whose acute ears have discerned a noise unusual at that time of night. Too innocent to be conscious of danger she leaves her room, and entering the family sitting-room, suddenly confronts the burglar, who noiselessly as possible is securing the family silver, when, to his surprise, he becomes conscious of the little one's presence. With pistol in hand, approaching the child and alert for an outcry, his surprised ears are greeted with the exclamation, "Don't be afraid, Mr. Burglar, I won't hurt you." Following this is one of the most effective scenes of Mr. Gus Thomas' famous play of "The Burglar." This company appears at the opera house Friday night, Nov. 9th. Prices, 25, 50, 75c.

Soldiers and sailors who have been accustomed to smoking, but who have lost their sight in action, smoke only for a short time afterwards. —It cannot be expected that four policemen can spread themselves over miles of streets, and put in an appearance when required. On Sunday evening the janitor had a tussle with a tough who was kicking in the door. Will the guardians of the peace give this vicinity a little attention?

—A fight with a post office letter box, situated at the corner of Lake and Elizabeth streets, Ashburnham, took place last evening. 'Twas quite amusing for the spectators to perceive an unfortunate incurable victim of alcoholic drink smashing his steel knuckles as well as his own on the cast iron dummy at that corner. After two or three rounds, he convinced himself that it was a red headed negro (not Peter Jackson) that he had been contending with. He states that he will have nothing more to do with the government boys in red. Postmaster Rogers will have to see that they are protected by the village policemen.

—The Palace Restaurant can boast of having some of the neatest bar fixtures in Ontario. They were manufactured and placed in position by the local firm of J. J. Turner & Son, and consist of three awnings overhanging the three large mirrors at the rear of the bar. They are all of silk, the centre one being a delicate shade of yellow, and the two on either side of a bright red. The effect is most pretty, and is further enhanced when the lights are turned on in the evening. Great credit is due the manufacturers for the exceedingly tasty manner in which the work has been turned out, and doubtless many orders for similar sets of awnings will be received.

IT IS RECEIVED IN ALMOST EVERY HOME.

A Practical Proof of a Large Circulation—Death of Mr. Geo. Wise.

An article was published in last week's EXAMINER inquiring the whereabouts of one Charles Wise of this section. The item in question originated from a telegram which was received in Peterborough from Elmira, Michigan, stating that Geo. Wise had been killed there, and had a life insurance policy for $1000 in favour of Charles Wise, and asking what was to be done with the remains.

As the circulation of the EXAMINER covers a vast tract of territory, a copy of the issue came into the hands of Charles Wise, of Fenelon Falls, father of the deceased. A telegram was at once sent west, instructing that the remains be forwarded at once to Fenelon Falls.

George Wise was the eldest son of Chas. Wise of Fenelon Falls, and left for the United States on Dec. 13th, 1891, since which time no news has been received of him until the notice in this paper was read. The deceased was about 25 years of age.

Carved Out His Pardon.

Gesa Berger, the actor and newspaper man, has a picture in caligraphy that has a remarkable history. It is in size 30x42 inches, and is the work of Joseph Loew, the most noted counterfeiter that the Austrain government ever knew.

When an application is made for a pardon in Austria the red tape policy of that country compels the applicant to address the emperor with all his titles. Emperor Ferdinand had about forty titles. Loew engraved all of these names, together with his petition for a pardon, on a cherry stone.

The letters were so fine that it required the aid of a powerful microscope to decipher them. One day when the emperor visited the prison Loew in person presented a cherry stone to the emperor and told him what it contained. The emperor made an examination and was so amazed at the work that he gave him an unconditional pardon. Not only did he pardon him, but gave him a position as a detective to trail down counterfeiters. Loew was a well-informed man in all the arts and rascalities of counterfeiters, and in less than two years after his pardon he ran to the earth almost every counterfeiter in Austria, and died a few years ago covered with detective honors. The picture, although made fifty years ago, is in a remarkable state of preservation.

ASHBURNHAM'S DEBT TO PETERBOROUGH.

TO WHAT DOES IT AMOUNT?

The Village Would Like to Be Posted on This Question—Is the Village Paying Too Much Money for its Electric Light Service?—Where Does the Village Gravel Disappear to?

At the regular meeting of the Ashburnham Village Council, last evening, there were present Reeve Burnham and Councillors Smith, Morgan, Rutherford and Calcutt, besides a large attendance of ratepayers.

On motion of Councillors Smith and Morgan, it was resolved that Mr. Whiteman be notified to the effect that if he did not clean and restore the drain on Woodbine street, he would be prosecuted for obstructing the road allowance.

Councillor Smith urged the council to deal with the matter of cleaning out the creek between the railroad and Brown street immediately, but no action was taken, as the Reeve wished regarding the matter. He was of the opinion that the property holders could, under the Drainage Act, petition the Council and force it to order the necessary work to be done, the cost of the same to be charged against the property benefitted.

TO POST HIMSELF

Councillor Morgan asked the Reeve by what authority gravel and sand had been removed from the village gravel pit. Such action deserved reprimand and should be inquired into and the offenders dealt with.

The Reeve in reply explained that the gravel in question had been removed by his brother; only one load had been taken and he himself had given his brother permission to take that much.

This explanation apparently sufficed as the matter was abruptly dropped and the subject changed.

PETERBOROUGH'S PROTECTION of Ashburnham from fire afforded a fruitful topic for discussion.

Councillor Smith was anxious to know just what amount was due Peterborough out of the village treasury for fire protection in order that he might have an answer ready for the next Peterborough man who twitted him on the subject.

The Treasurer looked into the matter and ascertained that since 1875 only about $3000 had been paid over to the town. Just how much more was due was not ascertained.

THE FOLLOWING ACCOUNTS were submitted and on motion of councillors Smith and Calcutt were ordered paid:

Edward Green	$13 65
A H Stratton	63
R J Weir	14 00
Geo Emmerson	4 50
Pay Sheet No. 28	34 00
" 29	31 62
" 30	28 00

The question of

was introduced by Councillor Morgan. He stated that Peterborough paid only $75 a year per lamp for an all night service, while Ashburnham paid $60 for a half-night service. The proportion, he thought, was away off, and if the Electric Light and Power Company could do no better than that for Ashburnham, he thought it would be advisable to enter into a contract similar to that of Peterborough, and have an all night service, as the cost would be very little more than at present.

On his motion, Reeve Burnham, Councillor Smith, and the mover, will constitute a committee to interview the Electric Light and Power Company, and see what terms can be obtained. This committee is to report at the next meeting of the council.

THE SONS OF ENGLAND CONCERT AND TEA.

A Most Attractive Programme—Instructive Address by Rev. H. Symonds.

Lansdowne Lodge, No. 25, Sons of England Benefit Society, held a tea and concert last night which was a great success from every point of view. The large hall was well filled with the friends of the members and the tea was thoroughly enjoyed. Mr. Harry Long was the caterer for the occasion and well did he fulfil his task.

The second portion of the evening's entertainment was as huge a success as the tea, and a programme consisting of twenty numbers was rendered in a manner, which, in every case, called forth great applause, encores being insisted on in a great many instances.

The chair was occupied by Mr. George Carpenter and the opening address was delivered by Rev. H. Symonds. Of course he took "Guy Fawkes" as the subject for his remarks and a pithy and instructive talk anent that gentleman's actions was given.

Appended is the programme which was presented during the course of the evening:—

The spirited singing of the National Anthem by these patriotic Sons of England brought the literary part of the programme to a close, and in a trice the benches and chairs were swept away and the floor cleared for dancing. Miller's orchestra was present and this pleasurable pastime was indulged in for several hours, before the assembly finally dispersed.

The hall was gayly decorated for the occasion with flags and bunting, which were gracefully festooned and draped upon the walls. A number of potted flowers, which were distributed promiscuously around the apartment, imparted a most pleasing appearance. "Grandfather" Taylor, of course, was present, and as usual proved himself a great merry-maker.

A Child Enjoys

The pleasant flavour, gentle action and soothing effects of Syrup of Figs, when in need of a laxative, and if the father or mother be costive or bilious, the most gratifying results follow its use; so that it is the best family remedy known, and every family should have a bottle on hand.

PREPARING FOR THE ROARIN' GAME.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CURLING CLUB.

The Curling and Skating Rink Company Also Meet—Election of Officers—Appointment of Skips—Prospects of a Brisk Boom of the Besom and Stane

Last night, the darkness and silence that have reigned at the Skating Rink buildings through the swelter of summer and the gradual lapse of fall frostward, were interrupted by the preliminary rumble of the roarin' game and by a blaze of light in the parlours of the rink, where the annual meeting of the Skating and Curling Rink Company and of the Curling Club were held.

The meeting of the Company was held first and the business was speedily despatched, consisting principally of the election of officers, which resulted as follows:

President—W. G. Ferguson.
Sec.-Treas.—C. McGill.
Directors—Messrs. W. G. Ferguson, Dr. Boucher, R. S. Davidson, Adam Hall and C. McGill.

The statement for the year was favourable and was adopted showing that the liabilities had been reduced by the sum of $2.00.

GIVING THE COLTS A CHANCE.

Mr. Horkins brought up the matter of the use of the ice on certain nights for home and home trophy matches between colt rinks representing Peterborough, Campbellford and Belleville, a suggestion of W. H. Biggar, M.P.P., Belleville.

The meeting then adjourned.

MUSIC AND SONG.

Maple Leaf Lodge, Lady True Blues, Hold a Concert, and it Proves a Great Success.

The concert and tea given by the Lady True Blues last night was so successful that it will act as a guarantee for all other entertainments which Maple Leaf Lodge chooses to hold. The attendance was large, and the programme, as will be seen, was one of unusual excellence. The tea was liberally patronized by those interested in the advancement of the objects of the society, and their number was largely augmented when the concert began. The chair was occupied most acceptably by Mr. Geo. Sloan, who delivered a spirited address on Guy Fawke's Day from the point of view entertained by the True Blues and similar organizations. His remarks were listened to with great attention, and elicited considerable applause.

The following programme was presented:

GENERALLY PRESCRIBED.

The Idea that Bright's Disease Cannot be Cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

Quebec, Nov. 5th.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter to Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. The latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

A PLEASANT EVENING WITH THE Y.P.S.

St. John's Young People Entertain Themselves Capitally.

The regular meeting of the Young People's Society of St. John's was held in the Sunday School last night. There was a good attendance of members present and several new members were placed on the roll. Miss A. Sproule, the President, occupied the chair for the first time, and is to be congratulated upon the excellent manner with which she conducted her first meeting. Miss Rackham was elected to fill vacancies on the programme and executive committees, and Mr. H. Clurton to take Mr. F. Clarke's place on the programme committee. It was decided to form a committee whose duties will be to take charge of the decorations in the church at Christmas and other festivals, and the executive committee was ordered to report on the matter at the next meeting.

This having closed the general business, the programme committee handed the programme for the evening to the president. It consisted of two very fine vocal solos by Miss Goodwyn, solo by Mrs A. Dawson, song by Mr. H. Varnes, and an autoharp solo by Mr. H. Clurton.

A Biblical subject was proposed for discussion by Miss Goodwyn, who besides giving some of her thoughts on the subject, gave a very interesting account of her work among the young people and children in Toronto and the old country.

After this had been concluded refreshments were served by the lady members, and credit is to be given to Misses Hodgson, Henderson, Perry and Sproule, for their efforts in making the first social evening a brilliant success.

The next meeting will be held on Nov. 19th, and will be open to all members of the congregation.

Another Break in Prices brings the crowds. Another link to the great chain of Unmatchable Bargains. Eager multitudes buying Winter Clothing while the weather is actually too warm to wear them. Crowds buying ahead to save money and share in the GREAT SNAPS now going at Gough's.

No matter how low our prices, for certain lines, you may rely on the Fit, the Workmanship, the Material. This great selling of Clothing, Hats and Shoes is making history for us.

It's a Chance of a Lifetime.

The fascination of Low Prices is the inspiration of this business. Salespeople declare they never knew such values in Clothing as we're giving now.

The busy hum of trade makes merry music all hours of the day and the dollars you save come back to us through other departments.

The great past of our Clothing business is but a prophecy of a greater future.

Want to find out how much honest wear can be put into a suit of clothes that costs but $4.00? Come in and look at our $4.00 Suits. Perhaps you may want to see what $10 buys, in a Suit of All-Wool Cheviot. We carry a line of $10 Suits entirely unlike the clothes usually offered at this price. Our $10 Suits are all made a bit finer than we have ever be ore been able to sell, thanks to the tremendous purchasing power of cash during the past summer.

The Latest in Overcoats now in full array. The popular smooth goods—Kerseys, Meltons, Beavers, etc. There's nothing missing—style, cut, shade, pattern—all well represented. While we have heretofore dwelt largely on the values we offer at $5 to $12, we want to impress the fact that our stock of higher grade OVERCOATS—ranging in price fron $8 to $15—offers a saving that cannot be secured elsewhere.

The Old-fashioned Style of pill gives you a feeling of horror when you see it and when you feel it. Like the "blunderbuss" of a former decade it is big and clumsy, but not effective. In this century of enlightenment you have Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, which cure all liver troubles in the most effective way. They're not easily seen for they're small as grains of mustard seed, but the effect is lasting and the cure complete. For Indigestion, Constipation, Bilious Attacks, Sick and Bilious Headache, nothing has been found to equal these pills of Dr. Pierce's invention. They give such complete relief that their makers promise that they'll give you satisfaction or your money will be returned.

Smallest, cheapest, easiest to take. One a dose. 25 cts. a vial. A vest-pocket remedy.

GENERAL DEBILITY.

How to Secure Release from the Distressing Symptoms that Follow in the Train of a "Run Down" System.

The expression general debility is frequently made use of in referring to those who are weakly or whose system is run down, and it covers a multitude of symptoms that either singly or in the aggregate make life miserable, and hurry the victim to an early grave unless prompt and efficient means are taken to restore exhausted nature by building up the blood and assisting it to absorb oxygen, that great sustainer of all organic life. As a blood builder and nerve restorer Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People surpass all other medicines known to science. Their action is speedy and certain, building up the shattered system and driving out disease. Miss Olive E. Orde, Greywood, N.S., bears testimony to the efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. She says:—"When I began using Pink Pills my whole system was run down to the extent that I was unable to do any house work. My appetite was poor, I had almost constant severe headaches, dizziness and other distressing symptoms, and my friends feared I was going into a decline. I soon began to recover under the influence of your wonderful medicine, and am now as well as ever I was and feel that I owe my present good health to Pink Pills, which I cheerfully recommend to others who may be suffering as I was." If you are suffering from any of the troubles due to pure or watery blood, or shattered nerves, do not waste precious time, or your money, in experiments with other medicines—procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at once, and you will speedily be restored to full health and strength. Sold by all dealers or sent post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Avoid imitations and substitutes.

TRUSKEY WILL HANG.

The Minister of Justice Refuses to Commute His Sentence.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—An order-in-council has been passed by the Dominion Government allowing the law to take its course in the case of the Sandwich murderer, so that if the courts will not interfere by granting a new trial Joseph Truskey will be hanged on the 14th of December next for the murder of William Lindsay. The motive which caused Truskey to murder Lindsay was revenge. He was defended at the trial by Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, Q. C., Toronto. Some days ago Mr. Nesbitt appeared before the Minister of Justice and made a strong plea on behalf of the prisoner. The principal reason why he asked commutation of the death sentence was on the grounds that Truskey was not responsible for his acts. Mr. Nesbitt said that the prisoner was affected with what was called "pulse apopleptic mania." Another reason asked for the commutation was that the trial judge charged too severely.

The Minister of Justice carefully considered all these points and finally reported to the council to allow the law to take its course. An order-in-council has therefore been passed to this effect, so that the executive has disposed of the case.

It is understood, however, that Mr. Nesbitt has made application to the courts for a new trial. If it is granted then the judge will also order a respite. If the new trial is refused then Truskey will be hanged, as already stated.

The Supreme Court sat again yesterday and heard a motion in the appeal of Lariviere v. the School Board of Three Rivers. The case involved the fees of a school teacher named Lariviere, but the court unanimously reached the conclusion without allowing Mr. J. A. Ritchie, solicitor for appellant, to open the case, that it was not appealable on the grounds that it was not a fee office within the meaning of the statute, and that there were no future rights of office involved. The maritime province list was then taken up. Doyle v. McPhee case, involving title to a plot of land at Enfield Station, Harte County, N. S.

Ottawa will have a grand military demonstration on Thanksgiving Day. This was decided upon at a meeting of the officers of the City Brigade. All the militia of the city are to have a review of Cartier Square, afterwards a street parade, and the whole to finish with a sham battle at Cumming's Bridge. This battle will illustrate the mode of defending and attacking the city from the eastern side.

Little Beginnings.

The steam which raised the lid of the kettle led a philosophic mind to utilise it to man's benefit. No one dreamed that we should now be dragged along by it at the rate of sixty miles an hour. When Perry Davis made a preparation for the medicinal use of his family, over fifty years ago, neither he nor any other man imagined that it would now be sold in every land, and prove to be the PAIN-KILLER of the world. The new big bottle, old price 25 cents.

GUARDING MERCIER'S TOMB.

Buffalo A. P. A. Men Threaten to Steal the Body of the Ex-Premier.

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—Considerable commotion reigned in city hall circles when it became known that Mayor Villeneuve had received an anonymous letter stating that several members of the Buffalo, N. Y., branch of the A. P. A. had decided to steal from Cote Des Neiges cemetery the coffin containing the remains of the late Mr. Mercier. On being questioned on the subject the mayor declined to say anything, but it was evident from his replies that he had received such a communication. The correspondent next interviewed Superintendent Hughes, who stated that he had heard nothing of the anonymous letter and that, if it had been received, he would consider it a hoax. It is rumored, however, that a number of members of the Junior Liberal Club (French) will keep guard over the tomb. The members of the Buffalo branch of the A. P. A. are said to have been highly incensed at Mr. Mercier because of his settlement of the claims of the Jesuit fathers.

Charges Against Toronto Council.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—Judge McDougall opened an investigation yesterday into the charges made that certain members of the city council approached the Toronto Electric Light Company and asked for bribes to support the tenders of that company for supplying electric light to the city. Ald. McMurrich demanded an investigation on behalf of the council, which the council endorsed. Wallace Nesbitt, Q.C., is acting for the council, and E. F. B. Johnson, Q.C., and Henry O'Brien are present for the Electric Light Company. Mr. Nesbitt preferred not to outline the nature of his evidence in opening the case. The evidence taken when the court rose for recess was purely formal and the real interest in the case is not expected to be reached until to-day.

Killed by a Premature Blast.

YARMOUTH, N. S., Nov. 6.—Samuel McCann, one of the foremen on the Standard Guage Railway line, was killed by a premature blast at Camp No. 4 at Glenwood, about sixteen miles from Yarmouth. He was tamping a big blast loaded with several kegs of powder, it is said, when his stick broke and he continued the work with an iron bar. The blast went off and he was thrown high in the air and his body terribly mangled. An assistant was thrown some distance away but escaped serious injury.

May Have Been Murdered.

AMHERSTBURG, Nov. 6.—The body of Albert Artis, second cook on the steamer Castalia, has arrived here by express from Ashtabula, Ohio. The only particulars were on the death certificate, which stated that he was drowned. The Castalia left there Saturday, midnight, and was not missed until Sunday morning. He was a sober young man, about 24 years of age, and there are marks of violence on his head. It is supposed he was robbed and his body thrown in the river. He received his pay on the evening of his death.

Captured an Escaped Convict.

STREETSVILLE, Ont., Nov. 6.—Constable Drennan received a telegram from Warden Massie, of the Central Prison, Toronto, to be on the lookout for an escaped prisoner named Harris. Within fifteen minutes after its receipt he had his man under arrest and will take him back to his old quarters by the afternoon train. The fellow was begging for clothes in the suburbs when detected. He says if it had not been for the cold he would have done without clothing and gave them a hot race.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 6, 1894.

The visible supply of barley is 3,810,000 bushels as against 5,509,000 last week and 2,719,000 at this date last year.

There was only one load of wheat offered on the local market. It was "white," and brought 52. One thousand bushels of barley sold at 40 to 44, 500 oats at 30 to 30 1-2, and one load of peas at 55.

The Buffalo barley market is quiet. Only a small lotof light weight Canada was offered at 60c; the balance being held at 61 to 64. Maltsters are not inclined to pay above 60 for good Canada.

Wheat advanced in Chicago on the efforts of shorts to cover, closing 7-8c higher for December, and 1-4c for cash. Corn showed a tendency to decline on lower cables but took some strength from wheat, closing a shade lower for May and half cent for cash. Oats were dull and steady.

There were 100 cars of sheep and lambs on sale at East Buffalo. Sheep closed steady, lambs closed weak, but there was a good clearance at 15 to 25c, better prices than last week; sales at $4 to 4.15 and a few tops selected out at $4.25. Sheep, good Canada, $3 to $3.25.

The London stock markets were good. Americans were quite animated with a material rise, but closed under the best in the absence of vigorous support in New York.

On Wall street stocks moved at first with some irregularity, but after a fruitless effort to cause reaction, first through the coal stocks and afterward through the grangers, all prices advanced. No obvious sense or reason dictated this advance, it was merely a board room traders move. The railway earnings reported for the fourth week and for the month of October were in the great majority of cases surprisingly good. If expenses have been only reasonably held down some of the companies in the southwest granger country will have an encouraging return of October net to make.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS:-

PHYSICIANS FAILED
BUT B.B.B. CURED

DEAR SIRS—After having used Burdock Blood Bitters for Scrofula in the blood, I felt it my duty to make known the results. I was treated by a skilled physician but he failed to cure me. I had three Running Sores on my neck which could not be healed until I tried B. B. B., which healed them completely, leaving the skin and flesh sound and whole. As long as I live I shall speak of the virtues of B.B.B., and I feel grateful to Providence that such a medicine is provided for sufferers.

UNENDURABLE ITCHING
Suffered Three Years—Now Perfectly Cured by B. B. B.

GENTLEMEN—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for Skin Diseases, from which I have been a sufferer for three years. I am now entirely cured. I have used six bottles and am as Donald Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura Remedies, but all to no good. I doctored one year with the best physicians in the land; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but could not remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard dry scales. The itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured, and I owe it all to B. B. B.

BALL BEARINGS FOR WAGONS.

Investigation Shows That They Are Not Yet Economical.

Ball bearings are successful only when the balls themselves are of the highest quality, and the shells and axles are of the best steel, hardened and ground to the highest perfection, writes Professor Sweet in the Rural New Yorker. The limit of error in the best does not vary more than one-quarter of one-thousandth of an inch, or one-fourth the thickness of tissue paper. Such perfection is very costly, and the least dirt destroys the whole gain, for if the balls be stopped by any impediment, they are very soon ruined. Such accurate work is not likely to be properly protected or properly cared for in farm vehicles. Hence it is questionable whether the failures would not more than overbalance the advantages; besides, in the cost of drawing a load, a part is friction and a part is overcoming the ground resistance. The poorer the road the greater the ground resistance, and this has a great bearing on the percentage of advantage, for supposing that, in the case of a trotting sulky, the friction is half the resistance and the ground resistance the other half. Now if we reduce the friction one half, the power required to draw the sulky would be reduced one-quarter, or 25 per cent., whereas if, in drawing a lumber wagon, the friction is ten per cent. and the ground resistance ninety per cent.—which on a farm and farm roads is about what it amounts to—then by reducing the friction one-half, we have reduced the actual power required only five per cent.

The time has not come when it will pay. It will be an infinitely better investment to use the same money to put wide tires on the wheels and cut off the forward axles so as to bring the forward wheels the width of the tires nearer together than the hind ones.

I have just been over a dirt road where one hundred tons of limestone are drawn every day, and the ruts were horrible when only common wagons were used. The road is now splendid, all owing to the use of half the number of wagons built as above described, while the ball bearings could at the best reduce the power required to draw farm wagons only from five to ten per cent. The wide tires and short axle wagons would reduce the cost of hauling on the farm roads forty to fifty per cent., and the cost of the changing, to ball bearings would equal the cost of the new wheels and front or back axles.

Flexible Stone.

It may be safely said that no specimen in a geological collection is more curious than the bar of flexible sandstone, which can be bent with less pressure than that required to bend a piece of wet leather of the same size. In an article upon the subject in the Mineral Collector, we are told that "when a thin slice of the stone is looked at under a lens by transmitted light, the fragments are seen to be locked together like the parts of a sectional puzzle toy, fixed, but only loosely. The simplest way of explaining how this stone was formed is to say that the grains of sand were once cemented firmly together by another material, which has been partly dissolved, leaving countless natural ball-and-socket joints of jagged shape behind."

Detected by His Thumb.

In course of transit between New York and New Orleans a packet of paper money had been opened and its contents considerably reduced. Two of the seals had been broken and one had been re-sealed by thumb pressure. Mr. Carvalho, an expert in matters of identification, endeavored to find out the thief, and with this view obtained wax impressions of the thumbs of all the officials of the American Express Company through whose hands the packet was known to have passed. The impressions were photographed and enlarged, and one of them clearly agreed with an enlarged photograph of the thumb-impressed seal. The thief was thus detected.—Scientific American.

A Unique Lottery Record.

A Japanese student living in Brooklyn has had some curious news from his home in Nikko. It appears that his cousin has won the first prize in a government lottery, and, by so doing, has been sent abroad to travel for ten years, with a handsome allowance, which is to be paid him every three months by one of the most substantial banks in Japan. If he returns to Japan for more than one month in each year he forfeits the allowance, and it also stipulated that at least half of the time spent abroad must be in the various countries in Europe. The second prize was five years' travel, and the third prize one years' travel, on the same allowance, but the conditions were that all the time must be spent in Europe. This certainly is the most unique lottery on record, and the most commendable.

"A chemical success and medical triumph," so speaks an eminent physician in reference to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral; and the eulogy was none too strong. No other medicine is so safe and efficacious in all diseases of the throat and lungs.

Plain Facts.

As a prompt, pleasant and perfect cure for coughs, colds, hoarseness, sore throat, pain in the chest, asthma, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, influenza and all throat and lung troubles, Norway Pine Syrup is the best remedy known.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.
I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Mersbray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

AN EMERGENT MEETING OF THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

Work Waiting For the Society—A Score of Children Neglected and Ill-treated—Fit Wards of the Society—Discussing Ways and Means—To Excite Public Interest—The Financial Problem Rather a Puzzle.

Hundreds of happy mothers, in hundreds of happy homes in Peterborough, who, having heard their little prayers, tuck their children in their cosy, little beds, and thank God that their little darlings have health and strength, and food, raiment and shelter, and loving tending, little think that there are a score of children in this very town, in the most painful circumstances, destitute of bodily comforts, and even necessities, destitute of a home, in the proper sense of the word, destitute of parental love and parental solicitude, destitute of moral training and all that a child's mind, soul and body demand, and moreover, exposed to the most immoral and degrading influences—the girls doomed to lives of shame and the lads to lives of crime—two fates as certain as fate. Knowing that there are twenty children in this condition in Peterborough, it is difficult to conceive how any Christian, warmly housed and clad, well fed and with all the comforts of life available at a wish, can place his or her head on the pillow without having sleep banished for long with the thoughts of the pitable plight of these unfortunate children. It is to look after these that the Children's Aid Society was organized and its constitution incorporated into the statutes of Ontario. It was to look after these twenty cases which demanded immediate attention that the meeting of the society was called for yesterday afternoon.

The meeting of members of the Children's Aid Society was in the council chamber. There were present, Mr. E. B. Edwards, honorary secretary), W. Roxborough (Norwood), Rev. W. R. Young, Rev. J. E. Trotter, Rev. J. C. Davidson, J. H. Burnham, Chief Roszel, Mr. Yokome, Mrs. Thos. Kelly, Mrs. (Dr.) O'Sullivan, Mrs. Chas. McGill, Mrs. (Dr.) Bell, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. Jos. Buller and Mrs. Kendry.

NEED FOR ACTIVE WORK.

Sheriff Hall occupied the chair and Mr. Burnham, secretary explained the circumstances that made the meeting an occasion of urgency, and called for the active exercise of the functions of the society. He went into details, which it would not be wise to make public, respecting a large number of families of which the children were not only suffering from the neglect of parents to provide food and raiment, but were subject to the influences that emanate from vicious home life and example. These children were breathing an atmosphere of vice and would, unless rescued, become immoral and criminal—unless they were speedily removed from the evil influences and vicious environments that were tainting their lives. It was the function of the society to take these children under its protection and provide proper homes for them. He pointed out that in respect of such cases the society was not doing its duty, and that the society could not plead the excuse that it had no material to work upon, for there was unfortunately too much material and too little society.

THE MATTER OF FINDING HOMES.

Mrs. Beck inquired when and how homes were to be provided.

In answer Mr. Edwards stated that one of the objects of the meeting was to devise a practical answer to such a question. There was a necessity for increasing the the membership of the society, and the scope of its influence. He understood that the Protestant Home had undertaken to provide for a few children, but their room was limited. He understood also that arrangements might be made for providing for other children in the local branch of the Barnardo Home. Mr. Cox told him (Mr. Edwards) that the property was given over for Barnardo Home purposes with the understanding that Canadian children would be received on the same terms. The Act, constituting Children's Aid Societies, contemplated the establishment of temporary homes. This involved the employment of some one to care for the children and the provision of some means of maintenance. The Act provides that the municipality contribute $1.00 per child per week towards maintenance—providing the balance was the work of the Society. There were at least twenty demanding immediate attention and the contribution by the town of $20 per week might be considered a considerable tax, but the question arose whether it would not be better to look after these children than to meet the expense of looking after them after they had taken to vicious lives. The children would not be a permanent charge, for there was provision for transferring from the temporary home into permanent foster homes. Beyond the providing of a building for a temporary home and the payment of $1.00 per head per week, which the Act required of the coporation, there was the balance for maintenance to be provided, and this was a serious question.

The secretary referred to the apathy of the society, in having failed to appoint one of the most important committees—the Visiting Committee, which had most important duties to perform—duties that involved the successful and useful existence of the society.

Rev. J. C. Davidson said the work of the society was to a large extent private in its character. As to a home and the expense involved, he did not think it wise to be precipitate in putting the municipality to expense. There was need for homes both for children and the aged, which he thought could be done by the establishment of a home at the expense of the municipalities of the county and town. He believed that an effort should be made to provide homes in families that would be glad to receive these destitute children.

Rev. W. R. Young said that as some of the cases mentioned by the secretary demanded immediate action that the town should be asked as required by law to provide a temporary home. Many of the children were unfit to be transplanted from their homes direct into respectable households, and their was necessity for making some immediate provision.

THE QUESTION OF FUNDS

having arisen Mr. Burnham laid a proposition, before the society of Dr. Sexton to lecture on "Single Tax" in Peterborough about Christmas, for the benefit of the Children's Aid Society.

Rev. Mr. Young doubted if the financial outcome would be satisfactory. His experience of lectures was not very rich in financial results.

Mrs. Kendry suggested that some one might be secured who would explain the objects of the Children's Aid Society, so that a fuller knowledge of its aims would result in the excitation of a warmer public interest.

Mr. Edwards suggested the name of Judge McDonald, of Brockville and Judge Ardagh, of Simcoe, as good speakers interested in the work who would address a public meeting and thus enlist the sympathy of a larger number who would, perhaps, become contributors to the funds of the society.

After further conversational discussion

Mrs. Kendry moved, seconded by Mrs. Buller, that Judge McDonald, of Brockville, or Judge Ardagh, of Barrie, be requested to come to Peterborough and deliver an address upon the work of the Children's Aid Society.

The motion was agreed to.

THE COUNCIL TO BE INTERVIEWED.

Rev. W. R. Young moved, seconded by Rev. J. C. Davidson, that a committee be appointed to wait upon the town council and place the claims of the society before that body. The following committee was named: His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Sheriff Hall, Rev. W. R. Young, Rev. J. E. Trotter, Rev. J. C. Davidson, John Burnham, M.P., H. C. Rogers, the secretary J. H. Burnham, Mrs. Beck, Mrs. (Dr.) O'Sullivan Mrs. Kendry and Mrs. Buller.

Mrs. Kendry called attention to the fact that many of the women whose children formed legitimate objects of the good offices of the society sheltered themselves behind their children and secured for the childrens sake orders upon the charity fund of the town. In numerous cases the food thus furnished by the town was known to be consumed by dissolute characters who resorted to such homes.

Rev. Mr. Davidson moved, seconded by Mr. J. E. Trotter, that in the event of the Barnado home consenting to receive children in custody of the society that that institution be accepted by this society as a temporary home.—Carried.

The meeting adjourned.

DEATH OF JAMES McAVELIA.

Another Old Peterborough Boy Crosses the "Great Divide."

The many friends of Mr. Jas. McAvelia, now of Penetanguishene, formerly of Peterborough, will be very sorry to learn of the loss he has sustained in the death of his only child, William James, a most promising young man, who died of consumption on Wednesday, 24th ult., at the early age of twenty-seven. The deceased has never been strong since last winter, when a severe attack of la grippe prostrated him. Later on he caught a severe cold, and his enfeebled system being unable to shake it off, he gradually grew worse and finally succumbed.

During the few years of his residence at Penetanguishene young McAvelia gained the esteem and affections of all by his many good qualities, as was shown during his illness, when everyone did everything possible to cheer and console him on his sad path to his early grave.

His funeral was one of the largest ever seen in Penetanguishene, the large Memorial church being completely filled by sorrowing friends.

YOUNG WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

Miss MacIntyre addressed the meeting on Saturday evening. The attendance was unusually good, being the largest since last winter. A duet, entitled "He Loved me so," was sung by the Misses Pascoe. It was greatly enjoyed by all. Miss Lillie Pascoe accompanied on the guitar. Miss Jones favoured those present with some excellent music, in the early part of the evening.

A regular meeting of the Board of Managers was held yesterday afternoon. Report of the month's work showed marked increase in interest and attendance. One of the encouraging features being the "social elements"—the spirit of kindly fellowship, which has prevailed amongst the members, and the appreciation of the rooms as a pleasant home. Six new names were presented for membership.

The Physical Culture class will be opened on Thursday evening in the Central school gymnasium. Teacher, Sergt-Major Rundle; pianiste, Miss Henderson. The hour is eight o'clock. Let there be a large attendance. A pleasant and profitable evening is guaranteed.

Remember the Bible study this evening, subject, "Obedience to God."

Health For Baby.

Laotated Food Always Victorious.

Mothers find that Lactated Food surpasses all other forms of prepared foods in purity, strength and life-giving qualities. No other food is so agreeable to the delicate infant stomach, and no other can be fed to the baby from day to day with so much satisfaction.

Lactated Food has proved victorious in every home where it has once been used. It corrects digestion and gives to all the digestive organs a tone and strength that conduces to good health. It prevents diarrhoea and dysentery, and has in the past saved thousands of precious lives.

Dear mother, see that your baby is fed on Lactated Food all winter; you will be cheered by the results in the coming spring season.

MR. LUNDY ARRESTED.

The Missing Witness in the Baldwin Case Turns Up.

Further particulars concerning the arrest of Mr. J. J. Lundy, which was published in yesterday's EXAMINER, appears in the Montreal Star of yesterday. The matter is regarded by Mr. Lundy's friends as a huge joke. The Star says:

"At the last term of the Criminal Court the case of Queen vs. Baldwin, was postponed to next term, owing to the Crown not being able to find Mr. J. J. Lundy, brother-in-law of accused, and whom they considered an important witness against the latter. Mr. Lundy returned to his residence at Peterborough, Ont., lately, and was put under arrest Friday by Detective Patry, who was armed with a bench warrant. Mr. Lundy arrived in town Saturday and immediately furnished two bondsmen in $100 each as security for his appearance at the next term of the Court of Queen's Bench."

Telephones in Church.

Supporters of the telephonic system in Birmingham can now be placed in communication with Christ church in that city and practically take part in the services. The telephone wires run straight into the pulpit, and the listeners at the other end of the system can hear the tolling of the bell, the prayers, the responses, the singing, and the sermon. Even casual coughing among the congregation can be distinguished. There are many classes of persons on whom this new departure confers a great boon. The sick and bedridden, who have long been prevented from attending any place of worship, can now be present, if not in flesh, in the hearing.

The Pigmy Cattle of Samoa.

The Samoan islands are the natural habitat of the most diminutive species of variety of the genus bos now known to the naturalist. The weight of the males of these lilliputian cattle seldom exceeds two hundred pounds, the average being not greater than one hundred and fifty pounds. The females usually average about one hundred pounds larger, are very "stocky" built, seldom being taller than a merino sheep. These dwarf cattle are nearly all of the same color—reddish mouse color, marked with white. They have very large heads as compared with their bodies and their horns are of exceptional length.

AN AMERICAN TRIBUTE.

THINKS ENGLAND'S SYSTEM OF GOVERNMENT SUPERIOR.

Mayor Abram S. Hewitt, of New York, Admits the "Irish Conquest" and Favors Limitation of Suffrage—What He Says of American Government Abuses.

Mr. Abram Stevens Hewitt sailed recently for an absence of six weeks in Europe. As mayor of the city of New York, representative of her interests in the national Congress, merchant, financier, manufacturer, litterateur and public benefactor, he is among the first citizens of the United States, and therefore his opinions are valuable. In an interview he said many interesting things. After discussing the capital and labor question at length, he said:

"The system of government under which we are now living in the United States was designed for conditions quite different from those now existing It fulfilled those conditions admirably, but its limitations have been outgrown; they are now apparent.

"In the United States it is not expedient to take a position of hostility to universal suffrage. A public man who does so is sent to Coventry; he cannot, therefore, be elected to office.

"But I am inclined to think mixed suffrage the best system for us. Let every man have a vote for something—but not for everything. Universal suffrage would not do for a bank; why should it do for a borough? There are wholesome and beneficial ways of qualifying the right of suffrage. Property qualification for certain functions is one way. But there are others—the special determination of what should be voted for by one set of citizens and what by another might solve the problem.

"Judges, for example, as it seems to me, should not be voted for at all. They ought to be selected by the highest appointing power in the State. Under a system of universal suffrage the electors cannot possibly be qualified to pass upon the proper qualifications of a candidate for a judgeship. It is a scandalous but inevitable evil, it seems, under our system of electing Judges by the ballot that the candidates for the judicial ermine are forced, like other candidates for elective office, to pay assessments of money to the political organization through which they receive their nomination.

"All the candidates for judgeships in New York are required to pay such assessments. The judges of the higher courts are expected to contribute largely to campaign funds. I believe there is one exception in my knowledge—Judge Lawrence, when nominated the second time, declined to pay any assessment. I myself have subscribed to a fund to be used to pay an assessment for a personal friend of mine, a man of the highest qualifications, who made a judge of incorruptible and lofty dignity and worth. He was a poor man, and the assessment had to be paid, and it was subscribed for him. A system which permits such abuses is wrong, of course.

"I do not sympathize with personal attacks on such men as Croker and Gilroy. They realize that New York ought to have better government; they are willing that we should have it. They propose, however, that Tammany Hall shall have all the profit it can make by the operation, all the spoils and emoluments.

"Our system of government is, for this reason, the most expensive in the world.

"It used to be thought that a monarchy, or an aristocracy, involved more cost than a republican form of government. That has ceased to be true, thanks to our foreign rulers. These gentlemen from over the seas who fill our municipal offices have changed all that. Where the Queen of Great Britain and Ireland draws say $2,000,000 a year from the public purse, under our American system of government it costs, perhaps, $20,000,000 a year to elect our 'American Sovereigns.' Doubtless we can afford to pay heavily for self-government and be proud of it.

"It has been said that the individual system of government encourages independence, self-reliance and civic virtue. That is true. But it has also led to the degradation of the suffrage.

"I consider the British system of government in some respects the best now in existence, yet it can be improved by the abolition of special privileges. And the least costly. The members of Parliament, who are the lawmakers, have absolutely nothing to do with the control of patronage. They are not paid and they cannot influence public servants who are paid. Public offices are filled not by influence, not by money power, but by competitive examination. That may possibly not be the very best way of filling the offices, but it is a very good one. In the main the best men are chosen, though now and then a good official may be lost. Army purchase has been abolished, and the aristocracy or wealthy class can get into office, as a rule, only in the diplomatic service.

"Municipal government in Great Britain has developed many difficulties of late, but the County Councils seem in a fair way to remedy those difficulties. The remedy is at the expense of individual rights, but those must yield to the general good. That is the tendency of the day, and it is along precisely that line socialism may work itself out."

Oats for the Dairy Cow.

Hunter Nicholson, who is a high authority on dairy matters, says that oats cut and cured when the seed is in the milk stage makes as good a hay as can be fed to a milch cow. Oats grow so quickly that dairy farmers can afford to cut them when they are green.—Kansas Farmer.
